

The University of Richmond offers several credit by examination options. A maximum of 30 semester hours of credit by examination may be applied to a degree program and credit will not be awarded for the same course more than once. Credit earned by examination may be used to satisfy requirements in the same manner as the college courses, which the tests replace, or as the academic department concerned might specify. Like transfer work, credit earned by examination will not be used in the calculation of a student's grade point average and exam results are not listed on the University of Richmond transcript. Exemption from a course based on an examination score will meet an individual requirement but will not be eligible for the transfer of credit. Please refer to the Undergraduate Academic Catalog for more information on specific requirements. Please note that this Credit by Examination Policy is effective as of March 2006 and is subject to change.

COLLEGE LEVEL EXAMINATION PROGRAM (CLEP)

CLEP is administered by the College Board and offers recognized exams that are designed for students to demonstrate mastery of a subject at the college level. A student may not receive credit by CLEP examination for a college course in which a failing grade was earned, for course work in which college credit has already been awarded by the University of Richmond, or in a repeat attempt to receive credit. Certain departments may decline to accept credit for CLEP subjects in lower level course work if acceptable credit has already been earned for more advanced work in the discipline.

A minimum CLEP score of 50 demonstrates course mastery for each exam discipline and is their recommended credit-granting score for the computerized testing format. The departments that accept CLEP subject exams with the minimum score of 50 are listed below. In addition to the test score, a departmental review may be required as published below. Credit earned through CLEP examinations is treated as transfer work. The credit is recorded on the permanent record in semester hours but neither grades nor quality points are given; therefore, these credits do not affect a student's grade point average.

The Office of the University Registrar handles the evaluation of CLEP test results. Any student may become eligible for this evaluation by providing the University with the results and, if required, the essay portion of the test in question. The exam scores must be sent directly from the College Board to the University of Richmond (college code 5569). Information about the administration of these exams and testing locations may be found on their web site:

<http://www.collegeboard.org/clep/>

CLEP Examinations and Credit Awarded:1. CLEP GENERAL EXAMINATIONS (GEs)

*A subscore minimum of 50 or above on the Fine Arts section of the Humanities Test is acceptable even if the overall score does not reach 50.

2. CLEP SUBJECT EXAMINATIONS

The following table lists information for acceptable tests. CLEP subject tests not listed below may be evaluated on an individual basis.

Subject Exam	Minimum Score*	Credits	UR Course Equivalent	General Ed. Requirement Applied

CREDIT BY LOCAL EXAMINATION

Credit by local examination will be granted according to the following policy:

1. Each department will determine which of its courses may receive credit by local examination and if this will be applied towards particular requirements.
2. Entering students may take the current examinations for exemptions or proficiency. After consultation with faculty advisors, they may then elect to take another examination for credit. Currently enrolled students may take the local examinations at any time they are scheduled. A list of courses for which credit by local examination may be earned will be maintained in the Office of the University Registrar. The same office will handle registration for credit by local examinations.
3. The local examinations for credit will be given on the second Saturday of the Fall and Spring semesters at 9:00 a.m. and 1:00 p.m., and a fee of $25.00 will be charged for each local examination. The student must declare his/her intent and pay the fee one-week before the scheduled examination. The local examinations for credit may be given also at a time agreed upon between the department and the student.
4. A student may not take the same local examination more than once, nor for a course in which the student has received a failing grade. A student may not take a local examination for a lower level course in a sequence when a more advanced course within the sequence has been taken.
5. Local examinations for credit will be on a credit with no grade basis.
6. No more than 30 semester hours towards a degree may be earned by any combination of credit by examination.
7. The local examination will be more comprehensive than a regular final examination, and it may include such additional materials as lab techniques, oral proficiency, etc.

EXEMPTION BY EXAMINATION

An exemption means that a student does not have to complete a course or courses to fulfill a particular requirement for their degree and/or does not have to fulfill the course in order to take upper level coursework in the appropriate subject. However, an exemption does not constitute the transfer of credit and the student must still obtain the required number of earned credits in order to graduate. Please refer to the Undergraduate Academic Catalog for the number of credits required for a specified degree program. In addition to the exemptions based on AP examination scores, the University of Richmond offers the following exemptions based on the following test scores:

Test	Score	Credits¹	UR Course Equivalent	Gen Ed. Requirement Applied
SAT Writing	660 or higher	0.0	ENGL 103	COM1
Prior to 2006
SAT II Subject Test:
Writing	660 or higher	0.0	ENGL 103	COM1
Foreign Language (Language or Listening)	630 or higher	0.0	Varies-Meets the final intermediate level of the specified language	COM2

INTERNATIONAL EXAMINATIONS:

The following are guidelines for the advance standing examinations from British, French, German, Italian, and Icelandic based educational systems. The Office of the University Registrar and the Office of Admission will further serve students with these and other international exams on a case-by-case basis.

GENERAL CERTIFICATE OF EDUCATION

The examinations for the General Certificate of Secondary Education (GCSE) are tests in individual subjects for students completing secondary and pre-university studies in a British-based educational system. The University of Richmond will award elective credit hours for most examinations with a grade of C or better, provided the examination was taken at the Advanced Level (A-level) as opposed to the Ordinary Level (O-level). "A pass in an A-level subject may be considered at least comparable to completion of the two-course introductory sequence in the subject in an American institution (a pass is defined as a C or better)."² The University Registrar has accepted this transfer policy in principle as of January 30, 1995. A student with an acceptable grade on an A-level examination will receive six earned hours of elective credit for the given subject (science subjects receive eight earned hours). Once in residence, students may request a review of their GCSE A-level examinations for specified course equivalencies and requirements. Qualifying exams in a modern language offered at the University of Richmond will be accepted towards 200-level credit in the language meeting the Communication Skills II (COM2) requirement.

Because it is difficult to obtain the official GCSE examination results directly, the student must present to the Registrar's Office his or her original GCSE certificates as issued by the examining board. The Registrar's Office will make a copy of the original certificates for their records, and the student will keep the originals. If the authenticity of the original certificates is questionable, an official letter confirming the examination results should be sent directly from the appropriate examining board directly to the Registrar's Office. Further details regarding GCSE fraud may be found in the World Education Series volume on the United Kingdom.

FRENCH BACCALAUREATE

The examinations for the French Baccalaureate are tests in individual subjects for students completing secondary and pre-university studies in a French based educational system. The University of Richmond will award elective credit hours for most examinations in subjects with a coefficient of 4 or higher and a grade of 12 or higher. A student with an acceptable coefficient and grade will receive six earned hours of elective credit for the given subject (science subjects receive eight earned hours). Once in residence, students may request a review of the content of their examinations for specified course equivalencies and requirements. Qualifying exams in a modern language offered at the University of Richmond will be accepted towards 200-level credit in the language meeting the Communication Skills II (COM2) requirement.

The student must present to the Registrar's Office his or her original certificate (Diplome de Baccalaureate) and examination results. The Registrar's Office will make their official copy of the original certificates for their records, and the student will keep the originals. If the authenticity of the original certificates is questionable, an official letter confirming the examination results should be sent directly from the appropriate examining board directly to the Registrar's Office.

GERMAN ABITUR

The final examinations for the German Abitur are tests in individual subjects for students completing secondary and pre-university studies in the German educational system. The University of Richmond will award elective credit hours for most academic subject final examinations in which a grade of 9 or higher is earned. A student with these acceptable results will receive six earned hours of elective credit for the given subject (science subjects receive eight earned hours). Once in residence, students may request a review of the content of their examinations for specified course equivalencies and requirements. Qualifying exams in a modern language offered at the University of Richmond will be accepted towards 200-level credit in the language meeting the Communication Skills II (COM2) requirement.

The student must present to the Registrar's Office his or her original certificate (Zuegnis der Allgemeinen Hochschulreife). The Registrar's Office will make their official copy of the original certificates for their records and the student will keep the originals. If the authenticity of the original certificates is questionable, an official letter confirming the examination results should be sent directly from the appropriate examining board directly to the Registrar's Office.

ITALIAN MATURITY CERTIFICATE

The final examinations for the Italian Maturity Certificate are tests in individual subjects for students completing secondary and pre-university studies in the Italian educational system. The University of Richmond will award elective credit hours for the academic concentrations of classical, scientific, and linguistic tracks in that subject area in which a grade of 48 or higher is earned. A student with these acceptable results will receive six earned hours of elective credit for the given subject (science subjects receive eight earned hours) and a maximum of 16 semester credit hours. Once in residence, students may request a review of the content of their examinations for specified course equivalencies and requirements. Qualifying exams in a modern language offered at the University of Richmond will be accepted towards 200-level credit in the language meeting the Communication Skills II (COM2) requirement.

The student must present to the Registrar's Office his or her original certificate (Diploma di Maturita). The Registrar's Office will make their official copy of the original certificates for their records, and the student will keep the originals. If the authenticity of the original certificates is questionable, an official letter confirming the examination results should be sent directly from the appropriate examining board directly to the Registrar's Office.

ICELANDIC STUDENTSPROF

The Icelandic Matriculation Examinations are tests in individual subjects for students completing secondary and pre-university studies in the Icelandic educational system. The University of Richmond will award elective credit hours for the academic subjects with a minimum of 10-12 credits and grade of 6 or higher. A student with these acceptable results will receive six earned hours of elective credit for the given subject (science subjects receive eight earned hours). Once in residence, students may request a review of the content of their examinations for specified course equivalencies and requirements. Qualifying exams in a modern language offered at the University of Richmond will be accepted towards 200-level credit in the language meeting the Communication Skills II (COM2) requirement.

The student must present to the Registrar's Office his or her original certificate (Studentsprof) and final results. The Registrar's Office will make their official copy of the original certificates for their records, and the student will keep the originals. If the authenticity of the original certificates is questionable, an official letter confirming the examination results should be sent directly from the appropriate examining board directly to the Registrar's Office.
