2010-2011 Course Catalog

The course catalog provides listings for the undergraduate schools of Arts and Sciences, Business and Leadership Studies. It also includes information on such topics as academic procedures, financial aid and academic opportunities and support. The requirements in this catalog apply to students entering the University in the 2010-11 academic year. Please see the catalog archive for earlier entering classes. For academic policies affecting students entering prior to fall 2008, please see Academic Advising.

Prospective students are encouraged to use this online version of the course catalog. Hard copies are not available. Catalogs from previous years and for other schools at the University can be found at the Office of the University Registrar.

Please Note: The contents of this catalog represent the most current information available at the time of publication. However, during the period of time covered by this catalog, it is reasonable to expect changes to be made with respect to this information without prior notice. The course offerings and requirements of the University of Richmond are under continual examination and revision. Thus, the provisions of this catalog are not to be regarded as an irrevocable contract between the University (or any of its colleges or schools) and the student.

Non-Discrimination Policy

The University of Richmond prohibits discrimination and harassment against applicants, students, faculty or staff on the basis of race, religion, national or ethnic origin, age, sex, sexual orientation, disability, status as a veteran or any classification protected by local, state or federal law. Copies of the complete "Harassment and Discrimination Policy (including Sexual Harassment)" are included in student handbooks, faculty handbooks and in the published guidelines for University of Richmond support staff. Copies are also available at the dean's office of each college and school and the Department of Human Resource Services. For further information, students should contact the dean of their school or residential college; staff should contact the director of Human Resource Services; and faculty should contact the dean of their school. Any inquiries regarding the University's policies in these areas should be directed to the Office of the Vice President for Student Development, University of Richmond, Virginia 23173. Telephone: (804) 289-8032.

All Islamic dates begin at sunset the preceding evening.

The Islamic year is based on the lunar cycle, consisting of 12 months of 29 or 30 days each, totaling 353 or 354 days. Each new month begins at the sighting of a new moon. Actual dates may differ by a day or two from the above dates. In many places, the moon sighting is often determined in advance by astronomical calculations.

Summer Session 2011

The Summer School Calendar for 2011 will be announced during the Fall 2010 term.

About the University

Mission Statement

The mission of the University of Richmond is to sustain a collaborative learning and research community that supports the personal development of its members and the creation of new knowledge. A Richmond education prepares students to live lives of purpose, thoughtful inquiry, and responsible leadership in a global and pluralistic society.

Organization and Accreditation
Five academic schools and two coordinate colleges form the University of Richmond, with authority and responsibility vested legally in the Board of Trustees and the president of the University. The several colleges and schools award no degrees individually, but all degrees for work done in any one of them are conferred by the University of Richmond.

The University enrolls approximately 2,900 full-time undergraduates, 92 percent of whom live on campus; 600 full-time law and graduate students; and 1,300 part-time students, largely from Richmond and the surrounding community.

The University of Richmond is accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools to award associate, baccalaureate, masters, and juris doctor degrees. Contact the Commission on Colleges at 1866 Southern Lane, Decatur, Georgia 30033-4097 or call (404) 679-4500 for questions about the accreditation of the University of Richmond. The University also is certified by the Virginia State Board of Education to offer teacher licensure programs. Various departments and divisions have more specialized accreditation. Included in this category are the music program, accredited by the National Association of Schools of Music; the chemistry program, accredited by the American Chemical Society; and the education program, accredited by the Teacher Education Accreditation Council. In addition, the Robins School of Business is accredited by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business International at the undergraduate and graduate levels, and the T.C. Williams School of Law is accredited by the American Bar Association and the American Association of Law Schools.

Environment and History

The University of Richmond campus consists of about 50 major buildings of Collegiate Gothic architectural style set amid 350 acres of lawns, lake, and woodlands. The beautiful and harmonious setting has been recognized nationally by college guides. Richmond's history began almost two centuries ago with Richmond College, founded in 1830 by Virginia Baptists as a college of liberal arts and sciences for men. Around this nucleus were established the T.C. Williams School of Law (1870); Westhampton College, a college of liberal arts and sciences for women (1914); the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, for advanced study in the liberal arts and sciences (1921); the E. Claiborne Robins School of Business, for undergraduate and graduate study in business (1949); University College, now known as the School of Continuing Studies, for evening, summer, and continuing education (1962); and the Jepson School of Leadership Studies, the first school of leadership studies in the United States (1992). In 1992, the academic missions of Richmond College and Westhampton College were combined in a separate school, the School of Arts and Sciences. Richmond College and Westhampton College are the coordinate colleges for men and women respectively, providing special programming and leadership opportunities in student life.

Richmond benefits from a heritage of ethical and religious values, a residential character, and a commitment to liberal and general education through intimate schools and colleges joined into a substantial whole.

Information Services - Library and Computing Resources

Library Resources

Boatwright Memorial Library, facing Westhampton Lake, is the main library. It includes collections and services for the humanities, social sciences, sciences, and business. Boatwright is also home to the Media Resource Center and the Digital Scholarship Lab. The Parsons Music Library is in the Modlin Center for the Arts. The Muse Law Library in the Richmond School of Law serves the special needs of law students and faculty. The libraries' collections have been developed to meet the needs of students and faculty. Those collections, not including those in the Law Library, consist of more than 500,000 volumes, access to more than 30,000 print and online journals, 64,000 electronic books, more than 230 online databases and a wealth of resources in media such as sheet music, DVD, audio CD, microfilm and audio books. Since 1900, the University of Richmond has enjoyed status as a depository for U.S. government publications. Boatwright Memorial Library holds more than 500,000 government documents in print and microform and provides electronic access to thousands more. The Galvin Rare Book Room contains nearly 25,000 rare books, first editions, maps, photographs and manuscripts. The online library catalog (library.richmond.edu) provides access to the collections. The libraries participate in local and state consortia as well as national networks to obtain access to databases and to borrow items not held in the University's collections.

The libraries offer group and individual instruction in using these resources effectively. Group instruction is offered in the Boatwright Computer Classroom and other locations. Individual assistance is available in person and online through various means described at library.richmond.edu/help/ask.html.

Boatwright Memorial Library offers a mix of study space suitable for individuals working alone or in groups as well as AV viewing/listening carrels and rooms and more than 120 computer workstations. Laptop computers are loaned for in-building use and connect to the University's wireless network. When classes are in session, the first and second floors of Boatwright Library are open 24 hours a day.

A separate wing of Boatwright Memorial Library houses the Virginia Baptist Historical Society, a memorial to the Virginia Baptists who struggled to secure religious liberty in America. The library holds thousands of books, church records, manuscripts, and personal papers related to Virginia Baptist history and heritage. The society also manages the University's archives, a large collection of books, photos, and memorabilia related to the University's rich history. The University's libraries are open to the entire campus community.

Boatwright Library is also home to the Eight Fifteen at Boatwright coffee shop.

Computing Facilities

The University of Richmond is committed to preparing students to work successfully in technology- and information-centered environments. The Information Services division supports a teaching and learning environment that provides rich technology and information resources for students, faculty, and staff. Computer labs and classrooms with a total of more than 900 computers are spread across the campus and contain a wide variety of equipment and software. These systems can be accessed in Boatwright Memorial Library and in general purpose and discipline-specific computing spaces. Most residence halls are equipped with public computers in academic study lounges.

In addition to the general-purpose labs, many academic departments have computer labs designed to meet the special learning and research needs of their students. These include art and art history, the business school, chemistry, classical studies, education, journalism, the law school, modern literatures and cultures, music, physics, psychology, the leadership studies school, and theatre and dance.

The University maintains a robust network infrastructure. A wireless network supports mobile computing in every building on campus and provides coverage in most outdoor locations and public gathering spaces. Information Services keeps University-owned systems loaded with up-to-date versions of the latest software tools and anti-virus software. All users must have an active University computer account to log into any lab machine. To help ensure the security of our systems and network, passwords must be changed each semester in order to maintain an active account. Please refer to the Policies for Responsible Computing posted on the Information Services Policies Web page for guidelines regarding the use of University-provided technology resources.

The ground floor of Jepson Hall houses many computing resources, including a general purpose computer lab with a total of 30 workstations; five PC classrooms with full multimedia capabilities; and two computer classrooms running Windows, Linux and Unix designated for use by the math and computer science department. When classes are not in session, the Jepson Hall computer classrooms are open for student use. Jepson Hall is also the location of the Computer Help Desk, a resource that provides assistance with computing-related issues for the entire campus. A listing of the current hours of operation for all of these resources may be found on the Information Services Web page.

The Technology Learning Center (TLC) is a unique resource located on the third floor of Boatwright Memorial Library. It is devoted to servicing the multimedia needs of students, faculty, and staff. This area offers PC and Mac workstations equipped with high-end Web development, multimedia, animation, 3-D modeling, and audio-video recording and editing software. Scanners, high quality printers, large-format plotters, digitizers, and digital video and still cameras also are available. In addition, the TLC contains a photography studio and a small recording studio. The TLC also supports media production in the Media Resource Center on the second floor of Boatwright Library. Most importantly, the TLC is staffed by professionals and well-trained student assistants. Students not only have access to the hardware and software, but also to experts who can help them effectively use the specialized tools.

Technology training is offered to students, faculty, and staff in a variety of formats, including books and CDs available in the TLC and searchable through the library catalog, online video tutorials, technology training classes offered throughout the school year, and one-on-one training sessions available through appointments at the TLC. TLC hours of operation and current technology training classes may be found on the Information Services Web page at is.richmond.edu.

Undergraduate Colleges

Though Richmond is composed of five general academic schools as well as two coordinate colleges, this catalog provides specific program information about only undergraduate study in the School of Arts and Sciences, Robins School of Business, and Jepson School of Leadership Studies. Pertinent information about the coordinate colleges, Richmond College and Westhampton College, is also presented in this catalog. Detailed information about each of the other academic schools is available upon request to the respective dean's office.

Academic Schools

School of Arts and Sciences

All students begin as part of the School of Arts and Sciences. Approximately two-thirds of the University's students (2,300) then continue their study in arts and sciences, pursuing Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees in the more than 40 disciplines offered by the school. The arts and sciences faculty also provides instruction in the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences leading to a small number of master's degrees.

The School of Arts and Sciences is a blend of studies from all areas of life - health, fine arts, natural and urban environments, government, technology, cultures, emerging scientific studies, and literature are a few examples. Though the fields of study in the School of Arts and Sciences are diverse, each discipline pursues the common goals of challenging students to think critically and independently, to make decisions based upon their assessments, to communicate effectively, to gather and evaluate information and others' opinions, and to work collaboratively, expanding their understanding of others to better comprehend the systems and situations around them. The programs ask rather than tell. Working together across disciplines, the faculty and students explore how things work, ask why they operate as they do, evaluate what has been successful, and consider possible solutions or advancements. Faculty collaborate with students to research and create data or art, encouraging them to build their own knowledge and skills and demonstrating how to most effectively communicate and apply what they learn.

Robins Schools of Business

The Robins School of Business enrolls about 650 men and women. The school's principal objective is to provide a professional college education that will enable students to meet the challenges of a complex and international business world.

The degree of Bachelor of Science in Business Administration (B.S.B.A.) is offered with majors in accounting, business administration, and economics. The business administration major has several areas of concentration that students may pursue. Once a student declares his or her major, the Robins School of Business provides a number of internal activities in which students may participate in, including its own student government. The Robins School also has a chapter of Beta Gamma Sigma, a national honor society. Membership in Beta Gamma Sigma is the highest national recognition a student can receive in an undergraduate or master's program accredited by the AACSB-International.

The School of Business faculty also provides the Master of Business Administration (MBA) degree in the Robins School of Business.

Jepson School of Leadership Studies

The Jepson School of Leadership Studies offers the Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in leadership studies, as well as a minor in leadership studies. The Jepson School uses multiple disciplinary lenses to educate students for and about leadership. As a result, both the major and the minor are broadly based in the liberal arts but highly integrated with leadership as a unifying theme. By engaging students in the classroom and in the world around them, the Jepson School challenges students intellectually and prepares them for future responsibilities of leadership.

Coordinate Colleges

Undergraduate students at the University of Richmond are members of an academic school: the School of Arts and Sciences, the Robins School of Business, or the Jepson School of Leadership Studies. Depending on their sex, students are also members of a coordinate college: Richmond College for men and Westhampton College for women. The coordinate colleges serve as dean of students offices and manage academic policy matters, thereby providing a holistic approach to students. The college deans report to both the vice president of student development and the dean of arts and sciences.

Each coordinate college has its own staff, residence life program, student government, activities, and traditions. Deans' staff members focus on students' personal development, crisis management, judicial policies, and matters that involve the University's honor code. The deans' offices also oversee popular student traditions that recognize and celebrate the smaller college community and heritage, including Westhampton College's Junior Ring Dance and Richmond College's Investiture. The residence life programs organize gender-focused programming within the residence halls and living/learning initiatives that make important intellectual and personal connections between students and faculty members, e.g., the Richmond College's “Spinning Your Web” program.

The two student governments - the Westhampton College Government Association (WCGA) and the Richmond College Student Government Association (RCSGA)- afford students valuable leadership opportunities and guarantee that men and women students participate equally in the governing process. Meanwhile, students make connections between their curricular and cocurricular experiences in college-based programs such as Westhampton College's Women Involved in Living and Learning (WILL) program.

For more information regarding Westhampton College see wc.richmond.edu. For more information regarding Richmond College see rc.richmond.edu.

Spiritual Life

The University is committed to the formation and support of the spiritual needs and growth of all its students, regardless of faith, tradition, practice, or lack thereof. Religious and spiritual life activities and programs that invite, challenge, and support the spiritual maturity and understanding of all members of the university community are coordinated through the Office of the Chaplaincy, which is easily accessible in the E. Carlton Wilton Center for Inter-Religious Campus Ministries.

There are numerous organizations for students of various faiths and traditions, including Buddhist, Christian (Catholic, Orthodox, Protestant, and Ecumenical), Hindu, Jewish, Muslim, and Sikh. Events, dinners and programs are open to all so that interfaith understanding and cooperation might be fostered. Regular on-campus worship services and times for religious practice include Zen meditation on Tuesday evenings, Juma'a prayer on Fridays at noon, Shabbat prayer on Friday evenings, Ecumenical Christian worship on Sundays at 3:16 p.m., and Roman Catholic mass on Sundays at 5 p.m. Many student groups hold prayer and praise meetings as well. The City of Richmond has over 300 places of worship, each of which welcomes students to participate in their services and practice.

The Office of the Chaplaincy connects with the greater Richmond interfaith and civic community through A More Perfect Union and offers individual support, counseling, and care by appointment with one of the chaplains.

Listings of on-campus and local events, houses of worship and holy days may be found on the Office of the Chaplaincy Web site chaplaincy.richmond.edu

Admission

The University of Richmond seeks to enroll men and women who have demonstrated the potential to succeed in a highly rigorous environment and who have shown evidence of their capability to contribute to the University community. Admission to the University is competitive and selective.

Criteria for admission are both objective and subjective. Such qualities as academic ability and achievement combined with personal qualities of leadership, creativity, and independence are sought. For those entering as first-year students, the secondary school experience, the results of standardized tests, and the particular characteristics and personal qualities of each applicant will be considered. Because we know that a family's financial situation has no relationship to a student's preparation, character, potential, or intellect, the University makes admission decisions in a need-blind manner for all first-year applicants who are U.S. citizens and permanent residents. Students who believe that they would benefit from the University's programs but do not have the resources to attend are encouraged to see the section on Financial Aid for more information.

Successful applicants will have pursued a highly rigorous college preparatory program. Successful applicants represent a wide variety of backgrounds. The prospective student is advised, therefore, to complete the most challenging college preparatory program that can be taken at the secondary school attended. Students admitted must show evidence of high school graduation or exemplary completion on all five achievement tests of the general education development (G.E.D.) battery.

For students who have attended other institutions of higher learning and wish to transfer to the University of Richmond, the academic achievement and courses completed at the prior institution will be important to the admission decision. In short, whether first-year or transfer, those students with the potential to be the most successful in this educational environment will be offered admission.

Transfer Admission

A student who wishes to transfer from another college or university may apply for transfer admission. A student must have completed a minimum of 6.82 units of transferable credit prior to enrollment at the University of Richmond. The transfer credit must have been earned at an institution regionally accredited at the time the work was completed. Transfer candidates must possess a minimum grade point average of 2.0 to be eligible for review. Competitive candidates will have well above this minimum requirement. Interested students may wish to visit the campus and talk with an admission officer; however, a personal interview is not a part of the admission decision. In order to receive a degree from the University of Richmond, a student must complete at least 17.5 units at the University, including the work of the senior year.

The deadline to submit a transfer application for fall enrollment is February 15, with a second-round deadline of April 15; the spring enrollment deadline is November 1. The applicant must file an application form, pay the nonrefundable application fee, submit course descriptions for all college courses taken, and have secondary school and college transcripts forwarded directly to the Office of Admission. Students must have left their previous institution in good standing or having been honorably dismissed.

Credit for work completed at another college or university will be subject to the following conditions:

- courses must be a part of the University of Richmond curriculum and at the level of courses taught at the University of Richmond
- the grade received must be the equivalent of C (2.0) or better
- the decisions of credit transfer and application toward degree requirements are made by the Office of the University Registrar in consultation with the appropriate academic department

Credit for all courses is regarded as provisional at the time of the applicant's admission and is not considered final until the satisfactory completion of one semester's work at the University.

International Admission

The University of Richmond encourages international students with diverse cultural heritages and multicultural experiences to apply to the University as both first-year and transfer students.

First-year applicants must complete an academic secondary program which would prepare one for entrance to universities in the country of residence. Secondary study (grades 9, 10, 11, and 12) should include at minimum three or four years of coursework in the native language (or second language), mathematics, social sciences, laboratory sciences, and English language. Refer to the Admission Requirements section.

A student may apply as a transfer candidate after successfully completing at least one year of full-time study at a recognized academic university in the United States or abroad. Refer to the Transfer Admission section above.

In addition to test requirements described in Admission Requirements above, all nonnative English speakers must submit results for Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL). The University expects nonnative English speakers to possess strong analytical and rhetorical writing skills and highly developed oral communication proficiency in English. Because the University offers only short-term, advanced English as a Second Language (ESL) study during summer and the academic year, applicants must demonstrate English proficiency prior to enrolling. Consideration will be given to candidates with the following minimum scores on the various versions of the TOEFL: 550 on the paper TOEFL, 213 on the computer-based TOEFL, or 80 on the Internet-based TOEFL.

Home-Schooled Students

Students who have been educated in a nontraditional secondary school setting are welcome to apply for admission. In addition to submitting a complete admission application, home-schooled students are required to complete or submit the following items:

1. Standardized testing requirement as defined under Admission Requirements. In addition, students are strongly urged to submit SAT Subject Tests in the subject areas of history and natural science.
2. Participate in an interview conducted by one of the University's admission officers. The interview is required for students who spend 50 percent or more of their secondary school experience in a home-school setting or are graduating from a home school environment. These interviews are conducted in person or over the phone by appointment.
3. Submit a narrative description of the home-school environment, such as parental instruction, community teaching, etc. Additional items that could be included are syllabi for all courses taken and a list of the textbooks used.
4. Optional letters of recommendation, preferably from individuals who have had academic contact with the student, can be submitted.

The Robins School of Business

The Robins School of Business provides a professional education for students who wish to prepare for the challenges of a complex and international business world. This personalized education is offered primarily during the third and fourth years of college study.

Beginning with the class entering in the Fall of 2010, students interested in pursuing a major or minor in the Robins School of Business (Business Administration, Economics or Accounting) must have a 2.7 GPA after completing at least 12 units at the end of three semesters of college coursework, including ECON 101, ACCT 201, and MATH 211 or 231 (or their equivalent).

Jepson School of Leadership Studies

The Jepson School of Leadership Studies uses multiple disciplinary lenses to educate students for and about leadership: economics, history, literature, philosophy, politics, psychology, and religion. In so doing, the school provides students with conceptual tools that support the exercise of leadership in a variety of settings. Curriculum goals are achieved through courses such as Leadership and the Humanities and Leadership and the Social Sciences, the gateways to the academic program. Leadership Ethics serves as the capstone course for the major and minor. The gateway courses are designed to introduce students to the intellectual and historical foundations of leadership, so they are also appropriate for non-majors. Required courses such as Critical Thinking, Research Methods, and Theories and Models reflect the Jepson School's commitment to studying leadership across disciplines. Courses with experiential components -- for example, Justice and Civil Society and the internship -- help students understand how to use knowledge gained through coursework in the world outside the classroom. Students also have the opportunity to study international leadership and pursue independent research, including a senior thesis or senior honors thesis.

Students interested in the major or minor must submit a formal application in the fall after completing the first academic year of study at Richmond or another accredited college or university. The decision concerning admission to the major or minor rests with the Jepson School of Leadership Studies Student Affairs Committee.

Admission Plans

The application deadline for regular decision is January 15; candidates are notified of the admission decisions around April 1.

The early decision plan is designed for well-qualified students who have decided that the University of Richmond is their clear first choice. Two plans are available. Fall early decision has a deadline of November 15. Winter early decision has a deadline of January 15. The applicant must file (prior to the deadline) an application form, an official copy of the academic record through the junior year, first marking period grades from the senior year, and the required standardized test scores. Candidates will be notified around December 15 for fall early decision and February 15 for winter early decision.

Accepted candidates must submit the required nonrefundable deposit to confirm their admission to the University of Richmond. Deferred candidates' applications will be reconsidered under the regular admission plan. In some cases, early decision applicants may be denied admission as well. Further information may be obtained from the Office of Admission.

The early admission program provides for the admission of exceptional students who have completed their secondary school experience in three years, prior to their college matriculation. Additionally, appropriate candidates must possess unusually strong college preparation, as demonstrated through a challenging and rigorous course of study, while presenting required standardized test scores of a highly competitive nature. The student is required to have an interview with an admission officer in person or by telephone and submit a letter from the secondary school counselor endorsing the student's early admission application.

Visiting Campus

Prospective students are invited to visit the campus, participate in the admission information session, take a tour of the campus, and confer with professors, coaches, or other persons in their fields of interest. The information session consists of a group presentation and discussion about the University of Richmond and is led by an admission officer. When the University is in session, student-conducted campus tours usually follow each information session. The campus visit is encouraged because it provides an opportunity for the prospective student to learn about the University, have questions answered, and see the campus.

Plans to visit the campus may be made by calling the Office of Admission, (804) 289-8640 or (800) 700-1662, or by visiting our Web site at admission.richmond.edu.

While individual interviews are not required for admission, they may be available during your campus visit or with a Richmond graduate in your home city. Visit admission.richmond.edu for more information.

During the candidate evaluation process in January, February, and March, schedules are abbreviated and times vary.

First-Year Admission Requirements

Candidates for admission must have completed a minimum of 16 units of secondary school work. Minimum requirements include four units in English, three in college preparatory mathematics (including Algebra I, II, and Geometry), and at least two each in history, laboratory science, and foreign language (two units of the same language, not including American Sign Language, which will not satisfy the requirement for foreign language). Competitive candidates for admission typically exceed the minimum requirements and have taken three to four units in science, history, and foreign language at the highest levels available in their school setting.

The applicant must have the secondary school send an official transcript of work completed, courses in progress, and the school's recommendation. Students who have taken work at or under the auspices of a college or university must provide a statement describing the work and an official transcript from the college or university must be sent directly to the Office of Admission, University of Richmond.

First-year applicants must submit the results of either the SAT or ACT for consideration. There is not a preference for either test; instead, the evaluation of those who submit results of both will rely on whichever test is comparatively strongest.

Application for admission is made using the Common Application and a Common Application Supplement including a required essay. All forms are accessible from admission.richmond.edu. The nonrefundable $50 application fee must accompany the application for admission.

As of July 1, 2006, Virginia law requires all public and private two- and four-year institutions of higher education to electronically transmit information about applicants accepted for enrollment at each institution to the State Police for comparison to the Virginia Criminal Information Network and National Crime Information Center Convicted Sexual Offender Registry. In compliance with Virginia law, the University of Richmond will submit the requested information for all admitted students to the State Police for comparison to the registry. If the University is notified that an admitted student has committed a sex offense, the admitted student is subject to the revocation of their admission.

Special Fees

- Applied Music - per course, nonmajors only, individual instruction: $450
- ID card replacement: each occurrence: 20
- Graduation fee: 40
- Campus vehicle permit (spring semester only: $52.50): $105
- Registration, change (add/drop): per transaction: 10
- Late payment fees will be assessed up to: 70
- Non-UR Study Abroad Fee: 1,500

(Semester fees are based on a single-semester contract; year fees are based on a full-year contract.)

- Textbooks cost approximately $500 per semester; supplies, transportation, and sundries are extra costs.
- Meal plan selection automatically rolls from the previous semester unless the student initiates a change by the given due dates. Late change fee will apply. Please contact One-Card Services at (804) 289-8476 or view their Web site for details on meal plans and policy at oncampus.richmond.edu/student/life/one-card. Meals and dining dollars expire each semester and are non-refundable.
- Please consult Parking Services, Residence Life, Food, and Auxiliary Services for further information.
Regardless of the academic school in which a course is taken, the student pays the tuition and fees of the school to which he or she has been admitted and which is considered the school of record. Any special fee associated with a particular course, such as a laboratory fee, is charged based on registration in the course.

- The University reserves the right to increase the fees listed herein and the charges for room and board if conditions should make such changes necessary or advisable. The changes will be announced as far in advance as feasible.
- The University is not liable for students' personal property. Students or parents should verify that their homeowner's insurance will cover their personal property on campus.
- Fees and charges will increase for the 2011-2012 school year and will be announced as soon as possible.

Payments

Inquiries concerning payments should be directed to the Office of the Bursar, phone (804) 289-8147 or toll-free (866) 241-8893, or e-mail bursar@richmond.edu.

Fees are electronically invoiced and are to be paid in advance, by the semester. The fall semester payment is due by the first Monday in August, and the spring semester payment is due by the first Monday in December. To avoid incurring a late payment fee and delays in housing, registration, and other areas, individuals are urged to pay fees when due.

Students will receive a monthly e-mail notification to their University e-mail address with the subject line "University of Richmond Electronic Invoice/Statement" with a link to QuikPAY. The student's University ID number is used for authentication. Students can also access their account through BannerWeb. Upon login, students can view their invoice, set up and store bank account or credit card information, set up authorized payers, pay the invoice electronically, and print paper copies.

People other than the student may have the ability to view the invoice as an authorized payer. Each invoice cycle, both the student and the authorized payers will receive an e-mail notifying them that the electronic invoice has been sent. Students and authorized payers receive a link in the e-mail that takes them directly to the QuikPAY login page.

E-Payment is an optional feature. Checking and savings account information from a bank within the United States can be entered at the QuikPAY Web site, and payments will be transferred electronically to the University of Richmond. You will have the option to have the site retain your bank account information, or you may enter it each time you make an e-Payment.

Authorized payers will only be able to view their own payment and bank information. Each authorized payer is assigned a separate PIN for added security and privacy.

Paying electronically is the preferred invoice payment method, but it is optional. You may send a payment by mail or in person at the Cashier's Office in Sarah Brunet Hall. To send a check or money order through the mail to the University, please print a copy of the PDF invoice, detach the bottom portion of the statement and mail with the payment (payable to the University of Richmond with your University ID number printed clearly on the check) to:

Satisfactory financial arrangements for room and board must be made before occupancy.

No credit is given for a term's work or for a degree conferred until all charges have been satisfactorily settled. Failure to make satisfactory financial arrangements can result in delay of graduation, denial of registration privileges, removal from classes, and/or the withholding of transcripts.
If the University deems it necessary to engage the services of a collection agency or attorney to collect or to settle any dispute in connection with an unpaid balance on a student account, the student will be liable for all collection agency and/or attorney's fees, reasonable expenses, and costs incurred. Accounts referred to a collection agency are reported to a credit bureau.

Please mail all correspondence regarding your student account to:

The University of Richmond accepts MasterCard, Discover and American Express via QuikPAY. Visa is not currently accepted. A vendor fee of 2.75% (of the amount charged) will be charged to your account for this service. Electronic checks also are accepted at this site.

Deposits

Upon acceptance for admission at the University of Richmond, a $300 general fee deposit is required, and a $300 housing deposit is required if on-campus housing is requested.

Students planning to continue in the upcoming school year are notified around January 15 to remit the appropriate deposits: a general fee deposit of $100, and if on-campus housing is requested, a housing deposit of $500. These deposits are payable by the mid-February date specified in the notice.

Deposits are treated as advance payments and are nonrefundable. While a single remittance may cover both amounts, the distinction between the two deposits remains quite clear. The general fee deposit signifies an intention to attend or to continue to attend the University. The housing deposit signifies an earnest request for on-campus housing. If there is a past due balance on your student account any deposits you make for a future term may be transferred to your student account to cover the outstanding balance.

The University always credits the general fee deposit first. If only a single deposit amount is received by the stated deadline, regardless of any accompanying instructions, the deposit will be placed in the general fee category and the presumption made that no housing is requested.

Deferred Payments

In recognition of the substantial interest in deferred payments, the University offers a 10-month deferred payment plan through TuitionPay by Sallie Mae. This firm represents one of several sound alternatives for financing a student's education. Information is mailed to students in April.

Many parents and students may prefer to arrange financing through their local banks or other sources, but if there is interest in this plan, further information is available at (877)279-6092, by e-mail at info@tuitionpay.com, or by visiting tuitionpay.salliemae.com/urich.

Students are urged to complete whatever arrangements they choose early, so that their accounts with the University may be settled in a timely manner.

Late Payment Fee

A late payment fee will be assessed on any unpaid balance. Students who fail to make satisfactory arrangements for their semester fees by the close of the business on the first day of the term will be charged a late payment fee of up to $70.
Tuition Refund Plan

A medical withdrawal insurance plan is available through A.W.G. Dewar Inc. Information is available at (617) 774-1555 or visit tuitionrefundplan.com.

Refunds

Inquiries concerning credit balances on student's accounts should be directed to the Office of Student Accounts, (804) 289-8147 or toll free (866) 241-8893.

University of Richmond Refund Policy

Advance Deposits - Returning and Readmitted Students
General Fee Deposit - Nonrefundable.
Housing Deposit - Nonrefundable once a room has been selected or assigned.
If there is a past due balance on your student account any deposits you make for a future term may be transferred to your student account to cover the outstanding balance.

Advance Deposits - First-Time Students
If the accepted applicant fails to matriculate, no refund of advance deposits.
If the accepted applicant matriculates and therefore becomes a student: general fee deposit and housing deposits are refundable in accordance with the University Refund Policy.

General Fee, Room and Board Refund
Inquiries concerning refunds should be directed to the Office of Student Accounts, (804) 289-8147 or toll free (866) 241-8893.

Students are matriculated by semester. If a student withdraws from classes or is dropped from the University for whatever cause, a refund of fees for a fall or spring semester shall be made in accordance with the University's Refund Policy, based on the schedule below. This schedule is adapted for summer terms.

Students who withdraw from the University and who are receiving any financial assistance may be required to return such assistance per Public Law 668.22 and institutional policy. The University of Richmond complies with all federal regulations governing recipients of federal Title IV funds. Information regarding financial aid refund policies is available in the Office of Financial Aid.

Any special fee associated with a particular course is nonrefundable after the first day of class.

Appeals Process

The University of Richmond has an appeals process for students and parents who believe individual circumstances warrant exceptions from published policy. All appeals must be in writing and directed to Annemarie Weitzel, Bursar, Box R, University of Richmond, VA 23173 or bursar@richmond.edu

Financial Aid

The financial aid program at the University of Richmond provides need-based grants, loans and service and work opportunities, and it also awards merit scholarships. Applicants for financial aid must be enrolled or accepted for enrollment in a degree program at the University and, for most types of aid, must be working toward their first bachelor's or master's degree. The need-based aid programs are designed for those families who are unable to pay the full cost of a college education. For domestic undergraduate students who apply and qualify for need-based aid, we will provide a financial aid package that meets 100 percent of a student's demonstrated eligibility for need-based aid. The merit-based scholarships are provided in recognition and support of noteworthy academic achievement. These merit-based scholarships are generally awarded independently of any assessment of need, although it is possible to qualify for a combination of need- and merit-based aid.

Applicants for need-based financial aid must complete both the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and the University of Richmond's Financial Aid Supplemental Application. Prospective first year students should submit the completed FAFSA by the deadline date of February 15. The deadline for transfer student financial aid applications is the same date as the admission application deadline. Generally, to be considered for need-based aid, an applicant must be a U.S. citizen or permanent resident, must be enrolled or accepted for enrollment on at least a half-time basis in a degree or certificate program, and must demonstrate financial need. Once aid is offered it is generally renewed in subsequent years if the family's financial situation stays the same. A new financial aid application must be filed each year, and the student must meet certain standards of satisfactory academic progress as outlined below.

The deadline for financial aid applications for returning students is May 15.

Students who are eligible for need-based aid, who are enrolled full time, and who meet the application deadline are offered a financial aid package that fully meets their demonstrated need. Part-time students may be considered for loans and the Federal Pell Grant.

There are a number of merit-based scholarship programs, some of which have value up to full tuition plus room and board. In most cases, students are selected from the pool of applicants for admission. However, some programs have separate applications or unique deadlines. Call the Office of Admission at (800) 700-1662 or (804) 289-8640, or e-mail scholarsoffice@richmond.edu with questions.

The Virginia Tuition Assistance Grant is for full-time students who are residents of Virginia. In 2007-08 grants were awarded in the amount of $3,200. Applications are sent from the Office of Admission to students who are accepted to the University. The deadline is July 31.

Financial aid awards made for an academic year may be used for study abroad if the student enrolls at one of the universities with which the University of Richmond has a direct exchange agreement. Financial aid for enrollment in approved non-Richmond programs is limited to loans and federal grants.

Satisfactory Academic Progress Policy

To receive assistance from any of the need-based financial aid programs at the University of Richmond, from federal loan programs, or from most private loan programs, students must maintain Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) toward the completion of their degree or certificate requirements. An evaluation of progress is made at the end of each academic year, including an analysis of earned credits and grade point average. All periods of attendance will be included in the evaluation regardless of whether the student received financial aid and including enrollment at schools other than the University of Richmond. Students not making satisfactory academic progress will be ineligible for further financial assistance until the deficit is made up. Waivers of these requirements may be granted for special circumstances upon appeal to the Director of Financial Aid.

The standards of academic progress outlined here are solely for the purpose of evaluating eligibility to continue receiving financial aid as defined above. They do not replace or modify academic standards required for continued enrollment at the University of Richmond. The effect of incomplete coursework, withdrawals, and course repetitions impact SAP in the following ways:

- Incomplete coursework is not included in GPA or in number of credits earned but is counted as attempted credit.
- Courses from which a student withdraws are not included in GPA or in number of credits earned but are counted as attempted credit.
- Repeated courses are counted only one time as earned credits. However, credits for each course taken, including all repeated courses, are counted as attempted credit. Both grades will be calculated in the cumulative grade point average.

Undergraduate arts and sciences, business, and leadership studies students must meet the following minimum standards:

<table>

Undergraduate students are not eligible for financial aid after ten semesters, including enrollment at schools other than the University of Richmond.

Return of Financial Aid When A Student Withdraws

A student who withdraws during a semester may be entitled to a refund of certain charges as outlined in the Refund Policy (see Financial Affairs section). Withdrawal also may affect a student's financial aid eligibility for the semester as outlined in the Federal Return of Title IV Program Funds Policy and the Return of Non-Title IV Program Funds Policy.

Return of Title IV Program Funds Policy

The 1998 amendments to the Higher Education Act (HEA) of 1965 and subsequent regulations issued by the Department of Education (43 CFR 668.22) establish a policy for the return of Title IV grant and loan funds for a student who withdraws. Title IV grant and loan funds include the following programs: Federal Direct Loans, Federal Pell Grant, Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant, Academic Competitiveness Grant, National SMART Grant, LEAP funds, Federal Perkins Loan, Federal Work-Study, Federal Stafford Loans and Federal PLUS Loans.

The amount of Title IV funds the student earns up to the withdrawal date is based on a daily proration determined by dividing the total number of calendar days completed by the total number of calendar days in the semester.
(excluding breaks of five or more consecutive days). Adjustments must only be made up to and including the 60 percent point in time for the semester. After the 60 percent point in time, the student is considered to have earned all of the Title IV funds awarded for that semester.

Unearned Title IV funds must be returned to the Title IV programs. If the amount earned is greater than the amount that has been disbursed, the difference is treated as a late disbursement to the student. Unearned funds up to the amount of total institutional charges (tuition plus room and board) multiplied by the unearned percentage of funds are returned to the Title IV programs by the University of Richmond. The student must return any portion of unearned funds not returned by the school. For grants, regulations limit the amount a student must repay to the amount by which the original overpayment amount exceeds 50 percent of the total grant funds received by the student. Title IV loan funds that must be returned by the student are repaid per the loan terms. Unearned Title IV funds are returned to the Title IV programs in the following order: Unsubsidized Federal Stafford Loans, Subsidized Federal Stafford Loans, Unsubsidized Direct Stafford Loans, Subsidized Direct Stafford Loans, Perkins Loans, Federal PLUS Loans, Direct PLUS Loans, Federal Pell Grants for which a return of funds is required, Academic Competitiveness Grants for which a return of funds is required, National SMART Grant for which a return of funds is required, and Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants for which a return of funds is required.

Return of Non-Title IV Program Funds Policy

Non-Title IV financial aid will be adjusted for a withdrawing student based upon the University's Refund Policy. Adjustments will be made through the sixth week of classes. The amount to be returned to the non-Title IV financial aid program is the same percentage that will be refunded to the student for tuition and room charges. After the sixth week, the student is considered to have earned all of the non-Title IV aid. Non-Title IV financial aid funds are returned in the following order: institutional grants/ scholarships, nonfederal loans, agency scholarships.

Students who are receiving financial aid and who are planning to withdraw from the University during a semester are strongly encouraged to meet with a financial aid advisor to review the impact that their withdrawal will have on their institutional charges and on their financial aid for the semester.

For further information about the various financial aid programs, contact the Office of Financial Aid at (804) 289-8438 or e-mail finaid@richmond.edu with questions about need-based aid, or check our Web site at financialaid.richmond.edu.

Student Life

The University of Richmond, through the Office of Student Development, provides a variety of cocurricular and extracurricular programs and student-support services. These are designed to enrich the quality of the collegiate experience by creating an environment in which the student can grow intellectually, emotionally, physically, socially, and spiritually. The ultimate purpose of this environment is to help each student fulfill his or her potential.

The deans' offices for Richmond College and Westhampton College, the University's coordinate colleges, are focal points in student life matters. For the University, the offices are centers for closely knit smaller communities within the whole.

On a more personal level, a student may find the dean or staff member serving as a counselor, advisor, mentor, or collaborator. If questions remain after reading the Student Life section of this catalog, a dean's office usually can provide a more complete explanation or indicate where more information may be found. In all cases, the deans' offices are contact points to provide assistance. Each student is encouraged to make full use of these excellent resources.
Policies

The University of Richmond is governed by policy statements that guide individual members in their actions toward each other and toward the larger community. These policy statements support the University's educational mission while seeking to ensure that both individual and group rights are appropriately observed and maintained.

University Academic Honor Code Statute

The School of Arts and Sciences, the Jepson School of Leadership Studies, and the Robins School of Business each operate under the University Honor Code Statute. Cheating, plagiarism, lying, academic theft, disclosing honor council information, registration irregularity, and failure to report an Honor Code Statute violation are all considered breaches of the code. Any person who violates these standards shall be subject to disciplinary action ranging from reprimand up to and including expulsion from the University. Guilt or innocence will be determined and sanctions imposed, when necessary, according to established procedures, with procedural fairness observed and with appropriate appeal procedures available. The University Honor Code Statute is available from any dean's office.

University of Richmond Honor Councils

The University of Richmond Honor Councils provide information about the Honor System to new students and instructs them as to its meaning and operation. During new student orientation, students are given information about the honor system. Each student is required to pass a test to demonstrate an adequate knowledge of the honor system. The University of Richmond Honor Councils' policies and procedures are described in greater detail in the University's Undergraduate Student Handbook and online at www.student.richmond.edu/~urhc/.

Standards of Conduct

The University of Richmond considers cultivation of self-discipline and resolution of issues through process of reason to be of primary importance in the educational process and essential to the development of responsible citizens. All members of the University community have a responsibility to comply with local, state, and federal laws and with all published University policies and regulations. In a community of learning, individual or group conduct that is unlawful disrupts or interferes with the educational processes, causes destruction of property, or otherwise infringes upon the rights of others or of the University itself cannot be tolerated.

The trustees of the University of Richmond have authorized a policy statement on standards of conduct, penalties, and disciplinary procedures to guide the conduct of students and their guests. This statement sets forth those standards of conduct that the University of Richmond deems essential for fulfilling its educational mission. Any person who violates the standards of conduct and regulations of the University of Richmond shall be subject to disciplinary action and, if need be, legal action. Disciplinary action may range from disciplinary warning up to and including suspension or expulsion from the University. Sanctions will be imposed after proper determination has been made in accordance with established disciplinary procedures of the University, with fair procedures observed and with appropriate appeal procedures available, as outlined in the policy statement and any approved revisions thereof.

A copy of this policy statement and/or any officially approved revisions thereof is readily available in the Student Handbook for each student who matriculates. All members of the University community should familiarize themselves with this policy statement and revisions and with any other official publications, handbooks, or announcements issued on occasion by the University of Richmond or by individual colleges and schools of the University.

Right of Privacy

Student academic and personnel records are administered under the procedures and requirements of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (P.L. 93-380), as amended. This act generally prohibits the Unauthorized release of confidential information about individual students; however, directory information usually may be released. For more information, see Confidentiality or contact the Office of the University Registrar, located in Sarah Brunet Memorial Hall.

Alcoholic Beverages and Other Drugs

The legal age for the consumption and possession of beverage alcohol is 21 in the Commonwealth of Virginia; the law governs all sites within the Commonwealth and all persons including temporary visitors from other places. The University supports the laws of the Commonwealth and has policies to educate and regulate its campus constituencies regarding the consumption of alcohol. Similarly, statutes as well as University policies prohibit the possession, distribution, sale, or use of illegal drugs or narcotics, including marijuana and hallucinogens. Moreover, each person is responsible for his or her destructive, obstructive, or otherwise inappropriate behavior, whether under the influence of any substance or not. Persons in violation of the law are subject to prosecution by law enforcement agencies as well as disciplinary proceedings by the University.

Official University Communications

The University of Richmond uses e-mail as an official means of communication within the University. Examples include notification of financial aid, tuition bills, academic or disciplinary action, instructor feedback, and correspondence from University offices. Students are required to activate their @richmond.edu e-mail account and to check it regularly. Students are responsible for reading the content of University communications sent to their e-mail account. If students choose to forward their University emails to an external e-mail provider, they are responsible for ensuring that the external e-mail account remains active.

University Police

The University of Richmond Police Department, a nationally accredited police department, is committed to providing a safe and secure environment for our students, faculty, staff, and visitors. The University of Richmond Police Department provides 24-hour uniformed response to calls for service, provides routine and directed patrol activities, performs vehicular crash investigation, and investigates criminal offenses. Additionally, all police officers are Red Cross First Responder/CPR-certified. Uniformed security officers also assist with building security and other calls for service as needed. All crimes that occur on campus should be reported to the University Police in person or by calling 911, (804) 289-8911 or (804) 289-8715. More information about the police department, including crime statistics, can be found online at oncampus.richmond.edu/administration/police/.

Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act

The University of Richmond is committed to assisting all members of the University community in providing for their own safety and security. The annual security compliance document is available on the University of Richmond Web site at www.richmond.edu/administration/police. If you would like to receive a copy of the security report, which contains this information, you can stop by the University Police Department at Special Programs Building, #31 UR Drive, University of Richmond, VA 23173, or you can request that a copy be mailed to you by calling (804) 289-8722.

The Web site and booklet contain information regarding campus security and personal safety including topics such as crime prevention, University police law enforcement authority, crime reporting polices, disciplinary procedures and other matters of importance related to security on campus. They also contain information about crime statistics for the three previous calendar years concerning reported crimes that occurred on campus, in certain off-campus buildings or property owned or controlled by University of Richmond, and on public property within or immediately adjacent to and accessible from the campus.

This information is required by law and is provided by the University of Richmond Police Department.
Parking Services

The University of Richmond Parking Services strives to provide adequate, safe and accessible parking for faculty, staff, students and visitors to the University. To achieve this goal, Parking Services requests that all vehicles, including motorcycles and mopeds, be registered. Vehicles may be registered in person at the Parking Services' office or online at oncampus.richmond.edu/administration/police/parking. All vehicles on campus must be properly licensed, inspected and insured. Vehicles may be removed from campus if not registered with Parking Services. Parking Rules and Regulations can be found at the Parking Services’ Web site and a copy of the regulations will accompany all permits.

Housing and Residence Life

On-campus housing for undergraduate students may be requested by contacting the Office of Undergraduate Student Housing. The University attempts to provide on-campus housing for full-time students who wish to be accommodated. No student is required to live on campus, and some choose to reside off campus in private homes or apartments. The University does not provide married student housing.

Residence hall rooms are available in several styles, including singles, doubles, triples, quads, and suites. Apartments are available for some upper-class students. First-year students are housed in traditional residence halls, which are primarily double rooms. Most residence halls have lounges and laundry areas.

Room reservation procedures are made available at appropriate times during the school year. In general, continuing students request rooms and roommates according to the procedures established by the Office of Undergraduate Student Housing. Incoming students complete a questionnaire. Using expressed lifestyle, mutual interests, and other criteria, the Office of Undergraduate Student Housing assigns rooms and roommates.

General supervision of the residence halls is provided by professional staff who are assisted by specially trained upper-class students. University policy is the framework under which all campus residences are governed.

Numerous educational and social programs are planned for residents by the residence life staffs of the colleges, the Residence Hall Association and the President's College Associates. These programs make the residence halls and apartments into living and learning environments that promote a sense of community and personal growth.

General Conditions

The Unified Agreement sets forth the specific terms and conditions applicable to residence hall rentals, meal plans, telecom services, and data services. Each student approved for housing receives an electronic copy of the Unified Agreement, which details the services provided to students, in conjunction with the room reservation procedures. Detailed information regarding residence life and housing is available in the college handbooks.

Activities

Because co-curricular activities are an important part of the campus experience, the University provides a broad range of events and opportunities to challenge student interests. The University offers opportunities for leadership and community service as well as for cultural, recreational, social, and spiritual interests. These activities, combined with academic pursuits, contribute to the formation of the well-rounded individual.

Arts and Cultural Events

The Modlin Center for the Arts presents more than 35 world-class performing arts events as part of the Modlin Great Performances Series, four main-stage productions presented by the University Players and Dancers, and another 22 music performances as part of the Department of Music's annual free concert series. Located throughout campus, University Museums presents more than 20 exhibitions of national and international art and artifacts as well as student work. In addition to arts events, the Jepson School of Leadership Studies, the WILL program, and many academic departments sponsor lecture series.

Student Life Services

Career Development Center

The Career Development Center (CDC) advises and supports undergraduate students and alumni throughout the career development process. The CDC approaches career development as a continuous learning experience that begins during a student's first year at Richmond. CDC staff members work with undergraduate students in all majors to assist them in discovering their individual paths for success. Richmond students achieve a high rate of success after graduation. They are employed in a diverse range of industries and are accepted at some of the best graduate and professional schools in the world. In fall 2008, the CDC relocated to a newly renovated space located on the third floor of Tyler Haynes Commons.

The CDC assists students in:

- Exploring interests and abilities
- Choosing majors
- Connecting with internships and learning experiences
- Investigating graduate and professional school options
- Landing their first jobs

Programs & Events include:

- Individual career advising
- Industry and career workshops and panels
- "Destination Unknown" retreat for sophomores
- Spider Road Trips to explore industries in various metropolitan areas
- "Evening of Etiquette"
- Mock interviews
- On-campus interviews
- Career and internship fairs
- Off-campus recruiting events

Exclusive Search Engines

Richmond students have exclusive access to the CDC's online employer database, SpiderConnect, which allows them to search for employers recruiting on campus, apply for interviews, and register to attend employer information sessions. Career15 gives Richmond students access to opportunities open to students from Virginia's colleges and universities. The University Career Action Network (UCAN) allows Richmond students access to internship postings throughout the world.

The UR Career Network allows students to search for and connect with Richmond alumni in varying industries and geographic areas for career networking.

Recruiting Programs & Events

Every year, the CDC hosts organizations for information sessions and on-campus interviews. Employers also attend the UR Career & Internship Fair to recruit Richmond students in the fall. In addition to bringing employers on campus to recruit Richmond students, the CDC works to bring students to major metropolitan areas for programs and career fairs. Spider Road Trips allow Richmond students to meet and network with professionals from various industries in major metropolitan areas, including finance and media and communications in New York and non-profit and government in Washington, D.C. The CDC also assists students in applying for and attending regional and national career fairs.

Counseling and Psychological Services

CAPS staff members are licensed doctoral-level mental health professionals who help students derive the greatest benefit from the educational opportunities at UR. Services offered include short-term individual psychotherapy, crisis intervention, outreach, training, consultation, and referral to other on- or off-campus resources as needed. Services are offered from about mid-August to about mid-June and are available to full-time students. Common reasons students come to CAPS include stress, anxiety, depression, relationship concerns, academic difficulties, grief, family concerns, traumatic events, eating problems, substance abuse, and sleep disturbance. Appointments can be made by visiting the CAPS office (201 Richmond Hall) Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 to 5 p.m. Confidentiality is assured to the full extent allowed by law. The CAPS Web site (caps.richmond.edu) has additional information on CAPS services, links to anonymous online screening surveys, and a variety of other mental health information. Phone: (804) 289-8119; FAX: (804) 287-1227.

Bonner Center for Civic Engagement

The Bonner Center for Civic Engagement (CCE) is the University of Richmond's coordinating hub for civic engagement in the Greater Richmond community. The CCE helps students, faculty, staff, and community members address social issues in context and respond to community-identified needs through a variety of tools, including: community-based learning and research, advocacy work, deepened awareness of current events, and service. Located in the Tyler Haynes Commons, the CCE sponsors educational programming on important local, national, and international issues and also works with faculty and students to integrate academic learning with the pressing social issues facing the Richmond region and beyond.

Office of Common Ground

As the University's diversity and inclusion initiative, Common Ground fosters community across lines of difference, and serves as a campus-wide resource in support of the University's core principles of diversity and inclusion. Common Ground's efforts include workshop planning and provision, programming that encourages analysis and understanding of differences, and partnering with student organizations, University departments, and units to support activities that promote inclusive community. Common Ground also offers confidential consultation on issues relating to diversity for students, staff, and faculty; serves as the access point for senior administration regarding diversity issues; and provides resources for information regarding diversity, organizational, cultural, and social change, including issues of race, gender, sexual orientation, ethnicity, social class, ability, and others.

Disability Accommodations

The University seeks to comply with all applicable federal, state, and local laws regarding the rights of individuals with disabilities. To facilitate such compliance, the vice president for student development serves as the University's disability coordinator. The University does not discriminate on the basis of disability in admission. Therefore, applicants are not required to provide information about their physical condition or disability status prior to admission. Individuals with disabilities are invited to contact the disability coordinator regarding any accommodations they may require in visiting the campus or upon matriculation. The University provides reasonable adjustments or accommodations in its academic programs as necessary for equal opportunity and participation for qualified students with disabilities.

International Students and Study Abroad
The Office of International Education, located in Puryear Hall, serves all students, undergraduate and graduate, in arts and sciences, business, leadership studies, continuing studies, and law. It offers advising on opportunities and procedures for study, internships, and work abroad; a wide variety of services for international students such as orientation, visas, work, health insurance, and taxes; and a broad range of cultural and social activities focused on cultures and countries around the world as well as cross-cultural issues.

Multicultural Affairs

The mission of the Office of Multicultural Affairs is to support the ongoing enrollment and retention of ethno-culturally and socio-culturally diverse American students and promote a campus climate that celebrates diversity. Working in collaboration with a variety of other offices and departments campus-wide, the Office of Multicultural Affairs develops, implements, and advocates for programs that are designed to enhance the overall personal development and growth of University students.

Student Health Center

The Student Health Center offers a comprehensive program in health education and health maintenance, as well as treatment for illness and injury. The Health Center staff includes board-certified family practice physicians and registered nurses. Services include acute care for illness and injury, general medical care, women's health, men's health, allergy shots, and immunizations. The telephone number is (804) 289-8064 and FAX is (804) 287-6466. Students and parents are encouraged to visit the Health Center's Web site for general information and timely messages: healthcenter.richmond.edu and the Health Center can be reached by e-mail at healthcenter@richmond.edu.

Rather than walking in without an appointment, students are encouraged to call and speak with a registered nurse about their concerns through the Dial-A-Nurse system (call 804-289-8700 for the Dial-A-Nurse). After evaluating the history and symptoms of the illness, the nurse will advise the most appropriate treatment. If indicated after the Dial-A-Nurse evaluation, an appointment will be made. Appointments may be made for annual gynecological examinations, doctor-requested follow-up visits, allergy shots, immunizations, and PPD tests by calling (804) 289-8064.

All full time students are eligible for the services provided by the Student Health Center. (School of Continuing Studies students are not eligible.) The cost of prescription drugs, some laboratory tests, hospital emergency room treatment, hospitalization, x-rays, and referral off campus for consultation with medical specialists are not covered by any student fees. These costs will be billed separately by the provider.

The Student Health Center does not accept insurance assignments. This means we will not bill a patient's insurance company. Any charges incurred at the time of visit will be billed through student accounts or may be paid by check, cash, or Spider Card. The patient will be provided with a medical encounter form itemizing all charges and containing all necessary information to submit for insurance reimbursement.

Information regarding hours of operation, descriptions of services, details of allergy shot procedure, billing and insurance questions, medical information, community facilities, medical referrals, and helpful links can be found on the Health Center's Web site.

Virginia law mandates that each student submit an immunization record and tuberculosis screening status prior to enrollment. In compliance with this requirement, the immunization record is included in the health history form provided to entering students and is to be returned to the Student Health Center.

All communications between student and Health Center staff are strictly confidential. Information will not be released from the Student Health Center without the patient's prior approval except in an emergency or by court order.
Campus Activities Board

Each week, the student-run Campus Activities Board presents a diverse selection of events planned for students. Such events include, but are not limited to, bands, movies, comedians, hypnotists, and karaoke.

Organizations

There are over 250 recognized student organizations, groups, and clubs. The list of organizations each year reflects changes in student interests. Academically oriented groups and chapters of national honor societies comprise about a quarter of the student organizations. These organizations, such as Phi Beta Kappa for students in the arts and sciences and Beta Gamma Sigma for business students, recognize exceptional academic achievement. Other organizations provide opportunities in academic disciplines for study, research or practice beyond the classroom. Each serves to unite students who have a common academic interest.

Some organizations represent the University in the community. These include the student newspaper and literary magazine, theatre productions, performing arts ensembles, the student-operated radio station, and numerous volunteer organizations.

Religious and spiritual life, coordinated through the Office of the Chaplaincy, offer a variety of opportunities for fellowship, study, service, worship, practice, and learning in small- and large-group settings.

The Greek social system comprises approximately 29 percent of the full-time undergraduate men and 46 percent of the full-time undergraduate women. There are six organizations for men and eight for women; all are nationally recognized. The men's organizations have their own lodges for social and recreational purposes while the women's use existing campus facilities. However, Greek system members live among other students in the campus residence halls and eat in the central Heilman Dining Center. In addition to their social activities, these organizations historically have organized and supported a broad range of community service projects.

Special interest organizations are yet another way for students to gather with others who have similar interests. In this context an individual might want to learn or sharpen skills in, for example, skiing. If there is no club in existence that meets the common interest of several students, they may follow established procedures to form one.

Intercollegiate Athletics

The University of Richmond is a proud member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, the Atlantic 10 Conference, and the Colonial Athletic Association. All of the University's intercollegiate athletics sports are NCAA Division I, including Championship Division football. All teams participate in the Atlantic 10 Conference; the football team is a member of the Colonial Athletic Association. The intercollegiate athletics program offers nine sports for men and 10 for women. The men's teams include baseball, basketball, cross country, football, golf, soccer, tennis, and track (indoor and outdoor). The women's intercollegiate athletics teams compete in basketball, cross country, field hockey, golf, lacrosse, soccer, swimming, tennis, and track (indoor and outdoor).

Recreation and Wellness

The mission of the Department of Recreation and Wellness is to enhance the lives of its members by providing quality recreational and educational programs in an environment that promotes healthy lifestyles, academic productivity, and personal growth.

The Weinstein Center for Recreation and Wellness provides a comprehensive facility that includes a two-level fitness and wellness center, three-court gymnasium with an elevated walking and jogging track, two multipurpose rooms, pool, game room, and racquetball and squash courts, as well as locker room and sauna facilities. Participants will have the opportunity to experience a full range of cardio and strength equipment, in addition to a wellness.
resource center and computer lab. Outdoor playing fields and lighted basketball and sand volleyball courts are available for recreational use. Thirteen tennis courts, a 400-meter track, and cross country trails are also available for recreational use when not scheduled for intramurals, intercollegiate athletics, or special events.

The fitness and wellness program offers group exercise, indoor cycling, and other fitness instructional programs throughout the day. In addition, special screenings, assessments, and services are offered to address health and wellness topics. Services often include massage therapy, personal training, cholesterol screenings, blood pressure checks, and fitness assessments.

The intramural sports program offers a wide range of major and minor sports at a variety of skill levels. More than 25 sport clubs provide student leadership opportunities as well as competitive options for students who are not part of the varsity athletic program. The Natural High and Outdoor Adventure programs offer activities and trips throughout the year, often including whitewater tubing and rafting, camping, skiing, rock climbing and hiking. The new high-ropes Odyssey course is one component of a much larger and long term departmental goal for developing a comprehensive Outdoor Experiential Education program.

For more information about recreation and wellness programs or the Weinstein Center, please visit recreation.richmond.edu or call Member Services at (804) 289-8361.

Student Government

To as great an extent as possible, the University places the governance of students in the hands of students. The coordinate colleges and the schools of business and leadership studies each have their own elected student government association which responds to the needs and interests of its specific students. In addition, student representatives are chosen to sit and vote on certain committees of the Board of Trustees and of the faculty. Each college has its own honor council and its own judicial council composed entirely of students.

Dining Services

University of Richmond Dining Services is a multi-operation department consisting of dining locations, snack shops, and retail stores. The E. Bruce Heilman Dining Center is a state-of-the-art facility overlooking Westhampton Lake that serves approximately 3,000 students and guests daily. A retail market is located off the main lobby and the upper level of the facility houses the Department of Food and Auxiliary Services and the campus post office.

The centrally located Tyler Haynes Commons (THC) houses Tyler's Grill, an eat-in or carry-out operation with a dining area that faces Westhampton Lake and gazebo. The campus smoothie bar, Freshens, and the Cellar, a late-night gathering space, are also located in THC. For late-night studying at Boatwright Library, gourmet coffee, hot drinks, and snacks are available at Eight Fifteen at Boatwright. Sodas, snacks, and grocery items also are available at the Dean's Den, located in the Whitehurst building near the Richmond Dean's office.

Meal Plans

All students living on campus, except those in University Forest Apartments, are required to participate in a meal plan. University Forest residents can waive meal plan participation, choose from any of the campus meal plans, or purchase a Spider Flex Plan of dining dollars designed for their convenience. An off-campus meal plan also is available for commuting students. Details of the various meal plan options, including the Spider Flex and off-campus plan, are available on the dining services Web site at dining.richmond.edu.

Meal Plan Selections and Policy of Change Requests

Students are provided the opportunity to make their meal plan selection via BannerWeb each fall and spring for the next semester. For returning students, meal plans roll over from semester to semester. If you are moving to University Forest Apartments or off campus, your plan is not automatically changed or cancelled. It is the student's responsibility to change their plan in Bannerweb before the published deadline. Deadlines by which this selection must be made are sent to students through a SpiderByte e-mail announcement and are posted on the dining services Web site. Once the selection is made, only one additional adjustment is permitted and must be made prior to the published deadlines. To initiate a change, the student must personally contact the One-Card Office. After the deadline, a change can be made only with the approval of the associate director of dining services and will incur a $50.00 processing fee. A student may be permitted to move between the appropriate meal plans, but no refunds will be issued. Any decrease in charges will automatically be credited to a University One-Card account for the student's use on campus. Increased charges will be due at the time of the change or will be billed.

Hours of Operation and Other Services

Students can find something to eat somewhere on campus whenever classes are in session, from 7:15 a.m. to midnight Monday through Thursday, Fridays from 7:15 a.m. until 1:00 a.m. and Saturday and Sunday from 10:30 a.m. until 1:00 a.m. Dining services maintains an up-to-date schedule of menus and operational hours for all campus locations on its Web page. Meal plans follow the undergraduate academic calendar, and service and hours may be limited during academic breaks and holidays.

Catering and a wide variety of additional services, including nutrition counseling and meals-to-go, are also available through University Dining Services. Additional information is available upon request or can be viewed at dining.richmond.edu.

Special Dietary Needs

With a registered dietician as a member of the University dining services team, every effort is made to support special dietary needs that are medically based. Medical documentation is required, and students with dietary restrictions or special needs are asked to make an appointment to see our nutrition professional. Students will be required to sign an informational release so that their situation can be discussed with their physician or medical professional as needed. In addition, dining services may require that students consult the University's physicians regarding their dietary requests.

The University does not have designated facilities to accommodate religion-based dietary needs on a daily basis. However, we do work closely with the campus ministry to provide kosher meals for Passover selections and carry-out meals during Ramadan. Please contact the associate director of dining services if you have questions regarding available services.

Bookstore

The University Bookstore carries textbooks for all courses scheduled for a given term at the University. A comprehensive selection of reference books and general reading materials is also available. The store offers academically priced software, computer and office supplies, greeting cards, gifts, clothing, and health and beauty aids. Services include faxing and UPS shipping. The bookstore's Web site is urspidershop.com.

Student Identification Number

In an effort to better protect the privacy of each member of the University of Richmond community, the University uses randomly generated ID numbers of each student, employee, faculty member, and alumnus/a.

A student will be assigned a University of Richmond ID number as the primary identification for University records when he/she enters the University. This eight-digit number will be printed on each student's One-Card (unless the student requests that it not be printed). This ID number also will be used in conjunction with a confidential PIN for students to register for classes and access their academic records through the Web using the University of Richmond's Student Information System (BannerWeb). A Social Security number will still be required to be on file with the University to fulfill IRS and federal reporting requirements.

Identification Card/One-Card

Each degree- or certificate-seeking student will be issued a picture identification card (One-Card) upon request. This card verifies that the holder is eligible to receive University library and certain other campus privileges. A campus ID is required for check cashing and access to athletic facilities and serves as your meal card if applicable. Neither the card nor its privileges is transferable.

All University students may sign up for the University's Spider Account, a declining balance program which allows students to access previously deposited funds via their University One-Card. The Spider Account allows students the ability to make purchases without carrying cash and can be used by all students at the bookstore, the Student Health Center, most vending machines, and all campus dining locations. Students will be mailed information each semester regarding One-Card sign up. Complete information on the One-Card is available at oncampus.richmond.edu/student/life/one-card.

Written Complaints and Grievances

Students who wish to lodge a complaint or grievance pertaining to University policies, procedures or conditions may address their complaints in written form to the appropriate department head or official who oversees the area of concern. If in doubt as to whom to direct the complaint, the following officials may be contacted:

Academically related concerns:
School of Arts and Sciences:
Dean of Richmond College (Men)
Dean of Westhampton College (Women)

Robins School of Business:
Dean of the Robins School of Business

Jepson School of Leadership Studies:
Dean of the Jepson School of Leadership Studies

Housing Concerns:
Director, Office of Undergraduate Student Housing

Financial Policy Concerns:
Vice President for Business and Finance

All other concerns:
Vice President for Student Development

Confidentiality/Privacy Rights/Right to Know

University of Richmond procedures and the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) prohibit the unauthorized release of confidential information about individual students. However, directory information is not considered to be confidential and may be published or otherwise released. Directory information includes: name; addresses, including permanent, campus, local (off-campus), e-mail, and campus computer network (IP) address; associated telephone numbers; date and place of birth; school or college; major and/or minor fields of study; degree sought; expected date of completion of degree requirements and graduation; degrees conferred; awards and honors (e.g., dean's list); full- or part-time enrollment status; dates of attendance; previous institutions attended; participation in officially recognized activities and sports; weight and height of members of an athletic team; and photograph. A full list of information considered directory information is available on the Office of the University Registrar's Web page at oncampus.richmond.edu/academics/registrar/policy/ferpapolicy.html or by contacting the Office of the University Registrar. Students may opt to have their directory information withheld. To exercise this option, the appropriate form must be obtained from the Office of the University Registrar, completed, and returned to that office. Once filed, this form remains in effect until withdrawn by the student in writing to the Office of the University Registrar. For further information, contact the Office of the University Registrar.

Rights with Respect to Education Records

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) affords students certain rights with respect to their education records. These rights include:

1. Access to Education Records: students have the right to inspect and review their education records within 45 days of the day the University receives a written request for access. Students should submit their request to the Office of the University Registrar and specify the record(s) they wish to inspect. Arrangements will be made for access and the student notified of the time and place where the records may be inspected.

2. Request for Amendment of Education Records: students have the right to request amendment of their education records if they believe the records are inaccurate. They should write the University Registrar, clearly identify the part of the record they want changed, and specify why it is inaccurate. If the University decides not to amend the record as requested by the student, the University will notify the student of the decision and advise the student of his or her right to a hearing regarding the request for amendment. Additional information regarding hearing procedures will be provided to the student when notified of the right to a hearing.

3. Disclosure of Education Records: students have the right to consent to disclosures of personally identifiable information contained in education records, except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent.

One exception which permits disclosure without consent is disclosure to school officials with legitimate educational interest. A school official is a person employed by the University in an administrative, supervisory, academic or research, or support staff position (including law enforcement unit personnel and health staff); a person or company with whom the University has contracted (such as an attorney, auditor, or collection agent); a person serving on the Board of Trustees; or a student serving on an official committee, such as a disciplinary or grievance committee, or assisting another school official in performing his or her tasks. A school official has a legitimate educational interest if the official needs to review an education record in order to fulfill his or her professional responsibility.

Upon request, the University discloses records without consent to officials of another school in which a student seeks or intends to enroll.

4. Right to File a Complaint: Students have the right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education concerning alleged failures by the University of Richmond to comply with the requirements of FERPA. The name and address of the office that administers FERPA is:

   Family Policy Compliance Office
   U.S. Department of Education
   400 Maryland Avenue, SW
   Washington, DC 20202-4605

The University's complete policy statement can be found on the University Registrar's Web page at: http://oncampus.richmond.edu/academics/registrar/policy/ferpapolicy.html.
NOTE: Because of the access afforded by a University ID, this number is not considered directory information and will not be released without a student's consent except in situations as listed above. Students should treat the University ID as confidential—it should be protected and not carelessly shared with others. It will be used for a student's entire time at the University of Richmond, so it should always be treated in a confidential manner.

Right To Know

In accordance with the Student Right To Know and Campus Security Act, the University of Richmond makes graduation rates available to all current and incoming students. These figures can be found on the University's Web site at oir.richmond.edu/studentrtk.htm.

Academic Opportunities and Support

Academic Advising

An important part of a liberal arts education at the University of Richmond is the relationship between a student and his or her academic advisor. All full-time faculty members in the undergraduate schools and some experienced staff members serve as advisors. While some professors advise only majors in their programs, most advise both majors and students who have not yet declared a major. The ratio of students per advisor is intentionally kept low so students can benefit from personal attention as they plan their academic program.

While the University believes that the responsibility for decisions and actions resides with each individual, advisors are available to answer questions about the curriculum and choosing courses and to help students navigate their years at Richmond. They can assist students along the path to choosing a major, examining career choices, and deciding on research studies or internships. Many graduates report that their advisor was a highly valuable resource to them, and many advisees and advisors remain in touch after the student has left the University.

In addition, the Academic Advising Resource Center (AARC) is available to assist both advisors and advisees with any questions or concerns. For more information about academic advising, contact the AARC at advising.richmond.edu.

Academic Support Centers

Academic Skills Center

The Academic Skills Center, located in the administrative wing in Boatwright Library, provides academic skills support to University of Richmond students. Operating from a holistic vantage point, the Center incorporates counseling and study skills techniques (including test-taking, note-taking, information processing, concentration, and time management), which address the academic performance of students and their social adjustment to the University environment. The center offers free tutoring in a variety of subjects to students through its Peer Academic Skills Tutoring program. Both individual and group tutoring options are available. For information, call (804) 289-8626 or visit the center to schedule an appointment.

Weinstein-Jecklin Speech Center

Practice and preparation can make the difference between a satisfactory speech and a memorable one. Video recording, review, and peer consultation are available at the speech center to assist students in the development of their oral presentations. Administrators, faculty, and staff rely on the speech center as well to prepare for workshops and to record small group discussions for classroom purposes. The student consultant staff assists client peers with mock interviews, symposia presentations, brainstorming, or conference panel practice sessions.

Faculty and trained undergraduate students conduct consultations daily at the speech center; practice sessions are available evenings and weekends by appointment. Reservations are made through the speech center's Web site at speech.richmond.edu. The speech center is located on the fourth floor of Weinstein Hall between the departments of rhetoric and communication studies and journalism.

Writing Center

The Writing Center offers assistance to students writing papers and reports as well as to those making applications to graduate and professional schools and preparing résumés. Beginning about the third week of each semester, the Writing Center is open on a regular basis and staffed with student tutors. Students may make an appointment using the center's online calendar. The Writing Center also offers typing instruction and special tutoring for international students. The center is located in the Boatwright Library's Administrative Wing, under the bell tower to the right of the library's main entrance. Many of the center's materials and other information can be found at writing.richmond.edu.

Honor Societies

Many honor and professional societies have chapters at the University of Richmond.

Phi Beta Kappa is the oldest undergraduate honor society in the United States. The Richmond chapter, Epsilon of Virginia, was founded in 1929. Phi Beta Kappa members are selected from the Schools of Arts and Sciences and Leadership based upon academic achievement.

Beta Gamma Sigma is the national honor society for business students. The University of Richmond chapter was founded in 1965. Faculty members select students for membership based on distinguished academic record.

Omicron Delta Kappa is the national leadership honor society. Chartered in 1921, Richmond's ODK chapter recognizes academic achievement, leadership, and membership positions.

Golden Key National Honour Society recognizes and encourages scholastic achievement. Richmond's chapter was chartered in 1990 and provides academic recognition, leadership and community service opportunities, and educational programs for its members.

Mortar Board is a national honor society that recognizes college seniors for distinguished scholarship, leadership, and service. Membership is open to rising seniors by invitation.

In addition to these campus-wide honor societies, many departments sponsor campus chapters of national honor societies in their disciplines. Information regarding departmental honor societies can be obtained from individual departments.

WILL Program (Women Involved in Living and Learning)

WILL is a nationally recognized program for women. It combines an academic minor with opportunities outside of the classroom for students who want to actively participate in improving the world around them. The holistic four-year program provides opportunities to apply theory to practice within a supportive community of diverse women.

WILL is the first program of its kind, and schools from across the country have replicated this unique model. WILL consists of three complementary components:

1. Women, Gender and Sexuality Studies (WGSS) minor
The WGSS minor serves as the cornerstone of the WILL curriculum, providing a theoretical framework for the examination of gender, societal institutions, individual beliefs and a wide range of social justice struggles and achievements. The minor in WGSS complements all majors and enhances study abroad opportunities.

2. Student Leadership Organization

- WILL students develop leadership skills and gain real-world experience over the course of the four-year program. Students apply academic knowledge to social problems in both the campus community and the city of Richmond and beyond. Students are involved in active decision-making through the WILL student leadership organization, which includes an elected board and student committees.

3. Gender and Diversity-Related Events

- WILL students attend lectures and seminars with the women and men whose scholarship, struggles, and successes they study in class. Following WILL events, students meet with scholars and activists in small group discussions, bringing social justice issues and students' own beliefs and aspirations into focus.

The WILL program strives to foster a deeper understanding of gender and its intersections with race, culture, class, sexuality, and other aspects of social identity. By connecting students with one another, and to a strong and supportive network of faculty, staff, students, alumnae, and community mentors, WILL students develop critical thinking, intellectual curiosity, problem-solving, and leadership skills. In addition, this program provides opportunities for women to explore career and life choices that enable them to excel and realize their full potential.

Information, including a link to the application, is sent to all incoming first-year and transfer women over the summer. Applications are accepted during the summer and in the fall of a student's first year at the University of Richmond. Subject to space availability, sophomore women may also apply. For further information, visit WILL's Web site: will.richmond.edu.

Sophomore Scholars-in-Residence

Beginning August 2009, the University will offer several unique living and learning communities designed to enhance student learning beyond traditional methods. Sophomore students will be invited to live in special learning communities in Lakeview Residence Hall that revolve around a central theme. Residents take a credit-bearing class together that meets in a classroom/kitchen area located on the first floor of Lakeview Hall. Students are actively involved in experiential and social activities outside of class time with the professor. Themes may include politics, foreign language, outdoor adventures, civic engagement, and literature. Questions can be directed to the vice president for student development.

International Education

The academic programs of the schools of arts and sciences, business, and leadership studies provide opportunities for the study of international subjects within academic fields long associated with such issues as political science, anthropology, and languages and literatures. Importantly, in response to changes in the world and in higher education, the University has committed itself to the internationalization of the curriculum as a whole. There is a large and growing number of courses in all departments that include international, often non-Western components. Interdisciplinary majors such as environmental studies, German studies, American studies, and international studies also examine international and global issues and regional politics that may cross national borders. Students interested in international issues can combine a major in a traditional academic discipline with an interdisciplinary program, for example, international studies and biology. The curricula of the Jepson School of Leadership Studies and the Robins School of Business also offer a significant number of courses that are international in scope and focus, including the concentration in international business in the Robins School of Business.
The University of Richmond places strong emphasis on the integration of international education into the academic and co-curricular experience of all students. To that end, the Office of International Education (OIE) organizes activities and events such as lectures, concerts, discussion groups, study abroad fair, and an annual international film series. The OIE also organizes a biannual faculty seminar abroad program designed to enhance the international experience and expertise of its faculty to further internationalize the curriculum. An International Resource Center with travel, work, and volunteer information is located in the OIE.

Campus Activities

The University of Richmond provides a wide range of on-campus activities and events in support of international education. Courses, lectures, and seminars are offered by resident and visiting international scholars, writers, and artists. Exhibits, concerts, and the annual International Film Series bring to campus arts from around the world. Students are able to participate in a variety of international organizations such as the Asian Students Association, Multicultural Student Union, International Club, Model United Nations, Phi Beta Delta, Amnesty International, and Americans for Informed Democracy. Familiarization with other countries and cultures is enhanced on campus through contacts with a significant and growing number of international students, including exchange students from Richmond's partner institutions who are fully integrated into the life of the University.

Cross-cultural education and dialogue at Richmond take place in residence halls as well as in classes. While the great majority of international students live in general residence halls, the Global House is home to a community of U.S. and international students. Programs planned and executed by students living in the Global House are open to the entire University community. The rapidly growing international student population has recently included representatives from Afghanistan, Argentina, Australia, Austria, Bahamas, Bangladesh, Belgium, Bolivia, Bosnia & Herzegovina, Botswana, Bulgaria, Cambodia, Canada, Chile, China, Colombia, Cyprus, Dominican Republic, East Timor, Ecuador, El Salvador, Estonia, France, Germany, Ghana, Guatemala, Honduras, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Iraq, Israel, Italy, Japan, Lithuania, Mexico, Mongolia, Netherland Antilles, Netherlands, Niger, Nigeria, Pakistan, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Poland, Portugal, Romania, Serbia, Singapore, South Korea, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Taiwan, Thailand, Tibet, Trinidad & Tobago, Turkey, UK, Ukraine, Vietnam, Zimbabwe.

Study Abroad

The University of Richmond has relationships with over 70 distinguished universities and study abroad programs around the world. These study abroad opportunities enhance Richmond's curriculum by offering students a wide variety of courses and experiences. Students who meet the stated eligibility criteria as stated on the UR study abroad Web page can be considered for study abroad for a semester, year, or summer and may earn major, minor, and elective credits toward graduation. Each year a few short faculty led programs abroad related to specific courses are offered during semester break periods. At the University of Richmond, we believe that study abroad is most effective when students are integrated into the local educational system and culture. Therefore, most Richmond semester programs involve direct enrollment in universities abroad with on-site support provided by the host university's international office.

Professional staff offer guidance, advising, and support throughout the entire study abroad process. The office organizes extensive orientation programs to help prepare students prior to departure. Upon return from study abroad, the OIE organizes a re-entry event to help reintegrate students into the University community and to identify opportunities for continuing international education on campus and in the community.

Direct experience of cultures is the best way to learn to communicate across barriers of language, customs, politics, and geography. An encounter with different values and educational systems, when supported by good will and serious study, broadens students' understanding of the complexities of our rapidly changing world. Students who study abroad find their experiences both in and out of the classroom to be stimulating and rewarding. They return with a better understanding not only of other cultures, but also of their own.

While study abroad has long been recognized as a significant component of a liberal arts education, today students majoring in the sciences, leadership studies, or business are actively participating in study abroad in growing numbers. Study abroad is possible and encouraged for all students, regardless of their major and financial situation. Students who meet required procedures may transfer up to five units per semester from study abroad and graduate with their class in four years. It is a common misconception that proficiency in a foreign language is necessary for study abroad. It is, in fact, quite feasible to study in English in non-English-speaking countries where English is widely used and courses in English are offered. It is also possible to combine intensive study of a foreign language with other courses taught in English.

Early planning is crucial to any successful study abroad experience. The selection of an appropriate program must take into account the student’s academic background and personal interests. Students are encouraged to begin exploring the opportunities for foreign study as early as the first year and to plan their University of Richmond courses accordingly. When deciding when and for how long to study abroad, a variety of options can be considered. Richmond students have opportunities to study abroad for a year, a semester, or a summer, in the second, third, or even the fourth year. Combining summer study after the first year with semester or year study abroad during the third year is among the best choices.

There are a number of study abroad options. During the academic year there are opportunities to study through the University’s exchange and affiliate programs worldwide. For a current list of programs, see the OIE’s study abroad Web site at studyabroad.richmond.edu.

During the summer, the University of Richmond School of Continuing Studies sponsors a number of summer study abroad programs directed by Richmond faculty. Internships are available in Australia, England, Germany, Ireland, Mexico, and South Africa. For more information about summer study abroad visit summer.richmond.edu/abroad/.

The University invests considerable resources to create study abroad programs consistent with the standards and educational objectives of this university and the needs of its students. Richmond students will be expected to enroll in Richmond programs, unless there is a compelling reason why a Richmond program does not meet a student’s academic needs. Decisions regarding petitions for non-Richmond semesters abroad are made by a subcommittee of the International Education Committee, in collaboration with the OIE and the departments from which the student is seeking academic credit. See OIE web page for information on deadlines by which such petitions must be submitted. Transfer credits for semester study abroad will be awarded only for preapproved programs.

After an appropriate study abroad program has been selected, each student should meet the established admission criteria as listed on the OIE study abroad Web page. Students are expected to meet deadlines and follow procedures as stated on the study abroad web site. Students are required to indicate a second choice in the study abroad application in case placement in the first choice is not possible due to eligibility concerns or if the program is full.

Maintenance of status as a current student can be assured only if the program is approved and the student maintains a full-time course load abroad. Credit transfer for study abroad can be assured only if the program and courses have been approved and an equivalent grade of C or better is earned. Credit for repeat courses or in disciplines not taught at Richmond will not be granted. Please see the Academic Procedures section for additional administrative information.

For specific information on financial aid for study abroad, consult the Office of Financial Aid. Almost all financial aid is transferable to University of Richmond academic semester and year programs. See studyabroad.richmond.edu/for more information.

International Student Advising

The Office of International Education is the primary "port of call" for international students, scholars, and visitors before and during their stay at the University. Immigration, employment, health insurance, academic, cultural, and practical matters are addressed by the staff in consultation with relevant academic departments and administrative units of the University. In order to help international students and scholars integrate to the University and the United States, the office organizes orientation sessions as well as cultural and social activities throughout the year.
Academic Procedures

The University of Richmond has, for each academic program, procedures and degree requirements that must be satisfied before the degree can be granted. The student is responsible for knowing the specific requirements and planning appropriately to allow for the completion of these requirements. Depending on the program, the University provides either or both academic advisors and administrative personnel to assist students with their plans. In any case, the final responsibility for following procedures and meeting degree requirements rests solely with the student.

The following sections describe academic policies, regulations, and procedures. If no indication of school is given, that section pertains universally to the School of Arts and Sciences, the Robins School of Business, and the Jepson School of Leadership Studies. When a statement pertains to a particular school or schools, it is listed under the appropriate school heading.

Advanced Standing

I. Credit By Examination

The University of Richmond accepts several credit-by-examination options. All students at the University may apply a maximum of seven units of transfer credit from work, including credit by exam, to a University of Richmond degree. The following are guidelines for the most common examinations warranting credit. Specific details regarding each of these options and advanced standing examinations from French, German, and English-based educational systems can be found in the Credit by Exam policy. This policy is available from the Office of the University Registrar and the Office of Admission. Both offices will further serve students with international exams on a case by case basis.

A. Advanced Placement

The University of Richmond participates in the Advanced Placement program of the College Board. Successful candidates for admission who have taken Advanced Placement examinations and have the official results submitted may be eligible for credit or an exemption. The exams must have been taken prior to the student's initial enrollment at the University. Students who have received appropriate scores on Advanced Placement examinations (as established by the departments concerned) may receive credit for or may be exempt from a general education requirement if the Richmond equivalent courses for which they will receive credit can be used by Richmond students to meet fields of study requirements. Specific allocations of AP credit for communication skills or fields of study requirements may vary from year to year. Current information is available from the Office of the University Registrar.

B. CLEP

The University of Richmond awards credit on a limited basis for an acceptable performance on a College Level Examination Program (CLEP) examination recognized by the University academic department concerned. Generally a student may not attempt credit by examination for a course in which a failing grade was received or for a basic course in an area in which acceptable college credit has been earned at a more advanced level. Students who have received appropriate scores on CLEP examinations (as established by the departments concerned) may receive course credit that satisfies fields-of-study requirements of the general education requirements, if the Richmond courses for which they will receive credit can be used by Richmond students to meet fields-of-study requirements. Specific allocations of CLEP credit for communication skills or fields-of-study requirements may vary from year to year. Arrangements to take CLEP examinations may be made with the College Board. Current information is available from the Office of the University Registrar.
C. Credit By Local Examination

Credit by local examination may be used to satisfy general education requirements in the areas of communication skills and fields of study, as well as to satisfy major requirements or use as elective credit. Students should check with departments for examination dates, fees and related regulations.

D. International Baccalaureate

The University of Richmond considers only Higher Level exams in the International Baccalaureate (IB) program eligible for credit. The University may award credit or give an exemption for certain general education requirements if the requisite score is achieved and the test has been recognized by the academic department concerned. Specific allocations of IB credit for communication skills or fields-of-study requirements may vary from year to year. Detailed information on current IB policies is available from the Office of the University Registrar.

II. Credit for U.S. Armed Services Veterans

In accordance with the recommendations of the American Council on Education, the following advanced credit will be allowed veterans:

A. A veteran may receive credit for specialized training courses and for correspondence courses taken from accredited colleges under the auspices of the U.S. Armed Forces Institute. A veteran desiring such credit should present the record of training to the University Registrar either on the transcript form of the college at which the work was taken, or on the form prepared for such purposes by the U.S. Armed Forces Institute. In cases of question, the appropriate academic council will determine the amount of credit to be granted.

B. In allowing further advanced credit for educational experience in the armed services, the University is guided largely by recommendations of the American Council on Education.

III. Transfer Credit

Credit in transfer may be accepted only for courses which are comparable to courses offered in the School of Arts and Sciences, Jepson School of Leadership Studies, and/or Robins School of Business curriculum at the University of Richmond. Moreover, the coursework must have been taken at an institution accredited by a regional accrediting agency or the international equivalent at the time the work was taken, and a grade or equivalent of C (2.0) or better must have been earned.

Approved credit earned at another institution will be converted to the University of Richmond unit (one unit is the equivalent of 3.5 semester hours) and applied to the record accordingly. Up to five 3-semester hour courses will be transferred in as one unit; additional 3-semester hour courses will be transferred in as .86 units. Coursework accepted in transfer shall be applied to specific degree requirements subject to the discretion of the academic department concerned. Units awarded are added into units required for graduation, but grades are not calculated in the grade point average.

Students entering the University of Richmond as first-year students must complete 28 units of University of Richmond-approved work toward the undergraduate degree, which includes exchange and study abroad programs, approved visiting away and off-campus programs as well as courses taken through dual degree and cross-registration programs.

Students entering the University of Richmond as transfer students (having matriculated after graduation from high school as a degree-seeking student at another post-secondary institution) with at least 6.82 units of transfer work will have the 28-unit requirement prorated, however all students must complete at least 17.5 units at the University of Richmond. Transfer students who attended another institution for one year must earn 25 units of University of Richmond-approved work toward the undergraduate degree which includes exchange and study abroad programs, approved visiting away and off-campus programs as well as courses taken through dual degree and cross-registration programs. Those who have attended another institution for one and one half years must earn 21 units of University of Richmond-approved work; transfer students attending another institution for two or more years must earn 17.5 units on campus at the University of Richmond.

IV. First Year Students Bringing in Credit

Students who enroll as first-years may bring in no more than seven units of credit, including credit by examination and transfer credit, to be applied toward their University of Richmond degree. Additional transfer work can be entered on the transcript and can be used to fulfill prerequisite requirements (not general education requirements), but only seven units of credit will count toward a degree.

Credit in transfer may be accepted only for courses which are comparable to courses offered in the School of Arts and Sciences, Jepson School of Leadership Studies, and/or Robins School of Business curriculum at the University. Moreover, the coursework must have been taken at an institution accredited by a regional accrediting agency or the international equivalent at the time the work was taken, and a grade or equivalent of C (2.0) or better must have been earned. Work taken through other institutions prior to initial enrollment is evaluated on an individual basis. Not all departments will accept work taken as a part of a high school program even if transcripted by an accredited institution. In order for work taken at another institution to be evaluated for transfer credit, the University must receive an official transcript mailed directly from the institution at which the work was completed. The student and transferring institution must also complete the Transfer Work Certification form available from the Office of the University Registrar.

No transfer credit shall be formally accepted or recorded until the University has received an official transcript directly from the records office of the institution which offered the coursework. If coursework is being transferred from more than one institution, an official transcript must be received from each institution. For applicability of transfer work to general education requirements, see General Education Curriculum.

Transcripts and documents from other institutions are the property of the University of Richmond and, as such, are under the control of the Office of the Registrar. Under federal policy, a student has the right to view the documents in his or her file; the University is not required to provide (or allow the making of) copies of these documents. Transcripts submitted to the University of Richmond for admission or credit transfer become the property of the University of Richmond and cannot be returned to the student or forwarded to other institutions.

Registration Policies

Registration is limited to admitted, degree-seeking students unless specific approval is granted for unclassified status.

Registration

Students shall register by following the policies.

Note: A student is not fully registered for any term until satisfactory arrangements have been made for that term's fees.

Late registrations may be accepted subject to the policies for adding classes, as indicated in the section below titled Change of Registration. A special fee is required.
Enrollment

Students are not technically enrolled until the first day of class in a semester. Verification of enrollment cannot be made until that time.

Prerequisites

Students should consult the catalog and/or department for required prerequisites before registering for a course. Successful registration for a course does not mean that prerequisites have been fulfilled. A student registered in a course without the required prerequisites may be unenrolled from the course.

Limits of Work

A student normally enrolls for four or five units per semester. The minimum load for a full-time student is 3.5 units.

No student may enroll for more than 5.5 units or fewer than 3.5 units of work without the permission of the dean of his or her school. (Arts and Sciences - see coordinate college dean; Business and Leadership Studies - see academic dean.) Enrollments in either category are subject to special charges as specified in the chapter titled Financial Affairs. Students enrolled for fewer than 3.5 units are classified as part time.

School of Continuing Studies Courses

Courses taken through the School of Continuing Studies after students have been admitted may not be used to meet general education requirements and may be used to meet major requirements only with special permission from the department chair. Courses in the School of Continuing Studies will be granted unit credit that is equivalent to the semester hours granted for the course.

Students may take no more than one School of Continuing Studies course per semester and no more than four courses in cumulative total during their undergraduate degree. School of Continuing Studies courses are not available to Arts and Sciences, Business, or Leadership Studies students for registration until the first day of class and only on a space available basis.

Change of Registration

Students are able to register for classes through BannerWeb, a secured Web site that may be accessed over the Internet at bannerweb.richmond.edu or through the University's Web site. Through BannerWeb, students can register for classes, add and drop classes through the end of add/drop period, view their class schedules, view grades for a specific term, and view their unofficial University of Richmond transcript. Students are responsible for all activity on their BannerWeb account including PIN maintenance, registration, and security. If a student has questions or needs assistance with any aspect of BannerWeb, he or she should contact the Office of the University Registrar at (804) 289-8639 or registrar@richmond.edu.

Once registered, students may change their registration (add/drop) according to the published schedule. For a regular term, adds and withdrawals without academic record may generally be made during the first two weeks of classes (a change fee of $10 is charged for each change made after the first week of classes). After the end of the first 10 days of classes, but before the end of the seventh week, a withdrawal-with-record period is in effect where students may withdraw from courses provided that they receive the permission of the appropriate course instructor and academic advisor. Students will be required to pay the fee for change in class and will receive an M grade if failing at the time of withdrawal or a W grade if passing at the time of withdrawal. Ordinarily, a student may not withdraw from a course after the end of the seventh week of classes except for medical reasons. The student's dean may, under special circumstances, make an exception to this policy.
Auditing Courses

Auditing a course means that the course instruction is undertaken but not for credit or a grade. With the approval of the student's academic advisor, dean, and the instructor of the course, a student may declare a course to be taken on an audit basis. A permission form must be obtained from and returned with appropriate signatures to the Office of the University Registrar by the end of the 10th day of classes. The student must first register for the course and then file the permission form. The regular rate of tuition is charged, and the audit course is counted as a part of the student's semester load. Once the form is submitted to the University Registrar, the decision may not be reversed. An audited course cannot subsequently be taken for credit unless approved by the appropriate dean.

Pass/Fail Option

School of Arts and Sciences
Jepson School of Leadership Studies
(excluding leadership studies courses)
(not available to business students)

An arts and sciences or leadership studies student who has completed at least 18 units of academic work may opt for one normally standard-graded course per semester to be graded on a pass/fail basis (or if more than one course not more than one unit of total credit). The course(s) may only be used to count as total credit toward a degree, and cannot be used to satisfy any general education requirement or any major or minor requirement. No Jepson School of Leadership Studies or Robins School of Business courses may be taken for pass/fail grading except those in the Department of Economics. No more than four student-opted pass/fail courses are acceptable for degree credit.

Note: Some courses are only available as pass/fail courses, such as internships, student teaching, and some research courses. The restrictions stated above do not apply to such courses.

The level of performance necessary to earn a pass grade in a student-opted pass/fail course is D- or better. A passing grade will be recorded as P on the permanent record. The credit will be added into credit earned toward graduation and will not affect the grade point average. A failing grade will be recorded as F on the permanent record. The credit will affect the grade point average.

To opt for pass/fail grading, a permission form must be obtained from and returned with appropriate signatures to the Office of the University Registrar by the end of the 10th day of classes. The student must first register for the course and then file the permission form. Once the form is submitted to the University Registrar, the decision may not be reversed.

Repeated Courses

Coursework may not be repeated for credit toward graduation except as sanctioned by the University; however, particular coursework may meet more than one requirement for graduation. An example of a sanctioned repeat-for-credit is the subsequent registration for a course in which the content changes from term to term, such as special topics or independent studies. Also, certain courses in a major or program may have to be repeated if the grade earned the first time does not meet requirements; in such a case, the credit will be counted only once but both grades will be calculated in the cumulative grade point average.

Courses taken on an audit basis cannot be repeated for credit unless approved by the appropriate dean.

Except in clear situations, the Office of the University Registrar should be consulted before registration to learn if a proposed repeat is sanctioned for credit or if sanction is possible.
All courses taken at the University of Richmond become a part of the permanent academic record. The grade for a course repeated at the University of Richmond becomes a part of the grade point average if the grade otherwise would be included in the computation.

Course Administration

Class Attendance

Students are expected to attend all meetings of all classes (including lectures, seminars, laboratories, and drills) in which they are enrolled. The specific attendance policy in each course, however, is determined by the instructor of the course, subject to the section on University Holidays below. At the start of each semester, the instructor is responsible for describing the class attendance policy in the syllabus and distributing it to students.

Academic events sponsored by the University under supervision of faculty advisors include, but are not limited to: theatre/dance and musical performances, debate, mock trial, model UN, conference attendance, and ROTC field leadership exercise. Because such events and varsity athletic competitions are recognized as integral to the educational experience, the appropriate coordinate college dean will provide official notification of student participation in these activities. It is also the student's responsibility to request such notification and to deliver it to the faculty member as early as possible in the semester. Faculty members will honor notification from the college deans that a student is to be excused for participation in a University-sponsored event. All other absences will not be officially announced by a dean, but may be excused at the discretion of faculty. Examples include, but are not limited to, class field trips, illness, funerals, and family functions. The University policy regarding absences related to University or religious policies is stated below. The University encourages students to weigh the consequences of missing class and other sponsored academic or varsity athletic events, and to make their choices accordingly.

Misrepresenting the reason for class absences to a professor is a violation of the University's honor code.

A student will be held responsible for all work of a class or laboratory missed during any absence.

Note: Students enrolled in business school or School of Continuing Studies courses must attend at least 75 percent of the class meetings-regardless of the reasons for absence-to be eligible to receive credit for the course.

University Holidays

With the increasing diversity of the University community and the limited flexibility in setting the academic calendar, it is not possible to avoid conflicts with some religious and secular holidays that are very important to some members of our faculty, staff, and student body. However, the University is very sensitive to the special needs of those who need to observe such holidays and will make accommodations for them to make up the time missed if arrangements are made in advance.

The University is officially closed on New Year's Day, Thanksgiving Day, and Christmas. In addition, some schools are closed for classes on Memorial Day, July 4th, and Labor Day, while others hold classes on those days. (See the appropriate academic calendar for specifics.)

Other holidays affecting University community members include Martin Luther King Day, Rosh Hashanah, Yom Kippur, the first two days of Passover, Good Friday, and Easter Sunday. In consideration of their significance for our students, students who observe these holidays will be given an opportunity to make up missed work in both laboratories and lecture courses. If a test or examination is given on the first class day after one of these holidays, it must not cover material introduced in class on that holiday. Faculty and staff should be aware that Jewish and Islamic holidays begin at sunset on the evening before the published date of the holiday.

The University recognizes that there are other holidays, both religious and secular, which are of importance to some individuals and groups on campus. Such occasions include, but are not limited to, Sukkoth, the last two days of Passover, Shavuot, Shemini Atzeret and Simchat Torah, as well as the Islamic New Year, Ra's al-sana and the Islamic holidays Eid-al-Fitr and Eid-al-Adha.

Students who wish to observe any such holidays must inform their instructors within the first two weeks of each semester of their intent to observe the holiday, even when the exact date of the holiday will not be known until later, so that alternative arrangements convenient to both the student and the instructor can be made at the earliest opportunity. Students who make such arrangements will not be required to attend classes or take examinations on the designated days, and faculty must provide reasonable opportunities for such students to make up missed work and examinations. To facilitate this, faculty will announce and distribute all anticipated test and examination dates on the course syllabus, distributed at the beginning of each semester. Students should be aware that faculty may need to adjust these dates as necessary.

Examination

Most classes have examinations at the close of each term, according to a published schedule.

Each student is responsible for taking final examinations as scheduled. No rescheduling, excuse for absence, and/or provision for making up final examinations will occur without the written approval of the student's dean. Such approval shall be made only for illness certified by a physician, participation in authorized University activities, and/or personal emergencies such as death in the family.

Appeals of the rulings associated with the administration of these regulations shall be directed to the student's dean and, if necessary, through that dean to the academic council of the faculty concerned.

Evaluation

Instructors establish grading criteria for their courses and prepare and submit the final course reports (using the grades defined under Grading Policies) to the University Registrar for recording. In the event of a question about the accuracy of the recorded grade, a student should direct inquiries to the instructor.

It is recognized that each class and each student in a class has unique characteristics that the instructor alone is in the best position to evaluate; consequently, except in unusual circumstances, formal appeals to others concerning the evaluation on which a grade is based are not appropriate.

If unusual circumstances appear to have existed that could have affected the evaluation, the student should first bring the matter to the attention of the instructor (if available). If that informal inquiry is impossible, or if its results are disputed, the student may next bring the matter to the attention of the department chair and the instructor, jointly. In the event of continued dispute, the student may formally petition the dean of the student's school who, in consultation with department faculty, may present the matter to the academic council for a decision.

Grading Policies

The level of student's performance in classwork and examinations is indicated by letters. A (excellent), B (good), C (average), and D (poor) indicate that the work has been passed. The foregoing grades may be accompanied by a plus (+) or minus (-) to indicate a relative position within the grade category. P shows credit has been earned in a pass/fail course, and Z shows that a course was audited. S and U indicate satisfactory or unsatisfactory performance in nonacademic courses. W indicates that the student withdrew from a course with a passing average. Marks indicating failure and included as such in the grade point average are F, M (withdrew from a course with a failing average), and V (failure because of excessive absences). The X indicates that the grade is not available from the instructor.

I and Y mean that coursework has not been completed by the end of the term. The I, which provisionally counts as a failing grade, is given when the reasons for incomplete work are deemed unjustifiable by the instructor. The work is to be made up by the date the instructor specifies, but no later than 45 calendar days from the last day of the term in which the I was given. If the work is not made up during the grace period, the I will be converted to F. The Y, which does not count as a failing grade, is given when the reasons for incomplete work are deemed justifiable by the instructor, or at the end of the first term of a course that continues into a succeeding term. There is no deadline for completion of the work unless the instructor so specifies. In the case of an I or Y, once the make-up grade is received, it appears to the right of the incomplete grade on the permanent record. In all cases, it is the student's responsibility to make arrangements for and progress toward the completion of an incomplete course.

Grade Availability

Grades are due to the registrar's office from instructors as specified in the academic calendar published annually by the Office of the University Registrar. They will be available to students as soon as possible after they have been received by the registrar's office. Students may access grades via the Internet by using BannerWeb. Students will need their student ID number and student PIN. Grades are deemed correct unless notification to the contrary is received by the University Registrar within three (3) months after the close of the term specified.

Credit and Grade Point Average

The University of Richmond uses the unit credit value. A unit is determined by a combination of factors that include contact time with a faculty member in a formal setting and expectations of independent student work through a nominal 15-week semester. One unit is the equivalent of 3.5 semester hours. Courses worth .25 units are graded pass/fail only and those worth 0 units are graded satisfactory/unsatisfactory.

The grade point average is based on two factors:

GPA Units- The accumulation of academic units that have grades to which grade point values are assigned; and

Grade Points- Given for each unit's grade according to this scale:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grade</th>

Calculation Points The grade point average is calculated by dividing the total number of grade points earned by the total number of GPA units. The grade point average is represented to two significant decimal figures.

The accumulations and average are shown each term on the permanent academic record and on the transcript. Also shown on these reports is the accumulation of earned units. Earned units are the academic units in which the student has earned passing grades, plus unit credit, if any, for accepted transfer work.

Academic Reports

Reports of the student's progress are prepared each term in the form of the permanent academic record. The information included is the record of the student's registration and grades, with such other information as may be deemed important. All courses taken at the University of Richmond become a part of the permanent academic record.
Work Taken Elsewhere

This section pertains to students who wish to take academic work elsewhere while actively pursuing a degree at the University of Richmond. Only coursework taken at an institution accredited by a regional accrediting agency or the international equivalent at the time the work was taken will be considered, and a grade or equivalent of C (2.0) or better must have been earned. The unit credit or equivalent as awarded at the other institution will be the units transferred. Units awarded are added into units earned for graduation, but grades are not calculated in the grade point average. (Individuals admitted as transfer students, please see the Advanced Standing section.) Students must complete 28 units of University of Richmond-approved work toward the undergraduate degree, which includes approved exchange and study abroad programs, approved visiting away and off-campus programs as well as courses taken through dual degree and cross-registration programs.

Study in the United States

The student is to obtain the approval of each department chair concerned before taking work elsewhere. The approvals ensure that the work is acceptable to the University, its departmental standards and the student's curriculum. The Office of the University Registrar provides a special form for this purpose and will also answer questions about the procedure.

School of Arts and Sciences
Jepson School of Leadership Studies

While students are expected to obtain approval before taking work elsewhere, work taken without prior approval may be accepted subject to transfer credit policies.

Robins School of Business

The Robins School of Business may approve for transfer credit those courses that meet the following criteria: The course is completed at an institution accredited by the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB); the student receives a final course grade of at least C as verified by an official transcript; the approval of the appropriate department chair and dean is obtained. Approvals should be obtained prior to taking the coursework elsewhere. Courses completed at nonaccredited institutions generally are not accepted for credit. Grades for courses taken at another institution are not included in the calculation of the University's grade point average.

Study Abroad

Students wishing to study abroad should contact the Office of International Education for information about the range of opportunities and the procedures they must follow. The procedures ensure that academic work abroad will qualify for transfer credits to the University of Richmond. Only work taken through approved programs will be eligible for transfer credit. Further information about study abroad is presented in the chapter on International Education.

Visiting Student Status

Under certain circumstances, students, while not enrolled at the University of Richmond, are granted visiting student status. This status is based on attending a University-approved program of study. To determine if a domestic program is approved, contact the Office of the University Registrar; for study abroad programs, contact the Office of International Education.

Acceptance of Credit

Summer Study Abroad Programs
Only programs with a University of Richmond director or faculty that also are administered by the University are included in this category.

For academic record, degree progress, and grade point average purposes, coursework taken in these programs is treated as if the work were completed on campus except where noted in the program description. There are a number of University study abroad programs including programs in Argentina, Czech Republic, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Jordan, Peru, Spain, and Taiwan. All of the programs above are administered through the University of Richmond Summer School office.

Other Programs Abroad

Transfer credit will be awarded for pre-approved coursework at a regionally accredited (or international equivalent) institution in which a grade, or equivalent, of C (2.0) or better has been earned. Credit for coursework to be counted toward the major is subject to approval by the academic department concerned. No credit will be awarded for work taken elsewhere until an acceptably complete official transcript in English is received by the University Registrar directly from the institution providing the instruction or the approved agency coordinating the instruction. Such credit is recorded as academic units passed and is not computed in the student's grade point average.

Note: Students should contact the Office of International Education regarding summer abroad programs not offered by the University of Richmond.

Academic Standing

Students are expected to achieve in the classroom and make steady progress toward completion of degree requirements. Relevant designations are specified in the following sections.

Class Standings of Students

The class standing is established at first matriculation and is evaluated after grade posting for each subsequent term of enrollment. The standing is based on units passed including, if applicable, acceptable transfer and/or advanced standing credit. The standings are:

- Year 1: 0 - 6.82 units
- Year 2: 6.83 - 15.40 units
- Year 3: 15.41 - 23.97 units
- Year 4: 23.98 or more units

Dean's List

The Dean's List of Distinguished Students recognizes outstanding scholars for fall and spring semester.

School of Arts and Sciences
Robins School of Business
Jepson School of Leadership Studies

The student must complete at least 3.5 earned units for the semester (excluding P/F units), with no grade below a B-(2.7), and a minimum term GPA of 3.60.

Academic Deficiencies

Academic deficiencies are of two types: academic warning and academic probation.
Academic Warning

At any time when a student's overall grade point average falls below 2.00, the student automatically will be on academic warning. A student on academic warning should take active steps to improve academic performance.

Academic Probation

Academic reports are evaluated at the end of each grade-posting period. Regardless of the specific provisions for each school stated below, if at the end of any term a student's record reveals such significant deterioration in performance that extraordinary action is deemed appropriate by the dean of the student's school or college, that student may be placed on probation, limited in units of enrollment, or recommended for suspension from the school or college regardless of grade point average. In addition, such student may be restricted from participation in certain University activities. While suspended, students may not take classes at other institutions and transfer them back to University of Richmond.

Appeals of rulings associated with the administration of these regulations shall be directed to the relevant academic council.

School of Arts and Sciences

Robins School of Business

A student who falls below the following minimum accumulations of semester units and grade point average (GPA) will be placed automatically on academic probation:

- Year 1 (0-6.82 units passed) 1.50 GPA
- Year 2 (6.83-15.40 units passed) 1.70 GPA
- Year 3 (15.41-23.97 units passed) 1.85 GPA
- Year 4 (23.98 or more units passed) 2.00 GPA

If at the end of the second consecutive semester* of enrollment after being placed on academic probation, the student fails to meet the minimum standard based on units then passed, the student shall be allowed to enroll for no more than two units of academic work per regular semester or during the entire summer. Such a student has a maximum of four units of work attempted in which to achieve the minimum requirement. Otherwise, he or she will be suspended from the School of Arts and Sciences or the School of Business.

The above provisions notwithstanding, the dean of the student's college, in circumstances which seem to warrant such action, may allow the student to continue as a full-time student on probation for a single additional semester.

* Work taken during an entire summer, provided 3.5 units or more are attempted, shall count as a regular semester.

Jepson School of Leadership Studies

A student will be placed on academic probation when the student's leadership studies GPA falls below 2.0 or the student earns a grade below C- (1.7) in a leadership studies course. While on academic probation, a student's participation in athletics, debating, dramatic or musical organizations, as well as their representation of the University in any public capacity, may be restricted.

If the student does not meet academic standards in the following semester, he or she will be dismissed from the program in leadership studies. The student may request a one-semester extension of the probationary status. The appeal should be directed to associate dean for academic affairs of the Jepson School of Leadership Studies. If granted and the student does not meet all standards after the probationary year, he or she will be dismissed from the program in leadership studies. Any further appeals should be directed to the dean of the Jepson School of Leadership Studies. Upon review of the student's record and any additional information, the dean will render a final decision.

Withdrawal from the University

Students withdrawing from the University of Richmond must first notify their home school or residential dean. University withdrawals are processed on a case-by-case basis.

Readmission to the University

Students who have withdrawn from the University for whatever reason, other than participating in an approved study abroad, exchange, or visiting away program, and wish to return must make their request for readmission in writing to the dean of the appropriate academic school. Students seeking readmission to the School of Arts and Sciences should contact the dean of Richmond College (men) or dean of Westhampton College (women). Students seeking readmission to the Robins School of Business or the Jepson School of Leadership Studies should contact the associate dean of that school.

Graduation

Qualifications

To graduate a student must meet certain qualifications described below.

Curriculum and Achievement

A candidate for the Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, or Bachelor of Science in Business Administration degree must satisfactorily complete all degree requirements (see Summary of Degree Requirements section) and 35 units. Undergraduate degree candidates must earn a grade point average of not less than 2.00 on all coursework attempted and must receive credit for attendance at assemblies and convocations, as required.

Time Limits

School of Arts and Sciences

There is no time limit in regard to the completion of general education requirements. In the event of catalog changes, a student may choose to fulfill admission and general education requirements for graduation from a subsequent catalog provided all of the requirements of the chosen catalog are met.

Robins School of Business and Jepson School of Leadership Studies

A student must complete the requirements for the degree, as stated in the catalog at the time of entrance, within five years from the date of original entry. Reinstatement to a program after five years requires permission of the academic council of the student's school. If an extension of time is granted, the student may be required to satisfy the degree requirements in effect at the time of reentrance.

Changes in Catalog Information

Caution: The course offerings and requirements of the University of Richmond are under continual examination and revision. This catalog is not a contract; it merely presents the offerings and requirements in effect at the time of publication and in no way guarantees that the offerings and requirements will not change. The University specifically reserves the right to change requirements for any major, minor, and/or program, and to implement them during any particular year.

The student assumes full responsibility for compliance with all academic requirements. Current course offerings may be obtained from the appropriate department. Current major, minor, program, and degree requirements may be obtained from the University Registrar; the deans’ offices of the Schools of Arts and Sciences, Business, and Leadership Studies, and Richmond and Westhampton Colleges; or from the department chair of the appropriate department.

In the event the University adopts new general education and/or major, minor, and program requirements, efforts will be made to accommodate hardships during the transition period.

Declaration of Majors/Minors

All undergraduate degrees at the University of Richmond require satisfactory completion of one major. Multiple majors and/or minors for a single degree also may be pursued, and upon completion will be recorded on the permanent academic record. For dual degree requirements, refer to the Dual Bachelor’s Degree section. With the exception of leadership studies, students have the option to declare a major as early as the end of the first year. They are encouraged to declare during the second year, and are expected to declare by the end of the second year.

All declarations of majors and minors must be received in the Office of the University Registrar during the two-week add/drop period to be effective for that term. Declarations received after add/drop will not be processed until the end of the term. For procedures on how to declare majors and/or minors both in the home school and between schools, contact the Office of the University Registrar.

Undergraduate Work Taken After Graduation

Students who have graduated from an accredited college or university and who wish to take undergraduate courses in the liberal arts and sciences during the academic year, but not for degree purposes, should apply to the Office of Admission for acceptance as an unclassified student. Permission to take such classes may be granted on a space-available basis and with due regard for prior achievements. Application for such undergraduate work to be taken in the summer will be received by the summer school office.

Additional majors or minors may be completed after graduation and recorded subject to the following: the student must have a Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, or Bachelor of Science in Business Administration degree from the University of Richmond; all work required to complete the additional major or minor subsequent to graduation must be taken at the University in the School of Arts and Sciences, Robins School of Business, or Jepson School of Leadership Studies; the academic department concerned must certify that the major or minor is complete; and the student must complete the work within two years of graduation unless additional time is granted by the major or minor department concerned, and the department notifies the University Registrar.

Work at the University

To earn an undergraduate degree, a student must complete 28 units of University of Richmond approved work which includes exchange and study abroad programs, approved visiting away, dual-degree and off-campus programs as well as courses taken through cross-registration (transfer students will have this requirement prorated—see section on Transfer Credit).

A student must have completed at least 17.5 units of acceptable coursework required for the degree in residence at the undergraduate School of Arts and Sciences, Robins School of Business or Jepson School of Leadership Studies. The last eight units are expected to be included within the 17.5 units.
In no case may a student count more than 17.5 units from a single subject area toward the minimum number of units necessary for graduation. Students may not apply more than four courses from the School of Continuing Studies towards their degree.

Robins School of Business

All transfer students, as part of their degree requirements, must complete at least 12 units of coursework in business/economics within the Robins School of Business.

Jepson School of Leadership Studies

At least 10 of the required 17.5 residence units required for a degree must be taken in the Jepson School of Leadership Studies

Financial/Administrative Responsibilities

No degree is conferred if the student's responsibilities to the University are in an unsatisfactory condition. Responsibilities in this sense include financial and administrative matters such as, but not limited to, delinquent payments, parking fines, or overdue library books.

Degree Application

To graduate a student must file a degree application with the Office of the University Registrar. Degree applications are to be filed by the second Friday in September for the coming May or August commencement. Those enrolled only in the spring file by the first Friday in February. Students enrolled only in the summer culminating in their graduation file by the third Friday in June. Students planning to graduate in December should file a degree application by the first Friday in February.

If degree requirements are not completed prior to the intended graduation date, the student must file a new degree application according to the schedule above.

Degree applications are available online via BannerWeb and in the Office of the University Registrar.

Attendance At Commencement

Students are required to attend the commencement ceremony for the award of the degree in person except by decision of the University not to do so. A student who expects to have a degree awarded at the spring commencement may request absentia status from the graduation ceremony by explaining in writing the circumstance which prevents participation. Students who have a degree application on file and anticipate summer completion of degree requirements are also expected to participate in the spring graduation ceremony. Students who expect to complete degree requirements in December may participate in the spring commencement either prior to or following their December completion. If a winter or summer degree candidate does not intend to participate in the ceremony a written statement requesting absentia must be submitted. The request for absentia must be received by the University Registrar no later than eight working days before the ceremony. The registrar will notify the degree candidate of the status granted by the University. Unless approved for absentia status a candidate for graduation who does not participate in the commencement ceremony does not graduate. Such candidate may graduate by again filing a degree application and by following the appropriate graduation attendance policy.

August degrees are conferred as of the date specified in the academic calendar, and diplomas are mailed to those qualified. December degrees are conferred as of the date specified in the academic calendar. Diplomas for December graduates are mailed to students who have previously participated in the commencement ceremony. Those who will be participating in a future ceremony will receive their diploma at that time.
Note: No degree is conferred if the student's responsibilities to the University have not been met. These responsibilities include, but are not limited to, such matters as the payment of fees, parking fines and library fines, and the return of library books.

Degree With Honors (Latin Honors)

General academic honors of three ranks are awarded to members of the graduating classes on the basis of their grade point average on work completed at the University of Richmond.

School of Arts and Sciences

Second Undergraduate Degree

A student may earn more than one undergraduate degree either consecutively or concurrently in relation to another undergraduate degree provided the degrees are not alike, e.g., not two B.A.s or two B.S.s. For information on completing one degree with multiple majors, see Declaring Majors/Minors above.

The following policies apply to any student seeking a second undergraduate degree.

Consecutive Bachelor's Degree

A consecutive bachelor's degree is one which is begun after a first degree has been conferred or after the degree requirements for the first degree have been recorded as completed on the student's permanent academic record.

A student who wishes to pursue the second bachelor's degree consecutively shall apply to the dean of the school concerned. (Arts and Sciences students should contact the dean of the appropriate coordinate college.) The dean shall make a decision for admission based on the quality of prior work, the favorable recommendation of the intended major department, and space availability. Once admitted, the student's grade point average shall be based only on the work taken at the University of Richmond while pursuing the second degree. The student's dean may limit or deny further registration if the quality of the student's work indicates that at least a 2.00 average will not have been achieved by the time the student has attempted 9 units. A student admitted for a consecutive degree shall be considered a member of the senior class for registration purposes.

To earn a consecutive bachelor's degree, a student must achieve at least a 2.00 grade point average on a minimum of nine additional units of resident academic coursework selected from the catalog of courses. Courses in which a student-opted pass is earned shall not count in the nine units. In addition, general education requirements appropriate to the degree being sought, as well as requirements for the major, must be met satisfactorily. Work taken for the preceding degree may be considered as transfer credit for the purpose of meeting these requirements; however, at least half of the major must be taken at the University of Richmond, and all other degree requirements must be met as outlined under Graduation, including the 17.5-unit residency requirement.

A student who completes the requirements for the consecutive degree is ineligible for Latin honors, and will not be assigned a graduating class rank.
Concurrent (Dual) Bachelor's Degrees

Dual bachelor's degrees are two different bachelor's degrees that are pursued concurrently and completed at the same time.

A student who wishes to pursue two bachelor's degree concurrently shall notify the dean of his or her school promptly after the decision is reached. (Arts and Sciences students should contact the dean of the appropriate coordinate college.) Students in the Robins School of Business or the Jepson School of Leadership Studies who desires a second undergraduate degree in the arts and sciences must receive the approval of the dean of the appropriate coordinate college as well as the sanction of the dean of their home school. Even when approved for the second degree, such student remains a member of their home school for academic, administrative and extracurricular purposes.

When two degrees are being sought concurrently, the grade point average computation and all academic policies are administered on the basis of the then-accumulated work for both degrees.

To earn concurrent bachelor's degrees, a student must complete 44 units of academic work plus the additional degree requirements with at least 28.5 units taken at the University of Richmond. In addition, the general education requirements appropriate to each degree being sought, as well as requirements for the majors, must be completed satisfactorily. At the proper time, two degree applications must be submitted simultaneously to the University Registrar. Latin honors, if earned, will be shown on both degrees.

General Education Curriculum

A liberal arts education is typically characterized by the development of broad intellectual and cultural interests and by the achievement of a significant body of skills and knowledge. It is the particular responsibility of a general education curriculum to address the first of these goals, the broadening of students' interests, while also laying the foundation for the acquisition of advanced skills and deeper knowledge within optional areas of concentration, normally defined as majors.

So it is at the University of Richmond, where a distinctive general education curriculum has been designed:

• To provide a stimulating and challenging introduction to collegiate life through a first-year seminar courses
• To establish the basic prerequisites of productive scholarship through a set of communication skills requirements
• To familiarize students in a meaningful way with some of the major approaches to intellectual and cultural life through a series of fields of study requirements

This curriculum is offered by a faculty that sees general education as fundamental to its mission. Through its various general education courses, the faculty intends to incorporate each and every student into a community of learners who value and practice the life of the mind. Beginning with their general education courses and continuing through the courses in their major, their elective courses, and their various cocurricular and extracurricular learning experiences, University of Richmond students are expected to develop their ability to think critically and independently, to learn to tolerate ambiguity where true ambiguity exists, and to grow in their respect for and their ability to deal with the kinds of multiplicity that characterize our complex world. The common goal of the University's faculty is the education of independent, responsible, and contributing members of society.

I. First-Year Seminars
First-Year Seminars (FYS) provide entering students the excitement of engaged learning through a diverse array of seminar topics. With small classes, a variety of topics, and close contact with faculty, First-Year Seminars offer a hands-on introduction to academic inquiry. A wide variety of seminars will be offered each year, drawn from every school of the University. Each entering student will take a FYS 100 course in the fall and spring of the first year. First-Year Seminars serve as an introduction to academic inquiry and the modes of expression that lie at the heart of a liberal arts education. They foster habits of mind fundamental to students' intellectual and academic development, including critical reading and thinking, sharing ideas and research through discussion, and the ability to write and think clearly and effectively. Integrating explorations of specific questions and topics with the development of skills, seminars aim to foster intellectual curiosity and students' ability to act on it.

II. Communication Skills

Ideas and experiences must be communicated if they are to be shared, scrutinized, and transformed into effective knowledge. Toward these ends, the faculty expects each student to develop skills in oral communication and a second language.

Oral Communication

Oral communication is another skill that is essential to both education and life. Students should be able to speak so that their ideas are expressed logically, lucidly, and effectively, and they should be able to provide relevant evidence whenever appropriate. In addition, students should be able to analyze the spoken discourse of others. The general education curriculum at the University of Richmond assists students in these regards by immediately immersing them into frequent and intensive oral exchanges and presentations in the First-Year Seminars and by offering relevant courses, such as Rhetoric and Communication Studies 101, through the Department of Rhetoric and Communication Studies. In addition, many faculty and departments have been increasing the oral communication components in their courses and seminars, with the goal of enhancing this fundamental skill. Their efforts are assisted by the University's Weinstein-Jecklin Speech Center. There is no required course that students must take to fulfill this portion of their general education.

Second Language (COM2)

A second language has become more and more important as the world for which students are preparing themselves has placed increasing demands upon them to understand the national and cultural perspectives of other language groups. The knowledge of a second language is critical for achieving such understanding as well as for exposing the learner to other cultures, in ancient or contemporary guise, that he or she may encounter after graduation. For these reasons, the faculty expects all students to demonstrate functional ability in listening, speaking, reading, and writing in a modern second language or in reading and writing in a classical language. These abilities are appraised either at entrance or through introductory and intermediate courses.

III. Fields of Study

Fields of study courses introduce students to some of the primary fields or sets of related disciplines within which scholars group phenomena for study. These courses are intended to familiarize students with the kinds of questions raised by scholars within each of these groupings and with the methods by which scholars try to answer such questions. Although fields of study courses are typically offered by individual departments, they have nonetheless been designed and approved with general education as their primary objective. Thus, their scope exceeds the boundaries of singular disciplines insofar as they seek to give explicit attention to the perspectives, ways of thinking and methodological approaches of larger fields of inquiry. In order to give students a broad understanding as well as a basic foundation for further study in any of these fields, the faculty requires students to pass specially designated courses in each of six fields of study: historical studies, literary studies, natural science, social analysis, symbolic reasoning, and visual and performing arts.

Historical Studies (FSHT)
Historical studies examine events and actors of the recent or distant past within the context of the ideas, institutions, social norms, cultural practices, and physical environments out of which they arose. Courses with a historical perspective enable us to understand the values and institutions of disparate societies and cultures as they have developed over time.

By emphasizing the critical analysis of sources and the interrelationships among ideas, institutions, social structures, and events within one or more interpretive frameworks, these courses foster students' awareness of the methods and perspectives for understanding past societies and cultures in historical context. Courses that focus narrowly on the history of a discipline, that only use chronology as an organizational structure, or that do not stress the context in which ideas and events occurred fall outside the category of historical studies.

Literary Studies (FSLT)

The field of literary studies concerns itself with verbal texts read as structures of meaning. While language is a practical tool for thought and communication of many sorts, the particular focus of literary studies is on linguistic creations as meaningful in themselves and not purely as documents that record meaning outside themselves.

Courses satisfying the literary studies requirement are centrally concerned with the textual analysis of primary works. They consider a variety of interpretive frameworks and attend to one or more collateral areas of investigation, including the study of the process by which texts are created and received, the historical and cultural contexts in which they are created and received, and their relationships to each other and to other fields of experience and analysis. The field of literary studies brings its perspectives and methods to bear on imaginative and nonimaginative works alike.

Natural Science (FSNB, FSNC, FSNP)

The field of natural science is concerned with the physical universe from subatomic to cosmic levels of organization, including inanimate as well as living systems, their structure, diversity, interaction, and evolution. Based upon the generation and testing of hypotheses, scientific inquiry is restricted to the study of repeatable, measurable, and verifiable phenomena. Within this field, knowledge may be gained either by controlled experiment or diligent observation, depending upon the phenomena being studied. Similarly, some of the field's methodologies rely upon quantitative analysis, while others are primarily qualitative.

The natural science requirement is designed to enhance students' appreciation of the beauty of science as well as their understanding of the challenges of doing science. Students gain experience in the formulation and testing of hypotheses and are introduced to scientific methodology. The natural science requirement consists of a single laboratory course selected from the three areas of science represented at the University of Richmond, namely, chemistry, physics, and the biological sciences.

Social Analysis (FSSA)

Social analysis is the systematic study of individual and social human behavior. This field of study involves a systematic theoretical and empirical examination of the patterns of human behavior within or across various societies and cultures.

Courses satisfying this requirement focus on human behavior. They teach students to analyze individual and group behavior by using a variety of theoretical and empirical frameworks. All courses in this field of study must include the reading of or involve students in research on patterns of human behavior. Courses that employ social contextual analysis for purposes of providing a frame of reference for the study of other phenomena, such as literary texts, works of art, etc., do not fulfill this requirement.

Symbolic Reasoning (FSSR)
As a field of study, symbolic reasoning is distinguished by its attention to internal logical consistency and by its wide external applicability. This field of study emphasizes symbolic problem solving, a process that includes translating problems into terms that are amenable to treatment within a symbolic system; understanding consistent rules by which the information relevant to the problem may be processed in order to obtain a solution; recognizing important underlying principles that govern the application of these rules; and judging both the appropriateness of known solution methods to a particular problem and the quality or reasonableness of the solution obtained.

Courses in this field of study aim to develop in students the skills to obtain valid solutions using one or more symbolic systems, the ingenuity to translate new problems into appropriate terms for such systems, and the persistence to carry a solution method through to completion. The focus of a symbolic reasoning course should be on understanding the symbolic system and how it can be used to develop problem-solving tools rather than on the tools themselves. Applications of these tools, while a welcome addition, should not be the primary objective of the course.

Visual and Performing Arts (FSVP)

The field of visual and performing arts considers questions having to do with the forms, traditions, meaning, and historical contexts of works in visual and performance media and explores issues of method, process, and personal resources in the media.

Courses satisfying this requirement are centrally concerned with the roles of creation and interpretation in the study of art. They develop in students an enhanced understanding of art both by fostering their intellectual appreciation of works of art and by involving them in the creative process. These courses are suffused with the notion that the arts are a powerful and profound influence on human perception and understanding.

Conclusion

In addition to the fundamental educational experiences represented by these requirements, the faculty recognizes that thoughtful reflection upon an even wider range of topics and issues such as those that pertain to gender, race, ethics, international perspectives, and other matters, is an important component in the education of Richmond students. While some of these topics and issues may be addressed in one or another course in the general education curriculum, the faculty feels strongly that they are best treated - sometimes focally, sometimes incidentally - within many different courses, outside as well as inside that curriculum. By addressing them in a variety of ways, from a variety of viewpoints, and with a variety of voices across the entire curriculum, the faculty as a whole will ensure that students are aware of the many complex and serious ways in which these issues touch their lives and the lives of others.

Note: Courses meeting general education requirements are approved by the General Education Committee and denoted with the appropriate code following the course description in this catalog, as well as in the schedule of classes, published each semester on BannerWeb. A course will only meet the general education requirement if approved and the corresponding code is noted on the schedule of classes for the semester in which the class is completed. The codes are as follows:

- FYS - First-Year Seminar
- COM2 - Communication Skills - Second Language
- FSHT - Field of Study: Historical Studies
- FSLT - Field of Study: Literary Studies
- FSNB - Field of Study: Natural Science, Biological Sciences
- FSNC - Field of Study: Natural Science, Chemistry
- FSNP - Field of Study: Natural Science, Physics
- FSSA - Field of Study: Social Analysis
- FSSR - Field of Study: Symbolic Reasoning
- FSVP - Field of Study: Visual and Performing Arts
Summary of General Education Requirements

Courses used to satisfy the First-Year Seminars and the communication skills requirement of the general education requirements may not be used to meet the fields of study requirements for the degree. The First-Year Seminars must be taken in the first year of matriculation.

A. First-Year Seminars

A student may satisfy this requirement by passing two FYS 100 seminar courses. The same seminar topic may not be repeated more than once for credit.

First Year Seminar Policy for Students Transferring to Richmond

Students who are admitted to the University of Richmond as transfer students with 6.82 or more transferable units are exempt from the First Year Seminars.

Students transferring with less than 6.82 units*, excluding credit for advanced standing, must meet the following First-Year Seminar requirement(s)

- 1-3.13 transferable units: must take two First Year Seminars during the first two semesters of enrollment.
- 3.14-6.81 transferable units: must take one First Year Seminar during the first semester of enrollment. May take an additional First Year Seminar in the second term of enrollment, if desired.

*Note: Students are only accepted as transfer students with less than 6.82 transferable units on an exception basis. These students must demonstrate exceptional qualifications.

B. Communication Skills II - Second Language

A student may satisfy this requirement in a modern or classical language by meeting one of the following alternatives:

1. Passing the intermediate (221 or 202) level of one language (credit varies from 1-2 units depending on the intensity of the courses).
2. Presenting a score of 3, 4, or 5 on a modern language Advanced Placement exam taken prior to initial enrollment (student would receive an exemption, but no credit, for a score of 3; the credit varies for a score of 4 or 5); presenting a score of 4 or 5 on the Latin Advanced Placement exam (carries 1 unit of credit).
3. Presenting a score of 5, 6, or 7 on an IB Higher Level exam in a modern language (credit varies).
4. Presenting an acceptable score on the SAT-II Subject Test - Language taken prior to initial enrollment (carries no credit).
5. Achieving an acceptable score on a departmental placement exam (carries no credit).
6. For nonnative English speakers, obtaining an acceptable score on the TOEFL (carries no credit).

D. Fields of Study

A student may satisfy the fields of study requirements by passing one approved course in each of the areas of historical studies, literary studies, social analysis, symbolic reasoning, visual and performing arts, and the natural sciences. Such courses must have been approved by the General Education Committee and the faculties of the schools of Arts and Sciences, Robins School of Business, and Jepson School of Leadership Studies as meeting these requirements.

Courses meeting general education requirements are designated in this catalog following the course description, as well as in the list of classes on the Web site. All courses used to meet general education requirements must be passed with a grade of D- (.7) or higher.

II. Wellness Requirement

In keeping with the University’s objective of fostering knowledge and personal well-being, every undergraduate student will complete a three part wellness series prior to graduation. Before arriving on campus, first year and transfer students will complete Alcohol Edu, an on-line alcohol prevention and education program. Once on campus, students will complete a two-hour alcohol seminar (WELL 085) specific to policies of the University and the Commonwealth of Virginia. Students are also required to complete two WELL 090 health education topics courses. Classes are geared towards topics that will promote academic success and personal health.

Students who have not satisfactorily completed WELL 085 by registration for the spring semester of their second year will have an administrative hold put on their record and will not be able to register until they have made arrangements to take the class. The Plus2 component, Wellness 090, is strongly urged to be taken and satisfactorily completed before or during the third year.

III. Completion of a Major

All undergraduate degrees at the University of Richmond require satisfactory completion of one major. Multiple majors and/or minors may also be pursued and upon completion will be recorded on the permanent academic record.
The major is a field of academic study chosen as an area of specialization. A major may be in a subject area and will include courses in that subject area along with courses prerequisite to those required courses and may also include designated courses outside the subject area. Interdisciplinary programs will include courses from a number of different subject areas. Majors require between 9 and 18.5 total units, counting all courses both inside and outside the subject area, including all prerequisites for those courses. (See the section for each school for specific major or minor requirements.)

The School of Arts and Sciences offers the Bachelor of Arts and the Bachelor of Science degrees. The Robins School of Business offers the Bachelor of Science in Business Administration degree. The Jepson School of Leadership Studies offers the Bachelor of Arts degree.

In addition to the degree requirements previously stated under Graduation, a candidate must satisfy major requirements outlined in the following sections.

Major Requirements

9 - 18.5 total units

IV. Curriculum and Achievement

Undergraduate degree candidates must earn a grade point average of not less than 2.00 on all coursework attempted.

Candidates for the Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, or Bachelor of Science in Business Administration must complete 35 units.

V. Additional Degree Requirements

- 17.5 unit on-campus residency requirement
- 28 unit residency requirement, to include work taken on approved exchange and study abroad programs and visiting away and off-campus programs as well as courses taken through dual degree and cross-registration programs (this requirement is pro-rated for transfer students)
- Application for degree and attendance at Commencement
- Completion of financial and administrative obligations

School of Arts and Sciences

The School of Arts and Sciences offers a majority of the courses taken by undergraduate students at the University. Even students who major in business or leadership studies take up to two-thirds of their courses, elective as well as general education courses, in the School of Arts and Sciences. The school provides a broad range of majors and offers numerous opportunities for interdisciplinary study. Such study takes many forms, from self-designed programs to interdisciplinary concentrations within traditional fields to fully developed interdisciplinary majors. Graduates today live in a world in which the ability to integrate knowledge and skills from a variety of disciplines is increasingly important. The School of Arts and Sciences fully recognizes this fact and is constantly working to create opportunities for students to integrate and apply what they are learning.

Engagement in active and interactive learning is the hallmark of education in the School of Arts and Sciences. Students are involved in guided independent study projects, collaborative research with faculty and other students, internships and other service-learning experiences, and artistic and creative projects. Active engagement enables students to assume increasing responsibility for their own learning and development and prepares them for life-long growth and adaptation to change.
The faculty of the school are committed, first and foremost, to teaching and learning and to the overall education and development of their students. Faculty take the advising and mentoring of students very seriously and meet frequently with their students and advisees to discuss course-related projects as well as career plans and long-term goals.

The school's faculty are also productive scholars and artists who introduce students to the excitement of research and creative activity. As distinguished scholars, scientists, artists and practitioners, they are able to teach by example as well as by precept.

By graduation, arts and sciences students are well-prepared for further study in graduate or professional schools and for employment in a variety of fields, including healthcare, government, business, law, and nonprofit work. The knowledge and skills fostered by a liberal arts education serve students well in the world of work, as well as in their personal lives. In addition, an education in the School of Arts and Sciences prepares students to become well-informed and thoughtful citizens, to be able to contribute to the lives of others, and to help advance the society of which they are a part.

Curriculum Requirements

The School of Arts and Sciences offers the Bachelor of Arts and the Bachelor of Science degrees.

In addition to the degree requirements previously stated under Graduation, a candidate must satisfy major requirements outlined in the following pages.

Course limitations- Of the following, no more than the stated units of credit can count toward any degree in a given school:

- 3.5 units - Internship courses of whatever kind, excluding student teaching, legislative internship and Theatre 330-341 Practicum
- 1.5 units - Internship 388 taken in the same academic department

Bachelor of Arts

I. Degree Requirements

To qualify for a Bachelor of Arts degree, students must complete the degree requirements listed previously, including general education requirements, wellness, curriculum, achievement, and residency requirements, along with completion of the requirements for at least one major.

II. Requirements for the Major

The major is a field of academic study chosen as an area of specialization. A major will include courses in a subject area*, such other courses outside the subject area as may be designated, and any courses prerequisite to those required courses. Unless a special waiver of the Academic Council has been granted to a department or program and endorsed by the arts and sciences faculty, a major will require 9 to 11 units in a single subject area, including all prerequisites within the subject area. In addition, a major will require no more than 15.5 total units, counting all courses both inside and outside the subject area, including all prerequisites for those courses. Majors in interdisciplinary programs will require a minimum of 9 units and no more than 15.5 total units, including all prerequisites.

In no case may a student count more than 17.5 units from a single subject area toward the minimum number of units necessary for graduation.
Basic modern second language courses through the intermediate level, and the wellness requirements will not be counted toward the major. Classical languages are exempt from this exclusion.

A student may concurrently fulfill the requirements of more than one major. To initiate more than one major, the student should declare the majors in the manner currently provided. Upon graduation, only one degree will be conferred, but each completed major will be recorded on the student's permanent academic record, provided the student has listed the major on the degree application and is certified to have completed all of the requirements specified for the given major.

If a student's major(s) and other coursework can be arranged to meet the requirements for either the Bachelor of Arts degree or the Bachelor of Science degree, no more than one degree has been earned; however, the student must specify which degree is desired. Any major associated with a degree not chosen shall be recorded according to the provisions previously stated.

Specific major requirements may be found under the appropriate academic department listing in the Curricula section. In that section, the requirements are presumed to be for the Bachelor of Arts degree unless otherwise stated. For a description of the minor option, see that heading in the Interdisciplinary Programs section of this chapter.

* Subject area refers to coursework listed under a single specified rubric.
 Students interested in earning more than one undergraduate degree should refer to the Second Undergraduate Degree section.

Bachelor of Science

I. Degree Requirements

The requirements are the same as for the B.A., except proficiency in calculus also must be demonstrated by passing Mathematics 212 or 232 (cannot be taken pass/fail) or completing the Advanced Placement test with an acceptable score.

II. Requirements for the Major

The provisions listed under the B.A. apply. The B.S. is offered only in biochemistry, biology, chemistry, computer science, environmental studies, interdisciplinary studies, mathematics, mathematical economics, physics, interdisciplinary physics, and psychology. For differences in the major requirements for the degrees, consult the appropriate departmental description under Curricula.

A major will include courses in a subject area, such other courses outside the subject area as may be designated, and any courses prerequisite to those required courses. (See note under Bachelor of Arts for definition of subject area.) Unless a special waiver by the Academic Council has been granted to a department or program, and endorsed by the faculty, a major will require 9 to 13 units in a single subject area, including all prerequisites within the subject area. In addition, a major will require no more than 18.5 total units, counting all courses both inside and outside the subject area, including all prerequisites for those courses and Calculus II. The interdisciplinary studies program will require a minimum of 9 units and no more than 18.5 total units, including all prerequisites.

In no case may a student count more than 17.5 units from a single subject area toward the minimum number of units necessary for graduation.

Special Program Opportunities

Honors Program
Outstanding students with intellectual initiative and the desire to pursue academic achievement beyond standard coursework have the opportunity to broaden and deepen knowledge in selected major fields through the Honors Program. Departmental honors coordinators invite promising qualified majors to apply, but an interested student may contact his or her major department or the faculty committee on the Honors Program to indicate interest and obtain further information. To qualify, a student should have at least a 3.30 cumulative grade point average, 18 or more units completed and, excluding coursework primarily for first-year students, 3.5 or more units completed with distinction in the major field. Successful completion of an Honors Program is shown on the student's permanent academic record and on the diploma.

Languages Across the Curriculum (LAC)

The Languages Across the Curriculum program allows students to use their language skills and other cultural perspectives to enhance learning and research in all disciplines. Certain courses in the School of Arts and Sciences, Jepson School of Leadership Studies, and the Robins School of Business are offered in conjunction with a Languages Across the Curriculum component, an optional quarter unit of work in a second language associated with a regular class. The LAC component is worth one quarter unit and is graded pass/fail. To find a LAC section, look for courses marked "LAC credit available" or go directly to each semester's listings under Languages Across the Curriculum. The following departments have recently offered courses with LAC sections: English, history, leadership studies, modern literatures and cultures, music, and philosophy. More LAC sections are being developed in other departments. For further information, contact the LAC program coordinator.

Dual-Degree Engineering Programs

In cooperation with selected engineering schools, the University offers the opportunity for students interested in engineering careers to earn two bachelor's degrees in five years, one from the University of Richmond and another from a cooperating engineering school. In the 3-2 Engineering Program, a student spends three years at Richmond, completing all of the general education requirements, almost all of the requirements for a major in physics, plus selected other courses. The student spends the remaining two years at the engineering school. The School of Engineering and Applied Science at George Washington University is a participant. The University of Richmond's physics department's pre-engineering advisor can provide information about participating programs and requirements.

Interdisciplinary Programs

Self-Designed Interdisciplinary Studies Major

Under the general supervision of two faculty advisors and the coordinator of interdisciplinary studies, the University offers a self-designed interdisciplinary major. The interdisciplinary major provides a student the opportunity to propose and pursue, with faculty supervision, a unique program of study leading to either a Bachelor of Arts or a Bachelor of Science degree with a major in interdisciplinary studies. A senior thesis, which is the culmination of the major and for which the student receives one unit, is required.

Applications and further information are available from the coordinator of interdisciplinary studies. Applications are to be submitted to the coordinator of interdisciplinary studies by April 1 of the second year. At least a 3.00 cumulative grade point average is recommended.

Interdisciplinary Majors

In addition to the self-designed interdisciplinary major, the School of Arts and Sciences offers support for interdisciplinary study through a number of interdisciplinary programs that offer majors within the Bachelor of Arts degree. They are American studies, classical civilization, cognitive science, criminal justice, environmental studies, film studies, geography, international studies, philosophy, politics, economics, and law, and women, gender, and sexuality studies. Environmental studies, interdisciplinary physics, and mathematical economics are the interdisciplinary major options within the Bachelor of Science degree. Further information is available from the program coordinators listed under each program.

International Studies Major

International studies is a cross-cultural, interdisciplinary major composed of six areas of concentration, of which the student selects one. The concentrations are Africa, Asia, international economics, Latin America, modern Europe, and world politics and diplomacy. Further information is available from the program coordinator.

Interdisciplinary Concentrations

The School of Arts and Sciences offers a series of curricular configurations known as interdisciplinary concentrations within disciplinary majors or minors. Instead of constituting stand-alone majors or minors, these concentrations are tied closely to selected majors, thus fostering an integrated learning experience that offers depth in a traditional discipline combined with breadth in interdisciplinary study. Current interdisciplinary concentrations include arts management (for art history, studio art, dance, music, and theatre majors or minors); comparative literature (for English majors); medieval and Renaissance Studies (for art history or English majors); and neuroscience (for biology or psychology majors). An interdisciplinary concentration within a disciplinary major toward a B.A. will require no more than 21 total units, counting all courses and including all prerequisites for those courses. An interdisciplinary concentration within a disciplinary major toward a B.S. degree will require no more than 22 total units, counting all courses and including all prerequisites for those courses and Calculus II. For specific descriptions and requirements, refer to the Interdisciplinary Concentrations section.

Internships

Internships provide students with supervised opportunities to understand by direct experience how skills and theories learned in the classroom are applied in business, industry, community agencies, and government. Each internship must include an academic base, such as an appropriate reading list or other resources, which demonstrates or stresses the interrelatedness of the academic background with the selected workplace.

Any academic department may offer an individual internship under the following general description: 388 Individual Internship. Application of academic skills and theories in a selected work environment, plus related academic work supervised by a member of the faculty. Pass/fail grading may be designated by a department for any or all enrollments. May be repeated; however, no more than 1.5 units in the same department may be counted toward the total number of units required for a degree. Prerequisite: Permission of department concerned. .25-1.5 units. Note: No more than 3.5 units of internship of any kind may count toward the total number of units required for a degree. Student Teaching and Theatre Arts Practica are not included in this policy.

Individual departments may have varying limitations on internships. They may be only available to majors and/or minors in the department. Internships usually are limited to junior or senior students who must have the prior approval of the department concerned.

Further information is available from the chair or coordinator of the appropriate department or program.

Visiting Away Programs

Students who wish to study away from the University of Richmond for a semester or year and maintain active status must participate in a program that has been approved for visiting away status. Students leaving the University on any program that does not carry visiting away status must withdraw from the University and apply to the appropriate dean for readmission.

Visiting away programs are approved by the academic council of the appropriate school and the Office of the University Registrar, which maintains a list of approved visiting away programs. This list is subject to change and will be reviewed on a periodic basis. (A program that is approved for one student will not necessarily be approved for another student since the decision is based not only on the academic reputation of the program, but also on the relevancy of the program to the student's individual academic program.)

Students wishing to participate in an approved domestic program must submit a copy of their letter of acceptance to the program, a completed Transfer Approval Form and a completed Visiting Away Approval Application Form to the Office of the University Registrar. Upon receipt of these documents, the student will be enrolled with an off-campus (OF) enrollment status. For study abroad programs, a subcommittee of the International Education Committee will review student petitions. If a student's petition is approved, the Office of International Education will notify the Office of the Registrar to enroll the student in an abroad (AB) enrollment status. (Students seeking "AB" status should consult the Office of International Education for complete instructions.)

Enrollment in OF or AB status entitles the student to remain as an active Richmond student, which entitles him or her to benefits of priority registration, housing, certain types of financial aid (e.g., loans and Pell Grants), library access, mailbox and e-mail account. Students with OF or AB status will not be billed for tuition as Richmond students during the semester(s) away.

Credits from visiting away programs will be treated as transfer credits, requiring transfer approval and affecting units toward graduation. The credits are not calculated in the GPA and require a C or better to transfer. Credits are applied to the student's record only upon receipt of an official transcript from the sponsoring institution. Exceptions to this would be programs in which the decision is made to partner with the sponsoring institution, in which case the courses would be listed as Richmond courses on the transcript and the grades treated as having been earned at Richmond. Approval for such programs would be submitted through the same channels as outlined above.

Marine Studies

The University of Richmond Department of Biology and the Duke University Marine Laboratory (DUML) offer a program supplement in marine science. Instruction is given by DUML and may be accepted as transfer credit in the student's University of Richmond program. Further information about the program can be obtained from the University of Richmond Department of Biology.

Minor Option

A minor is a secondary academic specialization that may be sought in addition to the required academic major. A minor consists of at least 4.5 units and may include certain other requirements as specified by the academic department concerned. A student may elect to complete more than one minor in the degree program. The minor is declared in the same manner as the major. Upon graduation, each completed minor will be recorded on the student's permanent academic record, provided the minor is listed on the degree application form and the requirements have been met. Many academic departments offer a minor. The requirements in the minor, for the departments in which the minor is available, are presented under the appropriate departmental listing in the Curricula section.

Research Grants for Undergraduates

Each year the School of Arts and Sciences offers its students unusual opportunities for research projects. Grants are awarded by the Undergraduate Research Committee to support research projects in a variety of ways such as the purchase of materials and equipment, travel or other such expenses and presenting or publishing the results of the research. The grant may be awarded for a project that is the student's own idea or an idea that has been conceived in cooperation with a faculty member; in any case, there must be a faculty member who is willing to supervise the project. Generally, the project is approved for academic credit, and often the student and the faculty member will cowrite one or more professional papers on the work. Application forms and further information are available from the associate dean of the School of Arts and Sciences, whose office is in the administrative wing of Boatwright Library, or through the departmental chair of the department in which the project is to be supervised.
American Studies

Douglas Winiarski, Coordinator (Religion)

American studies is an interdisciplinary program that provides students with opportunities to combine courses on the anthropology, art, history, journalism, literature, music, philosophy, politics, religion, and sociology of the United States into a single major. The requirements for the program emphasize student initiative in crafting a distinctive program of study that meets the academic interests of each major. Students may choose to focus on race and ethnicity studies in the United States, a discrete time period, or a distinctly multidisciplinary methodological approach. The opportunities to develop a unique program of study, therefore, are as diverse as the students who elect to major in American studies.

The American studies major consists of nine courses, including AMST 201, a topical survey open primarily to first-year students and sophomores, and AMST 400, a capstone seminar that explores theories and methods in the field. Majors work closely with the program coordinator and a faculty advisor to determine a specialized course of study for the remaining seven electives. These courses must be drawn from at least three departments and revolve around a coherent issue, theme, time period, or methodological approach to United States culture and society. Four of these electives must be taken at the 300 level or higher. Introductory courses for departments are ineligible. Students must complete all prerequisites for courses taken in allied departments in addition to the requirements for their American studies major. For a complete list of past, current, and upcoming AMST courses and electives, see the "Planning Your Program" link on the American studies Web site (american-studies.richmond.edu/).

In addition, all students must complete a "Statement of Intellectual Interest & Projected Course of Study" application when they declare their American Studies major. This document consists of a one paragraph statement of intellectual interest in which prospective majors describe their academic goals and provide a list of existing courses that will help them to meet those goals. A coherent course of study, for example, might focus on African American politics, history, and culture; art, literature, and music of the Jacksonian Era; class, social activism, and the urban built environment; gender politics and religious beliefs in the contemporary United States; transnational, multiethnic, and border crossing American identities; media and technology issues; or queer theory approaches to American theater and film. These are only a few of the many possible ways to combine courses in allied departments into a coherent course of study. Students are encouraged to exercise creativity and independence in determining which electives will count toward their major. For a complete list of statements by previous majors, see the American Studies Web site.

The discipline of American studies increasingly emphasizes explorations of United States culture and society in relation to international politics, the global economy, and population migrations. For this reason, students who study abroad are strongly encouraged to pursue coursework related to their American studies majors.

In addition to completing the standard requirements for the major, qualified students may elect to write an honors thesis (AMST 401) during the spring semester of their senior year. Theses are written under the supervision of a sponsoring faculty member and require the prior approval of a formal prospectus submitted to the American studies advisory council before November 15.

Students interested in learning more about the American studies major are encouraged to contact the program coordinator for more information.

The American Studies Major

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the major must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.70).
9 units, including

  • AMST 201 Introduction to American Studies
  • Seven electives, chosen in consultation with the faculty advisor, including four at 300 level or higher
  • AMST 400 Seminar in American Studies

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the major. Prerequisites do not count toward the major unless otherwise noted.

Courses

AMST 201
Introduction to American Studies
Surveys multidisciplinary approaches to American studies with specific emphasis on methodologies, sources, themes, and major ideas.
1 Unit(s)

AMST 381
Community Problem Solving Seminar
Combines community internship with reading and discussion about community problems from multidisciplinary perspectives. Prerequisite: AMST 201 and permission of program coordinator and faculty supervisor.
1 Unit(s)

AMST 398
Selected Topics
Varying interdisciplinary topics related to American studies. Area of study will vary according to instructor and course topic.
1 Unit(s)

AMST 399
Independent Study
Individually designed reading or research program conducted under faculty supervision. Prerequisite: AMST 201 and permission of program coordinator and faculty supervisor.
.5-1 Unit(s)

AMST 400
Seminar in American Studies
Advanced seminar that examines the historical, methodological, and theoretical development of American studies as an academic discipline. Offered fall semester only. Prerequisite: AMST 201 and junior or senior status.
1 Unit(s)

AMST 401
Thesis
Thesis project designed, researched, and written by students under faculty supervision. Offered spring semester only. Prerequisite: AMST 201, senior status, 3.5 grade point average within the major, and a prospectus with bibliography approved by the American studies advisory council.
1 Unit(s)
Anthropology

Department of Sociology and Anthropology

Carol Wharton, Chair
Associate Professors Hass, Neff, Nourse, Obi, Wharton
Assistant Professors French, Ransom, Baykal, Briddel, Richards
Professionals from the field also are employed as adjunct faculty.

The major in anthropology stresses cultural anthropology, the study of contemporary and historically recent human societies around the world. Specifically, cultural anthropology focuses on the ways in which various individuals and groups (societies) construct their ideas (culture) about the world and the ways in which these ideas influence how various people behave. Courses in anthropology compare diverse cultures to ascertain their similarities as well as their differences. Some courses in cultural anthropology study particular regions of the world and the way in which those peoples construct their realities and find meaning in their lives. Other courses in cultural anthropology select various dimensions of human life - family, gender, religion, politics, art, etc., and examine how one of these subjects relates to all the other dimensions in one particular culture or across cultures in general.

The Anthropology Major

Note: The grade point average of the anthropology coursework comprising the major must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.7).

10.5 units, including
- ANTH 101 Introduction to Cultural Anthropology
- ANTH 211 Introduction to Ethnographic Field Methods
- ANTH 290 Theoretical Foundations of Cultural Anthropology
- ANTH 400 Senior Thesis Proposal
- ANTH 401 Capstone Seminar
- At least two regional courses from List A
- At least two topical courses from List B
- Two electives from either List A or List B
- Participation in an approved study abroad experience of at least six weeks in duration

Notes:
- Upper-level courses are taught on a rotating basis.
- Students must achieve a grade of C or better in both ANTH 211 and ANTH 290 in order to take 400-level courses in the department and to receive credit toward the major for courses taken outside the department.
- Two regional and/or topical courses may be taken at study abroad institutions with departmental approval.
- Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the major/minor. Prerequisites do not count toward the major/minor unless otherwise noted.
- A maximum of three courses may be taken in a department outside of the University of Richmond's Department of Sociology and Anthropology with departmental approval. These courses may be taken within another department at the University of Richmond, or at another accredited institution or through an approved study abroad program.

The Anthropology Minor

Note: The grade point average of the anthropology coursework comprising the minor must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.7). A maximum of three courses may be taken in a department outside of the University of Richmond's Department of Sociology and Anthropology with departmental approval. These courses may be taken within another department at the University of Richmond, or at another accredited institution or through an approved study abroad program.

5 units, including
- ANTH 101 Introduction to Cultural Anthropology
- Four additional units in anthropology

List A: Regional Courses
- ANTH 279 Selected Topics (as approved by department)
- ANTH 307 Indigenous Peoples of the Americas
- ANTH 308 Latin America: An Ethnographic Perspective
- ANTH 338 Africa: Cultural Change in a Post-Colonial Setting
- ANTH 339 Pacific Island Cultures and Ethnographies
- ANTH 340 Southeast Asia: Cultural Representations
- ANTH 350 Sex and Gender in the Middle East
- ANTH 360 Power and Society in the Middle East
- ANTH 379 Selected Topics (as approved by the department)
- SOC 230 Introduction to the Study of Africa

List B: General Anthropology Courses
- ANTH 279 Selected Topics (as approved by department)
- ANTH 300 Sexuality and Gender Across Cultures
- ANTH 304 Ritual, Witchcraft and Divination
- ANTH 328 Anthropology of Human Rights
- ANTH 336 Politics, Power and Ritual
- ANTH 379 Selected Topics (as approved by department)
- ANTH 388 Individual Internship
- ANTH 426-427 Directed Independent Study
- ANTH 489 Research Practicum

Courses

ANTH 101
Introduction to Cultural Anthropology
Examines how people make cultural meaning out of their lives and explores the way in which anthropologists come to understand other people's construction of culture. Cross-cultural perspective on family, kinship, language, religion, gender and sexuality, and other aspects of social life.
1 Unit(s)
(FSSA)

ANTH 211
Introduction to Ethnographic Field Methods
Introduces the methodologies used in cultural anthropology, as well as theories behind these methodologies. Issues of objectivity, ethical research and presentation, the political nature of the production of knowledge, positioning the researcher, and the uses to which training in ethnographic methods might be put. Prerequisite: Anthropology 101.
1 Unit(s)

ANTH 279
Selected Topics in Anthropology
Various topics in the field of anthropology. May be repeated for credit if topics are different. Prerequisite: Anthropology 101.
1 Unit(s)
ANTH 290
Theoretical Foundations of Cultural Anthropology
History of cultural and social anthropological thought, major theoretical perspectives and contemporary issues as to how humans construct their social worlds.  Prerequisite: Anthropology 101.
1 Unit(s)

ANTH 300
Sexuality and Gender Across Cultures
Theoretical and ethnographic examination of masculinity and femininity within various worldwide cultures.  Prerequisite: Anthropology 101.
1 Unit(s)

ANTH 304
Ritual, Witchcraft & Divination
Examines the ways ritual, witchcraft and divination permeate all societies and cultures throughout the world. Includes discussions of shamanism and drug use for religious purposes, as well as voudou, cults, and New Age healing. Prerequisite: Anthropology 101.
1 Unit(s)

ANTH 307
Indigenous Peoples of the Americas
Historical development, culture, relations with governments and international organizations, and current issues of indigenous peoples throughout the Americas, including the U.S.  Prerequisite: Anthropology 101.
1 Unit(s)

ANTH 308
Latin America: An Ethnographic Perspective
1 Unit(s)

ANTH 328
Anthropology of Human Rights
1 Unit(s)

ANTH 336
Politics, Power and Ritual
Power, authority, and conflict in cross cultural perspective. Theoretical and ethnographic examination of themes in political and legal anthropology. Prerequisite: Anthropology 101.
1 Unit(s)

ANTH 338
Africa: Cultural Change in a Post-Colonial Setting
Theoretical and ethnographic examination of history, economics, kinship, religion, and gender in various pre-and post-colonial African contexts. Prerequisite: Anthropology 101.
1 Unit(s)

ANTH 339
Pacific Island Cultures and Ethnographies
Theoretical and ethnographic examination of history, economics, kinship, religion and gender in various pre-and post-colonial contexts in Melanesia, Polynesia, and Micronesia. Prerequisite: Anthropology 101.
1 Unit(s)

ANTH 340
Southeast Asia: Cultural Representations
Theoretical and ethnographic examination of Orientalism through classic and contemporary representations of Southeast Asia and its peoples. Prerequisite: Anthropology 101.
1 Unit(s)

ANTH 350
Sex and Gender in the Middle East
Beginning with a brief historical, religious, and geographical overview, the course will draw attention to the "Orientalist gaze" of Western perception that tends (incorrectly) to regard veiled Middle Eastern women as victims of patriarchal or religious oppression. Subsequently reviews detailed analyses of ways in which contemporary men and women the Middle East behave in everyday contexts. Prerequisite: Anthropology 101 or one of the following: Sociology 101, International Studies 290, Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies 200.
1 Unit(s)

ANTH 360
Power and Society in the Middle East
Considers the ways in which power and authority are expressed and reproduced in the Middle East within a wide range of social and political settings. Prerequisite: Anthropology 101 or Sociology 101.
1 Unit(s)

ANTH 379
Selected Topics
Various topics in the field of anthropology, such as sex and gender in the Middle East. May be repeated for credit if topics differ. Prerequisite: Anthropology 101.
1 Unit(s)

ANTH 388
Individual Internship
Supervised independent field work. Requires permission of a supervising faculty member and approval by the department chair. No more than 1.5 units of internship in any one department and 3.5 units of internship overall may be counted toward required degree units. Prerequisite: Anthropology 101 and permission of instructor.
.5 Unit(s)

ANTH 400
Senior Thesis Proposal Seminar
Preparation course for senior thesis in which students conduct research, write annotated bibliography, write proposal and submit proposal to Institutional Review Board for the senior capstone thesis in the spring. Prerequisite: Anthropology 211 and Anthropology 290 with a grade of C or better and permission of instructor.
.5 Unit(s)

ANTH 401
Capstone Seminar
Preparation of senior thesis to complete anthropology major. Prerequisite: Anthropology 400.
1 Unit(s)

ANTH 426-427
Directed Independent Study
Intensive study of a specific topic within anthropology under the direction of a member of the faculty. Requires approval by the department chair. Prerequisite: Anthropology 211 and Anthropology 290 with a grade of C or better.
.5-1 Unit(s)
ANTH 489
Research Practicum
Work closely with professor on research project, including design, data collection, data analysis, and dissemination of results. Requires permission of a supervising faculty member and approval by the department chair. Prerequisite: Anthropology 211 and Anthropology 290 with a grade of C or better. .5-1 Unit(s)

Arabic Studies

Department of Modern Literatures and Cultures

Associate Professor Hamarneh
Director of Arabic Language Program Sulzer-Reichel

This section contains information specific to the program in Arabic Studies. For full information regarding departmental policies relevant to all MLC programs, study abroad, and course sequencing, see the main page of the Department of Modern Literatures and Cultures.

Study Abroad

Study and travel abroad are strongly encouraged for all students. For students of Arabic, the department offers a summer study program in Jordan. Exchange agreements for study during the academic year in Jordan are being negotiated. For a complete list, contact the Office of International Education.

Archaeology

Elizabeth Baughan, Coordinator (Classical Studies)

Archaeology is the study of the human past through its material remains. The proposed minor in Archaeology draws upon courses in Anthropology, Art History, Classical Studies, and Geography that focus on archaeological evidence, material culture, methods of archaeological inquiry and analysis, and/or the study of human behavior. This minor will give students who are already focusing on archaeology through such courses (and, in some cases, summer fieldwork) the opportunity to declare their interest more officially and the incentive to specialize more closely. It will also encourage interdisciplinary study and build upon UR’s affiliation with Bilkent University (Ankara) in archaeological fieldwork in Turkey. The curriculum is designed to prepare students for careers or postgraduate study not only in archaeology, but also in fields such as ancient art history, GIS (geographic information systems), conservation, architectural history, museum studies, and cultural property law.

The Archaeology Minor

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the minor must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.7)

6 units, including

- Two courses, chosen from
  - CLSC 220 Introduction to Archaeology
  - CLSC 301 Greek Art and Archaeology
  - CLSC 302 Roman Art and Archaeology
  - CLSC 321 Archaeology of the Middle East

- Four additional courses, chosen from
  - ANTH 101 Introduction to Cultural Anthropology
  - ANTH 290 Theoretical Foundations of Cultural Anthropology
  - ART 121 Survey I: Prehistory through the Middle Ages
  - ART 309 Image and Icon in Medieval Art
  - ART 310 Late Antique and Early Christian Art
  - ART 311 Medieval Byzantine Art, 600-1453
  - ART 312 Medieval Art in Western Europe, 8th – 15th Centuries
  - ART 322 Seminar in Museum Studies
  - CLSC 212 Dining and Drinking in Classical Antiquity
  - CLSC 220 Introduction to Archaeology
  - CLSC 301 Greek Art and Archaeology
  - CLSC 302 Roman Art and Archaeology
  - CLSC 321 Archaeology of the Middle East
  - CLSC 398 Special Topics, depending on the subject and approval of the minor program coordinator
  - GEOG 260 Introduction to Geographic Information Systems
  - GEOG 365 Advanced Spatial Analysis

Up to three units of archaeological field school transfer credit and/or study-abroad archaeology courses, with approval of the minor program coordinator may apply to the archaeology minor. Up to two units of archaeologically-focused independent study (CLSC 498), with approval of the minor program coordinator may apply to the archaeology minor. Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the minor. Prerequisites do not count toward the minor unless otherwise noted.
Art History

Department of Art and Art History

Tanja Softic’, Chair
Professors Addiss, Softic’
Associate Professors Denton, Pevny, Rhodes, Sjovold
Assistant Professors Calvillo, Drummond
Executive Director of the University Museums Waller Visual Resources Librarian Keefer
Professionals from the fields in art are also employed as adjunct faculty members.

The Department of Art and Art History offers programs in the studio arts, Western and non-Western art history, and museum studies. In the Modlin Center for the Arts, students work in an environment where they can develop their intellectual and creative abilities to the fullest potential. In addition to a rigorous and stimulating curriculum, students also participate in the activities of the University Museums. The museums present exhibitions of both historical and contemporary art with related lectures, workshops, and symposia with visiting artists, critics, and art historians. A study abroad program allows students to study art and art history in approved programs under the direction of the Office of International Education. Because majors are required to develop a senior project, it is recommended that prospective majors consult with the department early to allow adequate time for planning.

The Art History Major

Note: A grade of not less than C (2.0) is required in each course comprising the major.

9 units, including

• ART 121 Survey I: Prehistory through the Middle Ages
• ART 122 Survey II: Renaissance to the Present
• Three 300-level courses in Western art history in the following fields o Late Antique and Medieval art
  o Renaissance and Baroque art
  o The history of art after 1700
• One 200 or 300-level non-Western art history course
• ART 319 Advanced Seminar. This course may be used to meet either the Western or non-Western requirement
• One studio art course
• ART 365 Art Theories and Methodologies
• ART 466 Thesis: Research Project

Students prepare their bibliography and thesis proposal to present to the art faculty at the end of the fall semester of their senior year; thesis is completed during the spring semester.

Majors should take ART 121-122 before enrolling in 300-level art history courses. Independent studies cannot be substituted for required courses in the art history major.

In addition to the above, the following are strongly recommended to supplement the major:

• ART 388 Individual Internship
• CLSC 301 Greek Art and Archeology
• CLSC 302 Roman Art and Archeology
• PHIL 281 Philosophy of Art
• RELG 251 Sacred Arts of India
Note: These courses cannot be substituted for major requirements, which must be fulfilled through art history department offerings.

Honors Program in Art History

Majors are encouraged to apply for and pursue the honors program in art history. To earn honors in art history, a student must complete at least 3.5 units of honors credit with distinction through a combination of upper-level courses including ART 365 and ART 466; the program must be planned in consultation with the student's major advisor and the department. Honors students also must maintain an overall GPA of no less than 3.30 and a 3.50 in the major, and receive a 3.70 on the thesis.

The Art History Minor

Note: A grade of not less than C (2.0) is required in each course comprising the minor.

6 units, including

- ART 121 Survey I: Prehistory through the Middle Ages
- ART 122 Survey II: Renaissance to the Present
- One art history elective at any level
- Two art history electives at the 300 level
- One studio art course

Related Fields

- Interdisciplinary concentration in arts management for studio art, art history, music, theatre, and dance majors or minors
- Interdisciplinary concentration in Medieval and Renaissance studies for art history majors

Courses

ART 121

Survey I: Prehistory through the Middle Ages

Survey of Western art, with some attention given to non-Western art, from prehistoric times through the Middle Ages. Intended as introductory course for general student as well as art majors and minors. 121 and 122 may be taken independently and in any sequence.

ART 122

Survey II: Renaissance to the Present

Historical and analytical study of representative major works of art from Renaissance to the present for general student and art major.

1 Unit(s)

ART 226

Art and Culture of Japan

A chronological introduction to the art and culture of Japan beginning with the prehistoric period, moving through the introduction to Buddhism and varieties of Buddhist art, the influence of China and Korea, the art of the court, the art of samurai, the art of townsmen (such as Japanese prints), and finally a look at contemporary trends in Japanese culture. Social and historical elements will be integrated with specific studies of visual arts, and literature will also be examined in context. Assignments will include creative work.

Related Field

Interdisciplinary concentration in arts management for studio art, art history, music, theatre, and dance majors or minors.

Courses

ARTS 105
Foundation Color and Composition
Provides students with a basic understanding of drawing skills, elements and principles of two-dimensional design, color theory, and pictorial composition. Explores the relationship of visual form and content through drawing, collage and color projects.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

ARTS 106
Foundation Space and Time
Provides students with a basic understanding of both time-based and space-based media. Training in basic skills of spatial perception and manipulation, as well as in the rudiments of time-based media, including video, sound, and animation. Exploration of sculpture, installation, time-based media and interactive art.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

ARTS 201
Drawing
Explores materials, methods and concepts in drawing, with emphasis on observational drawing skills. Studio work will be supplemented by other activities, such as critiques, lectures and exhibition visits.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

ARTS 202
Design
Explores basic elements and principles of two-dimensional design and color theory through exercises in drawing, collage, painting, and digital imaging. Studio work will be supplemented by other activities, such as critiques, lectures, and exhibition visits.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

ARTS 203
Sculpture
Basic introduction to material and perceptual problems in sculpture. Explores problems of representational, abstract, and nonobjective sculpture. This basic introduction to methods and concepts of sculpture will emphasize elements of three-dimensional design and composition.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

Darkroom Photography
Introduction to fundamental, technical, and aesthetic issues of black and white photography with emphasis on using medium for personal expression. Includes series of problems designed to increase understanding of basic camera operation, darkroom techniques, and artmaking strategies. Explore different styles of photography through lectures, slides, critiques, and assignments. History of photography will be included through study of past and contemporary photography. Camera with manually adjustable aperture and shutter speeds required.
1 Unit(s)

ARTS 205
Observational Painting
Introduction to the practice of painting with emphasis on observational skills. Emphasizes working understanding of methods and materials of oil painting while investigating basic aspects of visual perception and how to assess subject, form, and content in a work of art.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

ARTS 206
Explorations in Printmaking and Drawing
Explores formal and conceptual problems through simultaneous or combined drawing and printmaking exercises. Develops understanding of potential of graphic media, introduces new image-making techniques and concepts, including scale and sequence experiments and multi-technique works.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

ARTS 207
The Human Figure
Advances understanding and skill in drawing the human figure with emphasis on interpreting skeleton and large muscle masses. Students draw from nude and clothed male and female models using a variety of drawing media such as graphite, charcoal, ink, and color pastels.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

ARTS 220
Drawing From Nature
Develops skills in drawing directly from natural objects, live plants and animals. The course will examine how fine artists, botanists, and scientists utilize forms taken from natural flora and fauna in their work, introducing a variety of media, including ink, watercolor, and graphite. Consists of studio work supplemented with museum and library research on history and contemporary practice of naturalist drawing, as well as lectures, class critiques and discussions. Field trips will include studying the collections of minerals, shells, and natural objects at the University Museums' Lora Robins Gallery of Design from Nature.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

ARTS 225
Screenprint
An introduction to the medium of serigraphy (screenprint, silkscreen). Topics include working with handmade and photographic stencils, color and registration, editioning, and extended uses of the medium. Students will work with hand-drawn, photographic, and digital images.
1 Unit(s)

ARTS 230
Comparative Ceramics
Investigates the development of ceramic techniques and aesthetic traditions by studying the effects that can be discerned in the influence of one tradition over another. Most peoples in the history of humankind have produced some sort of ceramic artifacts, making this a very universal language. As peoples made increasing contact with one another, elements of these traditions were constantly being appropriated and transformed.
Digital Photography
Introduction to the field of digital photography and digital imaging within the context of contemporary art. Students will produce original works of art while studying the impact of technology upon human perception, visual art, and contemporary culture. Emphasis will be placed upon the ways in which digital technologies have transformed our understanding of traditional photographic media. Prerequisite: Studio Art 104, 105 or 106.

1 Unit(s)

ARTS 275
Drawing Studio
Explores advanced concepts in drawing, such as abstract, conceptual, and process-based drawing. May be repeated for credit. Prerequisite: Studio Art 105, 201, 202, 205, 206, or 207 or permission of instructor.

1 Unit(s)

ARTS 276
Artist Book
Introduces basic skills of bookbinding (Western and non-Western), printing, and typesetting skills through work on individual and collaborative studio projects. Explores concepts such as sequencing, text and image, and content and structure relationships. Students research evolution of the artists' book and contemporary practice in this medium. Prerequisite: Studio Art 201, 202, 206, or 208.

1 Unit(s)

ARTS 279
Selected Topics
Examples of past courses include: printmaking and cross-cultural communication, figure and narrative, and comic books and zines. May be repeated for credit if topics differ. Prerequisite: Art 121 or 122 or permission of instructor.

1 Unit(s)

ARTS 288
Time-Based Media
Intermediate level investigation into the area of time-based media, including sound, video, and animation art. Students produce original works that use time as a perceptual tool while studying broader issues surrounding technology-based art and culture. May emphasize nontraditional and/or experimental approaches toward art production. Prerequisite: Studio Art 104 or 106.

1 Unit(s)

ARTS 289
Interactive Art
Intermediate level investigation of interactive art, including performance, site-specific and Web-based art. Students produce original works that foreground interactivity while studying broader issues surrounding technology, art and culture. May emphasize nontraditional and/or experimental approaches toward art production. Prerequisite: Studio Art 104 or 106.

1 Unit(s)

ARTS 291
Printmaking Studio
Studio-intensive exploration of advanced media and concepts in printmaking. Depending on instructor's expertise and student need and interest, etching, engraving, photoetching, woodcut, lithography, monotype or screenprint may be taught and used in the class. Assignments may include individual or group portfolio development, installation or collaborative projects. Prerequisite: ARTS 105, 201, 202, 206, 207 or 225.

1 Unit(s)

ARTS 292
Photography Studio
An advanced-level course on photography within the context of contemporary art. Areas of focus include black and white archival fiber-base printing processes, experimentation with different films, filters, papers, developers, presentation techniques, and digital production and post-production. May be repeated for credit. Prerequisite: Studio Art 204 or 265 and permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

Sculpture Studio
Individualized in-depth training in specific sculptural approaches, techniques, media, and concepts. Students choose to work from stone carving, wood carving, wood fabrication, metal fabrication, claywork, plaster carving and fabrication, metal and plaster casting, and mixed media objects and installation. May be repeated for credit. Prerequisite: Studio Art 106, 203, or 230.
1 Unit(s)

Painting Studio
Explores advanced concepts in painting, such as abstract, conceptual, and process-based painting. Students investigate historical and experimental methods of paintings not covered in Observational Painting (ARTS 205). May be repeated for credit. Prerequisite: Studio Art 105, 201, 202, 204, 205 or 206 or permission of instructor.

Figure Painting
Advances the student's skill in painting and understanding in interpreting the human figure as a subject. Begins with an introduction to traditional academic methods for representing the figure before exploring a series of individualized approaches to the figure. Historical and contemporary contexts for understanding the human figure will be covered. Prerequisite: Studio Art 105, 201, 202, 204, 205, or 206.
1 Unit(s)

Advanced Studio Seminar
Development of an independent artistic practice as informed by a larger theoretical and cultural discourse. Students may work in any medium (or media) of their choice and will be responsible for independent research beyond required readings, presentations, and seminar discussions. May be repeated for credit upon departmental approval. Prerequisite: Departmental approval.
1 Unit(s)

Individual Internship
Supervised work experience at approved artist's studio, museum, or gallery. No more than 1.5 units of internship in any one department and 3.5 units of internship overall may be counted toward required degree units. Prerequisite: Departmental approval.
.25-1 Unit(s)

Independent Study
Provides advanced students an opportunity to develop and propose an independent course covering materials and/or topics not addressed in regularly offered courses. Designed for Studio Art majors or minors in their junior or senior year. Students work closely with a faculty member best suited to the materials and/or themes proposed. Prerequisite: Departmental approval.
.25-1 Unit(s)

Thesis Development
Senior studio art majors create focused body of work and begin to clarify and establish future directions and resources for personal research and artmaking. Students prepare for midterm application for the Senior Thesis Exhibition course for a spring exhibition. Prerequisite: Studio art major, senior level, and Art 121 or 122. 1 Unit(s)

ARTS 466 Senior Thesis Exhibition
Graduating studio art majors are invited, based on a successful review during the Thesis Development course, to enroll in the honors thesis to organize and present an exhibition of their art in the University Art Museums and in the community. Students complete a focused body of work for exhibitions and participate in all aspects of their organization. The course also will cover the business of being an artist, including writing about and presenting one’s art, resume writing, exhibiting, and selling of work. Prerequisite: Studio Art 465 and permission of the department. 1 Unit(s)

Biochemistry and Molecular Biology

Jonathan Dattelbaum, Co-Coordinator (Chemistry)
Krista Stenger, Co-Coordinator (Biology)

The biochemistry and molecular biology program is an interdisciplinary program based in the biology and chemistry departments, and is jointly administered by a coordinating committee consisting of several faculty from each department. The program is designed to offer a flexible route to either the B.A. or B.S. degree and actively encourages student participation in research, which may be conducted with faculty in either department. The flexibility of the program lends itself to combination with study abroad and outreach opportunities. The major is designed to prepare students for future study in any area of the biological sciences, the health professions, or for employment in the biotechnology industry.

The Biochemistry and Molecular Biology Major

Note: A grade of C- (1.7) or better is required in each chemistry and biology course applied toward the major.

For the Bachelor of Arts degree

14 units, including
- BIOL 199 Introduction to Biological Thinking
- BIOL 201 Genetics
- BIOL 205 Cell Biology
- CHEM 141 Introductory Chemistry: Structure, Dynamics and Synthesis
- CHEM 205-206 Organic Chemistry
- CHEM 309 Physical Chemistry
- CHEM 322 Junior Seminar or BIOL 387 Biology Seminar
- CHEM 327 Biochemistry with Laboratory
- CHEM 329 Protein Structure, Function and Biophysics
- One course, chosen from
  - BIOL 307 Advanced Cell and Molecular Biology
  - BIOL 313 Bacterial Pathogenesis
  - BIOL 314 Molecular Genetics
  - BIOL 340 Introduction to Immunology
- BIOL 343 Neurobiology
- BIOL 345 Cellular Neurophysiology
- BIOL 352 Evolutionary Developmental Biology
- BIOL 354 Biological Basis of Neurodegenerative Diseases with Laboratory
- Two senior seminars, to include the presentation of a research topic, chosen from
  - CHEM 421 Senior Seminar
  - CHEM 422 Senior Seminar
  - BIOL 391 Honors Seminar I
  - BIOL 392 Honors Seminar II
- MATH 212 or 232 Calculus II
- PHYS 127 or 131 General Physics I
- One unit in physics, chosen from
  - PHYS 132 General Physics II
  - PHYS 133 Atomic and Sub-Atomic Physics
  - PHYS 134 Biological Physics

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the major. Prerequisites do not count toward the major unless otherwise noted.

For the Bachelor of Science degree

The above courses plus one additional approved upper level biology or chemistry elective and at least one unit of research in biology or chemistry or an approved experience that culminates in a written report or poster presentation to give a total of 16 units.

For either of the above degrees

Additional upper-level elective courses in chemistry and biology are highly recommended. Students wishing to double major in biochemistry and molecular biology and either chemistry or biology are required to use upper-level electives for only one degree program or the other. Similarly, upper-level electives cannot be counted for both a major and a minor in either department.

Honors Program

Students are invited to participate in the biochemistry and molecular biology honors program by the program co-coordinators. A student graduating with an honors degree in biochemistry and molecular biology must complete two units of preapproved upper-level elective work in chemistry, biology, or courses approved by the BCMB committee. The student also must fulfill the following research requirements:

- A research proposal to the student's research advisor
- 1.5-2 units of independent research
- A written thesis upon completion of their research that is approved by at least two BCMB program committee members or their designees (one of which must be a BCMB program committee member)
- An oral defense of the thesis

Additionally, students must have a GPA of 3.30 or better in 200-level and above courses towards the major and 3.30 or better overall. The total number of units for honors course work (including formal courses and research) is three.

The Biology Major

Note: The grade point average of the coursework in biology and chemistry must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.7).

For the Bachelor of Science Degree

15 units, including

- BIOL 199 Introduction to Biological Thinking or BIOL 190 Integrated Science/Math/Computer Science 1 with Laboratory
- Conceptual Area 1: Genetics, Cellular and Molecular Biology, one unit chosen from
  - BIOL 201 Genetics
  - BIOL 205 Cell Biology
- Conceptual Area 2: Evolution, Diversity and Ecology, one unit chosen from
  - BIOL 207 Ecology
  - BIOL 225 Evolution
- Conceptual Area 3: Organismal Biology, one unit chosen from
  - BIOL 216 Botany
  - BIOL 217 Integrative Physiology
  - BIOL 229 Microbiology
- Five additional units in biology, including at least four approved courses at the 300 level and four with a lab
- MATH 212 Calculus II or MATH 232 Scientific Calculus II
- CHEM 141 Introductory Chemistry or CHEM 191 Integrated Science/Math/Computer Science 3 with Laboratory
- CHEM 205 Organic Chemistry I
- CHEM 206 Organic Chemistry II
- Quantitative-physical science, two units chosen from:
  - BUAD 301 Statistics for Business and Economics II
  - CMSC 155 Introduction to Scientific Computing
  - CMSC 221 Data Structures with Lab
  - CMSC 222 Discrete Structures for Computing with Lab
  - MATH 119 Statistics for Social and Life Sciences
  - MATH 219 Introduction to the Design of Experiments
  - PHYS 127 General Physics 1 or PHYS 131 General Physics with Calculus I
  - PHYS 128 General Physics 2 or PHYS 132 General Physics with Calculus II or
  - PHYS 133 Atomic and Sub-Atomic Physics or PHYS 134 Biological Physics
  - PSYC 200 Methods and Analyses
Or completion of the Integrated Quantitative Science sequence

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the major/minor. Prerequisites do not count toward the major/minor unless otherwise noted.

For the Bachelor of Arts Degree

12 units, including
- BIOL 199 Introduction to Biological Thinking or BIOL 190 Integrated Science/Math/Computer Science 1 with Laboratory
- Conceptual Area 1: Genetics, Cellular and Molecular Biology, one unit chosen from
  - BIOL 201 Genetics
  - BIOL 205 Cell Biology
- Conceptual Area 2: Evolution, Diversity and Ecology, one unit chosen from
  - BIOL 207 Ecology
  - BIOL 225 Evolution
- Conceptual Area 3: Organismal Biology, one unit chosen from
  - BIOL 216 Botany
  - BIOL 217 Integrative Physiology
  - BIOL 229 Microbiology
- Five additional units in biology, including at least four approved courses at the 300 level and four with a lab
- CHEM 141 Introductory Chemistry
- CHEM 205 Organic Chemistry I
- CHEM 206 Organic Chemistry II

The Biology Minor

6 units, including
- BIOL 199 Introduction to Biological Thinking or BIOL 190 Integrated Science/Math/Computer Science 1 with Laboratory
- Conceptual Area 1: Genetics, Cellular and Molecular Biology, one unit chosen from
  - BIOL 201 Genetics
  - BIOL 205 Cell Biology
- Conceptual Area 2: Evolution, Diversity and Ecology, one unit chosen from
  - BIOL 207 Ecology
  - BIOL 225 Evolution
- Conceptual Area 3: Organismal Biology, one unit chosen from
  - BIOL 216 Botany
  - BIOL 217 Integrative Physiology
  - BIOL 229 Microbiology
- One additional unit with lab in biology, selected from approved 300-level courses
- CHEM 141 Introductory Chemistry or CHEM 191 Integrated Science/Math/Computer Science 3 with Laboratory

Approved Courses for the Biology Major and Minor

All 200- and 300-level courses may be used to meet major or minor requirements with the following exceptions: 260, 350, 370, 371, 387, 388, 389, 391, 392, and 395.

Honors Program
Students invited into the honors program may earn honors in biology by completing the following requirements:

1. a minimum GPA of 3.30 in biology and overall;
2. two units BIOL 395 Honors Research (taken for two semesters at 1 unit per semester);
3. one unit of biology in addition to those already required for the major. A grade of B or above in this course would allow it to count towards the honors degree;
4. BIOL 391 Honors Seminar;
5. BIOL 392 Honors Seminar II; and
6. honors thesis written under the supervision of a research advisor and presented to the department in an oral presentation.

Environmental Studies

Marine and Ecosystem Studies

Opportunities are available to study marine biology or marine and other ecosystems through cooperative agreements with the Duke University Marine Sciences Laboratory (DUML), Beaufort, N.C., and the Marine Biological Laboratory, Woods Hole, Mass., Semester in Environmental Science (MBL-SES). Work taken in the program may be included in the student's University of Richmond curriculum only with the prior approval and under the direction of the Department of Biology. Students interested in this option are encouraged to apply to the department for further information.

Courses

BIOL 100
Biology of Plants
Holistic overview of plant biology including elements of cell biology, biochemistry, biodiversity, morphology, growth and development, physiology, and ecology. Emphasizes direct interaction with live plants in the laboratory, field, and greenhouse integrated with understanding of cellular structures and processes and practice of scientific method. Will not serve as basis for further work in science nor meet entrance requirements for any health profession. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week.
1 Unit(s) (FSNB)

Principles of Evolution
Examines fundamentals of the theory of evolution as an example of how science works and progresses. Consists of three modules. The first module will focus on importance of genetic variation and principles of the evolutionary theory; the second will focus on illustrating how evolutionary theory and evolutionary tree serve as guides in biological research; and the third will focus on principles of human evolution. Will not serve as basis for further work in science nor meet entrance requirements for any health profession. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week.
1 Unit(s) (FSNB)

BIOL 102
Exploring Human Biology
Examination of human biology from perspective of cellular processes, genetics, structure and function of organ systems, and evolution. Application of the scientific method in the laboratory. Will not serve as basis of further work in science nor meet entrance requirements for any health profession. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week.
1 Unit(s)
(FSNB)

BIOL 103
Biology in Popular Culture
Current topics in contemporary biology will be used to introduce students to genetic engineering, stem cells, and the evolution of antibiotic resistance in bacteria. These issues and the impact of this technology will be explored examining their various roles in the medical community and popular culture. Laboratory investigations will emphasize the scientific method allowing for student hypothesis-driven experimentation. Will not serve as basis for further work in science nor meet entrance requirements for any health profession. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week.
1 Unit(s)
(FSNB)

BIOL 104
Biology of Human Development
Focuses on early embryonic development, including fertilization, stem cell formation, organ development, and sex determination. Emphasis on understanding biological principles and social implications of manipulating human development. Will not serve as basis for further work in science nor meet entrance requirements for any health profession. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week.
1 Unit(s)
(FSNB)

BIOL 106
Microbiology: Unseen Life
Introduction to basic concepts needed to understand microorganisms and their impact on our world. Questions addressed include: What is microbial diversity? How do microbes grow? How can we control microbial growth? How can we harness the power of microbial genetics? How do microbes help in food production? What roles do microbes play in the biosphere? How do microbes interact with the human body? Laboratory investigations will utilize the scientific method to allow students to gain insight as to how scientific experiments are performed. Will not serve as basis for further work in science nor meet entrance requirements for any health profession. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week.
1 Unit(s)
(FSNB)

BIOL 107
Human Genetics
Introduction to basic concepts in human genetics and how advances in the field impact health care, biotechnology, public policy, and the law. Topics such as the Human Genome Project, gene therapy, and prenatal testing for genetic disorders will be discussed. Students will gain working knowledge of how scientists think and how they approach research problems. Designed for students with little or no background in biology, chemistry, and mathematics. Will not serve as basis for further work in science nor meet entrance requirements for any health profession. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week.
1 Unit(s)
(FSNB)

BIOL 108
Environmental Biology
Basic ecological principles and selected topics in environmental science, including worldwide impact of growing human population, patterns of energy consumption, and issues of water quality, water management, land use, and biological resources. Application of the scientific method will be incorporated in laboratory component. Will not serve as basis of further work in science nor meet entrance requirements for any health profession. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: High school biology.

BIOL 199
Introduction to Biological Thinking
An introduction to how biologists pose questions, design experiments, analyze data, evaluate evidence, and communicate scientific information. Individual sections will have different topics and formats, but all sections will involve intensive student-directed investigation and include a laboratory component. Required for prospective biology majors. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week.

Genetics
Introductory course addressing theory and use of genetics in the biological sciences. Topics include 1) gene organization and transmission through generations, including Mendelian inheritance, linkage, and mapping; 2) gene function at the molecular level, including physical nature of DNA, transcription, translation, and regulation of gene expression; and 3) genetic analysis of biological processes such as development. Emphasis is on modern genetic techniques and applications. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Biology 199 or permission of instructor, and Chemistry 141. Chemistry 141 may be taken concurrently.

Cell Biology
Introductory course addressing cell structure and function at the molecular level. Major topics include 1) the chemical composition of cells, including the structure and function of proteins, carbohydrates, and lipids; 2) the organization of cells, including organelles and their functions; 3) cellular metabolism, including respiration, fermentation, and photosynthesis; 4) cell-cell interactions and communication, including signaling in nerve and muscle; 5) mitosis, the cell cycle, and cell death. Emphasis on modern cellular and molecular techniques and applications. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Biology 199 or permission of instructor, and Chemistry 141. Chemistry 141 may be taken concurrently.

BIOL 207
Ecology
Examines forces that shape the patterns of species interactions, abundance and distribution. Three lecture and three laboratory hours a week plus overnight field trips. Prerequisite: Biology 199, Environmental Studies 201, or permission of instructor, and Chemistry 141. Chemistry 141 may be taken concurrently.

BIOL 216
Botany
Diversity, structure, growth, physiology, and reproduction of photosynthetic organisms. Three lecture and three laboratory hours a week. Prerequisite: Biology 199 or permission of instructor, and Chemistry 141. Chemistry 141 may be taken concurrently.

BIOL 217
Integrative Physiology
Examines the integration of physiological processes in plants and animals, from the level of the genes, cells, organs, systems, whole organisms, and environment. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Biology 199 or permission of instructor, and Chemistry 141. Chemistry 141 may be taken concurrently.

Analysis of molecular mechanisms by which cells interact with each other and the environment. Topics include signal transduction, cell cycle regulation, and molecular models of cancer and microbial pathogenesis. Three lecture hours per week. Prerequisite: Biology 205.
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 308
Comparative Vertebrate Anatomy
Comparative anatomy and biology of several systems of organs of representative vertebrates in an evolutionary context. Two lecture and four laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Biology 199.
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 309
Invertebrate Zoology
Comprehensive study of systematic, morphology, physiology, development, behavior, and ecology of invertebrates, the most abundant animals on the planet. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week plus field trips. Prerequisite: Biology 199.
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 311
Microanatomy
Microscopic structures and functions of vertebrate tissues and organs. Laboratory emphasizes quantitative light and electron microscopy and computer-assisted image analysis. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Biology 205 and 216 or 217.
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 312
Developmental Biology
Development of animals, concentrating on fertilization and early embryonic development. Emphasizes mechanisms of cell differentiation and pattern formation. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Biology 201 and 205.
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 313
Microbial Pathogenesis
Exploration of the general mechanisms used by pathogens to cause disease. Topics include entry into the host, attachment to and invasion of host cells, cell and tissue damage, and microbial elimination/dissemination, as well as the techniques used to study these processes. Students will examine these topics in detail in context of several specific pathogens to more thoroughly appreciate the clinical disease that results from infection. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Biology 205 or 229.
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 314
Molecular Genetics
Examination of experimental underpinnings of knowledge about gene transmission and function through critical analysis of key papers. Lab projects focus on developing skill in posing problems that can be addressed experimentally. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Biology 201.
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 316
Biological Imaging
Laboratory based course in the theory and practice of techniques used to study biological structures. Combines instruction in specimen preparation, light and electron microscopy, and digital image analysis. Will be useful to students who plan to do independent research in cell, molecular, or organismal biology. Prerequisite: Biology 199 or 190.
1 Unit(s)
BIOL 325
Molecular Evolution
Introduction to molecular evolution with focus on genome structure, mutation selection and random genetic drift at molecular level. Evolution by gene duplication, exon shuffling and transposition. Lab focuses on cloning and recombinant DNA techniques. Strong lab component, two lecture and four laboratory hours per week.
Prerequisite: Biology 199.

BIOL 326
Biochemistry
(See Chemistry 326.) Prerequisite: Chemistry 206.
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 328
Vertebrate Zoology
Comprehensive survey of vertebrate classes emphasizing phylogenetic theory, natural history, behavior, and ecology. Two lecture and four laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Biology 199.
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 332
Tropical Marine Biology
Introduction to marine biology and other oceanographic disciplines using tropical marine habitats as specific examples. Three lecture hours per week and laboratory portion composed of field trips and exercises including spring break field experience in Caribbean (extra fee required). Prerequisite: Biology 207 or 225.
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 333
Microbial Ecology
Community dynamics play an important role in organismal interactions. Examines the role of microorganisms in terrestrial, freshwater, and marine habitats, as well as animal-plant systems. The laboratory will emphasize molecular techniques used to study microorganisms in situ and includes independent research project. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Biology 201, 205, 207, 216, 217, 225, or 229.
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 334
Oceanography
Integrated introduction to biological, geological, chemical, and physical oceanography. Multidisciplinary approach to ocean processes. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week, plus field trips. Prerequisite: Biology 201, 205, 207, 216, 217, 225, or 229.
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 338
Comparative Animal Physiology
Introduction to major characteristics of animal function at level of whole organism and component structures and organ systems. Emphasis on physiological function and processes related to survival in natural environment. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Biology 201 or 205 and 217.
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 339
Physiology of Marine Organisms
Physiological adaptations, including osmoregulation, respiration, diving physiology, and temperature regulation of organisms to marine environments, such as estuaries, the open ocean, and deep sea. Three lecture hours per week. Prerequisite: Biology 217.
1 Unit(s)
BIOL 340
Introduction to Immunology
Overview of immunology. Current theories and their explanation of pertinent contemporary issues included. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Biology 205.
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 341
Animal Physiological Ecology
Introduction to animal physiological adaptation to the natural environment. Emphasis will be on physiological responses of animals to both biotic and abiotic factors and interaction with ecology and population dynamics of species. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Biology 217.
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 343
Neurobiology
Broad course focusing on study of neurons and neuronal systems. Topics to be explored include the neuron and its mechanisms for the transmission of signals, neuronal organization, sensory perception, integration, behavioral output, development, and basic neurogenetics. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Biology 205 or 217.
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 344
Behavioral Ecology
Introduction to analysis of behavior of organisms, including humans, by study of how behavior affects survival and reproduction. Behaviors studied include foraging, aggression, cooperation, and reproduction. Verbal, graphical, and mathematical models to describe and predict behavior are studied and tested. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week; may include overnight field trips. Prerequisite: Biology 201, 205, 207, 216, 217, 225, or 229
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 345
Cellular Neurophysiology
The study of how nerve cells generate electrical excitability and use changes in excitability to communicate information in the nervous system. The basic principles of how ion channels and receptors operate will be studied and applied to their physiological function in nerve cells including networks of nerve cells and nerve-muscle communication. The key principles of channel and receptor function will be determined by students in laboratory exercises using contemporary electrophysiological instrumentation. Advanced topics such as the modulation of channel and receptor function, disease-causing mutations, and the molecular mechanisms of synaptic plasticity will also be studied. The course culminates in student-led investigations of a special topic, designed and completed by research teams. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Biology 205.
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 346
Medical Entomology
Introduces students to biology of medically important arthropods, life cycles of transmitted pathogens, disease symptoms and epidemiology. Discusses the economic and social impact of these arthropods and strategies for their control; covers unorthodox points of intersection between entomology and medical sciences, including psychiatry, surgery and forensic medicine. Prerequisite: Biology 205 and 217.
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 350
Undergraduate Research
Independent research conducted with faculty supervision. May be repeated eight times for credit. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.
.5 Unit(s)
BIOL 351
Special Topics
Special course areas covered when sufficient interest exists. Considers subject matter not covered in other biology courses. Prerequisite: Biology 199.
.5-1 Unit(s)

BIOL 352
Evolutionary Developmental Biology
Study of how evolution occurs through inherited changes during the embryonic development of organisms. The genetic basis of animal diversity will be studied by examining conserved molecular, cellular, and developmental processes. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Biology 201.
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 354
Biological Basis of Neurodegenerative Diseases with Laboratory
Examines the biological mechanisms that underlie human neurodegenerative diseases. Also examines the genetic, molecular, and cellular mechanisms of diseases like Alzheimer, Huntington, and Parkinson diseases by discovering how normal biological processes fail and lead to neuronal death. Also examines the biological basis of potential cures. Prerequisite: Biology 201 or 205
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 360
Environmental Remote Sensing
(See Environmental Studies 360.)
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 370
Women in Science
Critical analysis of involvement of women in science, including the history of participation of women in science; trends and barriers to full participation in science, including real and perceived differences in the biology of the scientist; objectivity/subjectivity in science; and feminist analyses of science. Continuing dialogue on how science is done and impact that feminist scholarship has had on this dialogue. Class research project will be conducted. Three lecture hours per week. Prerequisite: Students must have fulfilled their Fields of Study-Natural Science requirement or have permission from the instructor.
1 Unit(s)
(FSSA)

BIOL 380
Philosophical Issues in Evolutionary Biology
Philosophical problems within evolutionary biology and its influence on society. Issues studied include how natural selection works, evolution and human behaviors, and the influence of evolutionary theory on our ethical and legal codes. Lecture/seminar format, with student presentations and term paper. Three lecture hours per week. Prerequisite: Biology 207 or 225.
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 383
Tropical Biology and Conservation
Introduction to principles of tropical biology and conservation, including historical and economic components. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Biology 199.
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 384
Eukaryotic Genetics
Principles underlying gene expression in higher eukaryotes, examined through selected genetic pathologies. The course seeks to increase students' facility in making creative use of the primary scientific literature. Three lecture hours per week. Prerequisite: Biology 201.
1 Unit(s)

BIOL 387
Biology Seminar
Regular attendance in program seminars and written analysis of presentations. May be repeated for credit, normally taken in junior year. Meets one hour per week. Prerequisite: Instructor approval
.25 Unit(s)

BIOL 388
Individual Internship
Supervised independent work under field conditions. Designed to give student applied experience in biological specialty. No more than 1.5 units of internship in any one department and 3.5 units of internship overall may be counted toward required degree units. Prerequisite: Biology, biochemistry and molecular biology, or environmental studies major at junior or senior rank.
.5 Unit(s)

BIOL 389
Independent Study
An in-depth study of biological topics not included in other courses. Students work independently, but under the supervision of a faculty member. Must be approved by department chair and instructor. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.
.25-1 Unit(s)

BIOL 391
Honors Seminar I
Special topics for junior and senior students with emphasis on topics presented in the Biology Seminar Series. One lecture hour per week. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.
.25 Unit(s)

BIOL 392
Honors Seminar II
Special topics for junior and senior honors candidates. One lecture hour per week. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.
.25 Unit(s)

BIOL 395
Honors Research
Laboratory or field-centered independent study. May be taken twice for credit. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.

The Chemistry Major

Note: A grade of not less than C- (1.7) is required in each chemistry course applied to the major.

For the Bachelor of Arts degree

12 units, including
- CHEM 141 Introductory Chemistry: Structure, Dynamics and Synthesis
- CHEM 205-206 Organic Chemistry
- CHEM 300 Measurement Statistics
- CHEM 301 Quantitative Methods of Chemical Analysis
- CHEM 309 or CHEM 310 Physical Chemistry
- CHEM 317 Inorganic Chemistry
- CHEM 322 Junior Seminar
- CHEM 421-422 Senior Seminar
- One additional 1-unit upper-level course in chemistry (other than CHEM 320)
- MATH 212 or 232 Calculus II or Scientific Calculus II
- PHYS 127 or 131 General Physics I
- One unit in physics, chosen from
  - PHYS 132 General Physics II
  - PHYS 133 Atomic and Subatomic Physics
  - PHYS 134 Biological Physics

Participation in undergraduate research is encouraged as an important part of the program.

For the Bachelor of Science degree

14.5 units, including
- CHEM 141 Introductory Chemistry: Structure, Dynamics and Synthesis
- CHEM 205-206 Organic Chemistry
- CHEM 300 Measurement Statistics
- CHEM 301 Quantitative Methods of Chemical Analysis
- CHEM 309-310 Physical Chemistry
- CHEM 317 Inorganic Chemistry
- CHEM 322 Junior Seminar
- CHEM 421-422 Senior Seminar
• One additional 1-unit upper-level course in chemistry (other than CHEM 320)
• One unit in an approved research experience (CHEM 320) that culminates in a written report or poster presentation
• MATH 212 or 232 Calculus II or Scientific Calculus II
• PHYS 127 or 131 General Physics I
• One unit in physics, chosen from
  o PHYS 132 General Physics II
  o PHYS 133 Atomic and Subatomic Physics
  o PHYS 134 Biological Physics

And for either of the above degrees

Additional upper-level elective courses in chemistry and two full years of either biology or physics are highly recommended.

Certifications in the Chemistry Major

Certifications by the department, based on American Chemical Society specifications, require:

For chemistry

The Bachelor of Science degree in chemistry with the addition of CHEM 326 or 327. Note that CHEM 326 or 327 is in addition to, not in place of, the upper-level elective required for the Bachelor of Science degree in chemistry. In addition, a written research report must be submitted to the chemistry department and approved by at least two chemistry faculty members or their designees.

For chemistry/biochemistry

The Bachelor of Science degree in chemistry with the addition of CHEM 327 and 329 and one non introductory biology elective which contains cell biology, microbiology, or genetics. Note that CHEM 327 and 329 are in place of, not in addition to, the upper-level elective required for the Bachelor of Science degree in chemistry. In addition, a written research report must be submitted to the chemistry department and approved by at least two chemistry faculty members or their designees.

The completion of the Bachelor of Science degree in biochemistry and molecular biology and CHEM 300, 301, 310, and 317 also meets the certification requirements. Note that CHEM 300, 301, 310, and 317 are in place of, not in addition to, the upper-level elective required for the Bachelor of Science degree in biochemistry and molecular biology. In addition, a written research report must be submitted to the chemistry department and approved by at least two chemistry faculty members or their designees.

Honors Program

Departmental honors in chemistry requires 1) a GPA of 3.3 overall and in the major; 2) completion of the Bachelor of Science degree in chemistry with the addition of CHEM 326 (or 327) and an additional 1 unit (for at least 2 units total) of an approved research experience; and 3) a research thesis turned in to the honors coordinator and approved by at least two chemistry faculty members or their designees. (Note that CHEM 326 (or 327) is in addition to, not in place of, the upper-level elective required for the Bachelor of Science degree in chemistry.)

To obtain honors in chemistry, a student must apply to the University honors program. An application can be submitted through the chemistry honors coordinator after a student has completed 18.5 units total coursework and 3.5 units in chemistry past CHEM 141.
The Chemistry Minor

Note: A grade of not less than C- (1.7) is required in each course in the minor.

7 units, including
- CHEM 141 Introductory Chemistry: Structure, Dynamics and Synthesis
- CHEM 205-206 Organic Chemistry
- CHEM 300-301 or 302 Measurement Statistics-Quantitative Methods of Chemical Analysis or Spectroscopy and Instrumentation
- CHEM 317 Inorganic Chemistry
- One additional one-unit upper-level course in chemistry (other than CHEM 320)

Cooperative Program

Engineering Opportunities for University of Richmond students at Virginia Commonwealth University

A fundamental understanding of chemistry, physics, and biology coupled with problem-solving and analytical skills in chemical and life science engineering represents a unique opportunity to position students for broad employment opportunities in chemical process technology and in the rapidly growing areas of biotechnology, bioengineering, and nanoscience. Toward this end, opportunities have been created for University of Richmond students who seek the advantages of a liberal arts education coupled with a strong background in the fundamentals of engineering.

A sequence of four courses offered in the School of Engineering at Virginia Commonwealth University has been approved for University of Richmond students. The requisite math background for this core and for easy transfer into the VCU M.S. program upon graduation is three semesters of calculus and one semester each of differential equations and statistics (which may be satisfied with CHEM 300). A course in computer programming is also required.

The core courses taken at VCU are
- CLSE 201 Material Balances ( )
- CLSE 202 Energy Balances and Engineering Thermodynamics ( )
- CLSE 301 Transport Phenomena I ( )
- CLSE 305 Thermodynamics of Phase Equilibria and Chemical Reactions ( )

The core courses listed above will be accepted as transfer credit. Up to one unit will count as required elective credit within the chemistry major. For a Richmond student to qualify, the following criteria would have to be met:

- Junior or senior standing at Richmond
- Enrollment in at least 3.5 units at Richmond during each term coursework is taken at VCU
- Minimum GPA of 3.00 at Richmond
- Enrollment in no more than one course at VCU in any given semester
- Prerequisites for elective courses must be completed
- Payment of any lab fees required by VCU
- Acceptance by the School of Engineering at VCU
- Student's registration must be approved in advance by VCU registrar (case-by-case approval)

Related Major

Biochemistry and molecular biology program
Courses

CHEM 110
Pollutants in the Environment
Sources, behavior, and effects of chemical pollutants in the air, water, and soil. Topics include global warming, ozone depletion, acid rain, pesticides, and radioactive waste. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week. Does not count toward the chemistry major or minor. Prerequisite: None (high school chemistry desirable).
1 Unit(s)
(FSNC)

CHEM 111
Chemistry Detectives: Solving Real-World Puzzles
A laboratory-based course in which students learn the language and techniques used in industrial and forensic laboratories to conduct organic chemical analysis. Students become "chemistry detectives," able to solve the types of "chemistry puzzles" that are characteristic of the fun part of doing chemistry (e.g. how chemists, such as forensic and pharmaceutical chemists, determine the structure of real-world unknown compounds). A range of applications of this chemistry is discussed, including such topics as environmental, medicinal, polymer, forensic and industrial chemistries, government regulations, natural products, pheromones, and information retrieval. In the process, students will gain hands-on experience using modern instrumentation, including IR, NMR, GC-Mass Spec, and UV-Visible spectroscopy. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week. Does not count toward the chemistry major or minor. Prerequisite: High school chemistry or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)
(FSNC)

CHEM 112
Biochemistry in the Real World
The genomics revolution of the last 10 years has given birth to the "proteome," emphasizing the central role that proteins play in virtually all life and death processes. This course will explore central features of what proteins look like and how they perform their varied functions in a variety of biological and chemical processes. These will include aspects of cell differentiation, cell death, and disease states such as cancer, Alzheimer's, and viral infections by Epstein-Barr virus, papillomavirus, and AIDS. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week. Does not count toward the chemistry major or minor.
1 Unit(s)
(FSNC)

CHEM 113
Catching Criminals with Chemistry
Investigation of how chemistry can be applied to solving crimes. The nature of physical evidence will be discussed, along with the chemical techniques used to gather and analyze that evidence. The course will also introduce students to the legal aspects surrounding the introduction of evidence into a court of law, thus providing an interdisciplinary focus for those interested in science and law. By combining case studies with applicable technology, students will gain a heightened understanding of the important roles that chemistry plays in forensic science. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week. This course does not count towards the chem major or minor.
1 Unit(s)
(FSNC)

CHEM 141
Introductory Chemistry: Structure, Dynamics and Synthesis
Fundamental principles of chemistry, including atomic and molecular structure, bonding, periodicity; chemical reactions, including stoichiometry, acid base chemistry, oxidation-reduction; and an introduction to kinetics and thermodynamics, chemical reactions and, equilibria. Introductory course for science majors and those pursuing degrees in the health sciences. It is a prerequisite for upper-level courses. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week. Previous knowledge of chemistry is helpful but not assumed.
1 Unit(s)
(FSNC)
CHEM 191
Integrated Science/Math/Computer Science 3 with Laboratory
One of two courses taught spring semester as part of Integrated Quantitative Science program. Will integrate topics from Biology, Chemistry, Physics, Math and Computer Science and will include instructors from all five disciplines. Each semester of the course will be organized around a guiding principle that integrates several concepts. Along with co-requisite, will include ten hours for lecture and lab combination. Prerequisite: High school calculus. Biology 190 and Math 190. Co-requisite: Physics 191. Acceptance to Intergrative Quantitative Science course required.
1 Unit(s)

CHEM 205-206
Organic Chemistry
Chemistry of compounds of carbon, which is fundamental to understanding of both chemistry and biology. Nomenclature, structure-physical property relationships, reactions, reaction mechanisms, spectroscopy and introduction to macromolecules, including those of biological significance. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Chemistry 141 or 191. Chemistry 205 is prerequisite to 206.
1-1 Unit(s)

CHEM 220
Projects
Laboratory experience with a faculty member.
.25-.5 Unit(s)

CHEM 300
Measurement Statistics
Overview of statistics of measurements on chemical systems. Includes characteristics of data which contain random error. Statistics used to describe and summarize trends of measured data will be introduced, as well as a number of statistical tools needed to draw meaningful and objective conclusions based on data. Should be taken simultaneously with, or prior to, Chemistry 301. Two lecture and one laboratory hour per week for the first seven weeks in a semester.
.5 Unit(s)

CHEM 301
Quantitative Methods of Chemical Analysis
Principles and techniques of chemical and instrumental methods used for quantitative analysis. Includes lecture coverage and extensive laboratory use of gravimetric, titrimetric, electrochemical, and spectroscopic methods. Three lecture and four laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Chemistry 300 and 317. Chemistry 300 may be taken concurrently.
1.5 Unit(s)

CHEM 302
Spectroscopy and Instrumentation
Principles and techniques of chemical and instrumental methods used for compound identification. Focus on modern instrumental methods for compound structure elucidation and the principles underlying both the spectroscopic methods and the instrumentation itself. Three lecture and four laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Chemistry 206.
1.5 Unit(s)

CHEM 303
Separations
Principles, theory, and techniques central to chemical separation sciences--both classical and instrumental methods used for compound separation and purification, as well as factors important to industrial scalability versus nanoscale applications. Focus on modern theories and implementations of instrumental methods for compound separations and principles underlying instrumentation. Three to four hours of lecture and/or laboratory per week. Prerequisite: Chemistry 301 or 302.
CHEM 308
Statistical Mechanics
(See Physics 308.)
1 Unit(s)

CHEM 309-310
Physical Chemistry
Principal laws and theories of chemistry: gas laws and kinetic molecular theory, classical and statistical thermodynamics, wave mechanics and molecular structure, and chemical kinetics. Principles and properties of liquids, solids and solutions, and phase equilibria are examined along with electrochemistry. Three lecture and four laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Chemistry 141 or 191; Physics 132, 133, or 134; and Mathematics 212 or 232. Chemistry 317 is highly recommended.
1.5-1.5 Unit(s)

CHEM 311
Theoretical and Computational Chemistry
Involves the fundamental study of the structure, energetics, and behavior of molecular systems using tools from mathematics, physics, chemistry, and biology as implemented on a computer. Will cover the basics of the field including, but not limited to, molecular mechanics, quantum mechanics, hybrid methods, and docking. These tools can be applied to problems in drug design, protein folding, reaction mechanisms, and prediction of molecular phenomenon, to name a few. Prerequisite: Chemistry 141 and Mathematics 212 or 232
1 Unit(s)

CHEM 316
Environmental Chemistry
Study of the fate, transport, and distribution of chemicals in the environment. The chemistry of the atmosphere, hydrosphere, and geosphere will be covered, highlighting effects of inorganic and organic pollutants. Topics such as global warming, stratospheric ozone depletion, acid rain, photochemical smog, and groundwater contamination will be discussed in detail. Three lecture hours per week. Prerequisite: Chemistry 205 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

CHEM 317
Inorganic Chemistry
Inorganic chemistry embraces the chemistry of all of the elements. This course will focus on the synthesis and behavior of inorganic materials. As such, it will include certain aspects of thermodynamics, atomic and molecular bonding theories, kinetics, and electrochemical processes as they pertain to inorganic compounds and materials. Three lecture and four laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Chemistry 206.
1 Unit(s)

CHEM 320
Introduction to Research
Laboratory research experience with a faculty member.
.5-1 Unit(s)

Junior Seminar
Regular attendance in departmental seminar program. Normally taken in the junior year. One class hour per week. Prerequisite: Chemistry 206.
0 Unit(s)

CHEM 326
Biochemistry
Structure and chemistry of biologically important macromolecules and chemical processes involved in cellular synthesis degradation, and assembly of these macromolecules. Three lecture hours and an extra experience per week. (Same as Biology 326.) Prerequisite: Chemistry 206.
1 Unit(s)

CHEM 327
Biochemistry with Laboratory
Structure and chemistry of biologically important macromolecules and chemical processes involved in cellular synthesis degradation, and assembly of these macromolecules. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week.
Prerequisite: Chemistry 206.
1 Unit(s)

CHEM 329
Protein Structure, Function and Biophysics
Advanced topics in protein structure, function, and biophysics. Commences with brief treatment of essential elements of kinetics, thermodynamics, and quantum mechanics necessary for a thorough understanding of topics to be presented later and continues with detailed coverage of enzyme kinetics and ligand binding, chemical modification, site-directed mutagenesis, x-ray crystallography, spectroscopic techniques used to investigate conformation, and the folding of proteins, including Circular Dichroism, Fluorescence and NMR; and computational approaches used to compute and visualize both structure and reaction. Second half of course focuses on three classes of proteins and associated themes: 1) kinases, phosphatases, and regulation, 2) proteases and processes and 3) oligomeric enzymes and allosteric models. Three lecture and three laboratory hours per week.
Prerequisite: Chemistry/Biology 326 or Chemistry 327.
1 Unit(s)

CHEM 330
Special Topics in Biochemistry
Special course areas in biochemistry will be covered when sufficient interest exists. Considers subject matter not covered in other chemistry courses. See the chemistry or biochemistry and molecular biology department home pages for special topics currently scheduled.
Prerequisite: Chemistry 326, Biology 201, or 205.
.5-1 Unit(s)

CHEM 332
Molecular Spectroscopy
Covers the major forms of molecular spectroscopy including vibrational-rotational spectroscopy of diatomic molecules, rotational spectroscopies of polyatomic molecules, vibration of polyatomic molecules, electronic spectroscopy and nuclear magnetic spectroscopy. Particular attention will be paid to the quantum mechanical theory of each of these forms of spectroscopy, especially time-dependent perturbation theoretical approaches. In addition, emphasis will be placed on the full range of structural and dynamical information that can be extracted from each type of spectrum. Prerequisite: Chemistry 310.
1 Unit(s)

CHEM 342
Medicinal Chemistry
Provides basic principles of the drug discovery process. Topics include general considerations, mode of action, quantitative structure activity relationships, absorption, distribution, metabolism, and inactivation of medicinal agents. In addition, major drug classes will be presented along with specific case studies for each category. Three lecture hours per week. Prerequisite: Chemistry 206.
1 Unit(s)

CHEM 343
Physical Organic Chemistry and Catalysis
Topics may include physical organic chemistry concepts, the development of catalysts for organic reactions, stereochemically controlled reactions, and the application of inorganic chemistry to organic reactions. Three lecture hours per week. Prerequisite: Chemistry 206 and 317.
.5-1 Unit(s)
CHEM 344
Organic Synthesis
Topics may include modern synthetic methods, organic reaction mechanisms, examples of syntheses from recent literature, and the design of synthetic approaches to target molecules of interest. Three lecture hours per week. Prerequisite: Chemistry 206.
.5-1 Unit(s)

CHEM 401-402
Quantum Mechanics
(See Physics 309-310.)
1-1 Unit(s)

CHEM 417
Organometallic Chemistry
Overview of the structure, reactivity, and applications of organometallic compounds. Topics include main group and transition metal complexes, catalysis, applications to organic synthesis, and bioorganometallic chemistry. Three lecture hours per week. Prerequisite: Chemistry 317 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

CHEM 419
Advanced Inorganic Chemistry
Study of principles of chemistry involved in bonding, structure, properties and reactions of main group transition metal, coordination and organometallic compounds with emphasis on periodic trends, thermodynamic, and kinetic factors and symmetry. Three lecture hours per week. Prerequisite: Chemistry 309 and 317 (309 may be taken concurrently).
1 Unit(s)

CHEM 421-422
Senior Seminar
Participation in departmental seminar program, to include regular attendance and one presentation during one of the two semesters. Presentation will include both written and oral component, each prepared on specific topic in chemistry. One class hour per week. Prerequisite: Chemistry 322. 421 is a prerequisite for 422.
0 (421)-.5 (422) Unit(s)

CHEM 427
Independent Study
In-depth exploration of subjects not included in other courses, done independently but under faculty member's supervision. Prerequisite: Four semesters of chemistry and permission of instructor.
.25-1 Unit(s)

CHEM 433
Special Topics
Special course areas covered when sufficient interest exists. Considers subject matter not covered in other chemistry courses. See chemistry department home page (chemistry.richmond.edu) for special topics currently scheduled. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.

Chinese Studies Program

Department of Modern Literatures and Cultures

Kun Qian, Section Coordinator
Director of Intensive Language Program Tai

This section contains information specific to the degree program in Chinese Studies. For full information regarding departmental policies relevant to all the modern literatures and cultures (MLC) degree programs, study abroad, and course sequencing, see the main page of the Department of Modern Literatures and Cultures.

Study Abroad

Study and travel abroad are strongly encouraged for all students. For students of Chinese, the department offers a summer study program in China. Options for study during the academic year in Chinese-speaking countries are also available. For a complete list, contact the Office of International Education.

The Chinese Studies Major

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the minor must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.7).

9 courses including:

- Five courses chosen from the following, one of which must be a 400-level course:

  CHIN 301 Advanced Intermediate Chinese
  CHIN 302 Conversational Chinese
  CHIN 311 Insights into Chinese Culture (summer only)
  CHIN 401 Crossing Cultural Boundaries
  CHIN 402 Advanced Syntax and Composition
  CHIN 410 Business Chinese
  CHIN 497 Selected Topics

- Four courses chosen from the list below with LAC in Chinese

  MLC 225 Chinese Culture and Civilization
  MLC 323 Hero, Talent, and Beauty: Classical Chinese Narrative
  MLC 325 Representing the Chinese Empire
  MLC 355 Chinese Cinema
  HIST 250 Modern East Asia 1600-1960
  HIST 251 Chinese Revolutions
  HIST 252 China Modern: 1900-1940
  HIST 341 History and Memory: WWII in East Asia
  PLSC 345 Politics of China, Hong Kong, and Taiwan
  PLSC 357 International Relations of East Asia
  PLSC 358 The United States and the Pacific Rim
  RELG 255 Queers in Religion
  RELG 253 Body/Sex in World Religious Literature
  RELG 355 Daoism
• Students MUST complete an approved study abroad experience as part of the Chinese Studies major. The study abroad experience can be fulfilled through a summer study abroad program associated with the University of Richmond, or other summer or semester programs in Chinese universities approved by the Chinese Studies faculty.
• Students must take one 400-level course in Chinese at the University of Richmond after they return from abroad.
• Students can transfer up to three courses to fulfill their Chinese Studies major requirements.

Cross-School Major in Chinese Studies and International Business

(Earned in conjunction with a major in the Robins School of Business with an international business concentration.)

9 courses and an interdisciplinary research project (IDST 379), in addition to completing all requirements of the international business concentration for the business administration major, including:

• CHIN 410: Business Chinese, and
• FOUR courses at the 300-level or above, chosen from

CHIN 301 Advanced Intermediate Chinese
CHIN 302 Conversational Chinese
CHIN 311 Insights into Chinese Culture
CHIN 401 Crossing Cultural Boundaries
CHIN 402 Advanced Syntax and Composition
CHIN 497 Selected Topics

• One semester full-time study in China or Taiwan at an approved university

The cross-school major in Chinese Studies and International Business represents a collaborative project between the Department of Modern Literatures and Cultures and the International Business Program in the Robins School of Business. Designated faculty members from each program will advise students upon declaration and as they progress through the major. The curriculum includes a semester abroad at one of the University's partner institutions (for example, Tsinghua University in Beijing or National Chengchi University in Taiwan). There, students will continue their course work in Chinese Studies and business in classes with both local and other international students.

To prepare for the experience abroad, students must have taken CHIN 202 or the equivalent. Upon returning to the University of Richmond, they will broaden their knowledge of literary and cultural studies through advanced seminars as well as additional Robins School of Business coursework. The Chinese component of this program thus consists of five courses at the 300-level or above taken on campus plus four courses taken abroad, or the equivalent of a nine-course major in MLC.

The Chinese Studies Minor

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the minor must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.7).

5 courses (must include an approved study abroad experience), including

• Four courses in Chinese at the 300 level or above
• One elective from the list below with LAC in Chinese or a 400-level course in Chinese:

HIST 250 Modern East Asia 1600-1960
HIST 251 Chinese Revolutions
HIST 252 China Modern: 1900-1940
HIST 341 History and Memory: WWII in East Asia
MLC 225 Chinese Culture and Civilization
MLC 323 Hero, Talent, and Beauty: Classical Chinese Narrative
MLC 325 Representing the Chinese Empire
MLC 355 Chinese Cinema
PLSC 345 Politics of China, Hong Kong, and Taiwan
PLSC 357 International Relations of East Asia
PLSC 358 The United States and the Pacific Rim
RELG 355 Selected Asian Religions

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the minor. Prerequisites do not count toward the minor unless otherwise noted. Minors must take at least one 400-level class on campus after studying abroad, regardless of whether or not they have sufficient credits to fulfill the minor requirements.

Classical Studies

Department of Classical Studies

Dean Simpson, Chair
Professor Simpson
Associate Professors Laskaris, Stevenson
Assistant Professor Baughan

The Department of Classical Studies offers majors and minors in classical civilization, Greek language and literature and Latin language and literature.

The Department of Classical Studies also offers three combined majors with the English department. The combined programs in classics and English, Greek and English, and Latin and English are intended for students who wish to pursue in-depth work in both the classical and the English literary traditions.

The Classical Civilization Major

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the major must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.7).

9 units, including
CLSC 305 Greek and Roman Values or CLSC 306 The Classical Tradition
CLCV 498 Major Seminar
Seven units selected from courses offered by the Department of Classical Studies or approved courses in related fields

The Classical Civilization Minor

Note: No course grade below C- (1.7) will count toward the minor.

Five units selected from courses offered by the Department of Classical Studies (excluding courses in Greek and Latin) or approved courses in related fields, of which three must be in the Department of Classical Studies.

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the major or minor. Prerequisites do not count toward the major or minor unless otherwise noted.

Cognitive Science

L. Elizabeth Crawford, Coordinator (Psychology)

Cognitive science is the interdisciplinary study of the structures and functions of the human mind. Cognitive science investigates such topics as our sensory/perceptual apparatus, including vision, audition, olfaction; internal mental processes such as language, thinking, reasoning, and problem solving; motor control and the organization of skilled behavior such as speech and musical performance; memory; consciousness; attention; and many other aspects of the human mind. Cognitive science requires a multi-disciplinary approach and includes such fields as psychology, biology, neuroscience, philosophy, anthropology, linguistics, sociology, and computer science.

The cognitive science major is offered as a Bachelor of Arts degree only.

The Cognitive Science Major

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the major must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.70).

12 units, including

- PSYC 100 Introduction to Psychological Science
- PSYC 200 Methods and Analyses
- PSYC 331 Neuroscience
- PSYC 333 Cognitive Science
- PSYC 341 Cognitive Neuroscience
- Two additional foundation courses chosen from
  - BIOL 201 Genetics
  - MLC 350 Linguistics
  - CMSC 101 Minds and Machines
  - CMSC 150 Introduction to Computing or CMSC 155 Introduction to Scientific
  - PHIL 370 Philosophy of Mind
- One advanced senior-level course chosen from
  - BIOL 391 Senior Seminar
  - CMSC 395 Artificial Intelligence
  - PHIL 380 Topics Seminar (subject to approval of cognitive science coordinator)
  - PSYC 449 Advanced Seminar
- Four electives chosen from
  - ANTH 101 Introduction to Cultural Anthropology
  - BIOL 343 Neurobiology
  - BIOL 350 Independent Research
  - CMSC 221 Data Structures
  - CMSC 301 Computer Organizations
  - CMSC 340 Independent Research
  - PHIL 251 Symbolic Logic
  - PHIL 390 Independent Research
  - PSYC 361 Independent Research
  - PSYC 449 Advanced Seminar

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the major. Prerequisites do not count toward the major unless otherwise noted.
Combined Majors

Designated faculty members from each department will advise students upon declaration and as they progress through the major.

The combined majors offer options for students who want to combine in-depth study in two different areas.

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the major. Prerequisites do not count toward the major unless otherwise noted.

English/Classical Studies

Note: A grade of C (2.0) is required in all coursework comprising the major.

15.5 units, including

- Eight courses in Classics, to include
  - CLSC 305 Greek and Roman Values or 306 The Classical Tradition
  - CLSC 205 Greek and Roman Mythology: Epic
  - CLSC 208 Mythology: Greek Drama
  - Two other literature classes in classics (may include language classes at the 200 level or higher)
  - A minimum of three other classics department courses

- Seven courses in English, to include
  - ENGL 297 Literature in Context: Genre and Mode
  - ENGL 298 Literature in Context: Texts in History
  - One 300-level course from Group A (literature before the early to mid-19th century)
  - One 300-level course from Group B (literature after the early to mid-19th century)
  - Two additional courses at the 300 level
  - ENGL 400 Junior/Senior Seminar

- IDST 379 Combined Major Portfolio/Project
  - A senior writing project (taken for one half unit as IDST 379) on a comparative topic dealing with literatures in Latin or Greek and English will be required. The paper must be 20-30 pages long and will make significant use of primary and secondary sources. The writing project will have two advisors, one from the English department and one from the classics department. By the beginning of senior year, the student should designate one of the advisors as the primary advisor, and this advisor will have primary responsibility for determining the student's grade on the writing project. If there is sharp disagreement between the two advisors over the final grade, the primary advisor's departmental chairperson will appoint a third reader/grader, whose decision will break the deadlock between the first and second advisors.

English/French

Note: A grade of C (2.0) is required in all coursework comprising the major.

14 courses and a senior project to be distributed as follows:

- Seven courses in French, to include
  - FREN 305 Writing in French through Culture and Literature
  - Three courses selected from FREN 320 Literature in Context; FREN 324 Francophone Cultures and Literatures; FREN 325 Medieval and Early Modern Society; FREN 326 Revolution in France; FREN 327 The Question of Modernity
  - Three 400-level courses in literature/culture

- Seven courses in English, to include
  - ENGL 297 Literature in Context: Genre and Mode
ENGL 298 Literature in Context: Texts in History
- One 300-level course from Group A (literature before the early to mid-19th century)
- One 300-level course from Group B (literature after the early to mid-19th century)
- Two additional courses at the 300 level
- ENGL 400 Junior/Senior Seminar

IDST 379 Combined Major Portfolio/Project
- A senior writing project (taken for one half unit as IDST 379) on a comparative topic dealing with literatures in English and in French, 20-30 pages, written in English or in French, making significant use of primary and secondary materials in both languages, conducted through independent study.

Designated faculty members from each department will advise students upon declaration and as they progress through the major. Study abroad in a French-speaking country is very strongly recommended.

English/German

Note: A grade of C (2.0) is required in all coursework comprising the major.

14 courses and a senior project distributed as follows:
- Seven courses in German, to include
  - GERM 311 German Culture and Civilization
  - GERM 321 Introduction to German Literature
  - Two 400-level courses
  - Three electives, selected from a list of approved MLC courses with a LAC in German or 400-level German courses
- Seven courses in English, to include
  - ENGL 297 Literature in Context: Genre and Mode
  - ENGL 298 Literature in Context: Texts in History
  - One 300-level course from Group A (literature before the early to mid-19th century)
  - One 300-level course from Group B (literature after the early to mid-19th century)
  - Two additional courses at the 300 level
  - ENGL 400 Junior/Senior Seminar
- IDST 379 Combined Major Portfolio/Project
  - A senior writing project (taken for one half unit as IDST 379) on a comparative topic dealing with literatures in English and in German, 20-30 pages, written in English or in German, making significant use of primary and secondary materials in both languages, conducted through independent study.

Designated faculty members from each department will advise students upon declaration and as they progress through the major. Study abroad in a German-speaking country is very strongly recommended.

English/Greek

Note: A grade of C (2.0) is required in all coursework comprising the major.

15.5 units, including
- Eight courses in Greek, to include
  - CLSC 306 The Classical Tradition
  - Seven courses in Greek language and literature
- Seven courses in English, to include
  - ENGL 297 Literature in Context: Genre and Mode
  - ENGL 298 Literature in Context: Texts in History
  - One 300-level course from Group A (literature before the early to mid-19th century)
• One 300-level course from Group B (literature after the early to mid-19th century)
• Two additional courses at the 300 level
• ENGL 400 Junior/Senior Seminar
• IDST 379 Combined Major Portfolio/Project
  • A senior writing project (taken for one half unit as IDST 379) on a comparative topic dealing with literatures in Greek and English will be required. The paper must be 20-30 pages long and will make significant use of primary and secondary sources. The writing project will have two advisors, one from the English department and one from the classical studies department. By the beginning of senior year, the student should designate one of the advisors as the primary advisor, and this advisor will have primary responsibility for determining the student's grade on the writing project. If there is sharp disagreement between the two advisors over the final grade, the primary advisor's departmental chairperson will appoint a third reader/grader, whose decision will break the deadlock between the first and second advisors.

English/Latin

Note: A grade of C (2.0) is required in all coursework comprising the major.

15.5 units, including
• Eight courses in Latin, to include
  • CLSC 306 The Classical Tradition
  • Seven courses in Latin language and literature
• Seven courses in English, to include
  • ENGL 297 Literature in Context: Genre and Mode
  • ENGL 298 Literature in Context: Texts in History
  • One 300-level course from Group A (literature before the early to mid-19th century)
  • One 300-level course from Group B (literature after the early to mid-19th century)
  • Two additional courses at the 300 level
  • ENGL 400 Junior/Senior Seminar
• IDST 379 Combined Major Portfolio/Project
  • A senior writing project (taken for one half unit as IDST 379) on a comparative topic dealing with literatures in Greek and English will be required. The paper must be 20-30 pages long and will make significant use of primary and secondary sources. English/Russian

Note: A grade of C (2.0) is required in all coursework comprising the major.

14 courses and a senior project distributed as follows:
• Seven courses in Russian (courses taken in English to fulfill the Russian part of the major must each include a quarter unit LAC in Russian), to include
  • RUSN 301 Russian Conversation or RUSN 311 Readings in Russian Cultural Studies
  • MLC 321 Introduction to 19th-Century Russian Literature
  • MLC 322 Introduction to 20th-Century Russian Literature
  • Two 300- or 400-level courses, selected from approved courses on an approved study abroad program
Two 300- or 400-level courses selected from MLC 332 Conscience and Consciousness in 19th Century Russian Painting; MLC 335 Bolsheviks, Bombs and Ballet: Soviet Culture and Civilization; other relevant offerings in a number of departments (classics, religion, philosophy, art) depending on the focus of the student's comparative topic.

- Seven courses in English, to include
  - ENGL 297 Literature in Context: Genre and Mode
  - ENGL 298 Literature in Context: Texts in History
  - One 300-level course from Group A (literature before the early to mid-19th century)
  - One 300-level course from Group B (literature after the early to mid-19th century)
  - Two additional courses at the 300 level
  - ENGL 400 Junior/Senior Seminar

- IDST 379 Combined Major Portfolio/Project
  - A senior writing project (taken for one half unit as IDST 379) on a comparative topic dealing with literatures in English and in Russian, 20-30 pages, written in English or in Russian, making significant use of primary and secondary materials in both languages, conducted through independent study.

Designated faculty members from each department will advise students upon declaration and as they progress through the major. Study abroad in a Russian-speaking country is very strongly recommended.

English/Theatre

Note: A grade of C (2.0) is required in all coursework comprising the major.

14.5 units, including

- Seven courses in theatre, to include
  - THTR 309 Theatre History I or THTR 319 Theatre History II
  - THTR 205 Production Studies I
  - THTR 306 Production Studies II
  - THTR 407 Production Studies III
  - THTR 202 Lighting Design or THTR 206 Costume Design or THTR 301 Scene Design
  - THTR 212 Basics of Acting or THTR 308 Basics of Directing
  - THTR 370 Staging Gender, THTR 210 Performing Diversity, or THTR 320 Twentieth-Century Acting Styles and Theory

- Seven courses in English, to include
  - ENGL 297 Literature in Context: Genre and Mode
  - ENGL 298 Literature in Context: Texts in History
  - One 300-level course from Group A (literature before the early to mid-19th century)
  - One 300-level course from Group B (literature after the early to mid-19th century)
  - Two additional courses at the 300 level
  - ENGL 400 Junior/Senior Seminar

- IDST 379 Combined Major Portfolio/Project
  - A capstone project (taken for one half unit as IDST 379) on a topic related to both theatre and English will be required. The project will be supervised by a faculty member from either theatre or English and read by a member of each department. When a student declares the combined major, he or she will be assigned an advisor in each department. Each advisor will be responsible for advising the student on the selection of courses in the advisor's department.

Please note the following caveats:

1. No single course can count in two categories.
2. Students in the combined major cannot also minor in theatre or English.
English/Women, Gender and Sexuality Studies

Note: A grade of C (2.0) is required in all coursework comprising the major.

13.5 units, including

- Six courses in Women, Gender and Sexuality Studies, to include
  - WGSS 200 Introduction to Women, Gender & Sexuality Studies
  - WGSS 489 Research Methods and Capstone Preparation
  - Four additional WGSS electives (not from the English Department) at least two of which must be above the 200-level

- Seven courses in English, to include
  - ENGL 297 Literature in Context: Genre and Mode
  - ENGL 298 Literature in Context: Texts in History
  - One 300-level course from Group A (literature before the early to mid-19th century)
  - One 300-level course from Group B (literature after the early to mid-19th century)
  - Two additional courses at the 300-level
  - ENGL 400 Junior/Senior Seminar

- IDST 379 Combined Major Portfolio/Project (.5 units)

No more than one unit of internship credit will be counted towards the combined major.

Computer Science

Department of Mathematics and Computer Science

The Computer Science Major

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the major must be no less than 2.00 with no computer science course grade below C- (1.70). Students are strongly advised to consult with faculty in planning their major curriculum.

For the Bachelor of Arts degree

11.5 units, including

- CMSC 150 or 155 Introduction to Computing or Scientific Computing
- CMSC 221 Data Structures with Lab
- CMSC 222 Discrete Structures for Computing
- CMSC 240 Software Systems Development
- CMSC 301 Computer Organization
- CMSC 315 Algorithms
- CMSC 323 Design and Implementation of Programming Languages
- Three additional 1-unit CMSC electives at the 300 level. Without departmental approval, no more than one of these courses can be an Independent Study course.
• MATH 211 or 231 Calculus I or Scientific Calculus I
• MATH 245 Linear Algebra

For the Bachelor of Science degree

14.5 units, including
• CMSC 150 or 155 Introduction to Computing or Scientific Computing
• CMSC 221 Data Structures with Lab
• CMSC 222 Discrete Structures for Computing
• CMSC 240 Software Systems Development
• CMSC 301 Computer Organization
• CMSC 315 Algorithms
• CMSC 323 Design and Implementation of Programming Languages
• Three additional 1-unit CMSC electives at the 300 level. Without departmental approval, no more than one of these courses can be an Independent Study course.
• MATH 211 or 231 Calculus I or Scientific Calculus I
• MATH 212 or 232 Calculus II or Scientific Calculus II
• MATH 245 Linear Algebra
• Two units at the 300 level or above in mathematics or two units (or more) beyond the introductory level in one of the following fields: physics (200 level or above), chemistry (200 level or above), or biology (beyond 205).

The Computer Science Minor

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the minor must be no less than 2.00 with no computer science course grade below C- (1.70). Students are strongly advised to consult with faculty in planning their minor curriculum.

5.5 units, including
• CMSC 150 or 155 Introduction to Computing or Scientific Computing
• CMSC 221 Data Structures with Lab
• CMSC 222 Discrete Structures for Computing
• CMSC 240 Software Systems Development
• CMSC 301 Computer Organization
• One additional unit in CMSC for which CMSC 222 or CMSC 301 is a prerequisite

Honors Program

Students invited into the honors program may earn honors in computer science by completing the following requirements:

1. Two 300-level courses for honors credit (one of which as a 300-level prereq: 321, 322, 323, 326, 330, 331, 332, 333, 334, 335);
2. Two semesters of directed independent study (CMSC 340);
3. Honors paper

Note: Knowledge of the topics of Computer Science 150 or 155 is prerequisite to all higher numbered Computer Science courses. Students who have obtained this knowledge through a high school or some other course are permitted to begin with Computer Science 221 with departmental approval.
Courses

CMSC 101
Minds and Machines
Formal deduction in propositional logic. The fundamentals of computer architecture. An elementary exploration of the extent to which symbolic reasoning can be automated, including a consideration of related results in fields such as neuroscience and artificial intelligence. Three hours lecture and one hour lab per week.
1 Unit(s)
(FSSR)

CMSC 105
Elementary Programming with Lab
Solving problems by writing computer programs. Introduction to computer architecture. Emphasis on symbolic reasoning using examples from a particular computing context. For non-majors. Not open to students who have completed any computer science course that fulfills major requirements. Three lecture and one laboratory hour per week.
1 Unit(s)
(FSSR)

CMSC 150
Introduction to Computing
Techniques for writing computer programs to solve problems. Topics include elementary computer organization, object-oriented programming, control structures, arrays, methods and parameter passing, recursion, searching, sorting, and file I/O. Three lecture and two laboratory hours per week. A student may not receive credit for both Computer Science 150 and 155. Students who have received credit for courses numbered 221 or higher may not take 150 for credit. Prerequisite: None; however, strong mathematics aptitude usually predicts success in computer science.
1 Unit(s)
(FSSR)

CMSC 155
Introduction to Scientific Computing
Same course as Computer Science 150 but with greater emphasis on programming applications in the sciences. A student may not receive credit for both Computer Science 150 and 155. Students who have received credit for courses numbered 221 or higher may not take 155 for credit. Prerequisite: Math 211 or 231.
1 Unit(s)
(FSSR)

CMSC 195
Special Topics
Special topics satisfying neither major nor minor requirements.
.25-1 Unit(s)

CMSC 221
Data Structures with Lab
Introduction to data structures, including stacks, queues, linked lists, and binary trees. Topics include abstraction, object-oriented programming, recursion, and computational complexity. Three lecture and two laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Computer Science 150 or 155 or Math 190.
1 Unit(s)
(FSSR)

CMSC 222
Discrete Structures for Computing with Lab
Sets, functions, elementary propositional and predicate logic, elementary graph theory, recurrence relations, proof techniques (including mathematical induction and proof by contradiction), combinatorics, probability, and random numbers, with applications to computing. Three hours lecture and one hour lab per week. Prerequisite: Computer Science 221 (corequisite).
1 Unit(s)

CMSC 240
Software Systems Development
Introduction to techniques necessary for development of large-scale software systems, including design of software systems, adapting to legacy code, testing, debugging, and group work. Introduction to the C++ programming language, including pointers, dynamic memory allocation, and the C++ Standard Template Library (STL). Prerequisite: Computer Science 221.
.5 Unit(s)

CMSC 288
Computer Science Apprenticeship
Participation in development of software, with supervision of computer science faculty. Does not count for computer science major or minor. No more than a total of 1.5 units of Computer Science 288 may count toward the total number of units required for a degree.
.25-.5 Unit(s)

Note: Most 300-level courses in computer science include a one hour per week laboratory component. This is an instructor-designed, organized and supervised component of the course that may occur as a fourth hour of lecture or as an extra course component scheduled outside of the lecture period. Scheduling and format may be discussed at the first class session. The format may vary by instructor and course. Students are urged to contact the instructor prior to registration if they have questions about the laboratory.

Computer Organization
Fundamentals of computer organization. Topics include instruction and, data representations, assembly language, processor data path design, memory systems and I/O. Also includes examination of how software characteristics impact hardware design and optimization. Three lecture and one laboratory hour per week. Prerequisite: Computer Science 221
1 Unit(s)

CMSC 315
Algorithms
Design, analysis, and implementation of advanced computer algorithms. Emphasis is given to problem-solving techniques, including the greedy method, divide-and-conquer, and dynamic programming. Specific problem domains vary. Topics may include sorting, graphs, networks, computational geometry, NP-completeness, approximation algorithms, text processing, distributed systems, and numerical algorithms. Three lecture and one laboratory hour per week. Prerequisite: Computer Science 222.
1 Unit(s)

CMSC 321
Operating Systems
Structure of operating systems, process management, memory management, file systems, and case studies. Three lecture and one laboratory hour per week. Prerequisite: Computer Science 222 and 301.
1 Unit(s)

CMSC 322
Software Engineering Practicum
Project-oriented course. Principles of software engineering will be emphasized throughout. Three lecture and one laboratory hour per week. Prerequisite: Senior standing or two courses at the 300 level that have Computer Science 301 or 315 as a prerequisite.

Criminal Justice

Department of Sociology and Anthropology

Joan L. Neff, Coordinator (Sociology)
Associate Professor Neff
Assistant Professor Briddell
Professionals from the field are employed as adjunct faculty.

The criminal justice major is an interdisciplinary program designed to provide students with a basic understanding of significant issues in the criminal justice system. Students majoring in criminal justice select courses together with their advisor. Upon completion of the major, students are prepared to enter a variety of fields, such as law enforcement, correctional counseling, probation and parole counseling, and criminal justice administration. In addition, many students elect to continue their education by pursuing graduate degrees in criminal justice, public administration, social work, sociology, or law.

Upper-level courses are taught on a rotating basis.
The Criminal Justice Major

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the major must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.7).

10 units, including
- SOC 207 Crime and Justice in a Post-Modern Society
- One course in philosophy, chosen from
  - PHIL 260 Philosophical Problems in Law and Society
  - PHIL 364 Philosophy of Law
- One course in political science, chosen from
  - PLSC 331 Constitutional Law
  - PLSC 333 Civil Rights/Liberties
  - PLSC 337 The American Legal System
- One course in social science research methods, chosen from
  - SOC 211 Sociological Research Methods and Data Analysis
  - PLSC 373 Methods for Public Policy Research
- CJ 490 Senior Seminar
- Five elective units, chosen from above or
  - CJ 320 Fundamentals of Criminal Law
  - CJ 321 Fundamentals of Criminal Procedure
  - CJ 379 Selected Topics
  - CJ 388 Individual Internship
  - CJ 400 Directed Independent Study
  - CJ 450 Research Practicum
  - PHIL 260 Philosophical Problems in Law and Society
  - PHIL 364 Philosophy of Law
  - PLSC 331 Constitutional Law
  - PLSC 333 Civil Rights/Liberties
  - PLSC 337 The American Legal System
  - PSYC 319 Psychopathology
  - PSYC 436 Developmental Psychopathology
  - SOC 305 Conformity, Deviance and Institutions of Social Control
  - SOC 311 Juvenile Delinquency
  - SOC 313 Field Investigation of the Juvenile and Adult Criminal Justice Systems
  - SOC 324 Law and Society

Note: A course used to satisfy a core requirement may not also be used as an elective unit.

The Criminal Justice Minor

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the minor must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.7).

5 units, including
- SOC 207 Crime and Justice in a Post-Modern Society
- One course in philosophy, chosen from
  - PHIL 260 Philosophical Problems in Law and Society
  - PHIL 364 Philosophy of Law
- One course in political science, chosen from
  - PLSC 331 Constitutional Law
  - PLSC 333 Civil Rights/Liberties
  - PLSC 337 The American Legal System
• Two elective units selected from the list of electives for the criminal justice major, excluding CJ 388, CJ 400 and CJ 450.

Note: A course used to satisfy a core requirement may not also be used as an elective unit.

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the major or minor. Prerequisites do not count toward the major or minor unless otherwise noted.

Courses

CJ 320
Fundamentals of Criminal Law
Overview of general structure of substantive aspects of criminal law in the United States. Analyzes concepts of law and crime. Discusses objectives of criminal law and distinction between crimes and civil wrongs.
Prerequisite: Political Science 331, 333, or 337 or Sociology 207 or 311; or permission of program coordinator.
1 Unit(s)

CJ 321
Fundamentals of Criminal Procedure
Overview of procedural aspects of criminal law in the United States. Focuses on processing of criminal cases through the legal system and rules applied and decisions made at each point in the process. Prerequisite: Political Science 331, 333, or 337 or Sociology 207 or 311; or permission of program coordinator.
1 Unit(s)

CJ 379
Criminal Justice: Selected Topics
Varying topics of current relevance and interest in the field of criminal justice. May be repeated for credit if topics differ. Prerequisite: Political Science 331, 333, or 337 or Sociology 207, 305, 311, 313, or 324; or permission of program coordinator.
1 Unit(s)

CJ 388
Individual Internship
Supervised independent field work. Not available for minor credit. No more than 1.5 units of internship in any one department and 3.5 units of internship overall may be counted toward required degree units.
Prerequisite: Permission of program coordinator.
.5-1 Unit(s)

CJ 400
Directed Independent Study
Individually-designed in-depth study of a specific topic in criminal justice. Not available for minor credit.
Prerequisite: Permission of program coordinator.
.5 Unit(s)

CJ 450
Research Practicum
Student-designed research project. Not available for minor credit. Prerequisite: Permission of program coordinator.
.5-1 Unit(s)

CJ 490
Criminal Justice Senior Seminar
In-depth discussion and analysis of major components of the criminal justice system: police, courts, and corrections.
Prerequisite: Senior status in the criminal justice major or permission of program coordinator.
1 Unit(s)
Dance

Department of Theatre and Dance

Walter Schoen, Chair
Associate Professors Holland, Mike, Schoen, West
Assistant Professor Herrera, Stegmeir, White
Assistant Director of Costume and Makeup Hogg
Director of Dance Daleng
Assistant Director of Dance Van Gelder

Each year two professional guest artists join the faculty to work with students and in productions. Additional professionals from the field also are employed as adjunct faculty members.

The Dance Major

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the minor must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.7). Upper-level courses are taught on a rotating basis.

11 units, including
- History/Theory, two units
  - DANC 230 Dance History/Theory I
  - DANC 240 Dance History/Theory II
- Choreography, two units
  - DANC 255 Choreography I
  - DANC 335 Choreography II
- Human Kinetics for Dance, one unit
  - DANC 320 Human Kinetics for Dance (Science of Movement)
- Technical Theatre/Lighting or Costume Design, one unit chosen from
  - THTR 202 Stage Lighting
  - THTR 206 Introduction to Costume
  - THTR 322 Advanced Costume Design
- Technique, four units chosen from
  - DANC 367 Topics in Dance Techniques
- Elective, one unit
  - Music, Studio Art, or Art History

Majors must take a minimum of eight units in DANC 367 for .5 unit each as selected topics in ballet, jazz, modern, tap, dance improvisation, and contact improvisation as DANC 367. No student may take the same technique class at the same level more than once for credit with the exception of University Dancers. Majors will be required to take a minimum of one unit at the advanced level. Majors will not be required to write research papers in performance classes if taken as DANC 367 but will be required to complete all other course expectations.

Note: Theatre 330-341 (Practica) and Theatre 388 (Individual Internship) cannot be counted toward the dance major. No course units can be counted toward both a major in dance and a minor in theatre.

The Dance Minor

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the minor must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.7). Upper-level courses are taught on a rotating basis.

6 units, including
• History/Theory, one unit chosen from o DANC 230 Dance History/Theory I o DANC 240 Dance History/Theory II

• DANC 255 Choreography I

• Performance, two units chosen from o DANC 238 Introduction to Contact Improvisation
  o DANC 248 Introduction to Movement Improvisation
  o DANC 256 Beginning Jazz Dance
  o DANC 257 Beginning Ballet o DANC 258 Writing from the Body: Words and Movement
  o DANC 259 Beginning Tap Dance
  o DANC 260 Beginning Modern Dance
  o DANC 261 Intermediate Jazz Dance
  o DANC 262 Intermediate Tap Dance
  o DANC 263 Intermediate Modern Dance o DANC 266 Intermediate Ballet o DANC 306 University Dancers
  o DANC 316 Repertory o DANC 356 Pointe and Variations
  o DANC 361 Advanced Jazz Dance
  o DANC 362 Advanced Tap Dance
  o DANC 363 Advanced Modern Dance
  o DANC 366 Advanced Ballet

• Technical Theatre/Theatre Design, one unit chosen from o THTR 202 Stage Lighting
  o THTR 206 Introduction to Costume
  o THTR 322 Advanced Costume Design

• Acting or Stage Lighting, one unit chosen from o DANC 320 Human Kinetics for Dance
  o THTR 212 Basics of Acting

Note: No course units can be counted twice. Theatre 330-341 (Practica) and Theatre 388 (Individual Internship) cannot be counted toward the dance minor.

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the minor. Prerequisites do not count toward the minor unless otherwise noted.

Related Fields

Interdisciplinary concentration in arts management for studio art, art history, music, theatre, and dance majors or minors

Courses

DANC 230
Dance History/Theory I
Focuses on dance studies that use a theoretical and historical perspective based in dance and other movement practices as a means of analyzing dance within larger cultural contexts. Studies the development of dance in Western culture from its primitive beginnings through Renaissance era. Integrates theory and practice as a means of heightening a scholarly inquiry.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

DANC 238
Introduction to Contact Improvisation
The practice and exploration of contact improvisation, an improvised movement form that relies on partners in constant physical dialog and connection. Class is devoted to developing balance, strength, flexibility, trust, support, weight-sharing, risk-taking, play, and body awareness. The class is ideal for students pursuing dance, theater, biology, psychology, or anyone wanting a physical challenge.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

DANC 240
Dance History/Theory II
Focuses on dance studies that use a theoretical and historical perspective based in dance and other movement practices as a means of analyzing dance within larger cultural contexts. Studies the development of dance in Western culture from the Baroque era through Modern dance. Integrates theory and practice as a means of heightening a scholarly inquiry. Prerequisite: (FSVP)
1 Unit(s)

DANC 248
Introduction to Movement Improvisation
Focus on unraveling habitual ways of moving to discover impromptu motion and new patterns in groups, duets, and alone. A range of contemporary theoretical, artistic, and ethnographic techniques from American and international improvisers will be explored for strategies, techniques, motivations, and process.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

DANC 255
Choreography I
Study of choreographic process covering fundamentals of movement composition. Studio time includes improvisation and choreography. Prerequisite: Department approval.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

DANC 256
Beginning Jazz Dance
Introduction to jazz dance as an eclectic form of artistic expression with emphasis on rhythm and technique. Students are required to critique live dance concerts as well as conduct research on a relevant topic.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

DANC 257
Beginning Ballet
Introductory course in ballet as a theatrical art form. Study of basic ballet terminology, understanding of correct body placement, and a general knowledge of performing elementary ballet technique. Students are required to critique live dance concerts as well as conduct research on a relevant topic.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

DANC 258
Writing from the Body: Words and Movement
Reflection on how one moves through the world and how experience gets articulated. Class is devoted to exercises that generate movement and writing, both used as gateways to the other.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

DANC 259
Beginning Tap Dance
Introduction to tap dance, a theatrical form of artistic expression with development of a movement vocabulary based on rhythms made with taps. Students are required to critique live dance concerts as well as conduct research on a relevant topic.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

DANC 260
Beginning Modern Dance
Introduction to modern dance as a diverse form of expression with development of language of movement. Students are required to critique live dance concerts as well as conduct research on a relevant topic.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

DANC 261
Intermediate Jazz Dance
Continuation of beginning jazz, emphasizing intermediate technique, vocabulary, and style. Students are required to critique live dance concerts as well as conduct research on a relevant topic. Prerequisite: Previous jazz technique.
1 Unit(s)

DANC 262
Intermediate Tap Dance
Continuation of beginning tap dance, emphasizing intermediate technique using movement to build strength and coordination. Syncopated rhythms are explored with the sounds of the taps. Students are required to critique live dance concerts as well as conduct research on a relevant topic. Prerequisite: Previous tap dance technique.
1 Unit(s)

DANC 263
Intermediate Modern Dance
Continuation of beginning modern dance, emphasizing intermediate technique and development of an aesthetic vocabulary of contemporary modern dance. Students are required to critique live dance concerts as well as conduct research on a relevant topic. Prerequisite: Previous modern dance technique.
1 Unit(s)

DANC 266
Intermediate Ballet
Continuation of beginning ballet, emphasizing intermediate technique and vocabulary. Students are required to critique live dance concerts as well as conduct research on a relevant topic. Prerequisite: Previous ballet technique.
1 Unit(s)

DANC 306
University Dancers
Technique, rehearsal, and performance of dance works choreographed by dance faculty, students, and visiting choreographers. May be repeated for credit. Prerequisite: Audition or invitation of director.
.5 Unit(s)

DANC 312
Special Topics in Dance
Offered on an as-needed basis. Representative topics include ballet, jazz, modern, tap, dance history, advanced choreography, dance theory, music for dancers, kinesiology, and pointe.
.5-1 Unit(s)

DANC 315
Independent Study
Restriction: Prospectus must be submitted and approved prior to the end of advance registration. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.

Economics

Department of Economics

Dean Croushore, Chair
Professors Croushore, Dolan, McGoldrick, Schmidt, Wight
Associate Professors Craft, Dean, Monks, Nicholson, Yates
Assistant Professors Buyukkarabacak, Mago, Mykhaylova

The Economics Major for the Bachelor of Arts Degree

Note: A grade point average of C (2.00) is required in the major with no course grade below a C- (1.7) in an economics course required for the major.

11.5 units, including

- ECON 101 Principles of Microeconomics
- ECON 102 Principles of Macroeconomics
- ECON 271 Microeconomic Theory
- ECON 272 Macroeconomic Theory
- Four units of economics electives (at least two of which must be at the 300 level)
- ECON 480 Senior Capstone Seminar or ECON 491 Honors Thesis in Economics
- BUAD 203 Software Tools and Applications
- BUAD 201 and 301 or MATH 329 and 330

Note: Majors are strongly encouraged to take Economics 101 and 102 during their first year, and Economics 271 and 272 during their second year. A basic foundation in calculus (e.g., MATH 211 or MATH 231) is required for Economics 271.

Students may plan their course load to pursue a general major in economics or to study a specific area in economics. Voluntary elective fields have been developed in the areas of business economics, international economics, economic history, public policy, and quantitative economics. Students are encouraged to speak with their academic advisor about the options available to them. Students interested in pursuing a graduate degree in economics are encouraged to seek advice concerning the honors program in economics, the combined major in mathematical economics, and/or taking MATH 235 Multivariate Calculus, MATH 312 Differential Equations, and MATH 245 Linear Algebra.
The Economics Minor

Note: A grade point average of C (2.00) is required in the minor with no grade less than C- (1.7).

6 units, including
- ECON 101 Principles of Microeconomics
- ECON 102 Principles of Macroeconomics
- ECON 271 Microeconomic Theory
- ECON 272 Macroeconomic Theory
- Two units of economics electives (at least one of which must be at the 300 level)

A basic foundation in calculus (e.g., MATH 211) is required for Economics 271

Related Majors
- Mathematical Economics
- International Studies: International Economics
- Economics (B.S.B.A. degree)
- Business Administration

Courses

ECON 101
Principles of Microeconomics
Provides students with the analytical perspective to think critically about the market system and social objectives it may serve. Topics include supply and demand, market structure, production, market failure (e.g., pollution), and benefits and costs of government intervention.
1 Unit(s)
(FSSA)

ECON 102
Principles of Macroeconomics
The study of national income determination within a global economy. Topics include inflation, unemployment, GDP determination, money supply, balance of payments, currency markets and role of fiscal and monetary policies. Students who have not taken Economics 101 should notify their instructor on the first class day and will be required to spend extra time outside of class on supply and demand. Prerequisite: Economics 101 is recommended but not required.
1 Unit(s)

ECON 105
Introduction to Global Economics
Survey of international economic issues for nonmajors. The U.S.’s role in the global economy is covered analytically, historically, and institutionally, with special attention given to balance of payments analysis, exchange rate determination, gains from trade, trade policy, the IMF, GATT, and other topics. Note: This course has no prerequisites and fulfills no prerequisites for other economics or business courses. Cannot be used as an elective toward the arts and sciences or business school economics major or toward the business administration major.
1 Unit(s)

ECON 200
The Economics of Money, Banking and Financial Markets
Role and functions of money; operation of financial institutions; structure and influence of Federal Reserve System; effects of money and credit on economic activity. Prerequisite: Economics 101 and 102.
1 Unit(s)
ECON 210
The Economics of the European Union
Comparative analysis of European and United States’ economics systems, including a review of the evolution of the European Union. Although the scope of the course is primarily European, Japan, and China also are studied. Prerequisite: Economics 101 and 102.
1 Unit(s)

ECON 211
Economic Development in Asia, Africa and Latin America
Comparative analysis of economic growth, income and wealth distribution, trade and finance, population, agriculture, and industrialization in Latin America, Africa, and Asia. Prerequisite: Economics 101 and 102.
1 Unit(s)

ECON 220
History of Economic Thought
Survey of development of economic analysis with emphasis on contributions from Adam Smith through J.M. Keynes. Prerequisite: Economics 101 and 102.
1 Unit(s)

ECON 221
American Economic History
Use of economic theory and methods to study American history with special emphasis on economic growth. Topics include Native American development up to the arrival of Europeans, transportation revolutions, slavery, agriculture and monetary controversies in the late 19th century, health and nutrition, immigration, technological change, the Great Depression and New Deal, and civil rights. Prerequisite: Economics 101 and 102.
1 Unit(s)

ECON 230
Environmental Economics
Development and application of economic principles to understand and evaluate causes and solutions to environmental problems such as pollution and conservation. Topics include economics of biodiversity protection, global warming, natural resource damage assessment, measurement of environmental values, and alternative strategies for pollution control. Special attention given to optimal use of exhaustible and renewable natural resources. (Same as Environmental Studies 230). Prerequisite: Economics 101.
1 Unit(s)

ECON 231
Law and Economics
Application of economic analysis to legal concepts. Using goals of efficiency and wealth maximization, shows how economic theory can unify property law, contract law, tort law, criminal law, and family/sex law, as well as offer new insights to old problems. Prerequisite: Economics 101. Business Administration 301 or Mathematics 119 encouraged.
1 Unit(s)

ECON 232
The Economics of Gender
Uses economic methods to explore how gender differences lead to different economic outcomes for men and women, both within families and in the marketplace. Topics include allocation of time between the household and the labor market, consequences of employment for family structure, theories of discrimination, and occupational segregation. Historical trends and cross-cultural comparisons are discussed at length. Policy areas include antipoverty programs, comparable worth, affirmative action, antidiscrimination legislation, parental leave, and provision of child care. While the focus of the analysis of gender and economics is on the U.S., such findings are not universal and the semester concludes with international comparisons that demonstrate important differences. Prerequisite: Economics 101 and 102.

Mission and Goals

Undergraduate teacher education at the University of Richmond is a campus-wide responsibility, designed to ensure that all of our students are knowledgeable professionals who possess both a theoretical and practical knowledge base. Students acquire a broad undergraduate background of essential intellectual skills through the liberal arts and sciences based on the University's general education requirements, upon which students then build concentrated study in their major field of study.
The mission of the Teacher Preparation Program at the University of Richmond is to improve the understanding and practice of teaching and learning in preK-12 environments through reflective thought. Graduates are prepared to apply deep and broad content knowledge through multiple pedagogies in diverse settings while demonstrating a commitment to professionalism.

Based on this mission, the goals for the education minor are:

Goal 1
Develop candidates who are knowledgeable about learners and are able to employ instructional strategies that meet the needs of all students, including students with disabilities, gifted students, students with limited proficiency in English, and students with diverse cultural needs.

Goal 2
Develop candidates who have a rich understanding of the subject(s) they teach and appreciate how knowledge in their subject is created, organized, linked to other disciplines, and applied to real-world settings.

Goal 3
Develop candidates who are able to employ best practices in the planning, delivery, and assessment of instruction so that they may transform content for teaching purposes in ways that make it accessible and meaningful to students.

Goal 4
Develop candidates who have the knowledge and skills to bring the highest levels of professionalism to their practice as instructional leaders and have the disposition to reflect upon and change that practice as necessary.

State-Approved Programs at the University of Richmond

The Teacher Preparation Program at the University of Richmond prepares teachers for licensure in Elementary Education (preK-6), Secondary Education (6-12) or Comprehensive Education (preK-12). The University of Richmond was first granted an Approved Teacher Education Program by the Virginia State Board of Education in 1972. Since that time the University's Department of Education has maintained approved program status and, as such, participates in reciprocity of licensure with states that have interstate agreements with Virginia. Currently Virginia has licensure reciprocity with 48 states, territories and the District of Columbia.

In order for programs to remain current with licensure regulations as mandated by the Virginia State Department of Education, the requirements as stated may be subject to change. Please check with the department for the most recent version of licensure and endorsement requirements.

Title II Results

In October 1998, the U.S. Congress enacted amendments to the Higher Education Act (HEA). As amended, Title II of the HEA included new accountability measures and reporting requirements for institutions and states on teacher preparation and licensing. Each year the University of Richmond is required to submit an Institutional Report that contains:

- Program completer pass rates
- Basic features of the teacher preparation program
- Whether the teacher preparation program has been classified as "low performing"
- Supplemental information the institution believes is important to providing necessary context

For the most current copies of the University Institutional Report, visit our Web site at: education.richmond.edu.
Education Minor

Because licensure regulations in the state of Virginia do not allow students to major in education, education is not an academic major at the University of Richmond. Students may therefore minor in one of three areas in education.

Please note that students completing the minor are NOT automatically eligible for a teaching license. Students who wish to be licensed must be formally admitted to the Teacher Preparation Program and successfully complete student teaching and the student teaching seminar.

Elementary Education (preK-6)

8.5 units, including
- EDUC 205 Foundations of Education
- EDUC 207 Diverse Learners and Environments
- EDUC 250 Introduction to Instructional Technology
- EDUC 306 Integrated Curriculum Methods
- EDUC 310 Emergent Literacy
- EDUC 311 Instructional Level Literacy
- EDUC 327 Foundations of Math Instruction
- EDUC 365 Elementary Reading Practicum
- EDUC 366 General Elementary Practicum
- EDUC 375 Classroom and Behavior Management

Secondary Education (6-12)

6.5 units, including
- EDUC 205 Foundations of Education
- EDUC 207 Diverse Learners and Environments
- EDUC 250 Introduction to Instructional Technology
- EDUC 342 Secondary Curriculum Methods
- EDUC 352 Content Area Literacy
- EDUC 367 Middle School Practicum
- EDUC 368 Secondary School Practicum
- EDUC 375 Classroom and Behavior Management

Comprehensive Education (preK-12)

6.5 units, including
- EDUC 205 Foundations of Education
- EDUC 207 Diverse Learners and Environments
- EDUC 250 Introduction to Instructional Technology
- EDUC 342 Secondary Curriculum Methods
- EDUC 352 Content Area Literacy
- EDUC 367 Middle School Practicum
- EDUC 368 Secondary School Practicum
- EDUC 375 Classroom and Behavior Management

Becoming a Licensed Teacher
Students interested in becoming teachers should contact the Department of Education to meet with the Chair to discuss program requirements. All students seeking licensure must be formally admitted to the Teacher Preparation Program. Admission requires:

- A completed application form
- A Statement of Intent
- An official score report for Praxis I or its equivalent
- Evidence of a minimum cumulative grade point average of 2.70

Upon admission, students engage in a series of professional courses and field experiences that serve as the foundation of their program. These include:

- Professional Courses: Foundations of Education, Diverse Learners and Environments, Introduction to Instructional Technology and Classroom and Behavior Management
- Field Experience: Integrated course-related practica and observation experiences
- Program-Specific Courses: Courses vary depending on the level and area of endorsement
- Student Teaching: Fifteen weeks of full-time experience in local school divisions
- Student Teaching Seminar

All formally accepted students must maintain a grade point average of 3.00 in education and a cumulative grade point average of 2.70 to remain in the program and be eligible for student teaching. No more than one grade of C is allowed in education coursework. Therefore, students who earn more than one grade of C in education courses must repeat those courses and earn higher grades or they will not be permitted to remain in the program.

Students wishing to apply for licensure must complete the requirements for the minor, student teaching, the student teaching seminar, and any additional courses required for subject area endorsements.

Licensure Chronology

With careful planning, most students can complete all degree and licensure requirements in four years. In some cases, students may choose to return for the student teaching semester after graduation.

Year One

Students interested in becoming licensed to teach should contact the Department of Education to meet with the Chair to discuss program requirements. Students may begin courses in the education sequence. If necessary, students should arrange to take the Praxis I exam before the end of their first year.

Year Two

Students must submit a formal application to the program and return the completed forms to the Department of Education no later than October 15 of the fall semester or March 15 of the spring semester. Students continue with courses in the education sequence appropriate to the minor they have declared. Students must register to take the Virginia Communication and Literacy Assessment (VCLA) exam by the end of the academic year.

Year Three

Students continue with courses in the education sequence appropriate to the minor they have declared. Students planning to student teach during the fall semester of their senior year must:

- Attend a spring orientation session and submit the student teaching application
• Complete all testing requirements for licensure
• Maintain a cumulative grade point average of 2.70, and a grade point average of 3.00 in education

Year Four

Students complete the semester-long student teaching experience and accompanying seminar in either the fall or spring semester. Students must also complete a Career Development Center placement file and licensure application forms. Students planning to student teach during the spring semester of their senior year must:

• Attend a fall orientation session and submit the student teaching application
• Complete all testing requirements for licensure
• Maintain a cumulative grade point average of 2.70, and a grade point average of 3.00 in education.

Please note that the Department of Education will forward applications and recommendations for licensure only for those students who complete the student teaching experience through the University of Richmond.

Requirements for Endorsement Areas

For all endorsement areas, students seeking a particular endorsement must meet the requirements of that major. For some endorsement areas, additional courses are required outside of the subject major and education minor to meet endorsement competencies. Requirements for each endorsement area are listed below.

Dance Arts Endorsement (preK-12)

Students seeking the dance arts endorsement must meet the requirements of the dance major.

Elementary Endorsement (preK-6)

Students seeking the elementary endorsement MUST complete the requirements for ANY liberal arts major. Students majoring only in business or leadership studies are NOT eligible for an elementary teaching license in Virginia. It is highly recommended, though not required, that students seeking the elementary endorsement complete the following additional courses.

• ENGL 203 Children's Literature
• ENGL 382 The Art of Writing: Aims, Modes, Process

English Endorsement (6-12)

Students seeking the English endorsement must meet the requirements of the English major or one of the following combined majors: English/Classical Studies, English/French, English/German, English/Greek, English/Latin, English/Russian, English/Theatre, English/Women, Gender and Sexuality Studies. Additionally, the following courses are required:

• One Shakespeare course selected from ENGL 234 or ENGL 304
• ENGL 382 The Art of Writing: Aims, Modes, Process

Foreign Language Endorsements (preK-12)

Students seeking a language endorsement must meet the requirements of the major in French, German Studies, Latin, or Latin American and Iberian Studies. Additionally, the following courses are required:
French, German, and Latin American and Iberian Studies

- MLC 410 The Teaching of a Modern Second Language

Latin

- LATN 411 The Teaching of High School Latin

History and Social Sciences Endorsement (6-12)

Students seeking the history and social science endorsement must meet the requirements of the history major. Additionally, the following courses and/or experiences are required:

- PLSC 220 Introduction to American Government
- One course in Economics (ECON)
- Completion of one of the following: 1) teaching of geography tutorials; or 2) one course in geography

Mathematics Endorsement (6-12)

Students seeking the mathematics endorsement must meet the requirements of the major in mathematics or mathematical economics.

Science Endorsements (6-12)

- Biology
  Students seeking the biology endorsement must meet the requirements of the biology major. The biochemistry major does NOT meet the standard for this endorsement.
- Chemistry
  Students seeking the chemistry endorsement must meet the requirements of the chemistry major.
- Physics
  Students seeking the physics endorsement must meet the requirements for the Bachelor of Science degree in physics. In addition, we highly recommend PHYS 215 Computational Methods in Physics as part of the major.

Theater Arts Endorsement (preK-12)

Students seeking the theater arts endorsement must meet the requirements of the theatre major.

Visual Arts Endorsement (preK-12)

Students seeking the visual arts endorsement must meet the requirements of the studio art major.

Add-On Endorsement Requirements

Students who meet the endorsement requirements for ANY teaching area may apply for an add-on endorsement if they meet the requirements for a minor that is compatible with one of the following licensure (endorsement) areas:

- Journalism
- Mathematics - Algebra I
- Speech Communication

Adding Endorsements Through Testing
Students who meet the elementary endorsement requirements may add any endorsement for which they take and submit passing scores on the appropriate Praxis II examination.

Students who meet the endorsement requirements for all other areas may add any endorsement for which they take and submit passing scores on the appropriate Praxis II examination WITH THE EXCEPTION OF elementary education.

Courses

EDUC 205
Foundations of Education
Introduction to the American educational system. Explores the philosophical, sociological, historical, and political roots of schools today. Attention also given to the legal status of teachers and students, including federal and state laws and regulations, school as an organization/culture, and contemporary issues in education. Prerequisite: School of Arts and Sciences students only.
1 Unit(s)

EDUC 207
Diverse Learners and Environments
Introduction to the wide range of diversity that exists across today's general school population and examination of the increased professional demands that inclusion makes upon teachers. Exploration of physical, social, emotional, intellectual development, individual learning styles, and prior learning as well as language, culture, family and community values, and how they influence student learning. Prerequisite: School of Arts and Sciences students only.
1 Unit(s)

EDUC 250
Introduction to Instructional Technology
Theory and pedagogy of using technology for instruction in all areas of the preK-12 curriculum. Develops the understanding and skills necessary to confidently plan for, implement, and evaluate effective integration of technology across the curriculum, as well as the use of technology to enhance personal productivity.
.5 Unit(s)

EDUC 306
Integrated Curriculum Methods
Introduces use of appropriate methods and assessments to help learners develop knowledge and basic skills, sustain intellectual curiosity, and problem solve. Examines selection of strategies and procedures to enhance classroom instruction and support learners in achievement of the Virginia Standards of Learning. Explores curriculum integration and subject-specific methodology in science and social studies. Prerequisite: Education 205 or 207.
1 Unit(s)

EDUC 310
Emergent Literacy
Focuses on the developmental reading skills of emergent and beginning readers. Instructional focus will be placed upon teaching strategies and activities for teaching readiness, word attack skills, beginning comprehension skills, as well as early literacy assessment and intervention for at-risk learners. Requires concurrent registration in Education 365, Elementary Reading Practicum. Prerequisite: Education 205 or 207.
1 Unit(s)

EDUC 311
Instructional Level Literacy
Focuses on how students comprehend and learn with text. Participants will read, discuss, view and use instructional strategies that promote understanding of narrative and expository texts used in sciences, social sciences, and humanities. Prerequisite: Education 205 or 207.

The English Major

Note: A grade of C (2.0) or better is required in all coursework comprising the English major.

10 units, including
- ENGL 297 Literature in Context: Genre and Mode
- ENGL 298 Literature in Context: Texts in History
- Two courses from Group A, courses in literature before the early to mid-19th century
- Two courses from Group B, courses in literature after the early to mid-19th century
- Two additional courses at the 300 or 400 levels or ENGL 200 and one course at the 300 or 400 level
- Two seminars, ideally one in the junior year and one in the senior year, although if necessary both may be taken in the senior year

The English Minor

Note: A grade of C (2.0) or better is required in all coursework comprising the English minor.

6 units, including
- ENGL 297 Literature in Context: Genre and Mode
- ENGL 298 Literature in Context: Texts in History
- One course from Group A, courses in literature before the early to mid-19th century
- One course from Group B, courses in literature after the early to mid-19th century
- One additional literature course (not writing) at the 300 or 400 level
- One seminar taken in the junior or senior year

The Creative Writing Minor

Note: A grade of C (2.0) or better is required in all coursework comprising the creative writing minor. Each writing course beyond English 200 may be taken up to three times for credit.

Honors Program

To earn honors in English, a major must complete English 498, Honors Thesis Research, and English 499, Honors Thesis Writing. Units earned for English 498 and 499 are in addition to the 10 units required in the English major. Honors students also designate two of the courses from their major program as Honors Courses. In each case, the instructor, in consultation with the student and the honors coordinator, determines an appropriate honors component for the course. Students must have attained a departmental GPA of 3.50 by the beginning of the fall semester of the senior year. They also must maintain that GPA through the completion of the program and an overall GPA of no less than 3.30 while in the program. The thesis must be submitted to a faculty committee in the spring of the student's senior year. Honors will be granted only to those students whose theses meet departmental standards. Students should declare their intention to seek honors and meet with the honors coordinator in the spring of their sophomore year or fall of their junior year. Students who have not declared by the second semester of their junior year are disqualified from further honors consideration. Those who have declared that they are seeking honors will be considered candidates until they fail to meet one of the program's requirements. For further information and advice on standards and curriculum, see the honors coordinator.

• Medieval and Renaissance studies

Allied Fields
To enrich the value of the major in English by doing focused work in an allied field, students have the option of taking four courses in one of the following fields: art history, classics (literature in the original language or in translation), history, philosophy, religion, theatre, and the modern literatures (Chinese, French, German, Italian, Japanese, Russian, or Spanish). Students are expected to select four courses that seem relevant to, or that promise to complement, the study of English. In making the selections, a student must consult both with the major advisor in English and with a secondary advisor in the allied field. Students who successfully complete an allied field option will receive a certificate and a letter of recognition at the time of Commencement.

ENGL 388 Individual Internship
Application of academic skills and theories in placement approved by department. Includes academic work. Supervised by member of the English faculty. No more than one unit of credit may be earned in English 388. Prerequisite: One unit of 300-level English with a grade of C or better, written application in advance of internship, and recommendation of the English faculty member who will supervise the internship.

ENGL 391 Themes and Methods in Comparative Literature
Interdisciplinary approach to selected themes or topics in comparative literature. While theme may vary from year to year, it will provide basis for the study of literary relations as they exist across various boundaries: generic, historical, disciplinary, and linguistic. Will also contain component on history and theory of comparative literature as a discipline, as well as brief unit on journals, bibliographies, and resources particular to the discipline. Prerequisite: English 297 or 298 with a grade of C or better.

1 Unit(s)

ENGL 392 Creative Nonfiction Writing
Analysis of literary models. Discussion and evaluation of students' own creative nonfiction. May be taken up to three times for credit. Prerequisite: English 200 with a grade of C or better.

1 Unit(s)

ENGL 393 Literary Editing and Publishing
Provides students the opportunity to learn about literary editing and publishing from both editors' and writers' perspectives. Prerequisite: One 200-level English course.

1 Unit(s)

ENGL 397 Selected Topics in Writing
Topics in creative writing. These will vary from semester to semester at the discretion of the instructor. Recently offered topics include Mixed-Media Writing and Micro Narratives. May be repeated for credit as topic varies. Prerequisite: English 200 with a grade of C or better.

1 Unit(s)

ENGL 398 Independent Study
Individually designed course of study conducted under supervision of faculty member. Prerequisite: Approval of directing faculty member.

.25-1 Unit(s)

ENGL 399 Selected Topics
Topics will vary from semester to semester. Prerequisite: English 297 or 298 with a grade of C or better.

ENGL 400 Junior/Senior Seminar
In-depth treatment of topics in genre, historical periods, critical theory, single authors such as Milton, Faulkner, or Woolf, and other areas of literary study. Topics vary from semester to semester. Recently offered topics include the African American Novel, Children's Literature and Theology, Civil War Literature, New York School Poets, Self as Performance in the Renaissance, Women and Creativity, and Medicine, Mortality and Meaning. English majors usually take one seminar in the junior year and one in the senior year although if necessary both may be taken in the senior year. May be repeated for credit, provided topics are different. Prerequisite: Two 300-level English courses with grades of C or better.

1 Unit(s)

ENGL 401 Creative Writing Seminar

An advanced creative writing course in which students pursue a semester-long project or portfolio in any genre (poetry, fiction, drama, creative nonfiction, screenwriting, multimedia, etc.) and workshop their works in progress. Prerequisite: Two of the following: English 385, 386, 387, 392, or 397 (may be the same course taken twice).

1 Unit(s)

ENGL 498 Honors Thesis Research

Research for the honors thesis in English under the direction of a faculty advisor. Prerequisite: Department approval.

.5 Unit(s)

ENGL 499 Honors Thesis Writing

Writing of the honors thesis in English under the direction of a faculty advisor. Prerequisite: Department approval.

Environmental Studies

Christopher L. Stevenson, Coordinator (Chemistry)

Associate Professor Stevenson (Chemistry and Environmental Studies)

Assistant Professors Finley-Brook, Lookingbill, Salisbury (Environmental Studies and Geography)

The environmental studies major consists of courses in the natural sciences, social sciences, humanities, law, and business.

The Environmental Studies Major

Note: The grade point average of all the coursework comprising the major must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.70) in all courses other than Calculus II.

For the Bachelor of Arts degree

12.5 units, including:

- ENVR 201 Introduction to Environmental Studies
- ENVR 230 Environmental Economics
- ENVR 269 Environmental Ethics
- ENVR 362 Environmental Law and Policy
- ENVR 391 Environmental Senior Seminar
- One course in environmental life science chosen from
• One course in physical environmental science chosen from
  o CHEM 110* Pollutants in the Environment
  o CHEM 316* Environmental Chemistry
  o ENVR 250 Introduction to Earth Systems and Physical Geography

• Introductory statistics requirement, chosen from o MATH 119 (preferred) Statistics for Social and Life Sciences
  o BUAD 201 Business Statistics I o CHEM 300 Measurement Statistics
  o PSYC 200 Methods and Analyses
  o Or equivalent course approved by the environmental studies coordinator

• One course in environmental research methods, chosen from
  o ANTH 211 Introduction to Ethnographic Field Methods
  o CHEM 301 Quantitative Chemical Analysis
  o CHEM 302 Instrumentation and Spectroscopy
  o CHEM 303 Chemical Separations
  o ECON 340 Econometrics
  o ENVR 260 Introduction to Geographic Information Systems
  o MATH 219 Introduction to the Design of Experiments
  o MATH 324* Continuous Math Methods
  o MATH 395* Math Models in Biology and Medicine
  o PLSC 373 Methods for Public Policy Research
  o SOC 211 Sociological Research Methods and Data Analysis

• One-half unit of experiential learning chosen from ENVR 320 or ENVR 388

• Three units of electives approved for environmental studies

For the Bachelor of Science degree

15.5 units, including:

• ENVR 201 Introduction to Environmental Studies
• ENVR 230 Environmental Economics
• ENVR 269 Environmental Ethics
• ENVR 362 Environmental Law and Policy
• ENVR 391 Environmental Senior Seminar

• One course in environmental life science chosen from o BIOL 109* Introduction to Ecology
  o BIOL 207 Ecology

• One course in physical environmental science chosen from
  o CHEM 110* Pollutants in the Environment
  o CHEM 316* Environmental Chemistry
  o ENVR 250 Introduction to Earth Systems and Physical Geography

• Introductory statistics requirement: MATH 119 (preferred), BUAD 201, CHEM 300, PSYC 200, or equivalent course approved by the ES coordinator

• One course in environmental research methods, chosen from
  o ANTH 211 Introduction to Ethnographic Field Methods
  o CHEM 301 Quantitative Chemical Analysis
  o CHEM 302 Instrumentation and Spectroscopy
  o CHEM 303 Chemical Separations
  o ECON 340 Econometrics
  o ENVR 260 Introduction to Geographic Information Systems
  o MATH 219 Introduction to the Design of Experiments
  o MATH 324* Continuous Math Methods
• MATH 395* Math Models in Biology and Medicine
• PLSC 373 Methods for Public Policy Research
• SOC 211 Sociological Research Methods and Data Analysis
• One-half unit of experiential learning chosen from ENVR 320 or ENVR 388
• Three units of electives approved for environmental studies
• MATH 212 or 232 Calculus II
• Two units in biology, chemistry, or physics at or above the 300 level

* The following courses involve significant overlap in content: CHEM 110/316; BIOL 101/225; BIOL 109/207; and MATH 324/395. Credit toward the major can be given for only one course in each pair; for example, credit can be given for either CHEM 110 or CHEM 316 but not both.

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the major. Prerequisites do not count toward the major unless otherwise noted.

Concentrations in Environmental Studies

Note: A student does not have to choose a concentration in order to receive a degree in environmental studies. Students may satisfy the elective units requirement of the degree by pursuing one of the following concentrations:

Environmental Science Concentration
Three units of electives, chosen from
• BIOL 100 Biology of Plants
• BIOL 101 Principles of Evolution
• BIOL 108 Environmental Biology
• BIOL 111 Marine Biology of the Chesapeake Bay
• BIOL 225 Evolution
• BIOL 306 Systematic Botany
• BIOL 332 Tropical Marine Biology
• BIOL 333 Microbial Ecology
• BIOL 334 Oceanography
• BIOL 344 Behavioral Ecology
• BIOL 383 Tropical Biology and Conservation
• CHEM 110 Pollutants in the Environment
• CHEM 316 Environmental Chemistry
• ENVR 250 Earth Systems and Physical Biology

Environment and Society Concentration
Three units of electives, chosen from
• ECON 211 Economic Development in Asia, Africa and Latin America
• ENGL 233 Contemporary Native American Literatures
• ENVR 330 Environmental and Resource Economic Theory
• ENVR 345 Society, Economy, and Nature: Global Perspectives on Sustainable Development.
• GEOG 320 Power, Space, and Territory: Geographies of Political Change
• GEOG 333 Geographies of Amazonia
• GEOG 370 Geographies of Economic Development and Globalization
• HIST 390 Food and Power in Africa and Asia
• JOUR 304 Reporting on the Environment
• MGMT 348 Environmental Management
• PLSC 260 Introduction to Public Policy
• PLSC 360 International Development Policy

Experiential learning (ENVR 388, ENVR 320, or equivalent) and Special Topics (ENVR 300) may be counted towards a concentration with approval of the environmental studies coordinator.
The Environmental Studies Minor

Note: The grade point average of all the coursework comprising the minor in environmental studies must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.70).

6 units, including:

- ENVR 201 Introduction to Environmental Studies
- ENVR 269 Environmental Ethics
- Either ENVR 230 Environmental Economics or ENVR 362 Environmental Law and Policy
- One course in environmental life science chosen from
  - BIOL 109* Introduction to Ecology
  - BIOL 207 Ecology
- One course in physical environmental science chosen from
  - CHEM 110* Pollutants in the Environment
  - CHEM 316* Environmental Chemistry
  - ENVR 250 Introduction to Earth Systems and Physical Geography
- One approved elective in environmental studies

*Credit toward the Environmental Studies minor will be given for either CHEM 110 or CHEM 316, but not both, and either BIOL 109 or BIOL 207, but not both.

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the minor. Prerequisites do not count toward the minor unless otherwise noted.

Courses

ENVR 201
Introduction to Environmental Studies
Overview of contemporary environmental issues, including species extinction, resource depletion, and pollution. Students examine behavior leading to environmental degradation, the scientific, ethical, and economic aspects of the resulting problems, and study policies intended to provide solutions.
1 Unit(s)

ENVR 230
Environmental Economics
(See Economics 230.) Prerequisite: Economics 101.
1 Unit(s)

ENVR 250
Introduction to Earth Systems and Physical Geography
(See Geography 250; same as Biology 250.)
1 Unit(s)
(FSNB)

ENVR 260
Introduction to Geographic Information Systems
(See Geography 260; same as Biology 260.)
1 Unit(s)

ENVR 269
Topics in Environmental Ethics
Introduces students to the moral issues and ethical approaches that characterize interaction with our natural environment. Topics will vary but will typically include issues such as our moral obligation to nonhuman species and to future human generations, and ethical analysis of contemporary environmental issues such as climate change and species extinction.
1 Unit(s)

ENVR 300
Special Topics
Selected topics about the environment.
.5-1 Unit(s)

ENVR 320
Directed Research
Research with a faculty member in an environmental area.
.5 Unit(s)
Environmental and Resource Economic Theory
(See Economics 330.) Prerequisite: Economics 271.
1 Unit(s)

ENVR 345
Society, Economy, and Nature: Global Perspectives on Sustainable Development
(See Geography 345.) Prerequisite: ENVR 201, GEOG 210, or IS 210
1 Unit(s)

ENVR 360
Environmental Remote Sensing
(See Geography 360; same as Biology 360.) Prerequisite: Environmental Studies/Biology/Geography 260 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

ENVR 362
Environmental Law and Policy
(See Political Science 362.) Prerequisite: Environmental Studies 201 or Political Science 260.
1 Unit(s)

ENVR 365
Advanced Spatial Analysis
(See Geography 365.) Prerequisite: Environmental Studies/Geography/Biology 260.
1 Unit(s)

ENVR 388
Individual Internship
Supervised independent field work. No more than 1.5 units of internship in any one department and 3.5 units of internship overall may be counted toward required degree units. Prerequisite: Permission of environmental studies coordinator.
.5 Unit(s)

ENVR 391
Environmental Senior Seminar
Close study of a current environmental problem. Student develops a project to address the problem using approaches and skills from the environmental studies core and elective courses. Prerequisite: Permission of environmental studies coordinator.
1 Unit(s)

Film Studies

Abigail Cheever, Coordinator (English)
Professor Addiss (Art and Art History), Ravaux-Kirkpatrick (Modern Literatures and Cultures)
Associate Professors Bower (Modern Literatures and Cultures), Cheever (English), Ferman (Latin American and Iberian Studies), Siebert (English)
Assistant Professors Lurie (English), Qian (Modern Literatures and Cultures)

The film studies major is designed to furnish an integrated, interdisciplinary approach to the academic study of cinema, providing work in film history, theory, aesthetics, and production and considering U.S., international, and indigenous/minority films. Students choose among courses offered in a number of different departments and programs at the University to explore how individual movies, particular genres and forms, and different regional, ethnic, and national film traditions reflect and influence the worlds of which they are a part. In so doing, students develop crucial skills in critical thinking, visual and textual analysis, and written and verbal communication that are vital for success in the majority of today's careers.

The major consists of nine courses. Three are required: the introduction to film studies, the film theory course, and a capstone research seminar to be taken in the senior year. The remaining courses are electives offered by departments such as art and art history, English, journalism, Latin American and Iberian studies, modern literatures and cultures, and theatre and dance. This range of courses provides students with the opportunity to construct a program of study that is targeted to their particular interests. In keeping with the international nature of the medium, two of these electives must examine films outside of the mainstream U.S. This latter requirement makes film studies a terrific major for students considering study abroad.

More detailed descriptions of the courses listed below may be found on the individual department websites and catalog pages. New courses are continually being developed and offered, so check the film studies Web site and BannerWeb for the most up to date schedule of recent and upcoming courses.

The Film Studies Major

Note: A grade of C (2.0) or better is required in all coursework comprising the Film Studies major.

9 units, including

- FMST 201/ENGL 220 Introduction to Film Studies
- ENGL 374 Film Theory
- FMST 400 Research Seminar
- Six electives chosen from the following list, at least two of which must be outside of mainstream U.S. film:
  - ART 282 Values in World Film
  - ENGL 361 Literature and Film
  - ENGL 364 Special Topics: Film Directors
  - ENGL 367 Indigenous Cinema in North America
  - ENGL 368 History and Aesthetics of Film
  - ENGL 369 American Culture / American Film
  - ENGL 370 Special Topics in Literature After the Early to Mid-19th Century
  - ENGL 374 Film Theory
  - ENGL 380 Special Topics: Film Genres
  - ENGL 387 Writing for the Stage and Screen
  - FREN 465 French Film
  - FREN 467 French Culture in the Making: Conception and Actualization of a French Film Festival
  - JOUR 307 Documentary Journalism I: Evolution of the Social Narrative
  - JOUR 308 Documentary Journalism II: Study and Practice
  - LAIS 471 Introduction to Latin American Film
  - MLC 235 Special Topics in Japanese Film
  - MLC 331 Russian Cinema
  - MLC 355 Chinese Cinema
  - MLC 365 German Film in Context
  - THTR 312 Special Topics

Courses

FMST 201
Introduction to Film Studies
Introduces the methodology of film studies through close textual analysis of narrative film. Special attention paid to the international history of the medium, the language of production, and major critical approaches.

1 Unit(s)

(FSLT)

FMST 364
Banlieue Cinema
Cinema de banlieue has been identified as a new cinematic genre that addresses one of France's current major social preoccupations: the explosive and uncontrollable outskirts of France's larger cities which have seen a number of violent riots between youth and police in the past twenty years. Issues of separation and exclusion, ethnicity, and identity, as well as ethnic minority contributions to the representation of contemporary France as multicultural society will be examined. Attention will also be given to cinematographic techniques specific to this new genre. LAC option in French. 4. Prerequisites (Same as Modern Literatures and Cultures 364.) Prerequisite: Sophomore Standing
1 Unit(s)

FMST 367
Culture in the Making: Conception and Actualization of a Film Festival
Experience in the creation and preparation of a major annual cultural event, the French Film Festival presented by the University of Richmond and VCU, leading to significant enhancement of knowledge of contemporary cinema and culture, exposure to production and distribution models, and to cultural management. Prerequisite: FMST 201/ENGL 220: Introduction to Film Studies
1 Unit(s)

FMST 374
Film Theory
Surveys the various ways in which thinkers have conceived of cinema since before its inception--what André Bazin referred to as "the film idea"--to contemporary debates about the "end" of film and the advent of New Media. (Same as English 374) Prerequisite: Film Studies 201 or English 220, 297, or 298 with a grade of C or better.
1 Unit(s)

FMST 379
Selected Topics
Selected topics in film studies (such as various national cinemas; the significance of particular directors, schools, or movements; period designations, or thematic approaches) for students pursuing a Film Studies major.
1 Unit(s)

FMST 400
Research Seminar
Required seminar for majors taken in junior or senior year. Seminar focused around the in-depth study of an individual topic, culminating in a substantial research paper. Topics and instructors vary from semester to semester. Prerequisite: Film Studies 201 or English 220 with a grade of C or better
1 Unit(s)

FMST 471
Introduction to Latin American Film
Study of prominent examples of Latin American film production with special attention paid to aesthetic aspects of cinematographic language and cultural questions embodied in the films examined. Prerequisite: Latin American and Iberian Studies 321, 331, or 332.
1 Unit(s)

FMST 473
Political Action and Latin American Indigenous Film
Examines the main cinematic movements in Latin America, in which political action and the vindication of indigenous peoples and their land coalesce with a concern for a new film aesthetic. Prerequisite: Latin American and Iberian Studies 321, 331, or 332.
First-Year Seminar

_Elisabeth Gruner (English), Coordinator_

First-Year Seminars (FYS) provide entering students the excitement of engaged learning through a diverse array of seminar topics. With small classes, a variety of topics, and close contact with faculty, First-Year Seminars offer a hands-on introduction to academic inquiry.

A wide variety of seminars will be offered each year, drawn from every school of the University. Each entering student will take a FYS in the fall and spring of the first year.

First-Year Seminars serve as an introduction to academic inquiry and the modes of expression that lie at the heart of a liberal arts education. They foster habits of mind fundamental to students’ intellectual and academic development, including critical reading and thinking, sharing ideas and research through discussion, and the ability to write and think clearly and effectively. Integrating explorations of specific questions and topics with the development of skills, seminars aim to foster intellectual curiosity and students’ ability to act on it.

All First-Year Seminars have the same five common goals:

1. expand and deepen students' understanding of the world and of themselves
2. enhance their ability to read and think critically
3. enhance their ability to communicate effectively, in writing, speech, and other appropriate forms
4. develop the fundamentals of information literacy and library research
5. provide the opportunity for students to work closely with a faculty mentor

Courses

FYS 100
First Year Seminar
Allows students to choose from a list of special topics courses while they pursue a shared set of educational goals. All seminars are designed to expand the students' understanding of the world, enhance their ability to read and think critically, enhance their ability to communicate effectively in writing, speech, and other appropriate forms, develop fundamentals of information literacy and library research, and provide the opportunity for students to work closely with a faculty mentor. Students must take two different FYS 100 courses to meet the First Year Seminar degree requirement. Prerequisite: First-year standing.

French Program

Department of Modern Literatures and Cultures
Françoise Ravaux-Kirkpatrick, Section Coordinator
Professor Ravaux-Kirkpatrick
Associate Professor Kapanga
Assistant Professors Delers, Pappas, Radi
Director of Intensive Language Program Baker
Director of Global Studio Scinicariello

This section contains information specific to the degree programs in French. For full information regarding departmental policies relevant to all the MLC degree programs, study abroad, and course sequencing, see the main page of the Department of Modern Literatures and Cultures.

Study Abroad

Study and travel abroad are strongly encouraged for all students. For students of French, the department offers a summer study program in France. In addition, there are exchange agreements for study during the academic year in France, Quebec, and West Africa; others are being negotiated. For a complete list, contact the Office of International Education.

The Residency Requirement

For all French majors, at least 5 of the 9 courses required for the major must be taken on the University of Richmond campus. French majors must take at least one 400-level class on campus after studying abroad, regardless of whether or not they have sufficient credits to fulfill the major or minor requirements.

The French Major

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the major must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.70). Majors must take at least one 400-level class on campus after studying abroad, regardless of whether or not they have sufficient credits to fulfill the major requirements.

9 courses including
- FREN 305 Writing in French through Culture and Literature
- One course, chosen from
  - FREN 301 French Conversation through Cinema
  - FREN 304 French Grammar Review
  - FREN 306 French at Work
  - FREN 311 French and Francophone Cultures
- Two courses, chosen from
  - FREN 320 Literature in Context
  - FREN 324 Francophone Literatures and Cultures
  - FREN 325 Medieval and Early Modern Society
  - FREN 326 Revolution in France
  - FREN 327 The Question of Modernity
- Four 400-level courses, at least three of which are numbered 411 or higher
- One unit elective at the 300 or 400 level (may be an MLC course with LAC component)

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the major. Prerequisites do not count toward the major unless otherwise noted.

Cross-School Major in French and International Business

(Earned in conjunction with a major in the Robins School of Business with an international business concentration.)
9 courses and an interdisciplinary research project in addition to completing all requirements of the international business concentration for the business administration major including:

- Three 300-level courses (at least one FSLT), normally taken prior to study abroad
- Two 400-level seminars following required study abroad
- One semester full-time study at an approved business school (with all-French curriculum) in a French-speaking country (four courses)
- IDST379 Interdisciplinary Research Project
- A senior research project (taken for a half-unit as IDST 379) on a comparative topic dealing with international business and French/Francophone culture, 15 pages, written in French or in English, making significant use of primary and secondary sources in both languages, conducted through independent study.

The French major/international business option represents a collaborative project between the Department of Modern Literatures and Cultures in the School of Arts and Sciences and the International Business Program in the Robins School of Business. Designated faculty members from each program will advise students upon declaration and as they progress through the major. The curriculum includes a semester abroad at one of the University's partner institutions with all-French curriculum (for example, EPSCI-Groupe ESSEC, Rouen Business School, or Université Catholique de Lille). There, students will continue their business concentrations in classes with both local and other international students.

To prepare for the experience abroad, students will have a solid base of 300-level French courses taken on the Richmond campus. Upon return, they will broaden their knowledge of literary and cultural studies through advanced seminars as well as additional Robins School of Business coursework. The French component of this program thus consists of five courses taken on campus plus four or five courses taken abroad, or the equivalent of a nine-course major in MLC.

The French Minor

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the minor must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.70). Minors must take at least one 400-level class on campus after studying abroad, regardless of whether or not they have sufficient credits to fulfill the minor requirements.

5 courses, including

- FREN 305 Writing in French through Culture and Literature
- One course, chosen from
  - FREN 301 French Conversation through Cinema
  - FREN 304 French Grammar Review
  - FREN 306 French at Work
  - FREN 311 French and Francophone Cultures
- Two courses, chosen from
  - FREN 320 Literature in Context
  - FREN 324 Francophone Literatures and Cultures
  - FREN 325 Medieval and Early Modern Society
  - FREN 326 Revolution in France
  - FREN 327 The Question of Modernity
- One 400-level course

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the minor. Prerequisites do not count toward the minor unless otherwise noted.

The Geography Major

Note: No grade below a C- (1.70) will be allowed for credit within the major.

9 units, including
- GEOG 210 Geographic Dimensions of Human Development
- GEOG 250 Introduction to Earth Systems and Physical Geography
- GEOG 260 Introduction to Geographic Information Systems
- MATH 119 Statistics for Social and Life Sciences (or equivalent research methods course, with approval of department)
- GEOG 401 Geography Capstone
- Experiential learning: One semester or equivalent of approved internship, field work, or study abroad
- Three units of electives in geography at the 300 level or higher
- One unit of geography elective at any level

No more than two units outside of geography may count towards the major (with approval of department).

The Geography Minor

Note: No grade below a C- (1.70) will be allowed for credit within the minor.

6 units, including
- GEOG 210 Geographic Dimensions of Human Development
- GEOG 250 Introduction to Earth Systems and Physical Geography
- GEOG 260 Introduction to Geographic Information Systems
- Three units of electives in geography, to include no more than 1.0 unit of GEOG 390 nor more than 0.5 units of GEOG 388.

Courses

GEOG 206
World Regional Geography-Developed Regions
World's economically developed areas (Europe, North America, Australia, CIS [former Soviet Union], Japan).
1 Unit(s)

GEOG 207
World Regional Geography-Developing Regions
World's economically developing areas (Middle America, South America, Southwest Asia, Southeast Asia, India, China, Africa, Middle East).
1 Unit(s)

GEOG 210
Geographic Dimensions of Human Development
Introduction to geographic approaches to study of cultural, societal, economic, political, and environmental change. Topics include: spatial analysis techniques and theories; population distributions and migration; cultural geographies; global economic development and its distribution; urbanization; political geography; and human-environment relations. (Same as International Studies 210.)
1 Unit(s)
(FSSA)

GEOG 250

Introduction to Earth Systems and Physical Geography

Basic concepts of earth systems science and physical geography. Includes earth-sun relationships, weather and climate, environmental hydrology, landforms and geomorphology, climate change, and human-environment interactions. (Same as Biology 250 and Environmental Studies 250.)
1 Unit(s)
(FSNB)

GEOG 260

Introduction to Geographic Information Systems

Concepts of mapping and spatial analysis using the ArcView GIS software package. Includes map analysis, data presentation, analysis of spatial relationships, the creation of spatial and tabular data, and the introduction of ArcView software extensions. (Same as Biology 260 and Environmental Studies 260.)
1 Unit(s)

GEOG 279

Middle Eastern Geographies: Patterns of Space and Place

Introduction to geography of the Middle East, increasing understanding of this exciting, dynamic region. Explores the physical and historical geographies of the region, and patterns of language, ethnicity, religion, settlement, and conflict. Includes Orientalism, Post-Colonial theory, identity, and urbanization. The discipline of Geography provides a unique perspective on the Middle East by intergrating an understanding of the people with an understanding of the land.
1 Unit(s)

GEOG 315

Landscape Ecology

Applied science that focuses on the development, consequences, and management of environmental patterns. These patterns include the spatial distributions of species and the environment resources upon which they depend. Attention is paid to the importance of scale in natural resource management. Landscape ecology also emphasizes the role of humans in the environment. Prerequisite: Geography/Environmental Studies 250, Environmental Studies 201, Biology 207, or permission of instructor
1 Unit(s)

GEOG 320

Power, Space, and Territory: Geographies of Political Change

Analyses of and explorations into the spatial dimensions and geographic characteristics of global, regional, and local political change; and the political economy and ecology of globalization. Topics include: imperialism; world systems theory; nationalism; regionalism; electoral geography; race, class and gender; political economy of trade and foreign aid; and political ecology. (Same as International Studies 320 and Political Science 320.) Prerequisite: Geography 210 or Political Science 240 or 250.
1 Unit(s)

GEOG 333

Geographies of Amazonia

Explores the contradictions and connections of Amazonia. Considers the region’s importance and relevance to the rest of the world through a study of the ecologies, histories, and geographies of Amazonia. Looks at the Amazon basin as much more than the world’s greatest rainforest, richest reserve of biological and cultural diversity, and largest source of fresh water flow. Prerequisite: IS/GEOG 210 or IS 290 or ENVR 201
1 Unit(s)
Society, Economy and Nature: Global Perspectives on Sustainable Development
Applies geography's human-environment tradition to examine social, cultural, and economic dimensions of sustainability and sustainable development. Examinations into foundations and theories behind the concept of sustainable development, discussions and debates about its real-world applicability, and explorations into case studies addressing relationships and contradictions between human desires for material well-being, environmental protection, and maintenance of cultural and/or social traditions. (Same as Environmental Studies 345.)
Prerequisite: ENVR 201, GEOG 210, or IS 210.
1 Unit(s)

GEOG 350 Environmental Gradients
Investigation of the approaches, key concepts, and methods of studying environmental gradients. Explores quantitative methods for describing different aspects of climate, water, nutrient, and biotic systems and their interactions. A modeling approach is introduced and different types of conceptual, statistical, and simulation models are used to explore the different systems. Prerequisite: Geography/Environmental Studies 250, Environmental Studies 201, Biology 207, Chemistry 110, or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

GEOG 360 Environmental Remote Sensing
Concepts of image acquisition, image interpretation, and satellite remote sensing. Includes electromagnetic spectrum concepts, acquisition of image data, visual characteristics of vegetation and landforms, image interpretation, classification and transformation, and integration of remotely sensed imagery into other spatial analysis systems. Student research projects. (Same as Biology 360 and Environmental Studies 360.) Prerequisite: Environmental Studies/Biology/Geography 260 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

GEOG 365 Advanced Spatial Analysis
Advanced topics in Geographic Information Systems (GIS) theory and application. Topics include use of the Spatial Analyst, 3-D Analyst, raster data sets, the Idrisi Software System, projects in environmental location analysis, retail site location, and application of GIS techniques to biological, environmental, and social science issues. (Same as Environmental Studies 365.) Prerequisite: Environmental Studies/Biology/Geography 260.
1 Unit(s)

GEOG 370 Geographies of Economic Development and Globalization
Geographic perspectives on economic development and spatial analysis of trends in the global economy. Topics include: natural resource location and distribution; commodity flows and chains; technological change and diffusion; international trade; entrepreneurship and innovation; industrial location theory; social and cultural dimensions of development; geographies of labor; and regional development theories and trends. Prerequisite: Geography 210 or Economics 101 and 102.
1 Unit(s)

GEOG 380 Selected Topics
May be repeated when topics vary. (Same as International Studies 350.) .25-1 Unit(s)

---

GEOG 388 Individual Internship
Supervised independent work. No more than 1.5 units of internship in any one department and 3.5 units of internship overall may be counted toward required degree units. Prerequisite: Permission of supervising instructor.
.25-1 Unit(s)

GEOG 390
Independent Study
Topics independently pursued under supervision of a faculty member. May be repeated twice for a total of up to two units. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.
.5-1 Unit(s)

GEOG 401
Geography Capstone
Capstone course is the culmination of the Geography major. The primary objective is to further develop students’ ability to conduct geographic research through the practical application of geographic methods and theory. Students will synthesize their knowledge of geography with an individual thesis or group project. Prerequisite: Geography/Interdisciplinary Studies 210, Geography/Biology/Environmental Studies 260, and two 300-level Geography courses of permission of instructor
1 Unit(s)

German Studies Program

Department of Modern Literatures and Cultures

Kathrin Bower, Section Coordinator
Associate Professor Bower
Director of German Language Program Sulzer-Reichel
Affiliated Faculty: Thomas Bonfiglio (Comparative Literature & Linguistics), Erik Craft (Economics), Ladelle McWhorter (Philosophy), Gary Shapiro (Philosophy), John Treadway (History), Hugh West (History)

This section contains information specific to the degree programs in German studies. For full information regarding departmental policies relevant to all the MLC degree programs, study abroad, and course sequencing, see the main page of the Department of Modern Literatures and Cultures.

Study Abroad

Study and travel abroad are strongly encouraged for all students. German studies students can take advantage of semester or year exchange programs in Konstanz and Münster, Germany, as well as the summer program in Berlin.

The Residency Requirement

For all German Studies majors, at least 5 of the 9 courses required for the major must be taken on the University of Richmond campus. Majors must take at least one 400-level class on campus after studying abroad, regardless of whether or not they have sufficient credits to fulfill the major or minor requirements.

The German Studies Major

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the major must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.70).

9 courses including:
- GERM 301 Conversation and Composition
- GERM 321 Introduction to German Literature (18th-20th century)
• Three additional 300-level courses in German
• Two 400-level courses in German (one must be taken after return from study abroad
• Two additional courses selected from the list below (LAC in German required)
  o ECON 210 The Economics of the European Union
  o MLC 256 Psychoanalysis, Literature, and Culture
  o MLC 340 European Romanticism
  o MLC 350 Introductory Linguistics
  o MLC 351 Contemporary Literary Theory
  o MLC 360 Representing the Holocaust
  o MLC 365 German Film in Context
  o HIST 233 Reformation Europe
  o HIST 240 European Thought 1650-1850
  o HIST 241 European Thought since 1850
  o HIST 242 Modern Germany
  o HIST 244 The Hapsburg Empire and After o HIST 248 European Diplomacy from Bismarck to Hitler
  o HIST 249 Twentieth-Century Europe
  o HIST 399 Holocaust
  o PHIL 272 Modern Western Philosophy
  o PHIL 275 Marx, Nietzsche, Freud
  o PHIL 336 Nineteenth-Century European Philosophy
  o PHIL 339 Topics in Existentialism
  o PHIL 344 Twentieth-Century Continental Philosophy
  o PHIL 357 Nietzsche

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the major. Prerequisites do not count toward the major unless otherwise noted.

Cross-School Major in German Studies and International Business

(Earned in conjunction with a major in the Robins School of Business with an international business concentration.)

9 courses and an interdisciplinary research project in addition to completing all requirements of the international business concentration for the business administration major, including

• Five units in German at the 300 or 400 level
• One semester full-time study at the Universität Münster School of Business and Economics (four courses)
• IDST 379 Interdisciplinary Research Project

A senior writing project (taken for one half unit as IDST 379) on a comparative topic dealing with international business and German culture, 20 pages, written in English or in German, making significant use of primary and secondary materials in both languages, conducted through independent study.

The German major/international business option represents a collaborative project between the Department of Modern Literatures and Cultures in the School of Arts and Sciences and the International Business Program in the Robins School of Business. Designated faculty members from each program will advise students upon declaration and as they progress through the major. The curriculum includes a semester abroad at one of the University's partner institutions. There, students will continue their Robins School concentrations and German Studies courses in classes with both local and other international students.

In order to prepare for the experience abroad, students in German will need to have completed at least German 202 on the Richmond campus. Students must take at least two courses in German at the Universität Münster.
Students are required to take one 400-level course in German upon their return.

Related Majors

- Combined major in English and German literature
- International Studies: Modern Europe
- International Studies: World Politics and Diplomacy

The German Studies Minor

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the minor must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.70). Up to three classes may be transferred in toward the minor. Minors must take at least one 400-level class on campus after studying abroad, regardless of whether or not they have sufficient credits to fulfill the minor requirements.

Five courses, including:

- GERM 301 Conversation and Composition
- GERM 321 Introduction to German Literature (18th-20th century)
- One additional 300-level course in German
- One 400-level course in German
- One course from the following list, with LAC in German or one additional 300-level course in German
  - MLC 256 Psychoanalysis, Literature, and Culture
  - MLC 340 European Romanticism

History and Memory: WWII in East Asia
Examination of the lingering controversies surrounding the history of WWII in East Asia. The focus is on the intersections of history and memory, and the politics of remembering and representing difficult historical events associated with the war. Issues include the Nanjing Massacre, comfort women, the bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, and the Battle of Okinawa.
1 Unit(s)

HIST 361
Madness and Society in the Modern Era
Historiographical examination of such questions as: What is insanity? How do we define the normal and the pathological? Who in society is best suited to determine psychological health and sickness? Can there be sciences of the emotions and sexuality? How do class, race, religion, and gender influence our views of human mental functioning? Can the human mind know itself? How did the sciences of the mind (i.e. psychiatry, psychoanalysis, clinical psychology, psychopharmacology, and the cognitive neurosciences) claim tremendous scientific authority and exert enormous cultural influence at the turn of the twentieth century? A variety of settings will be considered, including continental Europe, North America, Latin America, and Africa from the late eighteenth to the early twentieth centuries.
1 Unit(s)

HIST 370
Contending Visions of the Middle East
Examination of major debates in the field of Modern Middle Eastern and Islamic History, exploring what the main approaches and their critiques are, how the field (especially recently) came to be polarized and politicized, and where more fruitful middle ground might be found between these hardened categories. Topics will include Orientalism and its discontents, the rise of political Islam, nationalism, and "civilizational identities."
1 Unit(s)

Integrated Quantitative Science Program

Professor Parish (Chemistry)
Associate Professors Caudill (Mathematics and Computer Science), Fetea (Physics), Gentile (Chemistry), A. Hill (Biology), Kerckhove (Mathematics and Computer Science), Lawson (Mathematics and Computer Science), Stenger (Biology), Szajda (Mathematics and Computer Science)
Assistant Professor Lipan (Physics)

The integrated quantitative (IQ) science course is a first-year course for prospective science majors that provides an integrated introduction to biology, chemistry, physics, mathematics and computer science, with an accompanying integrated lab. It will approach scientific inquiry from multiple perspectives to develop the kinds of cross-disciplinary problem-solving skills that will lead to significant advances in human understanding. Each semester of the course will be organized around a guiding principle that integrates several concepts.

Instruction will be wholly integrated. An instructor from each of the five disciplines will be present for each lecture and presentation of the material will flow between disciplines. Topics for the course will be organized around broad conceptual areas (such as "State, Structure and Storage"), allowing each of the disciplines to be integrated into the discussion. Lab work will require skills from each of the disciplines and will take place in collaborative teams.

Purpose

The yearlong course is designed for high-achieving high school students who enjoy the challenges of solving tough problems, have completed high school calculus and are planning to major in any of the sciences or mathematics. For students planning to enroll in the pre-med program, IQ science meets three of the program's course requirements. Students are required to apply for the course. The application asks for a listing of high school science and mathematics courses with grades and level (honors, AP, IB, etc.) as well as a short statement indicating the applicant's interest in interdisciplinary science and motivation for taking the course.

Courses

The IQ Science course has a fall component and a spring component; each component consists of two 1-unit courses. Students who successfully complete one semester of the courses will satisfy both the Field of Study requirement in the Natural Sciences (FSNS) and the Field of Study requirement in Symbolic Reasoning (FSSR). Students who successfully complete both semesters of the course will earn four units toward graduation. The IQS courses may substitute for any of the following requirements: BIOL 199, CHEM 141, CMSC 150, MATH 231, and PHYS 131.

- BIOL 190 Integrated Science/Math/Computer Science 1 with Lab
  - (See Biology section).
  - Co-requisite: Math 190. 1 unit. (FSNB)
- MATH 190 Integrated Science/Math/Computer Science 2 with Lab
  - (See Math section.) Co-requisite: Biology 190. 1 unit. (FSSR)
- CHEM 191 Integrated Science/Math/Computer Science 3 with Lab
  - (See Chemistry section.) Prerequisites: Biology 190 and Math 190. Co-requisite: Physics 191. 1 unit.
- PHYS 191 Integrated Science/Math/Computer Science 4 with Lab
  - (See Physics section.). Prerequisites: Biology 190 and Math 190. Co-requisite: Chemistry 191. 1 unit.

Courses

- BIOL 190
  - Integrated Science/Math/Computer Science 1 with Laboratory
  - One of two courses taught fall semester as part of Integrated Quantitative Science program. Will integrate topics from Biology, Chemistry, Physics, Math and Computer Science and will include instructors from all five disciplines. Each semester of the course will be organized around a guiding principle that integrates several concepts. Along with co-requisite, will include ten hours for lecture and lab combination. Prerequisite: High school calculus. Co-requisite: Math 190. Departmental approval.
  - 1 Unit(s)
  - (FSNB)

- CHEM 191
  - Integrated Science/Math/Computer Science 3 with Laboratory
  - One of two courses taught spring semester as part of Integrated Quantitative Science program. Will integrate topics from Biology, Chemistry, Physics, Math and Computer Science and will include instructors from all five disciplines. Each semester of the course will be organized around a guiding principle that integrates several concepts. Along with co-requisite, will include ten hours for lecture and lab combination. Prerequisite: High school calculus. Biology 190 and Math 190. Departmental approval. Co-requisite: Physics 191.
1 Unit(s)

MATH 190
Integrated Science/Math/Computer Science 2 with Laboratory
One of two courses taught fall semester as part of Integrated Quantitative Science program. Each semester of the course will be organized around a guiding principle that integrates several concepts. Along with co-requisite, will include ten hours for lecture and lab combination. Prerequisite: High school calculus. Co-requisite: Biology 190. Departmental approval.
1 Unit(s)
(FSSR)

PHYS 191
Integrated Science/Math/Computer Science 4 with Laboratory
One of two courses taught spring semester as part of Integrated Quantitative Science program. Each semester of the course will be organized around a guiding principle that integrates several concepts. Along with co-requisite, will include ten hours for lecture and lab combination. Prerequisite: High school calculus. Biology 190 and Math 190. Departmental approval. Co-requisite: Chemistry 191.

Interdisciplinary Concentrations

Interdisciplinary Concentrations within Disciplinary Majors or Minors

Interdisciplinary Concentration in Arts Management
Approachable by studio art, art history, music, theatre, and dance majors or minors and provides curricular links for students interested in further practical and academic experiences in the area of arts management. Faculty coordinators are the director of the Modlin Center for the Arts and the director of University Museums.

5 units, including
- MUS/THTR/ART 345 Philanthropy in the Arts
- MUS/THTR/ART 388 Internship
- One unit, chosen from
  - ART 322 Seminar in Museum Studies
  - MUS/THTR 310 Managing Performing Arts Organizations
- One unit in accounting, chosen from
  - ACCT 201 Fundamentals of Financial Accounting
  - ACCT 202 Fundamentals of Managerial Accounting
- One unit in marketing, chosen from
  - MKT 320 Principles of Marketing
  - MKT 321U Principles of Marketing

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the minor. Prerequisites do not count toward the minor unless otherwise noted.

Courses in accounting and marketing may be taken in the School of Business, the School of Continuing Studies, or by transfer in consultation with one of the concentration’s coordinators. A concentration coordinator should be consulted for approval of the internship as appropriate for the concentration.
The arts management coordinators may be consulted for additional recommended courses in areas of arts, business, or leadership that support the student's particular area of interest. An arts course in an area other than a student's major or minor is encouraged, and may include applied music study or music ensembles.

Interdisciplinary Concentration in Comparative Literature for English Majors

The basic assumption behind this concentration is that literary studies can be unduly limited by restricting the context and parameters of scholarly inquiry to the literary works of one particular literary tradition, usually defined in fairly narrow geographical and linguistic terms. Comparative literature in the broadest sense may be defined as the text-based investigation of themes, issues, and works of art, free from the fetters of artificial geographical, cultural, political, or disciplinary demarcations. Students of comparative literature achieve a greater awareness of certain boundaries involved in the traditional study of literature--national, linguistic, generic, disciplinary, etc.--and of the issues and advantages involved in crossing those boundaries. In this concentration, students willing to acquire additional linguistic and disciplinary skills will develop the habits and tools necessary to address problems or topics of interest from a number of literary and disciplinary perspectives.

7 units, including
- ENGL 391 Methods and Themes in Comparative Literature
- Three upper-level literature courses from the modern literatures and cultures, Latin American and Iberian studies, or classical studies departments, in the original language
- Two courses in fields outside of literature (Students will choose from ancillary fields such as philosophy, art history, religious studies, etc., in support of their research concentration, and subject to approval of concentration coordinator.)
- A one unit independent study culminating in a substantial research project; honors students can use this research project as their honors thesis.

Interdisciplinary Concentration in Medieval and Renaissance Studies for English Majors

This concentration was created for English majors interested in deepening their knowledge of the cultures of the Middle Ages and Renaissance through interdisciplinary study. It thus requires that in addition to taking upper-level courses in Medieval and Renaissance English literature, majors also explore these periods from the perspective of other academic disciplines including, but not limited to, the history of art and architecture, foreign literatures, philosophy, religious studies, and history. It is hoped that the breadth of knowledge and intellectual flexibility that interdisciplinary study fosters will enable students in this concentration to undertake more complex kinds of research projects and achieve more sophisticated levels of critical thinking and writing than might otherwise have been possible.

7 units, including
- ENGL 308/ID 390 Interdisciplinary Studies in the Middle Ages and Renaissance
- One 300- or 400-level course in Medieval literature and one 300- or 400-level course in Renaissance literature, chosen from
  - ENGL 301 Literature of the Middle
  - ENGL 302 Literature of the English Renaissance
  - ENGL 303 Chaucer
  - ENGL 304 Shakespeare
  - ENGL 305 Critical Approaches to Shakespeare
  - ENGL 306 Milton
  - ENGL 309 Desire and Identity in the Renaissance: The Lyric Tradition
  - ENGL 330 Selected Topics in Literature Before the Early to Mid-19th Century
  - ENGL 400 Junior/Senior Seminar (depending on topic)
- Three units from at least two different departments outside of English, chosen from
  - ART 314 Northern Renaissance Art
  - ART 315 Art of the Italian Renaissance
  - ART 316 Art in the Age of Reform
- FREN 411 The French Middle Ages
- FREN 421 Renaissance
- HIST 225 Medieval Italy
- HIST 227 High Middle Ages
- HIST 229 Medieval England
- HIST 230 The Renaissance
- ITAL 423 Le Tre Corone: Dante, Petrarca and Boccaccio
- LAIS 321 Literary Spain: Poetry, Drama, Fiction
- LAIS 432 True Lies: Fiction and Truth in Don Quijote
- MLC 357 The Idea of the Renaissance: Self, History and Knowledge
- RELG 258 Medieval Religious Thought

A final critical paper examining one or more works relevant to the major shall be completed in the junior or senior year preferably as the final project in ENGL 308/IDST 390 or in another appropriate upper-division English course with prior approval from the concentration coordinators.

Students also will be encouraged to consider enrolling in any number of the following courses (these courses will not, however, count toward the six courses in Medieval and Renaissance Studies required of English major concentrators):

- ART 121 Survey I: Prehistory through the Middle Ages
- ART 122 Survey II: Renaissance to the Present
- CLSC 301 Greek Art and Archeology
- CLSC 302 Roman Art and Archeology
- CLSC 306 The Classical Tradition
- ENGL 226 Love and War in Medieval Literature
- ENGL 234 Shakespeare
- ENGL 236 On the Road: Literature of Quest and Pilgrimage
- FREN 431 Le Siècle Classique
- GREK 301 Greek Epic
- GREK 302 Greek Drama
- HIST 110 Ideas and Institutions of Western Civilization I
- HIST 223 The Roman Empire
- PHIL 281 Philosophy of Art
- PHIL 362 Philosophy of Religion
- RELG 241 Introduction to Early Christian Era
- RELG 243 The World of the New Testament
- RELG 340 Varieties of Early Christianity
- RELG 341 Paul and Christian Origins
- RELG 342 John and Early Christian Literature

Interdisciplinary Concentration in Medieval and Renaissance Studies for Art History Majors

This concentration is intended to encourage art history majors to develop an interdisciplinary approach to the study of Medieval and Renaissance visual cultures. The concentration aims to expose students to a variety of disciplines, approaches, and methodologies by supplementing their upper-level courses in Medieval and Renaissance art with those covering aspects of these historical periods in other academic disciplines. The selection of courses offered through the concentration allows students with a specific interest in Medieval and Renaissance art to broaden their knowledge of the periods, and provides them with opportunities to comprehensively examine topics of interest. Students will meet with their Medieval and Renaissance studies advisor in art history to outline a track of study from among the broad range of interdepartmental courses listed below.

6 units, including
- Three 300- or 400-level Department of Art and Art History courses in the areas of early Christian, Medieval or Renaissance art
• Three approved courses from at least two different departments outside art and art history, chosen from o CLSC 205 Greek and Roman Mythology: Epic
  o CLSC 207 Mythology: Greek Drama
  o CLSC 301 Greek Art and Archaeology
  o CLSC 302 Roman Art and Archaeology
  o CLSC 305 Greek and Roman Values
  o CLSC 306 The Classical Tradition
  o ENGL 226 Love and War in Medieval Literature
  o ENGL 234 Shakespeare
  o ENGL 236 On the Road: Literature of Quest and Pilgrimage
  o ENGL 301 Literature of the Middle Ages o ENGL 302 Literature of the English Renaissance o ENGL 303 Chaucer
  o ENGL 304 Shakespeare
  o ENGL 305 Critical Approaches to Shakespeare o ENGL 306 Milton
  o ENGL 307 Epic Traditions
  o ENGL 390 Interdisciplinary Studies in the Middle Ages and Renaissance o FREN 411 The French Middle Ages o FREN 421 Renaissance
  o GREK 301 Greek Epic
  o GREK 302 Greek Drama
  o GREK 303 Greek Historiography
  o GREK 304 Greek Philosophical Prose o HIST 223 The Roman Empire
  o HIST 225 Medieval Italy
  o HIST 226 Early Middle Ages
  o HIST 227 High Middle Ages o HIST 229 Medieval England
  o HIST 230 Renaissance
  o ITAL 321 Readings in Italian Literature
  o LATN 302 Ovid
  o LATN 303 Roman Epic
  o LATN 304 Roman Historiography
  o LATN 305 Horace
  o LATN 306 Roman Philosophical Literature
  o LATN 307 Catullus
  o LATN 308 The Novel
  o LATN 309 Cicero
  o LAIS 432 True Lies: Fiction and Truth in Don Quijote
  o PHIL 271 Ancient Greek Philosophy
  o RELG 241 Introduction to Early Christian Era
  o RELG 243 The World of the New Testament
  o RELG 258 Medieval Religious Thought o RELG 332 Hebrew and Christian Wisdom Literature
  o RELG 340 Varieties of Early Christianity
  o RELG 341 Paul and Christian Origins
  o RELG 342 John and Early Christian Literature
  o RELG 356 Religious Thought of the Renaissance and Reformation

• Senior thesis project on a subject in early Christian, Medieval or Renaissance art

Students also will be encouraged to consider enrolling in any number of the following courses (these courses will not, however, count toward the three courses in Medieval and Renaissance studies taken outside the Department of Art and Art History required for the art history concentration):
  o FREN 431 Le Siècle Classique
  o HIST 110 Ideas and Institutions of Western Civilization I
PHIL 281 Philosophy of Art
PHIL 362 Philosophy of Religion
RELG 263 Religion and the Arts

Interdisciplinary Concentration in Neuroscience for Biology and Psychology Majors

Majors in biology or psychology with a special interest in neurobiology or behavioral neuroscience may apply to pursue an interdisciplinary concentration in neuroscience. Because of the scheduling demands of the concentration, students are strongly encouraged to apply during the fall semester of the sophomore year.

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the major. Prerequisites do not count toward the major unless otherwise noted.

Designated Courses for Biology Majors

18.5 units, including

- BIOL 199 Introduction to Biological Thinking
- One unit in genetics, cellular and molecular biology, chosen from
  - BIOL 201 Genetics
  - BIOL 205 Cell Biology
- One unit in evolution, diversity and ecology, chosen from
  - BIOL 207 Ecology
  - BIOL 225 Evolution
- One unit in organismal biology, chosen from
  - BIOL 216 Botany
  - BIOL 217 Integrative Physiology
  - BIOL 229 Microbiology
- Five units of biology approved for the major, four of which are at the 300 level, with at least three chosen from
  - BIOL 308 Comparative Vertebrate Anatomy
  - BIOL 311 Microanatomy
  - BIOL 312 Developmental Biology
  - BIOL 338 Comparative Animal Physiology
  - BIOL 343 Neurobiology
  - BIOL 344 Behavioral Ecology
  - BIOL 345 Cellular Neurophysiology
  - BIOL 351 Special Topics: Biology of Neurodegenerative Disease
  - BIOL 352 Evolutionary Developmental Biology
  - BIOL 354 Biological Basis of Neurodegenerative Diseases with Laboratory
- CHEM 141 Introductory Chemistry: Structure, Dynamics and Synthesis
- CHEM 205-206 Organic Chemistry
- MATH 212 Calculus II, or 232 Scientific Calculus II
- One unit, chosen from
  - PHYS 132 General Physics with Calculus II
  - PHYS 133 Atomic and Sub-Atomic Physics
  - PHYS 134 Biological Physics
- PSYC 200 Methods and Analyses
- Two units of neuroscience-related psychology, chosen from
  - PSYC 331 Behavioral Neuroscience
  - PSYC 333 Cognitive Science
  - PSYC 341 Cognitive Neuroscience
  - PSYC 440 Advanced Neuroscience
  - PSYC 441 Clinical Neuroscience
  - PSYC 442 The Neurobiology of Relationships
• Approved 400-level seminar
• One half unit research project in neuroscience, chosen from o BIOL 350 Undergraduate Research
  o BIOL 395 Honors Research

Designated Courses for Psychology Majors

18 units, including
• PSYC 100 Introduction to Psychological Science
• PSYC 200 Methods and Analyses
• PSYC 331 Behavioral Neuroscience
• PSYC 341 Cognitive Neuroscience
• Two units of PSYC 361 Independent Research
• Two units of senior research, chosen from o PSYC 461/462 Senior Research
  o PSYC 491/492 Senior Honors
• Two units of PSYC 449 Advanced Seminar
• MATH 211-212 or 231-232 Calculus I and II
• One unit, chosen from o BIOL 201 Genetics
  o BIOL 205 Cell Biology
• One unit, chosen from
  o BIOL 207 Ecology
  o BIOL 225 Evolution
  o BIOL 229 Microbiology
  o BIOL 235 Physiology
• One unit, chosen from
  o BIOL 308 Comparative Vertebrate Anatomy
  o BIOL 311 Microanatomy
  o BIOL 312 Developmental Biology
  o BIOL 338 Comparative Animal Physiology o BIOL 343 Neurobiology
  o BIOL 344 Behavioral Ecology
  o BIOL 345 Cellular Neurophysiology o BIOL 351 Special Topics
  o BIOL 352 Evolutionary Developmental Biology
  o BIOL 354 Biological Basis of Neurodegenerative Diseases with Laboratory
• CHEM 141 Introductory Chemistry: Structure, Dynamics and Synthesis
• CHEM 205-206 Organic Chemistry

Interdisciplinary Studies

Scott Davis, Coordinator (Religion)

Interdisciplinary studies offers two distinct programs: interdisciplinary colloquia and the self-designed interdisciplinary studies major (see below).

The Interdisciplinary Colloquia
The interdisciplinary colloquia, which are one-semester electives, provide an opportunity to explore a variety of topics that do not typically fall within disciplinary boundaries. They are taught on a small-group basis, stressing student-faculty interaction, and are open to all students without prerequisites except as noted. Students should ascertain which courses are available in any given semester.

The Interdisciplinary Studies Major

Note: A grade of not less than C (2.0) is required in each course comprising the major.

10 units of coursework including the senior thesis, noting

- The nature of the approved program will determine whether the degree is a Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science. The interdisciplinary studies major provides a student the opportunity to propose and pursue, with faculty supervision, a unique program of study.
- The specific program of study is developed by the student in consultation with two faculty advisors, cohering to a central student-determined theme, involving two or more departments, culminating in a significant senior thesis. The program must be approved by two faculty advisors, the interdisciplinary studies coordinator, and the dean of the School of Arts and Sciences.
- Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the major. Prerequisites do not count toward the major unless otherwise noted.

Courses

IDST 200

The Medical Humanities
Designed for students who are planning to enter the health care field. The course provides an introduction to non-clinical aspects of medical practice that confront health care practitioners. Topics include medical ethics, cross-cultural medicine, the doctor-patient relationship, and death and dying.

1 Unit(s)

IDST 240

Law and Medicine
Examines the intersection of law and medicine, primarily in medical malpractice litigation and also by looking at other areas of medical jurisprudence including state and federal health care regulation.

1 Unit(s)

IDST 280

Principles of the Natural Sciences
Explores foundational principles of biology, chemistry, and physics. Students gain experience using these principles in an applied context, fostering critical thought. Designed for pre-medical students preparing to take the Medical College Admissions Test (MCAT). Graded Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory. Prerequisite: Biology 205 and Chemistry 206.

0 Unit(s)

IDST 281

Principles of the Natural Sciences
Explores foundational principles of biology, chemistry, and physics. Students gain experience using these principles in an applied context, fostering critical thought. Designed for premedical students preparing to take the Medical College Admissions Test (MCAT), Continuation of Interdisciplinary Studies 280. Graded Pass/Fail. Prerequisite: Interdisciplinary Studies 280.

.5 Unit(s)

IDST 284

Integrated Quantitative Science (IQS) Research Training Seminar
Continuation of the appreciation of, and facility with, integrated, interdisciplinary research in science, math, and computer science. Through discussion and hands-on activities students will gain a greater perspective and will develop skills in research that crosses traditional disciplinary boundaries. Prerequisite: Biology 190, Math 190, Physics 191, and Chemistry 191 or permission of the instructor.

.25 Unit(s)

IDST 285
Developing Interdisciplinary Research
Focuses on development of an interdisciplinary research project from inception through writing of grant proposal. Begins with discussion of scientific question being addressed, followed by discussions of broad concepts of a research proposal and, finally, the development and completion of a final proposal. Involves literature search, discussions concerning design and execution of experiments, as well as interpretation of data (both quantitative and qualitative). Experimentation will involve a variety of techniques and approaches; expose students to interdisciplinary nature of modern biomedically related research and how collaboration leads to enhancement of a project; and promote students' ability to think critically, write a proposal, and discuss and present their ideas to others in an effective manner. The faculty/research student teams will work to develop a final research proposal for NSF or another suitable funding agency. Prerequisite: Chemistry 141 and Biology 201 or 205.

.5 Unit(s)

IDST 299
Selected Topics
One semester elective. Explores a variety of topics that do not typically fall within disciplinary boundaries.
1 Unit(s)

IDST 300
Technologies of Change: Information Resources, Policies and Communities
Focus on understanding, using, and evaluating information technologies for research, communication, manipulation of data, and presentation of ideas and results. Consideration of public policy, ethical and technological issues related to information access, presentation, ownership, and distribution.
1 Unit(s)

IDST 334
Urban Revitalization and Preservation
Using the city of Richmond as a laboratory, a study of importance of preserving old and historic structures, districts and artifacts, and of maintaining integrity and flavor of existing neighborhoods within context of modern urban environment.
1 Unit(s)

IDST 379
Combined Major Project/Portfolio
Working with faculty mentors, students will write a 20-30 page research paper on an interdisciplinary topic. For students in combined majors with French and German, this paper will become part of a portfolio representing significant achievements in the major and emphasizing the interdisciplinary and/or cross-cultural aspects of the major. Prerequisite: Department approval.
.5 Unit(s)

IDST 388
Individual Internship
No more than 1.5 units of internship in any one department and 3.5 units of internship overall may be counted toward required degree units. Prerequisite: Departmental approval.
.25-1 Unit(s)

IDST 390
Interdisciplinary Studies in the Middle Ages and Renaissance
(See English 308.)
1 Unit(s)
IDST  397
Special Topics
Topics will vary from semester to semester.
1 Unit(s)

IDST  398-399
Senior Thesis
For students in the interdisciplinary studies major.
.5-.5 Unit(s)

International Studies

John Gordon, Coordinator (History)

The International Studies major is composed of six concentrations that are coordinated by advisors with special expertise in the areas. Students with specific interests outside the described concentrations may petition to create an independent concentration.

The International Studies Major

Note: A grade of not less than C (2.0) is required in all coursework comprising the major.

13 units, including

A. Foundational Study in Language and Culture

At least two units of 300- or 400-level courses in the Department of modern literatures and cultures or department of Latin American and Iberian studies, excluding courses taught in English. For students whose first language is not English, at least two units chosen from: 300- or 400-level courses in the department of modern literatures and cultures or department of Latin American and Iberian studies, or two units of 200- or 300-level courses in the department of English.

B. Approved Experience Abroad

In order to provide for a significant degree of cultural immersion, the experience abroad will be related to the student's concentration and will be at least one semester in length. Any program which does not meet these requirements must be approved by the concentration advisor in consultation with the program coordinator.

C. International Studies Coursework (three core units and an IS concentration)

- One unit, chosen from
  - PLSC 250 Introduction to International Relations
  - GEOG/IS 210 Geographic Dimensions of Human Development
- IS 290 Perspectives in International Studies
- IS 400 Senior Seminar
• An international studies concentration (within the concentration: eight units selected from three or more departments with no more than four units from a single department)

Note: With prior approval, study abroad courses may be applied toward the major.

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the major. Prerequisites do not count toward the major unless otherwise noted.

International Studies: Africa

Joseph Obi (Sociology), Advisor

8 units, chosen from the following (may include up to two courses dealing with the African diaspora, marked with an *). For eligibility of other relevant courses for inclusion in the major, see the concentration advisor.

- ANTH 101 Introduction to Cultural Anthropology
- ANTH 300 Sexuality and Gender Across Culture
- ANTH 304 Ritual, Witchcraft and Divination
- ANTH 328 Anthropology of Human Rights
- ANTH 336 Politics, Power and Ritual

Individual Programs

A student who has an interest in an international studies area not listed here may be able to develop an individual program of study to meet the concentration requirement. Such a program will have a theme supported by appropriate courses and shall be approved by the coordinator of international studies. Students who wish to pursue this option should see the program coordinator early in their college career to allow adequate time for planning.

Multiple disciplinary perspectives on history, society, politics, economics, and culture of Latin America.
Prerequisite: One course on Latin America.

1 Unit(s)

IS 331
Global Cities
A collaborative and interdisciplinary approach to research questions raised by the complexity of the new mega-cities that dominate global culture.

1 Unit(s)

IS 342
Transitions from Communism in Europe and Eurasia
(See Political Science 342.)

1 Unit(s)

IS 350
Selected Topics
Selected topics in related subjects as arranged by the program coordinator. May be repeated for credit when topics vary.  Prerequisite: Permission of department.

1 Unit(s)

IS 351
Globalization
(See Political Science 351.)

1 Unit(s)

IS 354
Middle East in the Media, Media in the Middle East
How can we make sense of news from the Middle East? This exploration of the contemporary Middle East is a cross-disciplinary investigation of depictions of the Middle East in American media, on the one hand, and of Middle Eastern media, on the other. In addition to readings from anthropology, political science, sociology, and communications studies, materials will include American and Middle Eastern films, news reports of events unfolding during the semester, and a range of electronic media such as blogs, teleconferencing, and social networking. Students will also be introduced to the sources of information on current events area specialists consult.

1 Unit(s)

IS 388
Internship
May be taken for a grade or pass/fail. Up to one unit may be applied towards the major, only when a grade is awarded. No more than 1.5 units of internship in any one department and 3.5 units of internship overall may be counted toward required degree units.  Prerequisite: International Studies 290 and permission of department.

.5-1 Unit(s)

IS 390
Independent Study
Topics independently pursued under supervision of faculty member.  Prerequisite: Permission of department.

.25-1 Unit(s)

IS 400
Senior Seminar
Follow up on core concepts and approaches introduced in International Studies 290; sets of international issues and relationships are studied using tools and approaches of several disciplines. Seminar topics change from semester to semester. While readings are common, student's area of individual inquiry is, where possible, related to the concentration.  Prerequisite: International Studies 290.

Italian Studies Program

Department of Modern Literatures and Cultures

Lidia Radi, Section Coordinator
Associate Professor Russell
Assistant Professor Radi
Director of Intensive Language Program Marcin
Affiliated Faculty: Elena Calvillo (Art History), Joanna Drell (History)

This section contains information specific to the degree programs in Italian studies. For full information regarding departmental policies relevant to all the MLC degree programs, study abroad, and course sequencing, see the main page of the Department of Modern Literatures and Cultures.

Courses in Italian language, literature and culture are offered in the Department of Modern Literatures and Cultures. Additionally, students may pursue the Italian Studies major or minor, which combine work in MLC with related courses in other departments.

Study Abroad

Study and travel abroad are strongly encouraged for all students. For students of Italian, the department offers summer study programs in Italy. In addition, there are exchange agreements for study during the academic year in Verona, Ferrara, and Milano. For a complete list, contact the Office of International Education.

The Residency Requirement

For all Italian majors, at least 5 of the 9 courses required for the major must be taken on the University of Richmond campus. Majors must take at least one 400-level class on campus after studying abroad, regardless of whether or not they have sufficient credits to fulfill the major or minor requirements.

The Italian Studies Major

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the major must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.70).

9 courses and a senior project (498-499) including
  • ITAL 301 Italian Conversation through Cinema
  • ITAL 305 Advanced Grammar and Composition
  • ITAL 321 Italian Literature in Context
  • Two units, chosen from
    o ITAL 411 Italian Identities: Sicily, Veneto, and Tuscany
    o ITAL 423 Le Tre Corone: Dante, Petrarca and Boccaccio
    o ITAL 453 Selected Readings in 19th- and 20th-Century Italian Literature and Culture
    o ITAL 497 Selected Topics in Italian Literature and Culture
  • Four units, chosen from (with a LAC in Italian, if taken in English)
    o ITAL 315 Folklore and Legend in Northern Italy
    o ITAL 397 Selected Topics: Italian Culture and Society
    o MLC 340 European Romanticism
    o MLC 350 Introductory Linguistics
    o MLC 351 Contemporary Literary Theory
    o MLC 357 The Idea of the Renaissance: Self, History and Knowledge
In addition to the regularly offered courses there will be others offered occasionally that may count towards an Italian studies major. All courses outside MLC that can be taken for credit towards the major will be announced by the section coordinator at the beginning of each registration period. Students should always check with the section coordinator to make sure that courses outside of MLC will count towards the major. Students are strongly encouraged to satisfy some of the requirements of the major by studying abroad.

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the major. Prerequisites do not count toward the major unless otherwise noted.

Cross-School Major in Italian Studies and International Business

(Earned in conjunction with a major in the Robins School of Business with an international business concentration.)

9 courses and a senior project (498-499), in addition to completing all requirements of the international business concentration for the business administration major, including

- Five units in Italian at the 300 or 400 level
- ITAL 498-499 Senior Project I and II
- One semester full-time study at Bocconi University of Economics and Business Administration (four courses)

The Italian major/international business option represents a collaborative project between the Department of Modern Literatures and Cultures in the School of Arts and Sciences and the International Business Program in the Robins School of Business. Designated faculty members from each program will advise students upon declaration and as they progress through the major. The curriculum includes a semester abroad at one of the University's partner institutions. There, students will continue work on their Robins School and Italian Studies requirements in classes with both local and other international students.

In order to prepare for the experience abroad, students in Italian will need to have completed at least Italian 221 on the Richmond campus; they must take at least one concurrent course in Italian while at Bocconi. Students are required to take one 400-level course in Italian upon their return.

The Italian Studies Minor
Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the minor must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.70). Up to three classes in transfer may be used toward minor requirements. Minors must take at least one 400-level class on campus after studying abroad, regardless of whether or not they have sufficient credits to fulfill the minor requirements.

5 courses, including
- Three Italian courses above the 200 level
- Two courses, chosen from (with a LAC in Italian, if taken in English)
  - ITAL 315 Folklore and Legend in Northern Italy
  - ITAL 397 Selected Topics: Italian Culture and Society
  - MLC 340 European Romanticism
  - MLC 350 Introductory Linguistics

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the minor. Prerequisites do not count toward the minor unless otherwise noted.

In addition to the regularly offered courses there will be others offered occasionally that may count towards an Italian studies minor. All courses outside MLC that can be taken for credit towards the minor will be announced by the section coordinator at the beginning of each registration period. Students are strongly encouraged to satisfy some of the requirements of the minor by studying abroad.

Languages Across the Curriculum

Languages Across the Curriculum (LAC) offers quarter unit, pass/fail courses in a variety of languages. LAC sections are small discussion groups taught by a faculty member well versed in a second language or by selected international or bilingual students called LAC Assistants. All LAC sections are offered in conjunction with primary courses throughout the curriculum, including core, political science/social sciences, arts/literatures, science/health, business administration, continuing studies, and leadership. The purpose of LAC sections is to ensure that Richmond students acquire cross-cultural competency through the use of their language skills in the context of another discipline. LAC students will generally meet once a week for a roundtable discussion of assignments in the target language, accommodating the range of fluency present among the students. Some faculty might choose to provide students with the opportunity to complete research projects instead of the weekly meetings. A LAC course will not count toward a major or minor. No more than one unit of LAC credit may count toward the total number of units required for a degree.

  o LAIS 332 Introduction to Spanish American Literature II
• Three units chosen from the 400-level seminars in literature and culture
• Two electives chosen from LAIS classes above 310
• LAIS 496 Senior Symposium

Additional requirements for majors

• For students studying abroad for a semester or year, at least one 400-level LAIS seminar must be taken upon return to the University of Richmond
• A maximum of four non-University of Richmond courses can be transferred toward the LAIS major
• All LAIS majors need to have completed previously at least two 300-level LAIS courses in order to receive LAIS credit from a study abroad program

Cross-School Major in Latin American and Iberian Studies and International Business

(Earned in conjunction with a major in the Robins School of Business with an international business concentration.)

9.5 units, in addition to completing all requirements of the international business concentration for the business administration major, including
• Two units chosen from o LAIS 301-306 (must be taken prior to study abroad)
One unit chosen from
  o LAIS 321 Literary Spain
  o LAIS 331 Introduction to Spanish American Literature I
  o LAIS 332 Introduction to Spanish American Literature II

Two units in LAIS at the 400 level, one of which must be taken upon return from study abroad

One semester in Latin America or Spain at an approved institution with an all-Spanish curriculum in business (4 courses)

LAIS 496 Senior Symposium

The cross-school major in Latin American Studies and International Business represents a collaborative project between the Department of Latin American and Iberian Studies in the School of Arts and Sciences and the International Business Program in the Robins School of Business. The curriculum includes a semester abroad at one of the University’s partner institutions (for example, Universidad Torcuato Di Tella in Argentina, Universidad de Deusto in Spain, or Instituto Tecnológico y de Estudios Superiores de Monterrey in Mexico). At such institutions, students will continue their Robins School concentrations in classes with both local and other international students.

In order to prepare for the experience abroad, students in LAIS will have a solid base of 300-level courses taken on the Richmond campus. Upon return they will broaden their knowledge of literary and cultural studies through advanced seminars as well as continue their Robins School coursework.

The Latin American and Iberian Studies Minor

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the minor must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.70).

5 units, including
  - Two units chosen from
    o LAIS 301-306 (content-based language courses emphasizing speaking, reading, and writing)
  - One unit chosen from

    o LAIS 331 Introduction to Spanish American Literature I
    o LAIS 332 Introduction to Spanish American Literature II
  - One elective chosen from LAIS classes above 310

All LAIS minors need to have previously completed at least two LAIS courses at the 300 level at the University of Richmond in order to transfer credit from a study abroad program.

LAIS Curriculum for Students with Advanced or Superior Proficiency in Spanish

The following curriculum is designed for students entering the university with advanced or superior proficiency in Spanish. This includes native speakers, heritage speakers, and students who have acquired advanced proficiency through residence in a Spanish-speaking country. Students with advanced or superior proficiency must seek the advice of an LAIS faculty member before registering.

Students with advanced or superior proficiency who wish to pursue a major or minor in LAIS should complete their studies with courses higher than LAIS 310. One of these courses should be LAIS 385 Spanish Writing Workshop. The total number of units required for the major remains 9.5 (and, for the minor, it remains 5).
Students with advanced or superior proficiency who wish to take LAIS courses as electives, without pursuing a major or minor, should follow the same criteria. Students who have taken a course above 310 cannot take a language course below 310 for elective credit, except with permission of the department.

Note about Portuguese

LAIS 390, Portuguese for Spanish Speakers, is an accelerated language course aimed at students already fluent in Spanish (either heritage speakers or students who have completed at least one 400-level LAIS course). LAIS 391, Luso-Brazilian Readings, is a follow-up course to develop reading skills. Both Portuguese courses may be taken for elective credit toward the LAIS major. Contact Professor Dixon Abreu if interested.

Related Fields

- International Studies: Latin American Studies
- International Studies: Modern Europe
- International Studies: World Politics and Diplomacy

Study Abroad

Study abroad is strongly encouraged for all students. The department offers summer study programs in Argentina and Spain. In addition, there are exchange agreements for study during the academic year in Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Mexico, and Spain. For a complete list, contact the Office of International Education.

Outreach Program

The LAIS Outreach Program at the University of Richmond builds bridges with the Hispanic community, giving students the opportunity to enrich their cultural experience and use their language skills. Students participating in this program may work for a minimum of 20 hours per semester for an additional .25 units of credit (up to .5 units of credit).

In addition to the classroom study of Hispanic immigrant literature, newspapers, and films, students will participate in an outreach project in the local Hispanic community. Note: The community-based learning component may also be undertaken independently. Contact the department for more information. Prerequisite: Latin American and Iberian Studies 221.

1 Unit(s)

LAIS 302
Spanish through Literature
Development of aural, oral, and written communication skills through literary texts of the Hispanic world. Students will read poems, short stories, plays, and short novels and interpret them through class discussions and regular writing assignments. This is not an FSLT course. Prerequisite: Latin American and Iberian Studies 221.

1 Unit(s)

LAIS 303
Spanish in the Media
Development of aural, oral, and written communication skills through a focus on mass media in Spanish and Latin American culture. Spanish will be taught through direct contact with newspapers, journals, TV programming, and films. Students are expected to participate actively in class debates and presentations, complete written assignments on a regular basis, and view all programs and films assigned by the instructor. Prerequisite: Latin American and Iberian Studies 221.

1 Unit(s)

LAIS 304
Spanish in the Theater
Development of aural, oral, and written communication skills through the study and performance of contemporary plays from Latin America. Special attention will be given to the discussion of social, cultural, historical, and political aspects of the texts studied, as well as their genre-specific characteristics. Prerequisite: Latin American and Iberian Studies 221.

1 Unit(s)

LAIS 305
Spanish in Politics and Society
Development of aural, oral, and written communication skills through the study and discussion of current events and issues in the Spanish-speaking world. Prerequisite: Latin American and Iberian Studies 221.
LAIS 306
Spanish in Business
Development of aural, oral, and written communication skills relative to commercial documents and transactions commonly used in the Hispanic world. Practice in writing based on materials needed for conducting business in Spanish. Prerequisite: Latin American and Iberian Studies 221.
1 Unit(s)

LAIS 311
Perspectives on Peoples and Cultures of Spain
Study of society, cultures, arts, history, and ideas of Spain. Prerequisite: Two of Latin American and Iberian Studies 301, 302, 303, 304, 305 or 306.
1 Unit(s)

LAIS 312
Perspectives on Cultures and Nations of Latin America
Study of society, cultures, arts, history, and ideas of Latin America. Prerequisite: Two of Latin American and Iberian Studies 301, 302, 303, 304, 305 or 306.
1 Unit(s)

LAIS 321
Literary Spain: Poetry, Drama, Fiction
Introduction to literary analysis within the cultural context of Spain. Critical tools for approaching specific literary genres: short story, novel, poetry, and drama. Readings are selected for their literary, cultural, and historical significance. Prerequisite: Two of Latin American and Iberian Studies 301, 302, 303, 304, 305 or 306.
1 Unit(s)
(FSLT)

LAIS 331-332
Introduction to Spanish-American Literature, I-II
Introduction to Spanish-American literature and critical literary analysis. Focus on primary texts dating from the 15th through 19th centuries (331); 20th century (332). Prerequisite: Two of Latin American and Iberian Studies 301, 302, 303, 304, 305 or 306.
1-1 Unit(s)
(FSLT)

LAIS 385
Spanish Writing Workshop
Analysis of grammatical structure of Spanish. Writing practice. Prerequisite: Two of Latin American and Iberian Studies 301, 302, 303, 304, 305 or 306. Students entering with advanced or superior proficiency should contact the department about enrollment in this class.
1 Unit(s)

LAIS 388
Individual Internship
Not to be counted as credit toward the major or minor. No more than 1.5 units of internship in any one department and 3.5 units of internship overall may be counted toward required degree units. Prerequisite: Admission by audition/permission of department.
.25-1 Unit(s)

LAIS 389
Practice Assistantship
Students lead practice sessions associated with the elementary and intermediate language sequences in Spanish. The practice assistantship does not count as course credit toward the major or minor. Prerequisite: Permission of department.

Modern Literature of Galicia
An interdisciplinary approach to the study of modern Galician literature and culture (Galician traditions, visual art, film) and their relevance within a global context. Prerequisite: Latin American and Iberian Studies 321, 331, or 332. 1 Unit(s)

LAIS 455

Barcelona: Text and City
The cultural, intellectual, and urban history of the city of Barcelona from the mid 19th century to the present, with special attention to how the city is portrayed in literature and other works of art. Prerequisite: Latin American and Iberian Studies 321, 331, or 332. 1 Unit(s)

LAIS 462

Visions of Contemporary Spain
Study of the cultures of contemporary Spain since the transition to democracy with special attention given to literature, film, theatre, art, popular culture, and mass media. Prerequisite: Latin American and Iberian Studies 321, 331, or 332. 1 Unit(s)

LAIS 463

Modern Spanish Narrative
Study of representative narrative texts from the 19th to the 21st century. Emphasis on the technical and thematic innovations of the novel and short story as well as the social and historical contexts that have shaped literary production. Prerequisite: Latin American and Iberian Studies 321, 331, or 332. 1 Unit(s)

LAIS 464

Modern Theatre in Spain
Study of written dramatic texts and performance traditions from Spain. Selections may include works from the 18th century to the present. Prerequisite: Latin American and Iberian Studies 321, 331, or 332. 1 Unit(s)

LAIS 465

Spanish Cinema
Study of significant Spanish films with special attention to their relationship to politics, culture, society, and history. Prerequisite: Latin American and Iberian Studies 321, 331, or 332. 1 Unit(s)

LAIS 471

Introduction to Latin American Film
Study of prominent examples of Latin American film production with special attention paid to aesthetic aspects of cinematographic language and cultural questions embodied in the films examined. Prerequisite: Latin American and Iberian Studies 321, 331, or 332. 1 Unit(s)

LAIS 472

Contemporary Spanish-American Theater
Study of leading contemporary theatrical movements in Spanish America with focus on universal aspects of language of the theater and uniqueness of Spanish-American themes and trends. Prerequisite: Latin American and Iberian Studies 321, 331, or 332. 1 Unit(s)

LAIS 473

Political Action and Latin American Indigenous Film
Examines the main cinematic movements in Latin America, in which political action and the vindication of indigenous peoples and their land coalesce with a concern for a new film aesthetic. Prerequisite: Latin American and Iberian Studies 321, 331, or 332.
1 Unit(s)

LAIS 474
Contemporary Writing in Latin America: Sex, Drugs and Rock 'n' Roll
An interdisciplinary approach to the study of the literary movements currently taking place in Latin America. Special attention devoted to the literature published during the last decade of the 20th century as a defining period in which new trends become consolidated. Covers the entire region, focusing on works published in the Southern Cone, Colombia, Central America, Mexico, and Cuba. Prerequisite: Latin American and Iberian Studies 321, 331, or 332.

LAIS 475
Women and Writing in Latin America
Question of representation and self-representation of women in selected Spanish-American texts. Attention given to recently developed theories relevant to women's writing and concerns. Prerequisite: Latin American and Iberian Studies 321, 331, or 332.
1 Unit(s)

LAIS 477
Literature of the Spanish-Speaking Caribbean
Study of texts representative of multiple ethnic and cultural influences (indigenous, European, and African) at play in the Caribbean basin. Prerequisite: Latin American and Iberian Studies 321, 331, or 332.
1 Unit(s)

LAIS 484
The Latin American Essay
Examines the cultural history of Latin America and the construction of its intellectual traditions through the study of the essay. Special attention given to the definition of the genre within Spanish-American literature and its role in public debates from colonial to contemporary Latin America. Prerequisite: Latin American and Iberian Studies 321, 331, or 332.
1 Unit(s)

LAIS 485
Spanish-American Narrative
Study of representative Spanish-American novels and/or short stories from the 19th, 20th, and 21st centuries. Attention given to technical aspects of literary narrative as well as cultural contexts. Prerequisite: Latin American and Iberian Studies 321, 331, or 332.
1 Unit(s)

LAIS 486
U.S. Latino/a Literature
Comprehensive study of Hispanic-Americans' struggle for identity in light of their historical, ethnic, economic, and cultural positions in the United States. Prerequisite: Latin American and Iberian Studies 321, 331, or 332.
1 Unit(s)

LAIS 487
Latin America: Encounter and Conflict
Thematic study of representative Spanish-American texts, focusing on the search for identity and confrontation occurring between different societies, systems of thought, and cultures. Prerequisite: Latin American and Iberian Studies 321, 331, or 332.
1 Unit(s)

LAIS 495
Independent Study

Law and the Liberal Arts

Nancy Schauber, Coordinator (Philosophy)

Law and the liberal arts is an interdisciplinary minor that consists of courses from across the curriculum. The courses that count toward the minor are those that are generally recommended by law schools for students thinking about going to law school. The purpose of the courses within the minor is to prepare one to think critically and analytically as a well-rounded liberal artist. The courses are divided into eight areas: law, American history, economics, ethics, legal system, logical reasoning, public speaking and debate, and writing.

The Law and the Liberal Arts Minor

Note: Students must receive a C (2.0) or above for these courses to count toward the minor. No course taken for less than .5 units will count towards the minor.

6 units, including
  - One unit in Area 1
  - Five units from at least five of the remaining areas

No more than three of the courses to be applied toward the minor may be from any one department.

At least two courses must be at the 300-level or higher to count toward the minor. No more than two courses at the 100-level may count toward the minor.

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the minor. Prerequisites do not count toward the minor unless otherwise noted.

Area 1: Law
CJ 320 Fundamentals of Criminal Law
ECON 231 Law and Economics
PHIL 260 Philosophical Problems in Law and Society
PHIL 364 Philosophy of Law
PLSC 331 Constitutional Law
PLSC 333 Civil Rights and Civil Liberties
PLSC 352 International Law
PLSC 379 Selected Topics (appropriate when the subject relates primarily to law and the course is approved by the law and the liberal arts advisory council)
WGSS 302 Women and the Law

Area 2: American History

HIST 121 U.S. Since 1877
HIST 217 State and Society in the United States, 1890-1945
HIST 218 State and Society in the United States, 1945-Present
HIST 391 Transnational Social Reform
PLSC 336 American Constitutional History

Area 3: Economics

ECON 101 Principles of Microeconomics
ECON 102 Principles of Macroeconomics
ECON 105 Introduction to Global Economics

Area 4: Ethics

ECON 260 Special Topics: Ethics and Economics
LDST 205 Justice and Civil Society
LDST 377 Ethical Decision Making - Health Care
PHIL 220 Contemporary Moral Issues
PHIL 360 Ethics
PHIL 365 Action, Responsibility, and Free Will PHIL 375 Ethics and Practical Reasoning
PHIL 380 Topics Seminar (appropriate when the subject relates primarily to law and the course is approved by the law and the liberal arts advisory council)
RELG 267 Varieties of Christian Ethics
BUAD 392 Ethical, Social and Legal Responsibilities

Area 5: Legal System

ANTH 379 Selected Topics: Law and Order: the Anthropology of Justice
CJ 321 Fundamentals of Criminal Procedure
PLSC 337 Legal System
SOC 207 Crime and Justice in a Post-Modern Society
SOC 324 Law and Society

Area 6: Logical Reasoning

CMSC 150 Introduction to Computing
CMSC 155 Introduction to Scientific Computing
LDST 250 Critical Thinking (.5 units)
MATH 300 Fundamentals of Abstract Mathematics
PHIL 251 Elementary Symbolic Logic

Area 7: Public Speaking and Debate

RHCS 101 Rhetoric and Public Address
RHCS 201 Argumentation and Debate
RHCS 325 Medieval to Modern Rhetorics
RHCS 332 Practicum/Debate (.25-1 unit)
RHCS 343 Rhetoric and Politics
PLSC 290 Mock Trial (.5 units)

Area 8: Writing

ENGL 382 The Art of Writing: Aims, Modes, Process.
ENGL 383 Introduction to Composition Theory and Pedagogy

---

Library Information Skills

Taught by University Librarians

Students must complete two Library and Information Skills Workshops, Library 100 and 101, during their first year. Students who have not satisfactorily completed the courses by the end of their third semester of enrollment will have an administrative hold put on their record and will not be able to register until they have made arrangements to take the class(es).

Math

Department of Mathematics and Computer Science

B. Lewis Barnett III Chair
Professors Charlesworth, Davis, Fenster, Greenfield, J. Hubbard, Nall, Ross
Associate Professors Barnett, Caudill, K. Hoke, Kerckhove, Lawson, Owen, Szajda
Assistant Professor Shaw
Director of Developmental Mathematics H. Hoke

The Math Major

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the major must be no less than 2.00 with no mathematics course grade below C- (1.7). Students are strongly advised to consult with faculty in planning their major curriculum.

For either the Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science degree:

- MATH 211 Calculus I
- MATH 212 or 232 Calculus II
- MATH 235 Multivariate Calculus
• MATH 245 Linear Algebra
• MATH 300 Fundamentals of Abstract Mathematics
• MATH 306 Abstract Algebra I
• MATH 320 Real Analysis I
• Four additional units of 300-level mathematics courses
• CMSC 150 or 155 Introduction to Computing

And for the Bachelor of Science degree:

Four other units in computer science with at least two at the 300 level, or two units beyond the introductory level in one of the following fields: physics (200 level or above), chemistry (200 level or above), or biology (numbered higher than 205).

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the major. Prerequisites do not count toward the major unless otherwise noted.

Note: Students are strongly advised to complete either MATH 306 or 320 prior to the senior year.

The Math Minor

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the minor must be no less than 2.00 with no mathematics course grade below C- (1.7). Students are strongly advised to consult with faculty in planning their minor curriculum.

6 units, including
• MATH 211 Calculus I
• MATH 212 or 232 Calculus II
• MATH 235 Multivariate Calculus
• MATH 245 Linear Algebra
• Two units at the 300 level

Actuarial Sciences
Students interested in becoming an actuary should consider either majoring in mathematics or mathematical economics. Either of these options will provide the necessary education that can lead to successful entry into the field. A strong background in mathematics is essential for students interested in a career as an actuary. This should include

• Three semesters of calculus (MATH 211, 212, and 235),
• One semester of linear algebra (MATH 245), and
• Two semesters of calculus-based probability and statistics (MATH 329 and 330).
• In addition, courses in applied statistics, computer science, economics, and finance are also extremely valuable.

The best way to ensure that you are attractive from an employment perspective is to pass the beginning actuarial examinations while you are still a student. Actuaries achieve professional status by passing a set of examinations and by satisfying certain educational experiences that are prescribed by the CAS and the SOA. The concepts contained in these assessments can be based on college courses (a B- or better is required), or an exam can be taken. For more information about preparing to be an actuary, contact Dr. Jason Owen in the Department of Mathematics and Computer Science.

Related Fields
Mathematical Economics
Pre-calculus
The Math and Computer Science Department at University of Richmond does not offer Pre-calculus. Students needing this course as a pre-requisite to other courses will need to complete it in high school or make their own arrangements to complete it later. The course is not eligible for transfer and will not count toward a B.A., B.S., or B.S.B.A. degree at the University of Richmond.

Courses

MATH 102
Problem Solving Using Finite Mathematics
Topics to demonstrate power of mathematical reasoning. Course has two components: (1) introduction to sets and symbolic logic (the fundamentals of proving results) and (2) the application of these fundamentals to at least one particular area of mathematics. The area is dependent on the instructor.
1 Unit(s)
(FSSR)

MATH 103
An Introduction to Simulation (The Mathematics of Waiting in Line)
Introduction to fundamentals of abstracting practical situations involving waiting lines (e.g., supermarket lines, assembly lines, emergency rooms, computer networks) into mathematical models. Abstracted models will be simulated using computer software to obtain approximate solutions. Introduction to statistical analysis of data is also included.
1 Unit(s)
(FSSR)

MATH 104
Symmetry in Tilings and Patterns
Introduction to symmetry and its use in the generation and classification of geometric patterns.
1 Unit(s)
(FSSR)

MATH 119
Statistics for Social and Life Sciences
Introduction to statistical methods with some applications in the social and life sciences. Topics include descriptive statistics, graphical methods, estimation, hypothesis testing, regression, correlation, and the analysis of categorical data. The proper use of statistical computing software like SPSS will be emphasized. NOTE: Credit cannot be received for both Mathematics 119 and either Psychology 200 or Business Administration 301.
1 Unit(s)

MATH 190
Integrated Science/Math/Computer Science 2 with Laboratory
One of two courses taught fall semester as part of Integrated Quantitative Science program. Each semester of the course will be organized around a guiding principle that integrates several concepts. Along with co-requisite, will include ten hours for lecture and lab combination. Prerequisite: High school calculus. Co-requisite: Biology 190. Acceptance to Integrated Quantitative Science course required.
1 Unit(s)
(FSSR)

MATH 195
Special Topics
Special topics satisfying neither major nor minor requirements.
.25-1 Unit(s)

MATH 211
Calculus I
Limits, continuity, derivatives, and integrals. Derivatives of trigonometric, exponential, logarithmic, and inverse trigonometric functions; applications to curve sketching; applications to the physical, life, and social sciences; Mean Value Theorem and its applications; Fundamental Theorem of Calculus. Prerequisite: High school precalculus. 1 Unit(s) (FSSR)

MATH 212
Calculus II
Techniques of integration; applications of integration; improper integrals; Taylor's Theorem and applications; infinite series; differential equations. Credit will not be given for both Mathematics 212 and 231. Prerequisite: Mathematics 211 or one year of high school AP calculus. 1 Unit(s) (FSSR)

MATH 219
Introduction to the Design of Experiments
The basic theory and principles related to the design of modern scientific experiments. Topics include: analysis of variance (ANOVA) for experiments with a single factor, multiple comparisons of treatment means, factorial experiments, blocking, randomized block designs, Latin square designs, random effects models, analysis of covariance, nested models, and other topics. Prerequisite: Either Mathematics 119, Psychology 200, Chemistry 300, Business Administration 301, or Mathematics 330. 1 Unit(s)

MATH 231
Scientific Calculus I
Topics of calculus--limits, derivatives, integration--from the perspective of mathematical modeling in the natural sciences. Includes trigonometric, exponential, and logarithmic functions; techniques of integration; error analysis; differentiation of functions of two or more variables. Credit will not be given for both Mathematics 212 and 231. Prerequisite: One year of high school calculus or equivalent. 1 Unit(s) (FSSR)

MATH 232
Scientific Calculus II
Taylor polynomial approximations; discrete and continuous probability; models of dynamical systems via difference equations, differential equations, and systems of linear difference equations, including relevant topics from linear algebra. Prerequisite: Mathematics 211 or one year of high school AP calculus. 1 Unit(s) (FSSR)

MATH 235
Multivariate Calculus
N-dimensional Euclidean space, functions of several variables, partial derivatives, multiple integrals, line and surface integrals, classical integral theorems, applications. Prerequisite: Mathematics 212 or 232. 1 Unit(s) (FSSR)

MATH 245
Linear Algebra
Vector spaces, matrices, systems of linear equations, linear transformations, applications. Prerequisite: Mathematics 212 or 232 or Computer Science 222. 1 Unit(s)

MATH 300
Fundamentals of Abstract Mathematics
Logic, quantifiers, negations of statements with quantifiers, set theory, induction, counting principles, relations and functions, cardinality. Emphasis on methods of proof and proper mathematical expression.
Prerequisite: Mathematics 212 or 232.
1 Unit(s)

MATH 304
Mathematical Models in Biology and Medicine
Mathematical models in modern biological and medical applications. Primary focus on practical understanding of the modeling process, and development of requisite modeling skills. Topics include discrete and continuous dynamical systems, including parameter estimation.
Prerequisite: Math 235 or Math 245 or Math 300.
1 Unit(s)

MATH 306-307
Abstract Algebra I and II
Systematic study of the theory of groups, rings and fields. Prerequisite: Mathematics 245 and 300. Mathematics 306 is prerequisite to 307.
1-1 Unit(s)

MATH 309
Financial Mathematics: The Theory of Interest and Investment
Develops a practical understanding of financial mathematics and interest theory in both finite and continuous time. This theory includes the fundamentals of how annuity functions are applied to the concepts of present and accumulated value for various cash flow streams and how this is used for future planning in valuation, pricing, duration, immunization, and investment. Topics include: rates of interest and discount, the force of interest, level and varying annuities, evaluation of financial instruments (e.g. bonds, stocks, leveraged strategies), measures of interest rate sensitivity, and the term structure of interest rates. Prerequisite: Math 235 or Math 245 or Math 250/300.
1 Unit(s)

MATH 310
Advanced Multivariable Calculus
Differentiation of vector-valued functions, Jacobians, integration theorems in several variables. Fourier series, partial differential equations. Prerequisite: Mathematics 235.
1 Unit(s)

MATH 312
Differential Equations
Introduction to ordinary differential equations and their use as models of physical systems. Linear and nonlinear equations and systems of equations, including existence and uniqueness theorems, analytical solution techniques, numerical methods, and qualitative analysis. Includes studies of global behavior and local stability analysis of solutions of nonlinear autonomous systems; bifurcation analysis; Laplace transforms. Application and modeling of real phenomena included throughout. Prerequisite: Mathematics 212 or 232. Corequisite: Mathematics 245.
1 Unit(s)

MATH 315
Modern Geometry
Geometry of surfaces in 3-dimensional space, including lengths, areas, angles, curvature, and topology. Classification of Euclidean isometries. Classification of compact surfaces having constant Gaussian curvature.
Prerequisite: Mathematics 235 and 245.
1 Unit(s)

MATH 320-321
Real Analysis I and II
Topological properties of the real line and Euclidean space. Convergence, continuity, differentiation, integration properties of real-valued functions of real variables. Prerequisite: Mathematics 235 and 300. Mathematics 320 is prerequisite to 321.

Directed Independent Study
For well-qualified students who wish to work independently in areas not included in curriculum. Proposal must be approved by departmental committee. Prerequisite: Permission of department chair and instructor.
.25-1 Unit(s)

MATH 350 Coding Theory
Error-correcting codes are used to ensure reliable electronic communication in everything from compact disc players to deep-space transmission. Topics include linear codes, design theory, cyclic codes, counting arguments for nonexistence, decoding algorithms. Prerequisite: Mathematics 245 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

MATH 355 Cryptography
History and development of “secret codes” with applications to electronic commerce, diplomatic and military communication and computer security. Emphasis on mathematical structures underlying classical, arithmetic, algebraic, mechanical, electronic, and public-key cryptosystems. Prerequisite: Mathematics 245 and either Mathematics 250 or Computer Science 222 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

MATH 395 Special Topics
Selected topics in mathematics. Prerequisite: Varies with topic.

Mathematical Economics

Jason Owen, Mathematics Program Coordinator
Andrew Yates, Economics Program Coordinator

The mathematical economics (MATH-ECON) major includes courses taught by faculty in both the mathematics and economics departments. Faculty members, graduate students, and recent Ph.D.s ranked analytical skills and mathematics as the most important skills necessary for success in the graduate study of economics. The MATH-ECON major is designed to develop those skills. Additionally, the combined major provides a stronger, more coordinated curriculum for students who would otherwise major in economics or business and minor in mathematics. The MATH-ECON major is available as a Bachelor of Science degree.

The Mathematical Economics Major

Note: A grade point average of C (2.00) is required in the major, with no course grade below a C- (1.70) in courses counting towards the major.

16 units, including
- MATH 211 or 231 Calculus I
- MATH 212 or 232 Calculus II
- MATH 235 Multivariate Calculus
- MATH 245 Linear Algebra
- MATH 329 Probability
- MATH 330 Mathematical Statistics
• CMSC 150 Introduction to Computing or CMSC 155 Introduction to Scientific Computing
• ECON 101 Principles of Microeconomics
• ECON 102 Principles of Macroeconomics
• ECON 271 Microeconomic Theory
• ECON 272 Macroeconomic Theory
• ECON 340 Econometrics
• ECON 341 Mathematical Economics
• MTEC 400 Capstone in Mathematical Economics
• One unit chosen from
  o MATH 310 Advanced Multivariate Calculus
  o MATH 312 Differential Equations
  o MATH 320 Real Analysis I o MATH 323 Discrete Mathematical Models o MATH 328 Numerical Analysis
  o MATH 395 Special Topics
• One unit chosen from
  o ECON 300 Industrial Organization and Public Policy
  o ECON 310 International Trade and Finance
  o ECON 330 Environmental and Resource Economic Theory o ECON 331 Labor Economics
  o ECON 332 Public Economics
  o ECON 360 Selected Economic Topics

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the major. Prerequisites do not count toward the major unless otherwise noted.

Honors Program

In order to be eligible, students must have met the following qualifications:

- Completion of at least 18 units of coursework, not including courses in which the student is currently enrolled
- Overall GPA of 3.3 or higher
- Completion of at least four units within the major, excluding courses primarily for first-year students (MATH 211, 212, 231, 232; ECON 101, 102), with a cumulative GPA in all such courses of at least 3.3

The student will select a willing faculty member to serve as lead advisor for the project. Together they find a second faculty member to serve as consultant. One faculty member should be from economics and one from mathematics.

The student and lead advisor will plan the student's honors program. The student and advisor will plan four units of coursework in support of the honors topic. Two of these units will be MATH 340 Directed Independent Study or ECON 490-491 Honors Seminar/Research, depending on the department of the lead advisor. These courses are used to prepare the honors thesis. The remaining two units will be selected from the regular curriculum with an additional honors component; one unit will be from upper-level economics and one unit from upper-level mathematics. These courses will be chosen with an eye towards maximizing the student's ability to produce a quality honors thesis.

A completed honors thesis will be read and approved by a committee of at least three readers, including the lead and consulting advisors, and will be presented to the faculty in both departments.

Courses

MTEC 400
Capstone in Mathematical Economics
Seminar that focuses on an area of advanced mathematics with broad economic applications. Students will independently explore the area through readings from both the mathematical and economic literatures.
Prerequisite: Economics 271, Mathematics 330 and senior standing.

Medical Humanities

John Vaughan, Coordinator (Biology)

The medical humanities minor complements the science-intensive pre-health curriculum by providing future healthcare practitioners with a solid foundation in the interpersonal, cultural, bioethical, legal, economic, business, and political facets of medicine. In physician-led courses, particular emphasis will be placed on the physician-patient relationship. By combining a mastery of the sciences with the development of medical humanity skills, students will be well-equipped to become effective healthcare providers.

The Medical Humanities Minor

Five units, including
- IDST 200 The Medical Humanities or IDST 201 Doctors Becoming Doctors
- LDST 377 Ethical Decision Making in Healthcare
- PLSC 365 U.S. Healthcare Policy and Politics
- Two courses, chosen from
  - ANTH 379 Medicine and Health In Global Perspective
  - CLSC 210 A History of Early Medicine
  - HIST 100 Health In American History
  - IDST 200 The Medical Humanities (if taken in addition to IDST 201 Doctors Becoming Doctors)
  - IDST 201 Doctors Becoming Doctors (if taken in addition to IDST 200 The Medical Humanities)
  - IDST 397 Law and Medicine
  - PHIL 220 Contemporary Moral Issues
  - PLSC 363 Global Health, Infectious Disease, and Human Rights
  - PLSC 364/PSYC 353 Mental Health and Policy
  - PSYC 331 Behavioral Neuroscience
  - or another approved elective

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the minor. Prerequisites do not count toward the minor unless otherwise noted.

Military Science and Leadership

Jason T. Garkey, Lieutenant Colonel, U.S. Army, Chair
Associate Professor Parker
Assistant Professors Galloway, Freeman
The objective of the military science and leadership program is to provide the leadership and management foundation required for military service as a commissioned officer or in a civilian counterpart position. In support of this objective the program includes classroom instruction and activities geared to the development of leadership skills.

Military science and leadership classes may be taken by all University students. Class enrollment in the military leadership classes carries no U.S. Army commitment and there is no obligation to enroll for successive course offerings. College and/or commissioning credit may be awarded for prior military service, attendance at the ROTC Leader’s Training Course, or Junior ROTC participation. International students desiring to attend military science and leadership classes must have written approval from their respective embassies prior to taking classes.

Courses

MSCL 101
Foundations of Officership
Introduces students to fundamental components of service as an officer in the United States Army. These initial lessons form building blocks of progressive lessons in values, fitness, leadership, and officership. Additionally, the program of instruction addresses “life skills” including fitness, communications theory and practice (written and oral), and interpersonal relationships. Prerequisite: First- or second-year class standing or permission of department chair.
.5 Unit(s)

MSCL 102
Introduction to Leadership
Introduction to “life skills” of problem solving, decision making, and leadership designed to help students in the near term as leaders on campus. Also will help students be more effective leaders and managers in the long term, whether they serve in the military or as leaders in civilian life. This course is designed to introduce the student to fundamental officer skills such as map reading, land navigation, tactics, and leadership values/actions. Using these basic skills, students will build a rudimentary understanding of the core competencies necessary to become an Army officer and leader. Prerequisite: First- or second-year class standing or permission of department chair.
.5 Unit(s)

MSCL 201
Innovative Team Leadership
Explores the dimensions of creative and innovative tactical leadership strategies and styles by examining team dynamics and two historical leadership theories that form the basis of the Army leadership framework. Aspects of personal motivation and team building are practiced planning, executing, and assessing team exercises, and participating in leadership labs. The focus continues to build on developing knowledge of the leadership values and attributes through understanding Army rank, structure, and duties as well as broadening knowledge of land navigation and squad tactics. Case studies will provide a tangible context for learning the Soldier’s Creed and Warrior Ethos as they apply in the contemporary operating environment. Prerequisite: Military Science and Leadership 101 and 102 or permission of department chair.
.5 Unit(s)

MSCL 202
Foundations of Tactical Leadership
Examines the challenges of leading tactical teams in the complex contemporary operating environment (COE). Highlights dimensions of terrain analysis, patrolling and operations orders. Continued study of the theoretical basis of the Army leadership framework explores the dynamics of adaptive leadership in the context of military operations. Provides a smooth transition to MSCL 301. Cadets develop greater self awareness as they assess their own leadership styles and practice communication and team-building skills. COE case studies give insight into the importance and practice of teamwork and tactics in real-world scenarios. Prerequisite: Military Science and Leadership 201 or permission of department chair.
.5 Unit(s)
MSCL  204
Leader's Training Course
An intensive 28-day training experience for college students unable to meet the basic course requirements (MSCL 100- and 200-level courses) on campus. Leader's Training Course is the Army's two-year ROTC Program entry point. Through the Leader's Training Course, students without ROTC experience can qualify for Advanced Course (MSCL 300- and 400-level course) entry. The Army observes these students and determines their officer potential in a leadership-oriented, challenging, and motivating 28-day training program. The camp philosophy is based on an action-oriented training plan. Emphasis is hands on, outdoor training with rapid, constructive feedback to the cadet. Above all else, Leader's Training Course is a leadership experience. The training program is designed to inspire students to become outstanding leaders with a sound understanding of traditional leadership values. At the Leader's Training Course, students are trained to lead and develop their officer leadership potential. Prerequisite: Enrollment in the ROTC program, military service obligation and permission of department chair.
1 Unit(s)

MSCL  205
Foundations of American Military History
Major military engagements from the colonial period through the current operating environment and analysis of conflicts using the Principles of War and After Action Review lessons learned. Describes the military's role in society; examines the evolution of war and the progression of military professionalism; analyzes the major wars fought by the US Army, using the principles of war; discusses the role of the US military in joint operations; discusses the role of the US Army in humanitarian operations and nation-building at home and abroad and analyzes lessons learned from military history to the Contemporary Operating Environment. COE case studies give insight into the importance and practice of teamwork and tactics in real-world scenarios.
.5 Unit(s)

MSCL  301
Adaptive Team Leadership
Cadets study, practice, and evaluate adaptive team leadership skills as they prepare for the demands of the mandatory 32-day ROTC Leader Development and Assessment Course (LDAC) at Fort Lewis, Wash. Challenging scenarios related to small-unit tactical operations are used to develop self awareness and critical thinking skills. The cadet will receive systematic and specific feedback on leadership abilities. Prerequisite: Military Science and Leadership 202, 204, or permission of department chair.
1 Unit(s)

MSCL  302
Leadership in Changing Environments
Instruction and case studies that build upon leadership competencies and military skills attained in Military Science and Leadership 301 prepare students for future responsibilities as Army officers. Specific instruction is given in individual leader development, planning and execution of small-unit operations, individual and team development, and the Army as a career choice. Prepares cadets for the mandatory 32-day Leader Development and Assessment Course at Fort Lewis, Wash. Prerequisite: Military Science and Leadership 301 or permission of department chair.
1 Unit(s)

MSCL  390
Independent Study
Instruction, case studies, and book analysis that build upon leadership competencies and military skills attained in earlier Military Science and Leadership courses. Online instruction and assignments mirror the syllabus for a student's normal pre-commissioning course progression. This course is available for sophomores, fall semester juniors, and senior cadets. This course is taught by the professor of Military Science. Prerequisite: Two semesters of military science and permission of department chair.
1 Unit(s)

MSCL  401
Developing Adaptive Leaders
Develops student proficiency in planning, executing, and assessing complex operations, functioning as a member of a staff, and providing performance feedback to subordinates. Cadets are given situational and leadership opportunities to assess risk, make ethical decisions, and lead fellow ROTC cadets. Lessons on military justice and personnel processes prepare them to make the transition to becoming Army officers. Students will lead cadets at lower levels. Both classroom and battalion leadership experiences are designed to prepare them for their first military unit of assignment. Identify responsibilities of key staff members, coordinate staff roles amongst six separate universities and colleges that make up the ROTC battalion, and use battalion field/garrison situations to teach, train, and develop subordinates. Prerequisite: Military Science and Leadership 302 or permission of department chair.
1 Unit(s)

MSCL 402
Leadership in a Complex World
Continues to develop student proficiency in planning, executing, and assessing complex operations, functioning as a member of a staff, and providing performance feedback to subordinates. Explores the dynamics of leading in the complex situations of current military operations in the contemporary operating environment (COE). Students examine differences in customs and courtesies, military law, principles of war, and rules of engagement in the face of international terrorism. Also explores aspects of interacting with non government organizations, civilians on the battlefield, and host-nation support. Students are given situational and leadership opportunities to assess risk, make ethical decisions, and lead fellow ROTC cadets. Designed to prepare for first military unit of assignment. Students will identify responsibilities of key staff members, coordinate staff roles amongst six separate universities and colleges that make up the ROTC battalion, and use battalion field/garrison situations to teach, train, and develop subordinates. The course uses case studies, scenarios, and “What Now, Lieutenant?” exercises to prepare students to face the complex ethical and practical demands of leading as a commissioned officer in the United States Army. Prerequisite: Military Science and Leadership 302 or permission of department chair.

Russian Studies

For full course listings in Arabic, Chinese, French, German, Italian, Japanese, and Russian, see the individual program pages.

Study Abroad

Study and travel abroad are strongly encouraged for all students. The department offers summer study programs in China, the Czech Republic, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Jordan, and Russia. In addition, there are exchange agreements for study during the academic year in Austria, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Quebec, and Russia; others are being negotiated. For a complete list, contact the Office of International Education.

The Residency Requirement

For all MLC majors, at least 5 of the 9 courses required for the major must be taken on the University of Richmond campus. If the student participates in a study abroad program, at least one upper-level course in the major must be taken upon return from the program.

Modern Literatures and Cultures (MLC)

All courses under modern literatures and cultures are taught in English and have no prerequisite, except as noted. Approved MLC courses may be counted as elective credit toward a French, German studies, Italian studies or Russian studies major if taken in conjunction with a Languages Across the Curriculum (LAC) component (.25 units).

Administration

Placement
A student who desires to continue study of a language begun elsewhere or spoken as a first language will be placed for continuation by the Department of Modern Literatures and Cultures. The determination of level may be by the score received on the AP, IB or SATII test in a given language; by the evaluation of a required placement test; or, in special cases, by interview. Students who meet the language communication skills requirement by placement may not take for credit 100- or 200-level courses in the same language.

Sequential Credit
Once the 100 or 200 level is begun, continuation, if any, must be to the next higher level within the sequence of courses. Students cannot receive credit toward the degree for 100- or 200-level coursework which is taken after credit has been earned in coursework more advanced in the sequence.

Medium of Instruction
All courses taught in the department are taught in the respective language with the exception of the courses listed in the modern literatures and cultures category.

MLC 135

English Communication in Cultural Context
Focus on ESL students' English language ability by studying U.S. history and culture. Class discussions will emphasize intercultural communication, stereotypes, U.S. culture, and major historical events in U.S. history. Class activities will focus on vocabulary building, pronunciation, writing skills, listening, and reading comprehension. The course materials will include short stories, articles, newspaper articles, radio programs, and videos.
Prerequisite: Departmental approval. Open only to international exchange students who are speakers of English as a second language.
1 Unit(s)

MLC 140

Academic Writing in English as a Second Language
Study of the language of written academic English as practiced in the U.S. Focus on writing analytical papers, research skills, advanced English grammar, and academic style of writing. Study of advanced reading skills. Readings on U.S. culture. Open only to speakers of English as a second language, based on test scores at entrance.

Honors Program

The music honors program recognizes the most distinguished majors, who complete an advanced course of study, culminating in an honors thesis. Successful applicants will be assigned an advisor to guide their work and monitor their progress. Students should declare their intention to seek honors and meet with the honors coordinator in their sophomore year. Students must have completed 18 or more units of course work and at least four or more units in music (excluding prerequisites) with an overall grade point of at least 3.3 or above. Honors candidates must be recommended by at least one full-time member of the Department of Music. Application for departmental honors must include (1) a one-page letter from the student describing how the program requirements will be met, (2) a letter of recommendation from a full-time faculty member of the music department, (3) the student's transcript, and (4) a writing sample consisting of a paper written in a music course. Applications must be submitted to the department chair by November 1 (March 1 for the spring term applicant) of the junior year, approved by the music faculty and submitted to the arts and sciences honors committee by November 15 (March 15 for the spring term applicant). To earn departmental honors, students must complete 3.5 units of honors course work, including MUS 400, MUS 401/402, and two honors independent study courses or two standard elective courses with special work above and beyond the norm. Units earned from MUS 400, 401, and 402 are in addition to the 12 units required for the music major. Honors students are to maintain a grade point average of at least 3.3 while participating in the program.

Courses

MUS 095
Repertoire Class
Attendance and performance at weekly repertoire class. May be repeated. Graded Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory.
Prerequisite: Music major or minor.
0 Unit(s)
MUS  101
Music in Sound and Score: Introduction to Music Repertoires
Introduces students to a wide variety of musical works through scores and recordings—and thus through listening, score reading, and discussion. Students will encounter unique repertoires based largely on the areas of specialty of the music faculty. Learn to distinguish between different performances, to read a score in some detail, to utilize a distinct vocabulary for discussion, and to engage in sight singing and rhythmic exercises that will bring the scores to life. This course is a prerequisite for upper-level music study. Prerequisite: Music 109 or permission of department.
.5 Unit(s)

MUS  107
Music Fundamentals
For students with little or no previous training in theory or piano. Practical understanding of intervals, scales, keys, chord structures, and rhythm, using keyboard and sight-singing as vehicles of instruction. Does not count toward music major.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

MUS  109
Elementary Musicianship
Proficiency-based study of sight singing, ear training, rhythm reading, and other essential musicianship skills for majors, minors, and advanced non majors. A prerequisite for all theory study. May be satisfied by examination.
.5 Unit(s)

MUS  110
Tonal Harmony I: Common Practice Period
Entry-level music theory course. Study and application of harmonic practice in Western music of 17th and 18th centuries by means of original compositions and analysis of selected literature. Continuation of musicianship exercises from Music 109. Prerequisite: Music 109 and permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

MUS  112
Topics in Music Literature
Special topics for general study. May be repeated for credit when topics vary.
1 Unit(s)

MUS  114
Popular Music of the 1970s and 1980s
Discusses the historical developments in popular music of the 70s and 80s, and the musics' cultural and social impact and overarching discourses. Through a series of papers, students will investigate how the music of these eras influenced and was influenced by the politics and issues of the day. Students will argue for how these issues affected musical styles and presentations. Students will be able to identify at least some of the ways the musics of the 70s and 80s have impacted the music and bands that came after it.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

MUS  115
The Jazz Tradition
For general student. Survey of cultural history of jazz; jazz styles from 1917 to present; and evolution of jazz from African music, music of slavery, ragtime, and blues. Includes concert attendance and performance project.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

MUS  116
Music Scenes
Sections are designed each semester around on- and off-campus concerts. Students consider historical, social, and cultural issues particular to each concert and interact with visiting artists and University of Richmond's ensemble in residence, eighth blackbird.

Philosophy

Department of Philosophy

Nancy Schauber, Chair
Professors McWhorter, Shapiro
Associate Professors Goddu, McCormick, Schauber
Assistant Professor Belkind

Note: All 200-level courses are open to first-year students. All 300-level courses presume some previous exposure to philosophy or a related area of study.
The Philosophy Major

Note: The grade point average of the coursework in philosophy comprising the major must be 2.00 or above with no more than one grade below C- (1.7).

9 units, including
PHIL 251 Symbolic Logic
PHIL 271 Ancient Greek Philosophy
PHIL 272 Modern Western Philosophy
PHIL 343 or 344 Twentieth-Century Analytic or Continental Philosophy
PHIL 353 Philosophical Methods: Majors'/ Minors' Seminar
One 300-level course in value theory and its applications, such as PHIL 360 Ethics or Philosophy, 364 Philosophy of Law, or another specific course such as may be approved by the department from year to year;
Three units of electives, including one unit at the 300 level

The Philosophy Minor

Note: A grade of not less than C- (1.7) is required in each course comprising the minor.

5 units, including
PHIL 271 Ancient Greek Philosophy
PHIL 272 Modern Western Philosophy
Three units of electives, including one unit at the 300 level

Courses

PHIL 200
Introduction to Philosophical Problems and Arguments
Introduction to philosophy as a working discipline, with emphasis on analysis of problems and proposed solutions. Sample topics: Is there a thing that can be called the self? What is the meaning of life? What is the relationship between knowledge and opinion? Can individuals be held responsible for their actions?
1 Unit(s)

PHIL 220
Contemporary Moral Issues
Philosophical introduction to the application of moral reasoning. Aims to clarify, organize, and sharpen our ideas about moral concerns of everyday life, and to examine and critique prominent moral theories. Topics may include abortion, euthanasia, capital punishment, animal rights.
1 Unit(s)

PHIL 221
Feminist Political Theories
Provides students with background in major political theories that feminists have employed and developed over the past 200 years. These include classical liberalism, Marxism and various forms of socialism, and some existentialist, post-structuralist, and post-colonial theoretical work. Students will study these feminist theoretical frameworks in depth and also will consider serious criticisms of them. (Same as Women, Gender and Sexuality Studies 221.)
1 Unit(s)

PHIL 239
Existentialism and Postmodernism
Survey of themes in 20th-century existentialist and postmodern philosophy. Issues to be addressed include freedom, selfhood, embodiment and historical situation, and knowledge in the absence of transcendence. Students will read works by such thinkers as Heidegger, Sartre, Beauvoir, Fanon, Levinas, Foucault, and others.

1 Unit(s)
Philosophy, Politics, Economics, and Law

David Lefkowitz, Coordinator (Philosophy)

The interdisciplinary major in Philosophy, Politics, Economics, and Law (PPEL) enables students to pursue a rigorous exploration of the historical, methodological, and theoretical interconnections among these four fields of study. Students will acquire knowledge of different conceptual, theoretical and normative perspectives within each discipline, and will learn to use methods appropriate to each of them. The distinctive aim of the major is to assist students in synthesizing what they learn from their study of philosophy, politics, economics, and law so as to apply a combination of practical and theoretical knowledge to questions of social order and public policy.

The Philosophy, Politics, Economics, and Law Major

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the major must be no less than 2.0, with no course grade below a C- (1.7).

13-14 units, including

Core Courses:

- ECON 101 Principles of Microeconomics
- PPEL 261: PPEL Seminar in Theory and Public Policy
- PPEL 262: PPEL Seminar in Law and Social Order
- PPEL 401: PPEL Capstone Seminar

Area Courses:

- One course in normative theory/ethics
- One course in normative political theory/political philosophy
- One law-related course

Note: Area requirements can be fulfilled by courses in a variety of departments and schools. Majors should consult the PPEL website for an up to date list of approved courses. Exactly one area course may also count toward the 5 units within the primary concentration.

Concentration:

A required concentration chosen from Economics, Politics, or Philosophy including:

- Five units selected from within the concentration field.
- One unit from each of the other two concentration fields.

Notes:

- Students may petition the coordinator to have a new course count as an area or concentration course.
- No more than half of the courses satisfying the requirements of the major may be taken in a single department.
- With the exception of Leadership Studies, no more than three courses that count toward the completion of another major may also count toward the PPEL major. No more than four courses that count toward the completion of a Leadership Studies major may also count toward the PPEL major.
- Study abroad is strongly encouraged. Upon approval of the PPEL coordinator, relevant coursework abroad can substitute for PPEL major requirements with the exception of PPEL 261, 262, and 401.
• Students seeking an exception to any of the major requirements must submit a petition to the PPEL Committee. Please see the PPEL coordinator for additional information.

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the major. Prerequisites do not count toward the major unless otherwise noted.

Ethics Area Courses
- BUAD 392: Ethical, Social and Legal Responsibilities of Business
- ECON 260: Ethics and Economics
- LDST 377: Ethical Decisions-Making in Healthcare
- PHIL 220: Contemporary Moral Issues
- PHIL 360: Ethics

Courses

PPEL 261
PPEL Seminar in Theory and Public Policy
Aims to bring into contact and conflict various normative theories developed by philosophers, political scientists, and economists - that is, their different accounts of what makes acts right, outcomes good, or societies just - with significant attention paid to the implications these theories have for some issue of public policy such as climate change, healthcare reform, or global poverty reduction. Prerequisite: One course from any two of the following disciplines: Philosophy, Political Science, Economics, or Leadership Studies.
1 Unit(s)

PPEL 262
PPEL Seminar in Law and Social Order
Aims to bring into contact and conflict various normative theories developed by philosophers, political scientists, economists, and legal theorists - that is, their different accounts of what makes acts right, outcomes good, or societies just - with significant attention paid to the implications these theories have for some area of law, such as international or tort law, or some legal institution, such as legislatures or courts. Prerequisite: One course from any two of the following disciplines: Philosophy, Political Science, Economics, or Leadership Studies.
1 Unit(s)

PPEL 381
Selected Topics in Philosophy, Politics, Economics, and Law
Selected topics in Philosophy, Politics, Economics, and Law not covered by existing courses.
Prerequisite: Departmental approval.
1 Unit(s)

PPEL 401
PPEL Capstone Seminar
A substantial research project that integrates normative theory from the disciplines of philosophy, political science, and economics. Specific topic and instructor will vary from semester to semester. Prerequisite: Economics 101, Philosophy, Politics, Economics, and Law 261 and 262.

Dual-Degree (3-2) Engineering Program

Building on the strengths of majors in physics, mathematics, computer science, chemistry, and biology, the School of Arts and Sciences offers students with special career goals the ability to pursue dual degrees in a five-year period.
Some opportunities allow a student to earn a Bachelor of Science from Richmond and also a Bachelor of Science from a cooperating engineering school, while others enable a student to complete an undergraduate degree from Richmond and an accelerated master's degree in engineering from a partner institution--all within a five-year period.
The department has established partnership agreements through 26 different programs with the following institutions: Columbia University - School of Engineering and Applied Science; George Washington University - School of Engineering and Applied Science; University of Virginia - School of Engineering; Virginia Tech -
College of Engineering; Virginia Tech - College of Science, Department of Geological Science. Additional schools of engineering may develop agreements with Richmond. The physics department's pre-engineering advisor can provide information about participating programs and requirements.

The Physics Major

For the Bachelor of Arts degree

14 units, including
• PHYS 127 General Physics I or 131 General Physics with Calculus I
• One unit, chosen from
  o PHYS 128 General Physics II
  o PHYS 132 General Physics with Calculus II
  o PHYS 133 Atomic and Sub-Atomic Physics
  o PHYS 134 Biological Physics
• PHYS 205 Introduction to Modern Physics
• PHYS 221 Intermediate Laboratory
• PHYS 397-398 Junior Seminar
• PHYS 497-498 Senior Seminar
• Three additional units in PHYS
• MATH 212 Calculus II or MATH 232 Scientific Calculus II
• Five additional units in courses approved by the department

This degree is offered primarily for students who wish to prepare for interdisciplinary or medical sciences studies, or to earn a cultural degree.

For the Bachelor of Science degree

13.5 units, including
• PHYS 127 General Physics I or 131 General Physics with Calculus I
• One unit, chosen from
  o PHYS 128 General Physics II
  o PHYS 132 General Physics with Calculus II
  o PHYS 133 Atomic and Sub-Atomic Physics
  o PHYS 134 Biological Physics
• PHYS 221 Intermediate Laboratory
• PHYS 301 Mathematical Methods in Physics
• PHYS 303 Classical Mechanics
• PHYS 305 Electromagnetism
• PHYS 308 Statistical Physics
• PHYS 309 Quantum Mechanics I
• PHYS 397-398 Junior Seminar
• PHYS 497-498 Senior Seminar
• ½ unit of experimental work in addition to PHYS 221
• One unit, chosen from
  o CHEM 141 Introductory Chemistry: Structure, Dynamics and Synthesis
  o CMSC 150 Introduction to Computing
  o CMSC 155 Introduction to Scientific Computing
  o MATH 235 Multivariate Calculus
• MATH 245 Linear Algebra
• Two additional units, chosen from o PHYS 205 Modern Physics
  o PHYS 215 Computational Methods o PHYS 216 Electronics I o PHYS 217 Electronics II
  o PHYS 306 Electromagnetism
  o PHYS 310 Quantum Mechanics II
  o PHYS 404 Theoretical Physics
  o PHYS 479 Special Topics

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the major. Prerequisites do not count toward the major unless otherwise noted.
The Interdisciplinary Physics Major for the Bachelor of Science Degree

Note: Students cannot major in both physics and interdisciplinary physics.

15 units, including
- PHYS 127 General Physics I or 131 General Physics with Calculus I
- One unit, chosen from
  - PHYS 128 General Physics II
  - PHYS 132 General Physics with Calculus II
  - PHYS 133 Atomic and Sub-Atomic Physics
  - PHYS 134 Biological Physics
- PHYS 205 Introduction to Modern Physics
- PHYS 221 Intermediate Laboratory
- PHYS 301 Mathematical Methods in Physics
- PHYS 397-398 Junior Seminar
- PHYS 497-498 Senior Seminar
- MATH 211-212 Calculus I-II or MATH 231-232 Scientific Calculus I-II
- Three additional units in physics at the 200 level or above
- One of the concentrations described below. All concentrations require 4-5 additional units beyond those listed above.

1. Biology Concentration
   - BIOL 201 Genetics
   - CHEM 141 Introductory Chemistry: Structure, Dynamics, and Synthesis
   - Three additional units in biology

2. Biochemistry Concentration
   - CHEM 141 Introductory Chemistry: Structure, Dynamics and Synthesis
   - CHEM 205-206 Organic Chemistry
   - BIOL/CHEM 326 Biochemistry or BIOL/CHEM 327 Biochemistry with Lab

3. Chemistry Concentration
   - CHEM 141 Introductory Chemistry: Structure, Dynamics and Synthesis
   - CHEM 309-310 Physical Chemistry
   - One additional unit in chemistry

4. Computer Science Concentration
   - CMSC 150 Introduction to Computing or CMSC 155 Introduction to Scientific Computing
   - CMSC 221 Data Structures with Lab
   - Three additional units in computer science

5. Mathematics Concentration
   - MATH 235 Multivariate Calculus
   - MATH 245 Linear Algebra
   - MATH 312 Differential Equations
   - Two additional units in mathematics at the 300 level or above

6. Engineering Concentration: 5 units of engineering courses
   - This concentration is intended for students participating in the 3-2 engineering program.
   - The required units will be earned at another institution.

The Physics Minor

5 units, including
- Three units numbered above 200, excluding 397-398 and 497-498
- Two additional units in PHYS

PHYS 134
Biological Physics
Second semester of a calculus based introductory sequence. Mechanics, heat, sound, magnetism, electricity, and light are covered in the two-semester sequence that includes laboratory. Examples emphasize applications of physics to the biological sciences, and earth and environmental science. NOTE: A student may receive credit for only one of the following courses: 128, 132, 133, 134. Prerequisite: Math 212 or 232 (may be taken concurrently) and Physics 127,131 or 191 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

PHYS 191
Integrated Science/Math/Computer Science 4 with Laboratory
One of two courses taught spring semester as part of Integrated Quantitative Science program. Each semester of the course will be organized around a guiding principle that integrates several concepts. Along with co-requisite, will include ten hours for lecture and lab combination. Prerequisite: High school calculus. Biology 190 and Math 190. Co-requisite: Chemistry 191. Acceptance to Integrated Quantitative Science course required.
1 Unit(s)

PHYS 205
Introduction to Modern Physics
Introduction to topics in 20th-century physics including special relativity, quantum mechanics, and statistical physics. Prerequisite: Physics 132 or 133 or 134 or 191 or permission of department.
1 Unit(s)

PHYS 215
Computational Methods in Physics
Project-oriented: applying computers to solution of problems in physical sciences. Prerequisite: Physics 132 or 133 or 134 or 191 and some familiarity with at least one higher-level computer language.
1 Unit(s)

PHYS 216-217
Electronics
Laboratory course in basic electronics and instrumentation for science majors. Study of dc and ac circuits, diodes, rectifiers, transistors, operational amplifiers, binary logic, Boolean algebra, digital circuits, analog-digital conversion, transducers, and computer interfacing. Prerequisite: Physics 127-128 or 132 or 191. Physics 216 is a prerequisite to Physics 217.

The Political Science Major

Note: The grade point average of the coursework in political science comprising the major, including required courses and prerequisites, must be 2.00 or above with no course grade below C- (1.7).

10 units, including
  • PLSC 220 Introduction to American Government
  • Two courses, chosen from
    o PLSC 240 Introduction to Comparative Politics
    o PLSC 250 Introduction to International Relations
    o PLSC 260 Introduction to Public Policy
  • One unit, chosen from o PLSC 311 Political Theory: Plato to Locke o PLSC 312 Modern Political Theory
    o PLSC 315 American Political Theory
  • One unit, chosen from
    o PLSC 372 Methods for Public Opinion Research
    o PLSC 373 Methods for Public Policy Research
    o PLSC 374 Methods for Cross-National Research
  • PLSC 400 Senior Seminar
  • Four elective units at the 300 level, three of which must be in political science.

Note: Students may elect to take one department-approved course outside of the major related to political science; a regularly maintained list of such courses will be available on the department's Web site.

In addition to the 10 units in political science, MATH 119 (preferred) or BUAD 201 and 301, or PSYC 200, or equivalent is required as a prerequisite for PLSC 372, 373, or 374 but does not count toward the political science major.

The major must include a minimum of six units of University of Richmond political science courses. No more than two units of credit toward the major can be given for courses, including cross-listed courses, offered by other departments or schools at the University.

Study abroad and internships also are encouraged. Students who have an interest in attending law school should consult with the pre-law advisor; students interested in attending graduate school should consult with the department chair about undergraduate courses that they should consider taking.

Honors Program

The political science honors program recognizes the most distinguished majors, who complete an advanced course of study, culminating in an honor's thesis. In order to be eligible, students must have completed 22 units of course work overall and at least six units in political science (including research methods) by end of junior year, with an overall and political science grade point average of 3.7 or above, and must be recommended by at least one full-time member of the Department of Political Science. Accepted honors students complete four units of designated honors coursework, including 11 units of political science courses. Honors coursework may include honors seminars, standard elective courses with special work above and beyond the norm, or honors independent study courses, though at least two units must be from honors independent study (PLSC 491 and PLSC 492) devoted to proposing, researching, and writing an honors thesis in the senior year. A prospectus for the honors thesis topic must be approved before the end of the second semester junior year, at which time the candidate must identify a thesis advisor and a second reader. The thesis will fulfill the senior capstone requirement for the major; honors students are exempt from taking PLSC 400. Honors students must successfully defend their thesis before a committee of at least two readers, including the thesis advisor, and present their research at the School of Arts & Sciences Student Symposium in April of the senior year.

Courses

PLSC 220
Introduction to American Government
Basic roles, structures, and functions of American political institutions and introduction to American political process.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 240
Introduction to Comparative Politics
Concepts, approaches, classifications, and models useful in comparing political structures and processes. Political systems characteristic of countries with different cultures and levels of economic development.
1 Unit(s)
(FSSA)

PLSC 250
Introduction to International Relations
Framework for analyzing contemporary international system: goals of nation-states and other actors; how such actors attempt to achieve their goals; and some forces that help or hinder attainment of goals.
1 Unit(s)
(FSSA)

PLSC 260
Introduction to Public Policy
Contemporary social and economic problems in America, public policies adopted or proposed to deal with them, and ways of analyzing those problems and policies.
1 Unit(s)
(FSSA)

PLSC 279
Special Topics
May be repeated for credit when topic varies. Prerequisite: Varies depending on topic.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 290
Mock Trial
Designed for those students who choose to participate in intercollegiate mock trial activities. Graded pass/fail. One half unit per semester may be earned. Units do not count toward completion of the major. Prerequisite: Spring sections will require departmental approval.

Examines relationship between public opinion and public policy by identifying democratic values, public preferences, and interactions between elected officials and people they govern. Prerequisite: Political Science 220 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 323

Money, Politics and Prisons
The connections between the economy, politics, and the prison system in the United States are important for understanding concepts of justice in a democracy. Explores links between privatization of prisons, political incentives, and theories of justice. Prerequisite: Political Science 220.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 325

Racial Politics
Comparative examination of the history, problems and political role of minority groups in the U.S., with a concentration on the African-American political experience. Prerequisite: Political Science 220.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 326

Legislative Process
Organization and functions of American Congress. Prerequisite: Political Science 220 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 327

The American Presidency
Political leadership in American political system from perspective of chief executive. Particular attention to expansion and use of presidential power. Prerequisite: Political Science 220 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 328

American National Government
Research seminar on national policy-making process. For advanced political science students. Prerequisite: Political Science 220 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 329

Campaigns and Elections
Analysis of institutions and process of American electoral system and behavior of American electorate. Prerequisite: Political Science 220 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 330

Creation of the American Republic
(See Leadership Studies 308.)
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 331

Constitutional Law
Role of United States Supreme Court in American politics studied through examination of landmark constitutional decisions pertaining to distribution of governmental powers. Prerequisite: Political Science 220 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 333

Civil Rights/Liberties
Analysis of contemporary legal status and interpretation of constitutional rights and liberties. Emphasis on landmark Supreme Court decisions involving various provisions of the Bill of Rights and the Fourteenth Amendment. Prerequisite: Political Science 220 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 336
American Constitutional History
Background, adoption, and development of the Constitution, with emphasis on role of Supreme Court and judicial review in American history and on changing interpretations of key provisions in the Constitution. Prerequisite: Political Science 220 or History 120 or 121.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 337
The American Legal System
Analysis of structure, processes, and personnel of American legal system. Emphasis on decision making of private parties, judges, juries, and attorneys in context of civil litigation and criminal prosecution. Prerequisite: Political Science 220 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 339
Jurisprudence in Contemporary American Politics
Explores basic questions about the nature and function of law as an instrument of state power that are deeply interconnected with a wide range of political and legal problems. Prerequisite: Political Science 220 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 340
Islam in Politics
Broadly comparative survey of contemporary Islamist political parties, ideologies and legal philosophies in Asia, Africa, Europe, and America. Prerequisite: Political Science 240 or International Studies 290.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 341
Great Britain, France and Germany
Geographical and historical settings, political cultures, political parties and elections, executives, legislatures, bureaucracies, and legal systems in three major Western European countries. Comparisons of public policies and responses to challenges of welfare state. Prerequisite: Political Science 220 and 240 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 342
Transitions from Communism in Europe and Eurasia
An overview of developments in the postcommunist region while focusing on the politics of simultaneous triple transition from communist rule: political, economic, and social. Pays particular attention to the determinants of diverse trajectories followed by countries in the postcommunist world as it examines new EU member states, Russia, and the other members of the Commonwealth of Independent States (CIS). (Same as International Studies 342.) Prerequisite: Political Science 240 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 343
Politics of Asia
Study of historical, cultural, and social forces shaping contemporary politics of Asia. Comparative survey of major political systems and critical examination of key issues. Attempts to link Asian studies with mainstream political science. Prerequisite: Political Science 240 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 344
Europe Today
Political, social, ethnic, and economic developments in Western Europe since WWII. Formation of European institutions such as European Union, Council of Europe, and NATO. Cooperation and conflict among European states, parties, and interest groups. Prerequisite: Political Science 240 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 345
Politics of China, Hong Kong and Taiwan
Study of contemporary political history of China; analysis of political systems of the People's Republic of China, the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region, and the Republic of China on Taiwan; and discussion of key political, economic, and military issues. Prerequisite: Political Science 240 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 346
Politics of Cultural Pluralism
Comparative examination of politicization of race, ethnicity, religion, and caste in contemporary world. Prerequisite: Political Science 220, 240, or 250 or International Studies 290 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 347
Politics of Developing Nations
Comparative analysis of political, social, and economic development or modernization of nations in Africa, Asia, and Latin America. Topics include influence of ideology, revolution and reform, national integration, neo-imperialism and dependency, and economic growth and equality. Prerequisite: Political Science 240 or 250 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 348
Politics of Africa
Comparative study of state formation, nation-building, political economy, social structure/movements, selected regions and countries in Africa. Prerequisite: Political Science 240 or 250 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 349
Politics of Latin America and the Caribbean
Influence of historical, social, and cultural forces on contemporary politics of Latin America and the Caribbean. Effects of social structure and underdevelopment on processes of democratization, institution building, national integration, and economic development. Case studies of selected countries illustrate major themes and issues explored. Prerequisite: Political Science 240 or 250 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 350
American Foreign Policy
Analyzes the traditions, processes, substance, and goals of American foreign policy, in addition to exploring national security and defense policy, foreign economic policy, international diplomacy, and foreign policy ethics. Prerequisite: Political Science 220 or 250 or permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

PLSC 351
Globalization
Analysis of the political, economic, and socio-cultural dimensions of globalization. Considers how globalization has affected the nation state, interstate relations, and the democratization and development of countries around the world. Students will evaluate different definitions of globalization; analyze to what extent globalization limits the autonomy of national governments; and consider whether the effects of globalization vary across different regions of the world. (Same as International Studies 351.) Prerequisite: Political Science 240 or 250 or International Studies 210.
PLSC 352
International Law and Organization
Development, processes and functions of contemporary international law and organization. Emphasis on conflict management, promotion of economic and social welfare, and development of community. Prerequisite: Political Science 250 or permission of instructor.

PLSC 355
Middle East Security
International relations of West Asia and North Africa with emphasis on issues related to war, peace, and power. Particular attention is devoted to the Arab-Israeli conflict, American involvement in Iraq and the Persian Gulf, terrorism and counter-terrorism, and other "flash points." Prerequisite: Political Science 250.

PLSC 356
International Political Economy
Politics, processes, and institutions underlying contemporary global economic interdependence, with special focus on international trade, finance, and assistance; alternative theoretical models for understanding these events, processes, and institutions. Prerequisite: Political Science 250 or permission of instructor.

PLSC 357
International Relations of East Asia
Study of interactions among the major powers in the Asia-Pacific region during and after the Cold War. Examines crucial country cases and thematic issues (with focus on identity, security, and economic interdependence) by drawing perspectives from dominant international relations theories (e.g., realism, neorealism, liberal-idealism, liberal institutionalism, Marxism, and constructivism). Prerequisite: Political Science 240 or 250.

PLSC 358
The United States and the Pacific Rim
Study of changing U.S. role in the Asia-Pacific region; U.S. relations with the major powers in the region; and salient regional and bilateral political, security, and economic issues.

PLSC 360
International Development Policy
Assistance policies of wealthy nations and multilateral organizations, development policies and problems of poor or underdeveloped nations, and dynamics of economic, political, environmental, and cultural transactions. Prerequisite: Political Science 250 or permission of instructor.

PLSC 361
The Politics of Social Welfare
Study of the development and effectiveness of programs in the United States that seek to promote economic equality and alleviate need. A focus on programs for both the poor and the middle class. Prerequisite: Political Science 220 or permission of instructor.

PLSC 362
Environmental Law and Policy
Examines legal aspects, both regulations and case law, of environmental policy. Central issues are whether legal responses (1) effectively address the needs of the parties most affected; (2) properly weigh such facts as economic efficiency, protection of nonhuman species, and the possibility of unintended consequences; and (3) are diluted by the political process. (Same as Environmental Studies 362.) Prerequisite: Political Science 260 or Environmental Studies 201.

<td>Examines what makes us sick, what keeps us healthy, and what it would take to give good health the upper hand in developing countries. Over the past 150 years, major breakthroughs in public health have enabled humans to live longer, healthier, and more productive lives. The benefits of public health have yet to be extended to many of the poorest nations. In the past two decades, infectious diseases that had nearly been conquered have come surging back, while devastating new diseases have emerged.</td>

| PLSC 364    | Mental Health and Policy                               | Integrates the study of mental health care and policy in the United States from the early 20th century to the present and the etiology of major mental health problems and their treatments. The policy portion of the course will focus on the effects that changes in financing programs and health insurance have had in shaping mental health policy, the types and patterns of treatment, the expansion of concepts of mental illness, and the changing nature of mental health advocacy and ideology. The clinical portion of the course will be based on a biopsychosocial model of mental health and will thus encourage students to think critically about how biological, psychological, and contextual factors interact to produce mental disorders and how different treatment approaches must then address these complex causal factors. Prerequisite: (PSYC 100 and PSYC 200) or PLSC 260 |             | 1     |

| PLSC 365    | U.S. Healthcare Policy and Politics                   | Examination of political and economic evolution of the American healthcare system: doctors, hospitals, managed care, Medicare, Medicaid, health insurance, public health, epidemiology, mental health, pediatric health, tort reform, and psychopharmacology, among other topics. Includes comparative analysis of other countries' healthcare systems. |             | 1     |

| PLSC 372    | Methods for Public Opinion Research                   | Core topics related to research methodology with a specific focus on survey methodology and introduction to a wider range of methods for ascertaining public opinion. Prerequisite: Political Science 220 and Mathematics 119 or Business Statistics 301 or Psychology 200 with a grade of C- or better. |             | 1     |

| PLSC 373    | Methods for Public Policy Research                    | Core topics related to research methodology with a specific focus on policy analysis and program evaluation, including various methodological techniques utilized for the quantitative and qualitative assessment of public policy. Prerequisite: Political Science 220 or 260 and Mathematics 119 or Business Statistics 301 or Psychology 200 with a grade of C- or better. |             | 1     |

| PLSC 374    | Methods for Cross-National Research                  | Core topics related to research methodology with a specific focus on issues and techniques in the collection, interpretation, comparison, and modeling of cross-national and cross-cultural data. Prerequisite: Political Science 240 or 250 and Mathematics 119 or Business Statistics 301 or Psychology 200 with a grade of C- or better. |             | 1     |

| PLSC 379    | Selected Topics                                       |                                                                                                                                             |             | 1     |
Examples include comparative public-policy, constitutional politics, political terrorism, and public policy decision making. May be repeated for credit when topic varies.

Department of Psychology

Jane Berry, Chair

Professors Allison, Kinsley, Newcomb

Associate Professors Bagwell, Berry, Crawford

Assistant Professors Bukach, Burnette, Landy

Clinical Assistant Professors Churchill, LeViness, Stott
The Department of Psychology offers a rigorous, graduated curriculum that combines the highest expectations of achievement in an environment rich in opportunities for intellectual stimulation and growth. Our primary mission is to provide an academic setting for students to become knowledgeable, skilled, reflective, and highly accomplished, preparing them to excel in the best graduate and professional schools and in the most competitive, creative employment contexts. We prepare students to lead productive lives characterized by an inquiring attitude, engagement in the life of mind, and immersion in the larger community. Our faculty are dedicated to excellence in teaching and scholarship, and seek to cultivate in students a love of learning and involvement in their academic community by providing multi-layered mentoring opportunities. The department strives to educate and train its students to reach their potential.

The psychology faculty believe that education is as much an activity as it is a body of knowledge. As professors, we embrace pedagogical approaches that emphasize the scientific method; curiosity about the world and its phenomena; intellectual challenge and complexity; familiarity with primary source materials; interactive and collaborative learning; critical and analytical thinking; mastery in oral and written expression and communication; and the historical and philosophical foundations of psychological science. We value psychology’s connections to the arts, humanities, and natural sciences; we teach professional ethics; we embrace diverse perspectives and individual differences; and we promote student involvement in local and international culture, community, and society. These curricular emphases reflect our educational goals and aspirations. They represent directions for fostering, challenging, and strengthening our students' intellectual experience, and they pervade all levels of our curriculum, from the introductory to the most advanced. Collaborative research pursuits between faculty and students are the centerpiece of the psychology major.

The Psychology Major

Note: The grade point average of the department-specific and related-area coursework comprising the major must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.7).

For the Bachelor of Arts degree

10 units, including
- PSYC 100 Introduction to Psychological Science
- PSYC 200 Methods and Analyses
- PSYC 299 Integrated Topics
- One course from PSYC 310-329
- One course from PSYC 330-349
- One additional course from PSYC 310-349
- One course in the 433-449 series
- Three electives at the 300 or 400 level

For the Bachelor of Science degree

14 units, including
- PSYC 100 Introduction to Psychological Science
- PSYC 200 Methods and Analyses
- PSYC 299 Integrated Topics
- One course from PSYC 310-329
- One course from PSYC 330-349
- One additional course from PSYC 310-349
- One course in the 433-449 series
- Three electives at the 300 or 400 level
- MATH 211 or 231 Calculus I
- MATH 212 or 232 Calculus II
• One unit, chosen from
  o MATH 235 Multivariate Calculus
  o MATH 245 Linear Algebra
  o MATH 312 Differential Equations
  o CMSC 150 Introduction to Computing
  o CMSC 155 Introduction to Scientific Computing

• One unit, chosen from
  o BIOL 201 Genetics
  o CHEM 141 Introductory Chemistry: Structure, Dynamics and Synthesis
  o PHYS 127-128 General Physics I and II
  o PHYS 131-132 General Physics with Calculus I and II

Note: No more than one unit of Psychology 299 may be applied to the 10 units required in psychology. No more than one unit of internship and two units of Psychology 361 may be applied to the major.

The Senior Capstone Experience

The department's senior capstone experience is intended to provide psychology majors with an intensive and integrative experience in psychology to culminate their undergraduate careers.

Students pursuing either the Bachelor of Arts or the Bachelor of Science degree must choose one of three Senior Capstone options:

Option 1
One advanced seminar. One course in the Psychology 433-449 series to be taken during the fall or spring semester of the student's senior year.

Option 2
Senior research and one advanced seminar. One course in the Psychology 433-449 series to be taken during the fall or spring semester of the student's senior year, and collaboration with a faculty member on a year-long senior research project in 461 and 462 courses.

Option 3
Senior honors research and two advanced seminars. One course in the Psychology 433-449 series to be taken during the fall semester of the student's senior year, a second course from this series to be taken during spring of the senior year, and collaboration with a faculty member on a year-long senior honors research project in 491 and 492 courses.

Related Fields

• Interdisciplinary concentration in neuroscience for biology and psychology majors
• Interdisciplinary major in cognitive science

The Psychology Minor

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the minor must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.7).

7 units, including
• PSYC 100 Introduction to Psychological Science
• PSYC 200 Methods and Analyses
• PSYC 299 Integrated Topics
• One course from PSYC 310-329
• One course from PSYC 330-349
• One additional course from PSYC 310-349
• One elective at the 300 or 400 level

Study Abroad

Psychology majors are encouraged to take advantage of study abroad. The key to successful integration of a study abroad experience with a psychology major is early and careful planning with the student's advisor and department chair. In most cases students will want to have their final three semesters on campus. Therefore, if a student anticipates participating in a study abroad program, the best times to be away are the sophomore year, the first semester of the junior year, or during a summer.

Honors Program

Students invited into the honors program may earn honors in psychology by completing the following requirements:

1. Two courses from PSYC 433-449 series;
2. PSYC 491;
3. PSYC 492

Courses

PSYC 100
Introduction to Psychological Science
Overview of the study of human behavior, with emphasis on scientific reasoning and the technological skills involved in the process of conducting psychological research and understanding human behavior. Two and a half lecture and one and a quarter laboratory hours per week.
1 Unit(s)
(FSSA)

PSYC 200
Methods and Analyses
Introduction to research methods and statistical procedures in psychological science. Emphasis on mastering fundamental scientific, reasoning, and technological skills associated with literature review, research design, experimental manipulation, data collection, data analysis, data graphics, data interpretation, data presentation, and scientific writing. Two and a half lecture and one and a quarter laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Psychology 100 with a grade of C- or better.
1 Unit(s)

PSYC 249
Special Topics
Special course offerings to explore specific directions within subdiscipline of psychology. May be repeated for credit when topic varies. Prerequisite: Stated when course is offered.
1 Unit(s)

PSYC 299
Integrated Topics
Courses that provide an integrative perspective of psychological theories, issues, and research across two or more disciplinary (or subdisciplinary) contexts. This course may not be repeated for credit. Prerequisite: Psychology 100 with a grade of C- or better.
1 Unit(s)

PSYC 300
History and Systems of Psychology
History of psychology and of major schools of thought and their viewpoints. Recommended for majors who are planning to attend graduate school in psychology. Prerequisite: Psychology 299.
1 Unit(s)

PSYC 311
Child Development
Critical examination of research and theory on developmental changes and processes from prenatal through preadolescent periods. Emphasis on theoretical and empirical work on social, emotional, and cognitive development and on various developmental contexts. Includes an intensive laboratory experience focusing on conceptual, methodological, and analytical skills employed in the study of child development. Two and a half lecture and one and a quarter laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Psychology 200 with a grade of C- or better.
1 Unit(s)

PSYC 313
Social Psychology
Critical overview of current theory and research in social psychology, with emphasis on conceptual and empirical work on social inference, stereotyping, self processes, social influence, affective processes, attraction, interpersonal processes, altruism, aggression, and group dynamics. Includes an intensive laboratory component focusing on conceptual, methodological, and analytical skills associated with social psychological inquiry. Two and a half lecture and one and a quarter laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Psychology 200 with a grade of C- or better.
1 Unit(s)

PSYC 315
Adult Development
Critical examination of changes and stability in behavior from late adolescence through advanced old age, including perception, intelligence, memory, personality, emotion, social networks, death/dying, creativity, and wisdom. Emphasis on theory, research, and applications in class with intensive laboratory component. Two and a half lecture and one and a quarter laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Psychology 200 with a grade of C- or better.
1 Unit(s)

PSYC 317
Applied Social Psychology
Critical examination of theory and research in applied social psychology. Emphasis will be on applications of experimental behavioral science to societal, institutional, and personal well-being (e.g., inequality, conservation, interpersonal processes, jury deliberation, health). Includes an intensive laboratory component focusing on conceptual, methodological, and analytical skills associated with the study of applied social psychology. Two and a half lecture and one and a quarter laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Psychology 200 with a grade of C- or better.
1 Unit(s)

PSYC 319
Psychopathology
Critical examination of research and theory in psychopathology and behavior disorders including the phenomenology, etiology, assessment, and treatment of major forms of psychological disorders. Emphasis on an integrative approach incorporating clinical, developmental, biological, and sociocultural perspectives. Intensive co-requisite laboratory experience focused on conceptual, methodological, and analytical skills used in clinical psychology and investigation of psychopathology and behavior disorders. Two and a half lecture and one and a quarter laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Psychology 200 with a grade of C- or better.
1 Unit(s)

PSYC 321
The Psychology of Organizations
Critical examination of major theoretical orientations and methodological approaches that bridge the fields of social psychology and organizational behavior. Topics include information processing, decision making, social influence, leadership, and group dynamics. Intensive laboratory experience focusing on methodological, statistical, and computing skills associated with theory and research on the psychology of organizations. Two and a half lecture and one and a quarter laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Psychology 200 with a grade of C- or better.
1 Unit(s)

Special Topics
Critical examination of concepts in one of the following areas of psychology, including but not limited to life span development, clinical and abnormal, social cognition, health, learning and memory, cross-cultural, personality, human diversity, and other specialized topics in the developmental, clinical, and social psychological sciences. Emphasis on theory, research, and applications in lecture with intensive laboratory component. May be repeated for credit when topic differs. Two and a half lecture and one and a quarter laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Psychology 200 with a grade of C- or better.
1 Unit(s)

PSYC 331
Behavioral Neuroscience
Focus on the neural regulation of behavior, from animal to human. Intensive lab component with techniques and approaches used in design, execution, and analysis of research in behavioral neuroscience. Two and a half lecture and one and a quarter laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Psychology 200 with a grade of C- or better.
1 Unit(s)

PSYC 333
Cognitive Science
Examines the nature, function, and mechanism of mental structures that process and represent information, in humans as well as other intelligent agents. Cognitive science integrates methods drawn from psychology, neuroscience, philosophy, computer science, linguistics, and anthropology. Intensive lab component applies techniques from various fields, emphasizing human experimentation and the observation, analysis, and design of simulated creatures. Two and a half lecture and one and a quarter laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Psychology 200 with a grade of C- or better.
1 Unit(s)

PSYC 341
Cognitive Neuroscience
Critically examines what brain injury and cognitive deficits can tell us about the relationship between brain and behavior. Covers the functional anatomy of the major cognitive systems, including action, object recognition, attention, memory, language, emotion, and executive function. Includes an intensive laboratory experience focusing on research skills employed in the field of cognitive neuroscience. Two and a half lecture and one and a quarter laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Psychology 200 with a grade of C- or better.
1 Unit(s)

Special Topics
Critical examination of concepts in one of the following areas of psychology, including but not limited to psycholinguistics, stress, sensation and perception, animal behavior, and other specialized topics in the cognitive and brain sciences. Emphasis on theory, research, and applications in lecture with intensive laboratory component. Two and a half lecture and one and a quarter laboratory hours per week. Prerequisite: Psychology 200 with a grade of C- or better.
1 Unit(s)

PSYC 350
Selfhood
Critical examination of nature, function, and development of the human self. Emphasis on the dynamic, open-ended qualities of the healthy, normal self, and on the construction of self-identity, especially in relationship to one's sense of meaning in life.
1 Unit(s)
PSYC  351
Religion and Psychology
For millennia, religion and psychology have addressed issues pertaining to the nature and functioning of the human soul (anima) or mind (psyche). Will explore some of the intertwined history of religion and psychology, including some of the religious underpinnings of modern psychology, as well as the psychological foundations of religious experience, doctrine, ritual, and belief. Emphasis on the psychology of religions. (Same as Religion 364.)
1 Unit(s)

PSYC  352
Choice and Decision Making
Critical examination of theories, concepts, and applications in the areas of human choice, judgment, and decision-making. Rational models of choice will be compared and contrasted with strategies that typify human behavior. Also focuses on applications of theoretical concepts to a variety of choices in everyday life as well as to major life decisions. Prerequisite: Psychology 200 with a grade of C- or better.
1 Unit(s)

PSYC  353
Mental Health and Policy
Integrates the study of mental health care and policy in the United States from the early 20th century to the present and the etiology of major mental health problems and their treatments. The policy portion of the course will focus on the effects that changes in financing programs and health insurance have had in shaping mental health policy, the types and patterns of treatment, the expansion of concepts of mental illness, and the changing nature of mental health advocacy and ideology. The clinical portion of the course will be based on a biopsychosocial model of mental health and will thus encourage students to think critically about how biological, psychological, and contextual factors interact to produce mental disorders and how different treatment approaches must then address these complex causal factors. Prerequisite: Psychology 100 and 200 or Political Science 260
1 Unit(s)

PSYC  359
Special Topics
Special course offerings to explore specific direction within subdisciplinary area of psychology. May be repeated for credit when topics vary. Prerequisite: Stated when course is offered.
1 Unit(s)

PSYC  361
Independent Research
Individual research conducted in collaboration with faculty. Note: No more than 2 units may count toward a psychology major. Available as pass/fail only. Prerequisite: Psychology 200 with a grade of C- or better and permission of supervising instructor prior to registration.
.5-1 Unit(s)

PSYC  377
Advanced Research Seminar
Critical overview of major subdisciplinary fields of specialization in psychological science, with focus on conducting research. Emphasis on developing a viable research proposal grounded in historical, philosophical, and empirical foundations related to a student conceived research question. Open to advanced sophomores and juniors. Prerequisite: Psychology 200 and 299.
1 Unit(s)

PSYC  388
Individual Internship
Supervised independent work in field setting designed to give student applied experience after completion of appropriate coursework in psychology. Requires consultation with and approval by department chair. No more than 1 unit of internship in any one department and 3.5 units of internship overall may be counted toward required degree units. Available as pass/fail only. Prerequisite: Psychology 299 appropriate to the internship setting.

1-1 Unit(s)
Religion

Department of Religion

G. Scott Davis, Chair
Professors Davis, Eakin
Associate Professors Bergren, Geaney, Shaw, Winiarski

The religion major is designed to provide students with both breadth and depth in the academic study of religion. When declaring the major, the student must meet with the departmental representative to formulate a course of study appropriate both to his or her interests and to the goals of the major generally.

The Religion Major

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the major must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.7).

9 units, including
- Three units at the 300 level, excluding 388, 395, 396
- Four elective units in religion
- RELG 400 Majors Seminar in Approaches to the Study of Religion (Fall only)
- RELG 401 Majors Colloquium (Spring only)

The department encourages double majors. In addition, cognate courses in other departments may be included within the required nine units, with the approval in advance of the religion department. Under no circumstances will more than two extra-departmental courses be accepted as part of those nine units. Majors who plan to study abroad in the senior year must make arrangements to take the Majors Seminar and/or the Majors Colloquium in the junior year.

Honors Program

Qualified students may apply to work for honors at the discretion of the department. A major who wishes to pursue honors should meet with the honors coordinator, usually no later than the first semester of the junior year. The department will then invite selected students to apply for honors, at which point those students will meet with the honors coordinator to plan a designated honors program in conjunction with a faculty advisor. The honors program will normally consist of four related courses, approved by the honors committee of the School of Arts and Sciences, two of which will be RELG 403-404, culminating in an honors thesis. The advisor and two other members of the department will constitute the thesis committee for each thesis and will supervise the required oral defense. Honors will be granted only to those students whose theses meet departmental standards.

The Religion Minor

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the minor must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.7).

5 units, including
- At least two units at the 300 level, excluding 388, 395, 396
- Three elective units in religion
The religion minor is designed to provide basic grounding in the academic study of religion. The religion minor requires five units in religion, reflecting the diversity of areas and approaches that make up the religion department.

Courses

RELG  200
Symbol, Myth and Ritual
Introduction to study of religion including, but not limited to, social scientific approaches, focusing on symbols, myths, and rituals as constitutive features of individual and communal religious thought and practice.
1 Unit(s)
(FSSA)

RELG  201
The Bible as Literature
Literary analysis of selected biblical passages, with text viewed as autonomous entity. Attention to both intention of author(s) and message understood by recipient(s). Emphasis on student's direct involvement in textual analysis.
1 Unit(s)
(FSLT)

RELG  204

(FSHT)

RELG  232
Introduction to Biblical Hebrew
Introduction to biblical Hebrew. Principles and structure of biblical Hebrew with translation of selected Old Testament narratives.
1 Unit(s)

RELG  241
Introduction to Early Christian Era
Survey of history of early Christianity, beginning with Jesus and his religious background, to about 120 A.D. Focus on primary texts: New Testament and other early Christian literature.
1 Unit(s)
(FSHT)

RELG  242
Jesus and Christian Origins
Investigates diversity of historical sources for Jesus. Detailed attention to selected ancient documents and modern interpretations.
1 Unit(s)

RELG  243
The World of the New Testament
Religious and philosophical movements, besides Christianity, that flourished in Mediterranean world 200 B.C. to 200 A.D. Focus on "Greco-Roman" religions, Judaism, and Gnosticism.

RELG 259
Orientalism, Racism, and Religion
By analyzing interpretations of selected religious texts, this course explores manifestations of racism and "orientalism"—a term coined to describe Western perceptions of another culture as static, backward, and passive. The "classics" of religious literature are particularly susceptible to interpretations that are racist or orientalist. This course is organized around several examples of such interpretations of particular religious classics. Topics may vary, but they will focus on specific moments of intense racist and/or orientalist interpretation: for example, Tokugawa Japanese readings of Shinto mythology, 20th century New Age appropriations of early Chinese "Daoist" and/or Buddhist texts, 19th century American racist readings of Genesis, and modern Hindu fundamentalist readings of ancient Vedic texts.

Professionals from the field also are employed as adjunct faculty. Upper-level courses are taught on a rotating basis.

Sociology is the systematic study of social life in order to understand the causes and consequences of human action. Sociologists study the structure and processes of modern, industrial societies. They examine how social structures (groups, organizations, and communities) and social institutions (family, education, religion, etc.) affect human attitudes, actions, and life-chances. Sociologists use various theoretical perspectives to understand such areas as culture, socialization, conformity and deviance, inequality, family patterns, race and ethnic relations, and social change. Combining theoretical perspectives with empirical research allows constant testing and refinement of the body of knowledge that comprises the field of sociology. Sociology offers students an opportunity to develop new insights and a different perspective on their lives and to understand everyday social life as a combination of both stable patterns of interaction and ubiquitous sources of social change.

The Sociology Major

Note: The grade point average of the sociology coursework comprising the major must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.7).

10 units, including
- SOC 101 Foundations of Society: Introduction to Sociological Analysis
- SOC 211 Sociological Research Methods and Data Analysis
- SOC 221 Sociological Theory
- One unit from each of the three areas of concentration and three additional units, selected in consultation with the student's major advisor
- SOC 401 Capstone Experience

Notes:
- Upper-level courses are taught on a rotating basis.
- Completing at least three units in one area constitutes a concentration in that area.
- Only one 200-level course may be taken within any single concentration.
- No more than two 200-level courses, excluding SOC 211 and SOC 221, may be taken for credit toward the sociology major. No more than one 200-level course, excluding SOC 211 and SOC 221, may be taken for credit towards the sociology minor.
- No more than two anthropology courses may be counted towards the major, while no more than one anthropology course may counted towards the minor.
- Students must earn a grade of C or better in either SOC 211 or SOC 221 in order to take 300-level sociology courses.
- Students must earn a grade of C or better in both SOC 211 and SOC 221 in order to take 400-level sociology courses.
- SOC 326, 388, and 389 may not be counted toward the sociology minor.
- For the sociology major no more than three courses (two courses for the sociology minor) may be taken at other institutions, including study abroad institutions.
- Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the major/minor. Prerequisites do not count toward the major/minor unless otherwise noted.

The Sociology Minor

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the minor must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C- (1.7). A maximum of two courses may be taken at another accredited institution or through an approved study abroad program, with departmental approval.

6 units, including
- SOC 101 Foundations of Society: Introduction to Sociological Analysis
- SOC 211 Sociological Research Methods and Data Analysis
- SOC 221 Sociological Theory
- 3 elective units, chosen from the three areas of concentration within the sociology major, with a minimum of 2 from the 300 level

Notes:
- Upper-level courses are taught on a rotating basis.
- Completing at least three units in one area constitutes a concentration in that area.
• Only one 200-level course may be taken within any single concentration.
• No more than two 200-level courses, excluding SOC 211 and SOC 221, may be taken for credit toward the sociology major. No more than one 200-level course, excluding SOC 211 and SOC 221, may be taken for credit towards the sociology minor.
• No more than two anthropology courses may be counted towards the major, while no more than one anthropology course may be counted towards the minor.
• Students must earn a grade of C or better in either SOC 211 or SOC 221 in order to take 300-level sociology courses.
• Students must earn a grade of C or better in both SOC 211 and SOC 221 in order to take 400-level sociology courses.
• SOC 326, 388, and 389 may not be counted toward the sociology minor.
• For the sociology major no more than three courses (two courses for the sociology minor) may be taken at other institutions, including study abroad institutions.
• Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the major/minor. Prerequisites do not count toward the major/minor unless otherwise noted.

Honors Program

The goal of the Sociology honors program is to give those students with superior interests and talents in the field to explore both sociology and personal intellectual interests and themes beyond the limits of typical courses offered. This will prepare these advanced students for possible graduate work or more advanced career prospects. Successful completion of the Honors Program is shown on the student's permanent academic record and on the diploma.

Eligibility and Admission

To qualify for the honors program in Sociology, a student should have:

1. 18.5 or more units completed overall
2. At least a 3.30 cumulative grade point average for all courses
3. Excluding coursework primarily for first-year students, 4 or more units completed with distinction in the major field and a 3.5 cumulative grade point average for Sociology courses

To enter the honors program, the student must submit a letter of intent, with nominating support from one faculty member, by March 15 of his or her junior year. These materials must be submitted to the department's Honors Committee coordinator for inspection, after which the chairperson and student discuss the details and demands of the honors program.

A student who does not meet these qualifications may be admitted to the Program with the special recommendation of the department and the approval of the Faculty Committee on the Honors Program.

Students may request consideration by their department, or the department may invite a student to apply.

Program of Study

To receive credit for the Honors Program, the student must:

- Fulfill the normal BA requirements for Sociology, with required Theory & Methods courses (Sociology 221 and 211) completed by the end of the junior year to facilitate work on the senior thesis (see below). There are two additional upper-level one-unit courses (one of which can be outside the department and must be related to the topic of the senior thesis), and independent study for the senior thesis (see below), to be completed by the end of the senior year. (This will allow juniors with a clear program of study to take a useful course that might not be offered in his or her senior year.) The program of study for Honors is 12 units (10 units for the BA + 2 units for Honors Independent Study).
- Complete a senior thesis that addresses an original question or issue and that produces some original research (so as not to be a pure literature review of existing work). The thesis should be data-driven and demonstrate a grasp of existing literature and theory related to the issue at hand. While the senior thesis need not explicitly test sociological theory, it should engage relevant theory and not be purely empirical (although a purely empirical thesis is permissible if the student's advisor deems the project of having scholarly value). In preparation for undertaking the senior thesis, the student must agree with a faculty member, whose interests and expertise have the best possible fit with the student's intended thesis topic, to be his or her advisor for the thesis. The student and advisor should devise a basic plan for the project by the end of the spring semester of the junior year.

- For credit for the thesis, the student will take two one-unit Honors courses in the senior year, both involving work on the senior thesis: Honors Independent Study (autumn) and Honors Thesis (spring). This will involve at a minimum meeting once a week with the thesis supervisor to discuss and monitor progress in data collection, analysis, and write-up. (The former will involve monitoring and assessing progress in data collection and analysis through regular reports--the timetable depending on the particular project, in agreement with the student and advisor. Assessment for the latter will be the thesis product itself.) The thesis will be due in time for a final grade to be submitted to the registrar--preferably the Friday before the School of Arts & Sciences Student Symposium (April). The grade for the independent study is that for the senior thesis. The department encourages students who are prepared sufficiently early to apply for a University summer grant to facilitate research. This 2-unit combination is in addition to the 10 units required for the Sociology BA.

- The senior thesis will be assessed and graded by the student's thesis advisor and the chair of the Honors Program. If one person fulfills both these roles, an outside person whose expertise is sufficiently close to the thesis topic will be asked to aid with assessment. In case of disagreement, another member of the department will be asked for his/her opinion on the appropriate grade to resolve the disagreement.

- The student must take two standard one-unit upper-level courses for Honors credit that include additional extra work agreed upon by the student, the course instructor, and the Honors program coordinator. One of those must be related to the intended senior thesis topic. This one course may be in any department, but in any case it should meet with the approval of the student's thesis advisor or Honors Program chair.

The student may withdraw at any time. Should he/she not complete required additional work or maintain an overall 3.3 grade point average and a 3.5 grade point average for Sociology coursework, the student will not receive credit for the Honors Program, and the department will submit a request for withdrawal to the Faculty Committee on the Honors Program.

The department will encourage students in their junior year who appear qualified to consider the Honors Program seriously as soon as possible, to facilitate preparation for the senior thesis and any required summer work/research.

The Honors program coordinator will meet with participating students no less frequently than one time per month (or via e-mail or other means of communication in the summer) to assess progress. The student and his/her advisor should develop a schedule for meetings and assessment they find most appropriate.

Courses

Honors Program

Outstanding students with intellectual initiative and the desire to pursue academic achievement beyond standard coursework have the opportunity to broaden and deepen knowledge in selected major fields through the honors program. To qualify, a student should have at least a 3.30 cumulative grade point average, 18 or more units completed and, excluding coursework primarily for first-year students, 3.5 or more units completed with distinction in the major field.

Students electing to fulfill requirements for the honors program in the Department of Theatre and Dance must designate at least two units of honors credit through a combination of upper-level courses. This will require the student to do additional work over and above the normal requirements of the course. In addition, the student also must take Honors Thesis Preparation (THTR 380) and Honors Performance/Thesis (THTR 381). The student must have attained a departmental GPA of 3.30 by the beginning of the fall semester of the senior year. The student also must maintain that GPA through the completion of the program and an overall GPA of no less than 3.0 while in the program. Students should declare their intention to seek honors and meet with the honors coordinator in their sophomore year. Students who have not declared by the second semester of their junior year are disqualified from further honors consideration. Those who have declared that they are seeking honors will be considered candidates until they fail to meet one of the program's requirements. Successful completion of an honors program is shown on the student's permanent academic record and on the diploma.

Courses

THTR 115
Theatre Appreciation
An introduction to the role of actors, playwrights, directors, designers, and audiences in the highly collaborative art of theatre. Students learn to appreciate the artistic and intellectual processes of theatre artists and to use knowledge of historical forms and traditions in order to evaluate contemporary live theatre. Students will engage in creative projects in the classroom and interact with professional theatre artists via lab work on mainstage productions. Laboratory assignments with mainstage productions.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

THTR 119
Broadway Musical Theatre
Survey of the Broadway musical theatre from its 19th century roots to the present day. Provides basic introduction to music theory and culminates with performance of original one-act musical(s) written and produced by class members. In addition to regular class meetings, weekly labs are held for rehearsals and presentation of special topics. (Same as Music 119.)
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

THTR 201
Stagecraft
Introduction to scene design and construction, lighting design and execution, scene painting, sound design, and properties in theory and practical applications. Laboratory hours required.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)
Stage Lighting

Laboratory hours required.
1 Unit(s)

THTR 205
Production Studies I-Fundamentals of Theatre
Examines the meaning of art to theatre/dance and the necessity of research, while exploring the elements of acting, directing, dance, scene design, lighting, costume design, makeup, and sound design in theatre productions. The study of theatre history and theory will provide students with a framework for the analysis of text and performance. Also, students will learn methods for assembling a theatre portfolio that will represent their course work, research, and creative projects.
1 Unit(s)

THTR 206
Introduction to Costume
Introduction to role of costume designer as collaborative artist in theatre process. Survey of historical implications for design. Basic skills of costume construction. Laboratory assignments with mainstage productions.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

THTR 210
Performing Diversity: A Cultural Odyssey
Furthers understanding of minority groups in America by investigating their social condition from an experiential base. Participants will explore existing portraits and issues associated with minorities as well as connect with important notions on cultural diversity in America. Special importance will be placed on celebrating ethnic achievements and lifestyles. Plays, poetry, and other performance art forms (including cooking and dressing) will constitute significant class presentations.
1 Unit(s)

THTR 212
Basics of Acting
Basic methods of analysis and performance techniques necessary to generate believable human behavior on stage. Study of roots (mind/body processes), not ends of acting (performance). Class exercises to develop and discipline actor's physical, vocal, and imaginative equipment. Laboratory assignments with major productions.
1 Unit(s)
(FSVP)

THTR 213
Fundamentals of Stage Makeup
Art and application of theatrical makeup, realism to fantasy. Corrective makeup; specialty makeup (aging, scars, beards, animal faces). Laboratory assignments in conjunction with all major productions.
1 Unit(s)

THTR 215
Physical Theatre: Actor as Creator
Introduces students to the contemporary approaches to theatre-making which focus on the body. Through a series of workshops & creative projects, students will learn techniques for generating original material, developing their spontaneity and creativity, and creating theatre that is personally meaningful and collectively engaging.
1 Unit(s)

THTR 219
Ensemble Performance
Exploratory class which attempts to generate honest and spontaneous responses from the actor to performance and play creating circumstances. Major emphasis is placed on teamwork, the search for truth and attaining actual potential in the art of playing. With a view to synergizing theatre activity with communal responsibility participants are encouraged to draw on issues around them and nurture creative inspiration from societal needs. Improvisation, storytelling, and multiple role playing are primary mediums for advancing the experience.

THTR 313
Theatre for Social Change I
A studio and seminar class inspired by African and European models in Theatre for Development, a specialized field of drama focused on social development and grounded in participatory procedure. The activity involves research, analysis, scenario building, and performance. Participants will be exposed to exercises in devising and performing work for impacting social transformation. The course will highlight issues within the immediate environment as well as the larger Richmond community, and practice will occur in both domains.
1 Unit(s)

THTR 314
Theatre for Social Change II
Designed to enable students to utilize and transfer the skills acquired in Theatre 313 into the larger community. Working in smaller groups, they are responsible for implementing and evaluating a theatre-centered project within the context of social and sustainable development. They will foster the creation of a play by community members on issues affecting their daily lives. Significant emphasis is given to cultivating an interaction with experts in related areas of concern towards galvanizing meaningful future growth in the selected community.

Wellness Program

Recreation and Wellness

Tracy Cassalia, Health Educator

In keeping with the University's objective of fostering knowledge and personal well-being, every undergraduate student will complete a three part wellness series prior to graduation. Before arriving on campus, first year and transfer students will complete Alcohol Edu, an on-line alcohol prevention and education program. Once on campus, students will complete a two-hour alcohol seminar (WELL 085) specific to policies of the University and the Commonwealth of Virginia. Students are also required to complete two WELL 090 health education topics courses. Classes are geared towards topics that will promote academic success and personal health.

The wellness program, a division of student development, is responsible for the wellness graduation requirement. All students seeking a bachelor's degree must complete the requirement prior to the start of their junior year. The wellness graduation requirement consists of the following classes:

- UR Aware (WELL 085) Alcohol Awareness Program
- Plus 2 (WELL 090) a wellness topic of choice
- Plus 2 (WELL 090) a second wellness topic of choice
Each course is graded with an S or U (Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory). Students who have not satisfactorily completed WELL 085 by the end of their first year of enrollment will have an administrative hold put on their record and will not be able to register until they have made arrangements to take the class.

Courses

WELL 085
URAWARE: Alcohol Awareness Program
An alcohol prevention/education program designed to assist students in making positive decisions regarding alcohol issues. Students must satisfactorily complete this component of the wellness requirement their first semester on campus. Student will first complete Alcohol Edu, an online alcohol prevention and education program followed by a two-hour on-campus alcohol seminar. (The wellness requirement carries no credit, but is billed at a tuition rate equivalent to .25 units of credit for the cost of instruction.)

0 Unit(s)
(WEL1)

WELL 090
PLUS2: Wellness Topics
The wellness topic component of the wellness graduation requirement. Students will be offered a choice of health and wellness topics every semester. Sample topics include nutrition, sexual health, relationships, and stress management. Students are required to satisfactorily complete two topics for graduation. Topic sessions run for six weeks, 90 minutes each week. Students are encouraged to complete this component of the wellness requirement before or during their sophomore year. (The wellness requirement carries no credit, but is billed at a tuition rate equivalent to .25 units of credit for the cost of instruction.)

Women, Gender and Sexuality Studies

Jane Geaney, Coordinator (Religion)

The women, gender and sexuality studies program is grounded in a) the analysis of gender and sexuality as historically emergent concepts and regions of human experience; b) the histories of political and social movements focused on the concerns, needs, and perspectives of women and sexualities minorities; and c) the theoretical and methodological frameworks of feminist analysis across the disciplines. Working in close consultation with an advisor, students may engage in a wide range of coursework emphasizing their specific areas of interest within the interdisciplinary field.

The Women, Gender and Sexuality Studies Major
Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the major must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C (2.0).

10 units, including
- WGSS 200 Introduction to Women, Gender & Sexuality Studies
- WGSS 489 Research Methods and Capstone Preparation
- WGSS 490 Senior Capstone Experience
- Seven additional units in WGSS or cross-listed courses. At least four of the seven courses must be above the 200 level, and no more than .5 unit of internship credit may be counted toward the major.

Students must develop their major course of study plan in consultation with their advisor/WGSS coordinator. Plans must be submitted in writing and kept on file. The procedure for submitting a plan can be found on the WGSS Web site.

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the major. Prerequisites do not count toward the major unless otherwise noted.

Related Fields
Combined major in women, gender and sexuality studies and English literature

The Women, Gender and Sexuality Studies Minor

Note: The grade point average of the coursework comprising the minor must be no less than 2.00 with no course grade below C (2.0).

5 units, including
- WGSS 200 Introduction to Women, Gender & Sexuality Studies
- Four additional units in WGSS core or cross-listed from at least two different departments, including no more than .5 units of internship credit.

Students are expected to fulfill all prerequisites necessary for courses within the minor. Prerequisites do not count toward the minor unless otherwise noted.

Courses for Women, Gender and Sexuality Studies Credit

See the departmental listings for descriptions of the following courses offered for women, gender, and sexuality studies credit. Courses marked with an asterisk (*) may or may not carry women, gender, and sexuality studies credit in any given semester. You will need to make arrangements with the instructor and the women, gender, and sexuality studies coordinator at the beginning of the semester in order to count courses marked with an asterisk towards the WGSS major or minor. A comprehensive listing of courses is published each semester on the WGSS Web site and should be taken as the final arbiter for women, gender and sexuality studies credit.

Courses

WGSS  200
Introduction to Women, Gender & Sexuality Studies
Introduction to the broad, interdisciplinary field of women, gender, and sexuality studies. Special attention will be paid to the meaning and history of the terms “gender” and “sexuality” and to the political movements mobilized around those terms. Students will read both contemporary and historical materials and both primary and secondary sources.
1 Unit(s)

WGSS  201
WILL Colloquium: Gender, Race and Activism
Introductory course of the WILL Program. Examines the intersections of gender, race, ethnicity, class, and sexuality in women's lives with particular focus on an analysis of social justice activism and strategies for social change.
Prerequisite: Enrollment in the WILL Program.
1 Unit(s)

WGSS  221
Feminist Political Theories
(See Philosophy 221.)
1 Unit(s)

WGSS  240
Sexual Violence and War
Sexual violence has long been a pervasive yet invisible part of wars - sometimes permitted as payment for soldiers and sometimes seen as an inevitable byproduct of the insanity of war. Analyzing this phenomenon from a historical, political, as well as social psychological perspective is the task of this course. Examines different theories of sexual violence (with special focus on the role of sexual violence in war), historical cases of widespread sexual violence during war, and the global response to this historical phenomenon.
1 Unit(s)
(FSSA)

WGSS  250
Politics of the Body
Examines both historical and contemporary interdisciplinary material on the body. Special attention will be paid to examining images of the body in contemporary popular culture and long-standing historical connections between medicine, technology, and the body, such as eugenics movements.
1 Unit(s)

WGSS  280
Women and Work
Examines women's work and the struggle to achieve balance between work and personal life from a theoretical, historical, and comparative perspective, focusing on women in the United States, but placing their labor in a global socioeconomic context. Historical studies of women's labor in the past are used to provide a framework for understanding women's challenges in the workplace today.

Undergraduate Study at the Robins School of Business

Mission

The mission of the Robins School of Business is to develop an active learning community in which excellent teaching, scholarship, and service are integrated to stimulate intellectual inquiry as the foundation for responsible leadership in the global business environment.

Pursuing a Major or Minor in the Robins School of Business

Beginning with the class entering in the Fall of 2010, students interested in pursuing a major or minor in the Robins School of Business (Business Administration, Economics or Accounting) must have a 2.7 GPA after completing at least 12 units at the end of three semesters of college coursework, including ECON 101, ACCT 201, and MATH 211 or 231 (or their equivalent).

Bachelor of Science in Business Administration

The Robins School of Business offers the degree of Bachelor of Science in Business Administration (B.S.B.A.). Within this degree, there are three majors: accounting, business administration, and economics. All business administration majors must choose one primary area of concentration. Students may choose a primary concentration in the areas of finance, economics, marketing, management, or international business. In addition, students may electively choose a second area of concentration in accounting or from those listed above.

Students may only have one major in the school of business, chosen from accounting, business administration, or economics. A concentration(s) may be attached to any of these majors but is only required for the business administration major.

Candidates for a B.S.B.A. must:

1. Satisfy the general degree requirements for graduation;
2. Complete the following pre-business courses:
   o ACCT 201 Fundamentals of Financial Accounting
3. Complete the following core courses except as noted:
   - MKT 320 Principles of Marketing

Interdisciplinary Programs

The following interdisciplinary programs are available through the School of Arts and Sciences:

- International Studies: International Economics
- Mathematical Economics
- French/International Business
- German/International Business
- Italian/International Business
- Latin American and Iberian Studies/International Business

General Prerequisites for All Courses in the Robins School
Except by permission of the dean, Accounting 201-202, Economics 101-102, and Business Administration 201 are prerequisites to all other courses in the Robins School of Business. The business minor program requires a student to complete Accounting 201-202 and Economics 101-102 prior to taking any other business class. Accounting 202 is not a prerequisite for Business Administration 301. Accounting 202 may be taken simultaneously with Marketing 320, Management 330 and 340, Finance 360, and/or Business Administration 391 and 392. In order to take core and/or upper level business classes, students must have a declared major or minor in the Robins School of Business.

Study Abroad

All Robins School of Business students, even those not concentrating in international business, are encouraged to apply for study abroad. The Robins School enjoys relationships with leading business schools throughout the world. In accordance with University policy, credits will be transferred only from partner institutions or preapproved study programs. While studying abroad, students must complete a course that focuses on culture/society, history, political system, or economy of the host school’s country or region. Students studying in a country where the native language is not English are required to participate in the host school’s or other preapproved pre-semester language course, whether offered for credit or not. Students may complete no more than two courses in the same field. For example, a student may take no more than two marketing courses or two finance courses. Students may complete no more than two business school core courses while abroad. The associate dean for international programs may grant exemptions to this policy in extreme circumstances and/or for students studying abroad for an entire academic year.

Honors Program

Outstanding students with intellectual initiative and the desire to pursue academic achievement beyond standard coursework have the opportunity to broaden and deepen knowledge in selected major fields through the honors program. Departmental honors coordinators invite promising qualified majors to apply, but an interested student may contact his or her major department or the faculty committee on the honors program to indicate interest and obtain further information. To qualify, a student should have at least a 3.30 cumulative grade point average, 18 or more units completed and, excluding coursework primarily for first-year students, 3.5 or more units completed with distinction in the major field. Successful completion of an honors program is shown on the student’s permanent academic record and on the diploma.

Curriculum

- Accounting
- Business Administration
- Economics
- Finance
- International Business
- Management
- Marketing

Where the course numbers for a two-semester course are separated by a hyphen, generally either half of the course may be taken independently for credit and in any order unless a prerequisite is stated.

Accounting
Mission-Accounting Department

The mission of the undergraduate accounting program within the Robins School of Business is to prepare students to be responsible accounting and business leaders in a global economy through the integration of superior instruction and intellectual inquiry in a liberal arts environment.

The Accounting Major

Note: A grade point average of no less than 2.0 in the accounting coursework comprising the major is required.

21 units, including

- The pre-business curriculum outlined above
- The business core curriculum outlined above
- ACCT 305 Cost and Managerial Accounting
- ACCT 307 Accounting Information Systems
- ACCT 311 Advanced Financial Accounting
- ACCT 312 Federal Taxation
- ACCT 317 Auditing

Substitutions in the accounting major are permitted if approved by the chair of the accounting department.

The Accounting Concentration

The accounting concentration is available only to students enrolled full time in the Robins School of Business with another concentration in economics, finance, international business, management, or marketing.

A minimum of 4 courses and maximum of 6 courses in addition to the pre-business and business core described above, chosen from

- ACCT 301 Intermediate Financial Accounting I (required)
- Three to five courses additional, chosen from
  - ACCT 302 Intermediate Financial Accounting II
  - ACCT 305 Cost and Managerial Accounting
  - ACCT 307 Accounting Information Systems
  - ACCT 310 Financial Statement Analysis
  - ACCT 311 Advanced Financial Accounting
  - ACCT 312 Federal Taxation
  - ACCT 313 Advanced Federal Taxation
  - ACCT 315 International Accounting Issues
  - ACCT 316 Advanced Managerial Accounting
  - ACCT 317 Auditing
  - ACCT 318 Advanced Auditing
Notes: ACCT 301 is required in the concentration. Some of the accounting courses are not offered every semester or every year. Many of the upper-level accounting courses have prerequisites that should be taken into account when planning your curriculum.

Business Administration

Faculty from all departments in the Robins School of Business provide instruction in this area.

The Business Administration Major

In addition to the requirements for the B.S.B.A. degree outlined above, all business administration majors must complete a concentration. The concentration area requires four courses minimum chosen from a single Robins School of Business department. A maximum of six courses can be taken in any area of concentration. No more than two courses of the concentration may be required by a department. While some concentrations offer curriculum tracks, it is not necessary to follow a track.

Business administration majors must choose a concentration from the following areas: accounting, economics, finance, international business, marketing, or management. A concentration in accounting is always a secondary concentration to a primary concentration or major.

Electives: Sufficient units to complete degree requirements over and above other major requirements. At least 17 units must be taken outside the Robins School of Business.

The Business Administration Minor

9 units, including

- ACCT 201 Fundamentals of Financial Accounting
- ACCT 202 Fundamentals of Managerial Accounting
- ECON 101 Microeconomics
- ECON 102 Macroeconomics
- BUAD 201 Statistics for Business and Economics I
- MKT 320 Principles of Marketing
- MGMT 330 Organizational Behavior
- MGMT 340 Operations Management
- FIN 360 Principles of Financial Management

The business minor student should complete the Accounting 201-202 and Economics 101-102 requirements prior to enrolling in any other business administration course.

Note: There is no business administration concentration area.

Courses

BUAD 101
Introduction to Business
Multidisciplinary course that exposes student to functional areas of business. Focus on acquiring understanding of language and structure of business through study of its functional components: accounting, economics, finance management, and marketing. (Open to first- and second-year students only.)

Economics

Department of Economics

Dean Croushore Chair
Professors Croushore, Dolan, McGoldrick, Schmidt, Wight
Associate Professors Craft, Dean, Monks, Nicholson, Yates
Assistant Professors Buyukkarabacak, Mago, Mykhaylova

The Economics Major for the Bachelor of Science in Business Administration Degree

Note: A grade point average of C (2.00) is required in the major with no course grade below a C- (1.7) in an economics course required for the major.

9 courses in addition to the pre-business and business core curricula outlined above, including

- ECON 101 Principles of Microeconomics
- ECON 102 Principles of Macroeconomics
- ECON 271 Microeconomic Theory
- ECON 272 Macroeconomic Theory
- Four units of economics electives (at least two of which must be at the 300 level)
- ECON 480 Senior Capstone Seminar or ECON 491 Honors Thesis in Economics

Note: Majors are strongly encouraged to take Economics 101 and 102 during their first year, and Economics 271 and 272 during their second year. A basic foundation in calculus (e.g., Math 211) is required for Economics 271.
Students may plan their course load to pursue a general major in economics or to study a specific area in economics. Voluntary elective fields have been developed in the areas of business economics, international economics, economic history, public policy, and quantitative economics. Students are encouraged to speak with their academic advisor about the options available to them. Students interested in pursuing a graduate degree in economics are encouraged to seek advice concerning the honors program in economics, the mathematical economics major, and/or taking MATH 235 Multivariate Calculus, MATH 312 Differential Equations, and MATH 245 Linear Algebra.

The Economics Concentration (for Business Administration majors only)

The economics concentration is composed of four to six courses of economics electives at the 200 and 300 levels. While no specific courses are required, students are encouraged to coordinate their courses to meet their professional objectives. Electives are grouped into the following areas: business economics, international economics, economic history, public policy, quantitative economics, and intermediate theory.

Honors Program

Students invited into the honors program may earn honors in economics by completing the following requirements:

1. ECON 490;
2. ECON 491;
3. Two classes taken for honors credit

Finance

John Earl, Chair
Professors Fishe, Stevens
Associate Professors Arnold, Conover, Earl, Lancaster, North, Szakmary

The Finance Concentration

The finance concentration requires a minimum of four courses chosen from among the finance courses in addition to the pre-business and business core requirements outlined above. A maximum of six courses can be taken in any area of concentration. The finance concentration offers optional curriculum tracks.

Finance Concentration Program Tracks (suggested courses and sequences)

(1) CFA Track (emphasis on investments and securities)

- FIN 366 Investments
- FIN 462 International Financial Management
- FIN 466 Fixed Income and Derivative Securities
- FIN 467 Portfolio Management and Analysis
FIN 468 Student-Managed Investment Fund (senior year)

_Suggested Supporting Courses:_
- ACCT 320 Financial Statement Analysis
- ECON 200 The Economics of Money, Banking and Financial Markets
- FIN 461 Cases and Financial Modeling

(2) Corporate Finance Track

- FIN 361 Corporate Finance
- FIN 366 Investments
- FIN 461 Cases and Financial Modeling
- FIN 462 International Financial Management
- FIN 464 Essentials of Cash Management (senior year)

_Suggested Supporting Courses:_
- ACCT 301-302 Intermediate Financial Accounting I-II
- ACCT 320 Financial Statement Analysis
- ECON 200 The Economics of Money, Banking and Financial Markets

_NOTES:_
1) Students planning to enroll in Finance 468 should complete Finance 366 during their junior year.
2) Program tracks do not affect the finance concentration requirements of the B.S.B.A. degree.
3) IBUS students taking Finance 462 and concentrating in finance need only three additional courses in finance.

Special Opportunities and Graduate Work Preparation

Students are encouraged to speak to their academic advisors about special opportunities in programs such as the Student-Managed Investment Fund; Chartered Financial Analyst Student Program; Federal Reserve Challenge; Investments Club; and Business Conditions and Analysis Review.

Students interested in graduate work should consider taking ECON 340 Econometrics. In addition, a math minor or a combination of MATH 212 Calculus II; MATH 235 Multivariate Calculus; MATH 245 Linear Algebra; MATH 329 Probability; and MATH 330 Mathematical Statistics would be especially helpful for students interested in pursuing a Ph.D. in finance.

International Business

Thomas J. Cossé, Associate Dean for International Business Programs

The International Business Concentration

International business issues are covered throughout the Robins School curriculum. However, for those students who wish to study international business in greater depth, the international business concentration is offered. Students concentrating in international business must complete the standard set of courses required of all Robins
School students. These courses provide the foundation upon which the business program is built. International business students also must satisfy international knowledge and international experience requirements. A grade of C or better must be earned in each course used to meet international knowledge requirements.

International Knowledge Requirements

These requirements consist of international business knowledge and international cultural and social knowledge.

International Business Knowledge, five courses, including

- IBUS 381 International Business Environment
- IBUS 411 International Business Strategy
- One course chosen from
  - ACCT 315 International Accounting Issues
  - FIN 462 International Financial Management
  - or other international focused accounting or finance course approved by the associate dean for international business programs
- One course chosen from
  - MKT 325 International Marketing
  - MGMT 333 International Management
  - IBUS 390 International Business Issues
  - or other international focused management or marketing course approved by the associate dean for international business programs
- One international economics course chosen from
  - ECON 210 The Economics of the European Union
  - ECON 211 Economic Development in Asia, Africa and Latin America
  - ECON 310 International Trade and Finance
  - or other international focused economics course approved by the associate dean for international business programs

Note: One course in international business knowledge from accounting, finance, marketing or management can apply to a second concentration.

International Cultural and Social Knowledge, two courses, including

- One approved course with an international focus from the humanities. A list of approved humanities courses is available on the international business website.
- One approved course with an international focus from the social sciences. A list of approved social science courses is available on the international business website

International Experience Requirements

The international experience requirements consist of cultural experiences and a work experience.

1. International Cultural Experience: Students concentrating in international business must complete two of three international cultural experiences:
   - Successfully complete an approved university-level program of study in a foreign country for at least one semester;
   - Demonstrate proficiency in a second language. This may be done by earning a grade of C or better in a commercial language course (e.g., FREN 306 French at Work, LAIS 306 Spanish in Business) or in a 300-level conversation course (e.g., ITAL 301 Italian Conversation, RUSN 301 Russian Conversation), or by earning a satisfactory score on an appropriate language proficiency examination;
  o Live in another country for at least 12 continuous weeks other than study abroad experience.

2. International Work Experience: An international work experience is required for the international business concentration. This requirement may be met by completing an approved internship in the U.S. in an organization's international section, or by working in an organization located outside the U.S.

Notes: Subject to prior approval of the associate dean for international business programs, working abroad may satisfy both the international work experience requirement and one of the two international cultural experience requirements.

Cross-School Majors

Four cross-school majors are offered by the Robins School of Business International Business Program and the School of Arts and Sciences departments of Modern Literatures and Cultures and Latin American and Iberian studies. These programs are designed for students who wish to double major in business administration with an international business concentration and in French, German, Italian or Latin American and Iberian studies. Additional information may be obtained from the Department of Modern Literatures and Cultures or the Department of Latin American and Iberian Studies.

Students pursuing a cross-school major select either the Robins School of School or Arts and Sciences as their home school. Those selecting the Robins School will earn a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration degree; those selecting the School of Arts and Sciences will receive a Bachelor of Arts degree.

1. Chinese and International Business

9 courses and an interdisciplinary research project (IDST 379), in addition to completing all requirements of the international business concentration for the business administration major, including:

- CHIN 410: Business Chinese, and
- FOUR courses at the 300-level or above, chosen from o CHIN 301 Advanced Intermediate Chinese o CHIN 302 Conversational Chinese o CHIN 311 Insights into Chinese Culture
  o CHIN 401 Crossing Cultural Boundaries
  o CHIN 402 Advanced Syntax and Composition
  o CHIN 497 Selected Topics
- One semester full-time study in China or Taiwan at an approved university

The cross-school major in Chinese and International Business represents a collaborative project between the Department of Modern Literatures and Cultures and the International Business Program in the Robins School of Business. Designated faculty members from each program will advise students upon declaration and as they progress through the major. The curriculum includes a semester abroad at one of the University's partner institutions (for example, Tsinghua University in Beijing or National Chengchi University in Taiwan). There, students will continue their course work in Chinese Studies and business in classes with both local and other international students.

To prepare for the experience abroad, students must have taken CHIN 202 or the equivalent. Upon returning to the University of Richmond, they will broaden their knowledge of literary and cultural studies through advanced seminars as well as additional Robins School of Business coursework. The Chinese component of this program thus consists of five courses at the 300-level or above taken on campus plus four courses taken abroad, or the equivalent of a nine-course major in MLC.
2. French and International Business

9 courses and a senior project (498-499) in addition to completing all requirements of the international business concentration for the business administration major, including

- Three 300-level courses (at least one FSLT), normally taken prior to study abroad
- Two 400-level seminars following required study abroad
- One semester full-time study at an approved business school (with all-French curriculum) in a French-speaking country (four courses)
- IDST379 Interdisciplinary Research Project
- A senior research project (taken for a half-unit as IDST 379) on a comparative topic dealing with international business and French/Francophone culture, 15 pages, written in French or in English, making significant use of primary and secondary sources in both languages, conducted through independent study.

The French major/international business option represents a collaborative project between the Department of Modern Literatures and Cultures in the School of Arts and Sciences and the International Business Program in the Robins School of Business. Designated faculty members from each program will advise students upon declaration and as they progress through the major. The curriculum includes a semester abroad at one of the University's partner institutions with all-French curriculum (for example, EPSCI-Groupe ESSEC, Rouen Business School, or Université Catholique de Lille). There, students will continue their business concentrations in classes with both local and other international students.

To prepare for the experience abroad, students will have a solid base of 300-level French courses taken on the Richmond campus. Upon return, they will broaden their knowledge of literary and cultural studies through advanced seminars as well as additional Robins School of Business coursework. The French component of this program thus consists of five courses taken on campus plus four or five courses taken abroad, or the equivalent of a nine-course major in MLC.

3. German Studies and International Business

(Earned in conjunction with a major in the Robins School of Business with an international business concentration.)

9 courses and an interdisciplinary research project in addition to completing all requirements of the international business concentration for the business administration major, including

- Five units in German at the 300 or 400 level
- One semester full-time study at the Universität Münster School of Business and Economics (four courses)
- IDST 379 Interdisciplinary Research Project

A senior writing project (taken for one half unit as IDST 379) on a comparative topic dealing with international business and German culture, 20 pages, written in English or in German, making significant use of primary and secondary materials in both languages, conducted through independent study.

The German major/international business option represents a collaborative project between the Department of Modern Literatures and Cultures in the School of Arts and Sciences and the International Business Program in the Robins School of Business. Designated faculty members from each program will advise students upon declaration and as they progress through the major. The curriculum includes a semester abroad at one of the University's partner institutions. There, students will continue their Robins School concentrations and German Studies courses in classes with both local and other international students.
In order to prepare for the experience abroad, students in German will need to have completed at least German 202 on the Richmond campus. Students must take at least two courses in German at the Universität Münster.

Students are required to take one 400-level course in German upon their return.

4. Italian Studies and International Business

9 courses and a senior project (498-499) in addition to completing all requirements of the international business concentration for the business administration major, including

- Five courses in Italian at the 300 or 400 level
- ITAL 498-499 Senior Research Project I and II
- One semester full-time study at Bocconi University of Economics and Business Administration (four courses). In order to prepare for the experience abroad, students will need to have completed ITAL 221 on the Richmond campus. Students must take at least one concurrent course in Italian while at Bocconi.
- One 400-level course in Italian upon return from study abroad.

Designated faculty members from each program will advise students upon declaration and as they progress through the major.

5. Latin American and Iberian Studies and International Business

9.5 units in addition to completing all requirements of the international business concentration for the business administration major, including

- Two units, chosen from
  - LAIS 301-306 (must be taken prior to study abroad)
- One unit, chosen from
  - LAIS 321 Literary Spain
  - LAIS 331 Introduction to Spanish American Literature I
  - LAIS 332 Introduction to Spanish American Literature II
- Two units in LAIS at the 400 level, one of which must be taken upon return from study abroad
- One semester in Latin America or Spain at an approved institution with an all-Spanish curriculum in business such as Universidad Torcuato di Tella in Argentina, Universidad de Deusto in Spain, Universidad Carlos II de Madrid, or Instituto Tecnologico y de Estudios Superiores de Monterrey in Mexico. In order to prepare for the experience abroad, students will have a solid base of 300-level LAIS courses taken on the Richmond campus.
- LAIS 496 Senior Symposium

Dual Diploma with Rouen Business School

International business students may apply for the dual diploma program with Rouen Business School, one of the oldest ESCs in France. Designed for highly qualified international business students, students study at Rouen Business School during their junior year, where they will complete the Rouen B.Sc. in International Business - Institut de Formation International (IF) third-year curriculum. Additionally, an approved work placement/internship and a significant research project must be completed. When the student returns to the University of Richmond and completes requirements for the B.S.B.A. degree with an international business concentration, the BSc in International Business Diplôme de l'Institut de Formation Internationale will be awarded by Rouen Business School. Contact the associate dean for international business programs for additional information on the dual diploma program.

Jepson School of Leadership Studies

The Jepson School of Leadership Studies offers a Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in leadership studies, as well as a minor in leadership studies. To earn this degree a candidate must satisfactorily complete the curricular requirements outlined in the following section and meet the general degree requirements of the University.

The Jepson School of Leadership Studies seeks to develop in each student a base of knowledge for understanding leadership in a variety of settings. Curriculum goals are achieved through courses that emphasize both leadership theory and practice, thus helping students connect knowledge gained through coursework to the world outside of the classroom.

Admission Procedures

Students wishing to major or minor in leadership studies must apply for admission to the Jepson School during the fall semester of their second year.

A faculty committee reviews applications and chooses students based on essays and academic performance as well as faculty recommendations and extracurricular activities.

Prospective majors and minors must have completed or be enrolled in LDST 101 Leadership and the Humanities or LDST 102 Leadership and the Social Sciences to be considered for admission to the program. Both courses are required for the major and minor, but either course may be taken as a first course in leadership studies. After taking LDST 101 or LDST 102 and prior to admission, students may also take LDST 205 Justice and Civil Society. Electives are open to all students at the University.

Students seeking admission to the School are encouraged to attend information sessions, which are held in the fall. Application packages are available from the Associate Dean for Student and External Affairs. The application deadline is October 1 or next business day. The new class is notified of acceptance in late October or early November and the new class is welcomed into the Jepson community at the Prelude ceremony in November.

Honors in Leadership Studies

The Jepson School faculty offers a track by which students with a proven academic record of intellectual initiative and scholarly drive can earn honors in leadership studies. The faculty invites interested students to apply for the honors track. The deadline for this application is October 1 of the student's junior year. To qualify, a student must be a leadership studies major, hold at least a 3.30 cumulative GPA and at least a 3.30 leadership studies GPA, and have earned a B or higher in at least four leadership studies courses. The application form is available for qualified juniors from the Associate Dean for Academic Affairs.

Once accepted to the honors track, in order to receive honors in leadership studies, a student must:

- Enroll in LDST 399 Junior Honors Tutorial, for spring semester of junior year. (Students planning to study abroad during this semester may make alternate arrangements with the Associate Dean for Academic Affairs and relevant faculty members.)
- Submit a five-page proposal and preliminary bibliography to be accepted by the course instructor and a Jepson faculty thesis advisor.
- Enroll in LDST 497 and 498, Senior Honors Thesis I and II, during senior year.
- Successfully present one chapter, bibliography, and chapter-by-chapter outline of thesis to the student's committee by the last day of classes in the fall semester of senior year.
- Successfully defend thesis before the student's committee by the last day of classes in the spring semester of senior year.
- Complete undergraduate program with at least a 3.30 cumulative GPA and at least a 3.30 leadership studies GPA.

The student in the honors track must complete all aspects of the standard Jepson curriculum. Leadership Studies 497 and 498 can count for a maximum of one unit of advanced course credit.

Concentrations in Leadership Studies

The Jepson School Faculty offers a track by which leadership studies majors can pursue a concentration in an area of leadership studies. Possible concentrations include: international leadership, political leadership, the psychology of leadership, law and leadership, leadership ethics, social justice, gender and leadership, organizational leadership, and religious leadership.

At the beginning of fall semester in junior year, leadership studies majors interested in pursuing a concentration should meet with potential concentration advisors and get approval for a concentration plan. By October 1 of junior year, the student should submit the concentration proposal to the Associate Dean for Academic Affairs who will take the proposal before the academic affairs committee. Approval will be contingent on Jepson School expertise in the proposed area of concentration and course availability.

Once the concentration is approved, the student must:
• Complete four approved advanced courses (300-level or above) in the area of concentration. At least one of these courses must be an LDST course. At least one of these courses must be outside LDST. Cross-listed courses count as LDST courses.
• Complete a senior thesis. The thesis will be evaluated by the concentration advisor and a second reader. The second reader may be outside the Jepson School. Students may count one unit of thesis work toward the advanced course requirement for the major. In order to satisfy the thesis requirement for a concentration, a student may opt to participate in the honors track and complete a thesis in the area of concentration.
• Complete the degree requirements for the B.A. in leadership studies. Concentrations will be restricted to LDST majors.

Concentrations require a minimum of 13 units. They will normally consist of 14-15 units.

Study Abroad

Leadership studies students are encouraged to study abroad. Majors may count a maximum of one unit of study abroad credit toward the advanced course requirement. This course must enhance the student's academic plan in leadership studies. Determination of whether a course enhances a student's academic plan in leadership studies will be made by the Associate Dean for Academic Affairs and the student's Jepson advisor. Students are encouraged to study abroad in the spring of junior year, although alternate arrangements typically can be made to accommodate students planning to study abroad in the fall of junior year.

Courses

LDST 101
Leadership and the Humanities
Introduction to leadership as an object of study through examination of its historical foundations and intellectual development. Research Methods
In-depth examination of various research methods used in leadership studies. Consideration of issues associated with design of studies, collection of various kinds of data, writing research proposals and reports, and analysis of data.
Prerequisite: Leadership Studies 101 or 102 and admission to the Jepson School of Leadership Studies as a major or minor.
.5 Unit(s)

LDST 250
Critical Thinking
Examination of knowledge and argumentation as they pertain to leadership. Analysis of scientific methodology and logic, language and interpretation, and their influence on the study and practice of leadership.
Prerequisite: Leadership Studies 101 or 102, and admission to the Jepson School of Leadership Studies as a major or minor.
.5 Unit(s)

LDST 290
Selected Topics
Topics developed by Jepson school faculty, visiting faculty, or faculty in other schools of the University that address particular issues in leadership studies. Examples may include leadership studies courses in the Sophomore Scholars in Residence program. May be taken more than once for credit if topics vary. Prerequisite: Varies depending on topic.
.5-1 Unit(s)

LDST 300
Theories and Models of Leadership
Examination of theories and models in leadership studies. Introduces role of theory in social science, and both classic and contemporary leadership theories/models are presented. Emphasis on critical analysis of theoretical perspectives. Prerequisite: Leadership Studies 101, 102, 249, and 250 and admission to the Jepson School of Leadership Studies as a major or minor.
1 Unit(s)

LDST 302
Leadership in Organizations
Focus on leadership theory and research within and across formal organizational settings such as public/private, profit/nonprofit, professional/nonprofessional, and unitary/multidivisional. Examination of rational, natural, and open systems, and of how leadership differs in each system. Primary focus social/organizational.
Prerequisite: Leadership Studies 300.
1 Unit(s)

LDST 303
Leadership in Political Contexts
Informal and formal processes by which power and authority are exercised and leadership is selected within political systems in various settings. Examination of leadership in basic processes and institutions of government through case study of legislative issues. Primary focus historical.
1 Unit(s)

LDST 304
Social Movements
Exploration of history of leadership in social movements. Comparison and contrast of forms, mechanisms, and practices of leadership in various stages of a social movement. Examination of values of leaders as expressed through stories of ordinary people involved in leadership in social movements. Primary focus historical.
1 Unit(s)

LDST 306
Leadership in Cultural and Historical Contexts
Analysis of impact of larger contextual factors on the process of leadership. Exploration of role of long-term social, political, economic, and intellectual forces, as well as the influence of cultural norms and values. Emphasis on application to actual leadership situations. Primary focus historical.
1 Unit(s)
LDST 307
Leadership in International Contexts
Comparative study of leadership in various cultures and in cross-cultural organizations. Topics include cultural and ethical influences on leadership, the relationship between leaders and followers in various cultures, and problems of cross-cultural leadership. Primary focus ethical.
1 Unit(s)

LDST 308
The Creation of the American Republic
Examines principles and practice of leadership within political context of the founding of the American Republic from 1776 through 1788. Primary focus will be on day-to-day work of the Constitutional Convention and the subsequent debates over ratification of the new constitution. Primary focus historical. (Same as Political Science 330.)
1 Unit(s)

LDST 320
Good and Evil
An analysis of empirical studies of moral phenomena, examining such question as (a) What is humanity's moral nature? (b) Why do people act morally or immorally? (c) What feelings and sentiments do people experience when they consider and act in ways both proper and improper? and (d) How do people see, construct, judge, perceive, and react to positive and negative feelings, thoughts, and behaviors? Primary focus social/organizational.
1 Unit(s)

LDST 325
Leading Socially Active Businesses
Examines a new business model in which company leaders go beyond charitable donations to humanitarian causes to facilitate the involvement of employees directly in community problem-solving and volunteering. Addresses questions such as the following. Does this form of leadership raise new expectation s for business in the 21st century? Does it change the primary role of business? Is this approach sustainable? What are the motivations for this business model? Does this business model require a different form of leadership from traditional models? Primary focus social/organizational.
1 Unit(s)

LDST 340
Early Modern Crises in Leadership
Discussion of primary texts that disclose difficulties in formulating political and religious policy during the crises that start with the later Middle Ages in Western Europe and run into the seventeenth century. Students will be expected to evaluate as well currently influential interpretations of the crises and proposed resolutions. Specific subjects will be selected from a menu that includes medieval papal imperialism and decline, the development of early modern secular bureaucracies, Renaissance political theory, religious reformation, and religious wars as well as Machiavelli, More, Luther, Calvin, Whitgift, Lord Burghley, Queen Elizabeth I, Emperor Charles V, and King Henry IV (France). Primary focus historical.
1 Unit(s)

LDST 342
Dead Leaders Society
Exploration of the lives and times of important leaders of the past to gain insight into leadership, to learn how to evaluate leaders, and to gain expertise in better understanding the complex role that the surrounding context plays in the leadership relationship. Uses historical case studies to identify the leadership challenge and examine the values and activities of individuals in response to the mix of opportunities and constraints provided by fellow stakeholders and contemporary cultures, as well as by the long-term social, economic, and intellectual forces. Primary focus historical.
1 Unit(s)

LDST 345
Civil War Leadership
A study of the events leading to the Civil War, and the military and political leadership on both Union and Confederate sides during the war. Topics include the roles of slavery and political leadership in starting the war, the leadership of Abraham Lincoln and Jefferson Davis during the war, and that of Generals Ulysses S. Grant, Robert E. Lee, James Longstreet, George B. McClellan, and William T. Sherman in shaping the outcome of the war. Primary focus historical.
1 Unit(s)

Group Dynamics
Introduction to scientific study of group processes through vocabulary, concepts, theories, and research. Both classic and contemporary theories and research are presented. Emphasis on both theoretical and applied components of group dynamics. Primary focus social/organizational.
1 Unit(s)

Presidential Leadership
A study of theories of presidential leadership and assessments of several presidencies, including those of George Washington, Andrew Jackson, Abraham Lincoln, Franklin Roosevelt, John F. Kennedy, Richard Nixon, Ronald Reagan, and Bill Clinton. Addresses the personal qualities and capacities as well as the situational and historical contingencies that influence the effectiveness of various presidencies. Also considers the nature of social perception and its role in appraisals of presidential performance. Special attention will be given to presidential campaigning and presidential debates. Each student will undertake the study of one or more presidents. Primary focus historical. (Same as Psychology 449.)
1 Unit(s)

Conflict Resolution
Understanding principles and dynamics of mediating disputes and achieving agreements between groups and individuals. Discussion of negotiating techniques and ethical issues related to use of such techniques by leaders. Use of simulations and exercises to practice skills for resolving conflicts. Primary focus social/organizational.
1 Unit(s)

Competition, Cooperation, and Choice
Economic approach to leadership examines how individuals come together in social settings (a market place, an organization, a political entity) to make distributive decisions. Particular focus on Adam Smith's analysis of the development of modern industrial society and on important policy debates about slavery, the franchise and eugenics. Consideration of Smithian insights applied to contemporary game theoretic and experimental research on the emergence of cooperative behavior in settings where individual interests sometimes conflict with the interest of the group (or society). Special attention to public goods games and institutional frameworks that facilitate cooperation in a repeated prisoner's dilemma setting: competition, repetition, punishment, and reciprocity. Primary focus ethical. Prerequisite: Economics 101
1 Unit(s)

Leading Change
Examines theories, concepts, and processes of leadership and change in several contexts including organizational, community, political, and societal. Focuses on purpose or reason for leading change in social structures, human conditions, dominant ideas, or prevailing practices using theoretical and experiential approaches. Primary focus social/organizational.
1 Unit(s)

Gender and Leadership
Examination of gender, and leadership by focusing on the psychological literature related to gender, stigma, and leadership. Primary focus is on using empirical research to help decipher fact from myth, evaluating and analyzing the scientific merit of the research, and applying the research to real world situations. Focus will be on understanding prejudice, stereotyping, and stigma, analyzing perceptions of female leaders as well as experiences of these leaders, and considering strategies for change. Course may be taught from a non-empirical perspective. Primary focus social/organizational.
1 Unit(s)

LDST 361
Sex, Power, and Politics
Explores the processes by which "sexuality" is constituted and informs the leadership process. Readings on the social construction of gender, theories of power, and conceptions of freedom will be coupled with analyses of policy debates on issues such as reproductive freedom, pornography, and gay rights. Primary focus ethical.
1 Unit(s)

LDST 371
Moral Limits of the Criminal Law
Engages John Stuart Mill's project to determine "the nature and limits of the power which can be legitimately exercised by society over the individual." The starting point for the course is Mill's defense of the "harm principle" in On Liberty. Discussions address questions about whether we would be justified in using the criminal law to limit the liberty of individuals who engage in offensive behavior, behavior that is harmful only to the actors themselves, or behavior that is thought to be immoral. Readings from thinkers such as James Fitzjames Stephen, Patrick Devlin, H.L.A. Hart, and Joel Feinberg. Primary focus ethical.
1 Unit(s)

LDST 374
Contemporary Debates in Democratic Theory
Examination of contemporary debates in democratic theory, drawing primarily on writings of political theorists supplemented by scholarship in empirical political science, sociology, and political economy as appropriate. Specific topics examined may include the distribution of political and economic power in democratic societies; the relationship between political institutions and economic actors; the role of citizens in sustaining democratic regimes; the role of normative values in public-policy making; the role of deliberation in democratic societies; and possibilities for institutional reform to expand democratic self-governance. Primary focus ethical.
1 Unit(s)

LDST 376
Leadership and Governance in the Contemporary American Metropolis
Examination of political, economic, and civic structure of contemporary American cities and their surrounding suburbs through the lens of contemporary democratic theory. Critically assesses historical and contemporary strategies for improving urban life employed by leaders in each of these sectors, with particular attention to the constraints these actors face. Specific topics discussed include transportation, land use, economic development and fiscal management, public education, crime, poverty, the formation of governing regimes, multiracial coalition building, and suburban sprawl. Primary focus ethical.
1 Unit(s)

LDST 377
Ethical Decision Making - Health Care
Systematic examination of the central ethical decisions faced by leaders in medicine and healthcare. Topics include deception, decision making for incompetent patients, consent, abortion, euthanasia, disability, resource allocation, organ donation, and experimentation with human and non human animals. Readings by historical thinkers such as Jeremy Bentham, Immanuel Kant, and John Stuart Mill. Contemporary readings from bioethicists such as John Finnis, Judith Jarvis Thompson, Derek Parfit, Jonathan Glover, James Rachels, Peter Singer, and Ronald Dworkin. Primary focus ethical.
1 Unit(s)
Statesmanship
Focus on statesmanship through historical and biographical case studies of such figures as the American founders, Abraham Lincoln, and Winston Churchill. Also will seek to understand ways in which constitutional, legal, and political institutions can encourage, thwart, or direct leadership on a grand political scale. Primary focus historical. (Same as Political Science 310.)
1 Unit(s)

LDST 379

Reason, Rhetoric and Leadership
Consideration of the relationship between rhetoric and leadership. Focus will be on such examples as Thucydides' "History of the Peloponnesian War," the Declaration of Independence, "The Federalist Papers," and the oratory of Abraham Lincoln and Winston Churchill. Primary focus historical. (Same as Political Science 316.)
1 Unit(s)

LDST 386

Leadership in a Diverse Society
Focuses on historical and contemporary issues concerning the role, responsibility, and process of leadership in diverse communities, organizations or groups. Students use readings, projects and class exercises to examine leadership in diverse settings and in the classroom. Primary focus social/organizational.
1 Unit(s)

LDST 387

Leadership and Religious Values
Study of how persons draw on their religiously-based moral convictions as they lead and serve in a diverse society. Attention to public functions of religious ideas, practices, and communities. Focus on appropriate roles of religion in politics, the workplace, schools and universities, and civic organizations. Primary focus ethical. (Same as Religion 370.)
1 Unit(s)

LDST 390

Selected Topics
Topics developed by Jepson School faculty, visiting faculty, or faculty in other schools of the University that address particular issues in leadership studies. Examples may include leadership and psychology and literature and leadership. May be taken more than once if topics vary. Prerequisite: Varies depending on topic.
.5-1 Unit(s)

LDST 399

Junior Honors Tutorial
Juniors accepted to honors track (in fall of junior year) work with Jepson faculty members in this spring tutorial to develop thesis proposal and preliminary bibliography to be accepted by the course instructor and a Jepson faculty thesis advisor. Prerequisite: Acceptance to honors track.
.5 Unit(s)

LDST 450

Leadership Ethics
Application of moral theory to the values and assumptions of leadership, focusing especially on the ethical challenges of leaders past and present, group behavior, and leadership theory. Topics include self-interest, power, charisma, duty, obedience, and the greater good. Prerequisite: Leadership Studies 300. Restricted to senior majors and minors or by permission of instructor.
1 Unit(s)

LDST 488

Internship
Applied experience in field of leadership studies and accompanying seminar. Observations of leaders in government, corporate, or nonprofit settings. Students are expected to apply what they have learned in required courses such as Theories and Models. Majors only.
LDST 490
Independent Study
Independent study allows students to pursue research on their own topic of interest under the supervision of a faculty member. Independent study proposals must be submitted to the associate dean for academic affairs at least two weeks before the beginning of classes for the semester in which the independent study is to take place. The independent research experience will culminate in a final written product. Prerequisite: Department approval.

Collaborative Study
Collaborative study provides students with the opportunity to conduct research collaboratively with a Jepson faculty member on a project of theoretical or methodological importance to the faculty member's program of research. Collaborative study must involve more than providing research assistance to an ongoing project; rather, the student must take responsibility for conducting original research of scholarly value. Collaborative study will be grounded in rigorous methods appropriate to the discipline in which the student is working and will culminate in a final written project. Prerequisite: Department approval.

LDST 492
Directed Study
Group reading and discussion in a specified area of leadership studies under faculty supervision. Prerequisite: Department approval.

LDST 495-496
Senior Thesis I and II
Year-long engagement in independent research project under supervision of faculty advisor. Prerequisite: Department approval.

LDST 497-498
Senior Honors Thesis I and II
Year-long engagement in independent research to produce written thesis worthy of honors in leadership studies. See description of Jepson honors track for further details. Prerequisite: Leadership Studies 399 and commitment of a faculty thesis advisor are required to register for 497; in December of senior year, upon oral presentation of research and proposal, Jepson faculty verifies permission to enroll in 498.
